Merchants, individuals, clubs organizations, and who have you—anyone who would like to participate—should begin now to scratch around for items they would like to put up for sale, swap, or give-away during the annual two-day Winters Flea Market, scheduled for Friday and Saturday, June 23-24.

Everyone who has ever participated in one of these Flea Market affairs reports they have had a doggone good time—besides getting rid of a lot of things they no longer have any use for, and acquiring a lot of things they don't want and also have no use for.

No, merchants usually come up with some good bargains on merchandise everyone will have some use for. And you just can't beat a deal like that.

The Flea Market is sponsored and promoted by the Retail Trades Committee of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, Bill Robinson, chairman.

So scratch around now... you may turn up some dogs and cats you'd like to take to the Flea Market.

Mention was made herein early in the spring that gardeners should proceed with caution in planting until the scissortails had returned—said by some to be a sure sign that spring had arrived for sure and certain.

April and May have come and gone, and we are knee-deep in June already, but according to Buford (Skinny) Owens, the scissortails haven't arrived yet. Skinny, who admits that he came to this area about the time the wheel was invented, said this is the first time in his memory that the scissortails have failed to return as scheduled. He'd witnessed their departure party last fall, and knew they'd return... but either the birds' clockwork has failed to function, or they've decided to completely ignore us this year. Either way, Skinny is worried and disappointed—he still has a 17-cent packet of seeds he'd like to get in the ground before hot weather hits.

Our Bluff Creek friend notes with interest that there is not a single professional politician among the six county delegates assigned to attend the State Democratic Convention in San Antonio next week.

There has been speculation on the nature and future effect of the legislation which the so-called "lame duck" legislature will pass during the upcoming special session. Instead of being scared, our politically-oriented friend down the street is philosophical toward the whole deal, and figures that after the special-session bills are argued, passed and signed, we won't be able to distinguish them from legislation passed in a regular session by lawmakers who expect to remain in office. He says, just because roughly half of those attending the special session, plus other high state officials, were defeated in bids for return to office, or will not be returning in 1973 for one reason or another, there are no grounds to believe they will be trying to visit their revenge on the people. After all, he points out, those non-returners will be private citizens come January 1st, as opposed to special-session officials, and whatever they do in the special session will hit them square in the pocketbook, the same effect it will have on all of us non-special taxpayers.

DRIVER TRAINING — Seventy-two students are enrolled in the summer driver training program in Winters High School. Several of the trainees are now in classroom work, with others in the behind-the-wheel phase. Training will be completed about July 20. Instructors are Winston Leifester, faculty member and member of the coaching staff of the Winters Schools, and Bill Carter of Abilene.

City To Hire Engineer To Make Recommendations On Water Sales

The City of Winters will employ an engineer to make a survey of Winters' water supply to determine feasibility of selling water to the North Runnels Rural Water Corporation, Mayor Wade White said Tuesday.

Representatives of the water corporation met with the City Council Monday night and told council members the rural water distribution organization would like to purchase water from Winters. They will make a similar offer to Ballinger, C. T. Parker Jr., speaking for the rural distribution group, explained the plan for the proposed system to the council, and estimated that once the system is in operation, only about two million gallons of water a month would be needed. Consumption reports of the Winters Water Department show that water usage, in the peak summer months, for all Winters customers, is slightly over a million gallons per day.

The rural organization proposes to obtain a long-term loan from the Farmers Home Administration, and perhaps a Federal grant, to build the distribution system. A representative of the FHA attended the Monday night meeting, and explained the details of such a loan.

It has been pointed out by members of the board of directors of the rural system that not involve Winters with distribution problems, which would be the responsibility of the corporation. The rural company would run a pipeline into Winters and connect to the city system only, and would provide their own storage tanks.

It was also pointed out that a water distribution system in the rural communities of North Runnels County would reinforce the economic status of farmers, ranchers and other rural residents, and thus be an asset to the economy of Winters.

Mary Lou Bauer New City Golf Champion

The final round of the Ladies' Golf Tournament was played Thursday with a record number of ladies competing.

Mary Lou Bauer, who went into the final round tied with defending champion Joanie McAdoo, won the championship. LaJuan Sprinkle won the first flight, nudging out Lois West and Marleen Wood. Carolyn Black scored a victory in the second flight, with Sandy Griffin taking consolation.

Mary Mote took the third flight victory in a sudden death decision over Jean Owen, who won consolation.

Following a business meeting of the Ladies Golf Association, and dinner, trophies were presented to the winners.

In side competition, Louise Davis won a prize for making the longest drive; Margaret Speer for the least number of putts; and Lois West, closest to the pin. A "smiley" award went to Glenda Minzenmayer for sportsmanship.

The next event scheduled by the lady golfers will be a "best ball" competition followed by a salad supper June 15. All ladies interested in playing golf are invited to attend, whether they have played golf or not. Ladies not members of the association may contact Mrs. R. J. Bauer, 254-4053 or Mrs. Bill Griffin, 254-5035, for details.

City Council Will Study Request By Lone Star Gas Co. For Rate Increase

The Winters City Council has received "for study" a request by Lone Star Gas Company for authority to increase gas use rates for residential and commercial customers in Winters. The gas company requested a change in rates which would increase the average monthly residential gas bill by approximately 66 cents, or about 10 percent, city officials said.

The local manager of the gas company, Marshall Wharton, met with the Council Monday

Band Students Receive Honors At State Meet

Several Winters High School band musicians reached the pinnacle of success in high school band music in Austin Saturday and Sunday, in the State Solo-Ensemble Contest held on the campus of the University of Texas.

A total of 7,225 high school musicians were in the contests, with only 15 percent receiving the highest ratings in the competition—and Winters students were included in that top 15 percent, with three individual first division ratings and gold medals, and an ensemble first division and gold medal.

In addition, Winters students won four individual second division ratings along with silver medals.

According to Kirke McKenzie, director of the Winters High School Band, this is the first time Winters band students have won state honors.

Trish Hill, who was a junior student during the 1971-72 school year, won a first division and a gold medal for flute solo.

Maurine Riess, a graduating senior member of the WHS band, won a first division and gold medal for flute solo.

Brenda Smith, a graduating senior, won a first division and gold medal for twirling.

In flute ensemble competition, the group from Winters won a first division and gold medal. Members of the ensemble were Miss Hill, Miss Riess, Barbara Fairly, a sophomore, and Brenda Easterly, a sophomore.

Winning second division ratings and silver medals for solo competition were:

Dusty Nichols, junior, baritone.
Lou Ann Cole, junior, alto sax.
Paul Gerhardt, junior, clarinet.
Tandy Medford, senior, cornet.

A trio made up of Marvin Clark, Dusty Nichols and Bubba Brown won a second division. No medals were presented for this contest.

Mrs. Kirke McKenzie accompanied all the WHS bandsters on the piano in their trypouts.

Band Director McKenzie said the Winters students won an above-average number of points in all competition, more than most larger schools.

Accompanying the students to Austin were Director and Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. Carson Easterly, Mrs. Douglas Cole, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Pumphrey.

STATE CONTEST

The State Solo-Ensemble Contest, the most prestigious competition for secondary school musicians in Texas, is the culmination of weeks of concentrated practice and performing by some 50,000 of the state's high school singers and musicians. They had competed in district and regional contests to qualify for the state contest.

According to Dr. Nelson Patrick, assistant fine arts dean of the University of Texas, and contest administrator, the State Solo-Ensemble Contest "rivals in size and quality similar contests across the United States."

To illustrate, Texas contestants are judged for their performance on a five-unit scale, ranging from "superior" to "poor." Unlike the contests of other states, only about 15 percent of the total entries receive the highest rating.

The regional contests are sponsored by the University Interscholastic League (UIL) and the state contest by the Department of Music of the College of Fine Arts of the University.

City Is Larger As Restaurant Is Annexed

More land area was added to Winters Monday night, as the City Council approved annexation of the site of the Fireside Restaurant on the south edge of the city limits, on US 83.

James Lee Johnson, owner of the Fireside, had petitioned the City to annex the property, and an annexation ordinance was approved.

In other business, the Council approved a bid by Victor Merfield for a two-year lease on the City Lake property, for grazing purposes.

The Council also approved employment of Bob Webb as a lineman and plant operator for the City Electric Department. Webb is from Belton, and will succeed Billy Harper, who has moved to Marble Falls.

Rev. Bob Sanders Returns To Local Methodist Church

The Rev. Bob Sanders, who has been pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Winters for the past year, has been reassigned to the Winters parish for another year by the Central Texas Conference.

The Rev. Sanders also is pastor of the Wingate United Methodist Church, the Crews UM Church, and the Talpa UM Church, all in the Winters parish.

Appointments of Methodist ministers to churches in the Central Texas Conference were announced Sunday at Fort Worth.

The Rev. Ray Elliott, former pastor of the Winters church, who has been pastor of a church in Brownwood for about six years, was appointed superintendent of retired ministers homes headquartered in Stephenville.

Housing Project Progress Ahead Of Schedule

Construction of the housing project of the Winters Housing Authority for the elderly and low-income families is ahead of schedule, according to Jake Joyce, chairman of the board of directors of the Authority.

Percentage of completion is above 56, with several of the duplex-type buildings already bricked, and inside work well under way.

Although it will be several months before the houses are ready for occupancy, several people already have made application. Directors said others who are contemplating making application may do so at the Housing Authority office. They pointed out, however, that time and sequence of application will have little bearing on housing assignments once the project is completed.

Announcement regarding applications and eligibility will be made when the project is completed.

Public Hearing On City Budget Set For June 19

A public hearing has been set for June 19 on the proposed budget for the City of Winters for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1972, and ending Sept. 30, 1973.

The hearing will be held at 7:30 p. m. at the City Hall.

The City administration has prepared mimeographed copies of the proposed budget and distributed them throughout town so residents may have an opportunity to study them before the hearing.

The City Council is urging all taxpayers to study the proposed budget and make plans to attend the hearing. They are soliciting any suggestions regarding the proposed budget, Mayor Wade White said.

Swim Lessons To Be Offered At Municipal Pool

A one-week course in swimming will be offered the last week in June at the Winters Municipal Swimming Pool, Kirke McKenzie, manager of the pool, has announced.

Classes will be held six days, beginning June 26 and continuing through July 1.

Instructions will be available for beginners and intermediates, age 5 up. Qualified instructors will conduct the classes.

Cost of the swimming lessons will be $10 per pupil, McKenzie said.

Those interested in taking swimming lessons may sign up at the pool beginning Monday, June 12.

Martha Lee Hale Receives M. S. Degree In Virginia

She will return to the University to study for her doctor of philosophy degree.

For New Building

Hospital Board Calls For Bids

The board of directors of North Runnels County Hospital District Tuesday night issued a call for bids for construction of the new North Runnels Hospital, which has been in the planning stage for several months.

Bids will be opened at 2 p. m., Thursday, July 6, in the Winters Community Center.

John W. Norman, chairman of the hospital district board, said architect's plans for the hospital have been approved by the State Department of Health, and meet all State and Federal requirements.

Contract for construction probably will be let shortly after acceptance of the bid approved by the board, and actual groundbreaking should begin within a few weeks, according to members of the board.

Call for bids for construction of the new hospital is the culmination of many months of planning and work by the board of directors and other interested residents of North Runnels County. The hospital district was approved by the State Legislature in 1969, and formally organized at a special election that year.

Architect's plans call for a hospital building with a gross area of approximately 14,000 square feet. There will be 16 patient rooms, six of which will be built to accommodate two patients each, plus a two-bed intensive care room immediately adjacent to the nurses' station, and a nursery.

Patent rooms will occupy one wing of the H-type building, and will be equipped with centralized oxygen and other modern equipment will be installed. Each room will have private bath facilities, and individual air conditioning systems.

The operating room, obstetrics room, laboratory, X-ray room and lab, and emergency room will occupy half of the other wing, and kitchen, dining room, administrative offices and maintenance and mechanical rooms the other half.

The hospital structure itself, along with all equipment planned to be installed, will meet all requirements of State and Federal agencies regulating operation of hospitals.

Paul Wallace Is Minister For Church of Christ

Paul Wallace, who has been a minister of the Austin Avenue Church of Christ in Brownwood for the past 13 years, is the new minister for the Winters Church of Christ. He and his family moved to Winters last week.

Mr. Wallace has preached in the Winters Church of Christ on several occasions during meetings in the past. He formerly was minister for the Coleman Church of Christ.

Born and reared in Texas, Mr. Wallace is the son of Paul Wallace Sr., who was a Church of Christ preacher for 60 years. He is a graduate of Freed-Hardeman College of Henderson, Tenn., and holds a degree from Southern Methodist University. He also has done graduate work at SMU.

He was a member of the Rotary Club in Brownwood, and while in Coleman was a member and president of the Coleman Lions Club.

He is married to the former Faye Coursey of Coleman. They have three children, John, a graduate of Abilene Christian College; David, a 1972 graduate of ACC; and a daughter, a 1972 graduate of Brownwood High School, where she was named Miss Brownwood High School for 1972.

Expect Paving To Begin On Highway In July

Highway Department sources said this week that contractors probably will begin putting asphalt paving down on US 83 north to the Taylor County line and through Winters, about the first week in July.

There still is considerable work to be done on bridges north of Winters, and some curbing, sidewalks, and other construction to be completed in Winters.

City Power Dept. Buys Pickup Truck

Winters City Council Monday night accepted bids and approved purchase of a pickup truck for the City Electric Department.

Bids were received from Dale's Ford Sales, for a pickup with automatic transmission, $2,595.97, and from Waddell Chevrolet Co., for $2,552.26. The Council accepted the bid from Dale's Ford Sales.

TO NURSE TRAINING

Cassie Awalt Northcutt, of Kilgore, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Bedford and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Awalt of Winters, will enter Kilgore College School of Nursing next fall, following graduation from Kilgore High School last week. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dalvin Awalt of Kilgore.

TO NURSE TRAINING

Christy Winn Autrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Autrey of Temple, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Moore of Winters, will enter Temple Junior College in the fall preparatory to taking nurse training at Scott & White Hospital in Temple.

Scott King To Boys State In Austin This Week

Scott Alan King, Winters High School student, is representing Winters at the 1972 session of Texas American Legion Boys State at a t e, Commander Carson Easterly of Roy Scoggins Post No. 261 of the American Legion, has announced.

The 1972 Texas American Legion Boys State will be in session from June 7 to June 13, at the University of Texas, Austin.

On behalf of Post 261, Commander Easterly expressed appreciation to the Winters Lions Club which is helping to sponsor the Winters youth.

Departments of the American Legion will sponsor 51 of these Boys States this summer. Two outstanding youths from each of the Boys States will go to American Legion Boys Nation in July in Washington, D. C., where they will study federal government organization and operation in much the same manner as the Boys State delegates participate in training in state government.

During the Boys State sessions, the Winters youth will participate in the organization of political parties, campaigns, elections, and the enactment and enforcement of their own laws within a mythical state.

"As one of the Legion's outstanding youth-training programs, Boys State affords these youngsters an opportunity to learn the functions of government," Commander Easterly said. "Also, they will see the importance of the role a good citizen has in discharging his citizenship responsibilities. They soon discover how good government depends upon the active interest of every citizen."

Hunters Pay Own
Way With License
Fees and Taxes

Austin — Hunters and fishermen in the U. S. spent more than $256 million last year for licenses, tags, permits and stamps, and most of the money went toward research and development of game and fish management practices.

In addition to the money for licenses, sportsmen also added $47.8 million to fish and wildlife coffers by paying taxes on arms and ammunition and on certain fishing tackle items. The money from the taxes is apportioned to the states for their fish and wildlife programs.

STOCK MARKET

by BABSON'S REPORTS INC.

OPPORTUNITIES IN LOWER-PRICED STOCKS

Wellesley Hills, Mass.—Lower priced stocks—those selling under $20 a share—can offer aggressive investors a chance to achieve smart capital gains on a modest investment. These issues allow the small investor to deal in round lots (usually 100 shares) and chalk up good percentage gains on a relatively limited increase in price. For example, a stock selling at $14 a share will show almost a 29 percent advance on a four-point market gain. In contrast, the price of a $50 stock would have to jump almost 14½ points to provide the same percentage increase.

SELECTIVITY IMPORTANT
Naturally, not all low-priced issues are good buys, and a stock should not be purchased merely because it is selling under a certain price level. Many investors, however, are attracted to such issues solely on the basis of price and without regard to the fundamentals of the companies themselves. They become especially intrigued with a low-priced stock if it has sold at far higher levels in the recent past. While one such issue may return to a previous high level, many others are as likely to decline further even when the general market is in an uptrend. Hence, those who buy lower-priced stocks indiscriminately may find their money tied up in profitless situations.

Market timing is another important consideration. Regrettably, the investing public tends to become overly enthusiastic about lower-priced stocks at or near market tops. In fact, expansion of trading in cheaper issues is seen by many technical analysts as a warning of a possible market decline. Thus, lower-priced stocks should be bought when relatively inactive and not after a period of brisk turnover.

DETERMINE OBJECTIVES
Inexpensive stocks are not appropriate for all investors. A number of issues selling under $20 entail more risk than many are in a position to assume. These should be considered for the most part only by aggressive investors who can afford the added risk. An individual's overall investment program and personal circumstances are important factors to be considered.

For those who do decide to consider the "under $20 group," it is essential to outline their objectives before making commitments. If a stock is being purchased for shorter-term capital gains, there is justification in taking profits once the issue has made a worthwhile percentage advance. If purchased for longer-term growth prospects, however, a stock should not be sold just because it has risen a few points.

Too often, investors forget their objectives. As a result, a stock bought for a short-term capital gain is held too long, with the purchaser riding the stock up and then back down again without taking profits. Conversely, many who buy lower-priced stocks for their long-range growth sell out after a rise of several points and miss out on some exceptional long-term profits. Thus, it is important for an investor to set his aim beforehand and stick with it.

THEY ALSO SERVE who stand and wait and every Little League field has its share of eager substitutes.

SOME CURRENT RECOMMENDATIONS

Among lower-priced stocks currently recommended by the Research Department of Babson's Reports are Apcco Corp., Giant Portland Cement, Houma Industries, Servico, and Surgical Manufacturing.

Apcco Corp. (formerly the American Photocopy Equipment Company) has lessened its dependence on the office equipment sector by diversifying into the expanding mobile homes industry and the recreational products area. Giant Portland Cement is now enjoying a smart earnings rebound and is in a strong financial position. Houma Industries has pursued an aggressive acquisition program over recent years, and has a favorable outlook. Servico is engaged in the work-clothes rental

Striped Bass
Survive Transfer

Austin—Texas is 950,000 striped bass richer, thanks to a successful transfer of four-day-old fry from Virginia to state fish hatcheries.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists say they had the lowest loss ever experienced in handling bass fry.

The department's Lewisville fish hatchery received 500,000 with a shipment loss of only one percent. These were kept in tempering boxes and then later released into hatchery ponds.

The San Angelo fish hatchery received approximately the same number of fish, but suffered a complete loss in one tempering box. They had a negligible loss in their other nine tempering boxes, however, and were able to release 450,000 fry into hatchery ponds.

Biologists say that the danger to fry isn't over yet, but the transfer is a critical stage, and they are encouraged by its success.

The striped bass will be kept in the holding ponds until they are of sufficient size to release into Texas lakes.

A Crisis in the Colonies

By RALPH NOVAK

NEW YORK (CEF)

Historians have been dumfounded by the recent discovery of a videotape of what appears to be a televised address to the nation by King George III of England in 1776. Here is a transcript of that address:

Good morrow, my fellow Englishmen. As you all know, we are faced with yet another crisis over in the Colonies. The rebels' armies have invaded New Jersey, just when we thought our Americanization program was working, and when we try to reason with them all we get is more of that smart-alecky drivel from Tom Paine.

Now as you all know this trouble really started before my time. I don't want to name any names but you have to admit that if Christopher Columbus had minded his own business we wouldn't have any of these problems today.

Nevertheless, I say to you tonight that this is not a partisan issue. I would rather be a one-term king than let a puny bunch of Colonies kick us around as if we weren't a pretty swell country. So I have dispatched my close advisor, Charles "Champagne Charlie" Townshend, author of the popular Townshend Acts, on a secret mission to France disguised as a chocolate eclair.

I have instructed him to point out to Louis XV that we want only to end the fighting, that we are a peace-loving nation, and that if they do not cooperate we will send our cannons over to blow them to kingdom come.

However, your king—that's me, you'll remember—is not putting all his crumpets in one basket. General Howe has been sending me most encouraging reports from the Colonies, pointing out that the Tory population is fighting courageously and that in the long run our position is excellent. However, he adds that in the short run he is surrounded. Therefore I have dispatched a division of Hessians to bolster the valiant Tories and to guard the rest of our boys, from the rebels, from each other and from the Tories, who have been stealing all their C-rations.

Now—and you will notice how sincere I look when I say this—I want to reiterate that we want peace and I will immediately withdraw all our Hessians if the following conditions are met: (1) the colonial newspapers must stop referring to me as "Crazy George"; (2) the rebels must agree to stop wasting tea; and (3) the so-called "Declaration of Independence" must be replaced and I humbly offer my own "Treatise on the Divine Right of Kings" as a suitable substitute.

So I ask you tonight for support in this decision. I know you want peace. You know I want peace.

In conclusion, I know you will want to join me in urging the Hessians to go over there and win a big one. This is your majesty saying thank you and good night,

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLISON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—At the end of last week's release, reference was made to "affirmative orders" issued by a court. Essentially this is an injunction against an individual who is found to be pursuing a course of conduct which is legally wrong and is harmful to another. Courts possess the power in appropriate cases to grant relief by issuing an order prohibiting such actions in the future. "Affirmative orders," however, may go one step further. Not only is future conduct prescribed, but the court requires affirmative action designed to undo the wrong previously committed.

This is well and good. But, when the wrongdoer is a government agency, the requirement that it take a specific course of action, transfers decision-making from the legislative to the judicial branch.

As an example, this technique has been employed extensively in school desegregation cases. Schools are not only being ordered to stop acts and policies which tend to discriminate against racial minorities but are being affirmatively directed with regard to a wide range of future school policies such as the location of district boundaries, the racial composition of teachers and students within each school, the busing of students by racial quotas to a particular school, the propriety of text books and materials, testing methods etc.

The congress has enacted numerous laws against discrimination by reason of race, creed, sex and previous origin. It has also declared that public funds shall not be used to bus students simply to achieve racial balance in schools. The Supreme Court has either ignored the acts of Congress or held them unconstitutional, presumably because the majority of the Justices thought the law should be otherwise.

Regardless of whether it should or should not, it is not the prerogative of the courts to decide how tax money should be channeled.

Space does not permit a full discussion of the separation of powers of all three branches of the Federal Government — the Executive, Legislative, and Judicial. Since almost the beginning there has been controversy and argument on what the separation should be and the extent of over-lapping authority. For instance there is now the issue of the President withholding certain funds appropriated by the Congress for specific purposes. The Congress provides the funds—the Executive spends. No more money can be spent than is appropriated by the President and Presidents in the past contend that all funds provided need not be spent.

As mentioned in the first of these three articles, the U. S. Senate wants a bigger voice in foreign policy and the final approval of important Executive Agreements not considered by the Executive Department to be treaties.

In recent days, amendments to bills in the House of Representatives proposed that funds be withheld from Executive Agencies whose representative refuses to testify before Congressional Committees under executive immunity.

After all, every part of government certainly should be dedicated to work for the good of the Nation, and they do, but our system is based on the "checks and balances" previously mentioned. Each branch must be tempered by restraint and discretion, the foundation upon which national respect for Governmental authority largely depends.

Texas Ranks Fourth In Fisheries Value

Austin—Texas ranked fourth in 1971 in the value of seafood landed for commercial purposes. The Lone Star State followed California, Alaska and Louisiana in the value of its fishery products.

California's fish was valued at $87.2 million; Alaska's, $84.5 million; Louisiana's, $72.6 million; and Texas', $70.0 million.

The value of fishery products processed in the United States from both domestic and imported raw materials was a record $1.85 billion, seven percent above 1970.

Personal soundness is not an absence of problems, but a way of reacting to them.

T. H. Worthington Died Sunday In Abilene Hospital

T. H. (Howard) Worthington, 72, longtime Runnels County resident, died at 11:15 a. m. Sunday at Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene.

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Tuesday in the Winters First Baptist Church. Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery under the direction of Spill Funeral Home.

The Rev. B. T. Shoemaker, of Spearman, former pastor of the Winters First Baptist Church, and the Rev. J. S. Tuerce, retired Baptist minister, officiated.

Born May 12, 1900, in Grimes County, Mr. Worthington came to Runnels County in 1909, and settled in the Franklin Community south of Winters.

He married Birdie Wood June 10, 1923, at Winters. He was a retired employe of Mansell Brothers Co. of Winters, and was a member and a deacon of the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Worthington had been Democratic Precinct Chairman of Precinct 2, Runnels County, for many years, and had served as election judge in many City and special elections.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Doris Harendt and Mrs. Sue Carter, both of Abilene; two sons, Gary Worthington of Abilene and T. H. Worthington Jr., of Austin; four sisters, Mrs. E. A. Hoisag-er of Hobbs, N. M., Mrs. Alice Campbell of Clovis, N. M., Mrs. Molino Dickens of Tucumcari, N. M., and Mrs. Lizzie Koonce of St. Smith, Ark.; two brothers, Joe of Los Angeles, Calif., and Bill of Fresno, Calif.; 13 grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Pallbearers G. W. Sneed, Truett Billups, W. J. Briley, Louis Wade, David Smith and Lawrence Jacob.

LEGAL NOTICE

NORTH RUNNELS COUNTY HOSPITAL DISTRICT
Winters, Texas

Mr. John W. Norman, Chairman
(Date, June 6, 1972)

INVITATION TO BID

On Construction of A Hospital Building for The North Runnels County Hospital District, Winters, Runnels County, Texas.

Sealed proposals will be received in the Assembly Room of the Winters Community Center, located on Novice Road (FM-1770) until 2:00 P. M., Thursday, July 6, 1972 at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

In general, this project comprises a one story hospital, containing twenty-two (22) beds of general care nursing and their supporting facilities.

Construction includes, but is not limited, to excavation for building foundation and sitework for paved drives and parking areas, reinforced concrete piers, beams and pre-cast concrete floors, load bearing masonry walls and steel columns supporting steel bar joists/metal deck/light weight concrete roof deck fill; built up roof and exterior wall facings of face brick. Aluminum windows, aluminum entrances, hollow metal frames and hollow metal exterior doors shall be installed. Interior partitions shall be fire rated gypsum wall board on metal studs. Finished floors shall be ceramic tile, quarry tile and resilient floor coverings. Finished ceilings shall be acoustical fire rated lay-in grid system or at the Contractor's option fire rated gypsum board on metal furring. Case and millwork shall be factory built, mill assembled on job constructed.

Mechanical work shall include: plumbing, including piped oxygen and vacuum systems and heating, ventilating and air conditioning. Electrical work shall include: exterior service, lighting, power and convenience circuits for nurses call system; provision for telephone and inter-communications system; emergency radio communication system, and stand-by generator for emergency use.

All work including (1) general construction, (2) plumbing work, (3) heating, ventilating and air conditioning work, (4) electrical work, (5) kitchen equipment and (6) hospital equipment may be included in one lump sum proposal, although separate proposals will be accepted for each of the six (6) divisions of work itemized above. Furniture and furnishings will be bid under separate proposals.

Bidders are advised that certain phases of the sitework, including the furnishing of required fill materials, will be provided by the Owner at no cost to the Bidder. Landscaping will also be done by the Owner and shall be excluded from the Bids. Plans and Specifications may be obtained from the office of the Hospital in Winters, Texas, and from the office of John Chiles Allen, Architect and Engineer, 2914 Pearl Street, Austin, Texas, upon deposit of fifty dollars ($50.00) for each set of documents. Deposit will be refunded to all bona fide bidders upon return of all documents in good, re-usable condition to Architect's office within ten (10) days after date of bid opening. Plans and Specifications may be inspected in the office of the Hospital Administrator, the Architect and in various plan rooms within the area.

EXTRA AND PARTIAL SETS OF PLANS: General Contractors and major sub-contractors (Mechanical, Electrical) will be furnished one complete set of plans and building specifications for refund of total deposit. Extra or additional set(s) will be furnished at the cost of reproduction which will be deducted from the deposit when the documents are returned. Sub-contractors and material suppliers can purchase partial sets of documents by paying the cost of reproduction of drawings and specifications requested.

BID SECURITY: A 5% bid guarantee will be required. Form may be Bid Bond, Certified Check or Cashier's Check payable to Owner.

BIDDER QUALIFICATION: The ability of any bidder to obtain a bid bond or contract security bonds shall not be regarded as the sole qualification of such bidder's competency and responsibility, and the Owner reserves the right to request evidence of financial ability.

JOHN W. NORMAN,
Chairman of the Board.

COURTS SPEAK

Farmers can sue cattle feedlot operators for damages due to offensive odors even if they don't live on their land, the State Supreme Court held.

To properly assess whether movies are obscene, judges and juries must see the entire film, the Court of Criminal Appeals ruled.

A 300-year prison sentence assessed a Wichita County man for selling heroin was reversed because he didn't get a court-appointed attorney until the day of trial.

A federal district court ordered the State to make payments to Wichita County for aid to families with dependent children, even though it lacks control over welfare personnel employment there.

Gov. Preston Smith went to Washington in search of federal matching funds for social services to welfare beneficiaries.

He said the federal government now pays states $3 for every $1 they spend on social services, but the White House's proposed new rules would prevent Texas and other states from considering work by some agencies.

An aide to the governor said the state is not getting federal matching money for counseling, family planning and homemaking assistance to the needy.

More than $13.2 million is now available on a formula basis for 17 universities to construct buildings, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert announced.

Calvert said these sums are available to the following institutions:

University of Texas at Arlington, $635,198; Texas Southern $233,087; University of Houston, $1.15 million; Texas Woman's University, $225,596; Texas A. & I., $803,969; Texas Tech, $723,226; Lamar, $1 million; Midwestern, $205,822; Pan American, $586,169; East Texas State, $614,673; North Texas State, $1.1 million; Stephen F. Austin, $1.6 million; West Texas State, $289,710; Angelo State, $396,203; Sam Houston State, $1.3 million; Southwest Texas State, $2 million and Sul Ross, $109,592.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin held the state's 1970 contract to purchase 3,965 acres of Mustang Island at $4.2 million for a park is a binding obligation.

In another recent opinion, Martin held the Parks and Wildlife Department cannot contract for sale of water to a private individual whose property adjoins a state park. A Grand Prairie man had sought a permit to tap the water line in Eisenhower State Park.

Charles Allcorn Hired for Second School Ag Unit

Charles Richard Allcorn, who has been teaching in the Blackwell School for the past two years, has been employed as a vocational agriculture teacher in the Winters School, to fill a recently-approved second unit in the ag department. He will be assistant to Stanley Blackwell, vo-ag instructor.

The second vo-ag unit for the Winters School was approved by the vocational department of the Texas Education Agency, and will consist in large part in feedlot operation instruction.

Allcorn is a native of the Talpa High School. He graduated from Texas Tech University, where he majored in agriculture education. He has been vo-ag teacher at Blackwell for the past two years.

He and his wife have a four-year-old daughter. They will move to Winters in the near future.

UMW Meeting In Church Tuesday

The United Methodist Women met June 6 at 9:30 a. m. The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn and Mrs. J. D. Vinson accompanied at the piano. Mrs. D. A. Dobbins led in prayer.

Mrs. Homer Hodge, Sr. expressed thanks to the members for the special membership pins given her and Mrs. Celia Lang. She said it was a pleasure to receive them.

A letter received by Mrs. E. L. Crockett from Mrs. E. H. Baker was read. Mrs. Baker has been ill for the last few months and stayed for a while in the Hospital in Hamlin. She is at present staying at the Holiday Lodge in Hamlin. Mrs. Baker wrote that she could not walk without help, but is feeling fine.

Mrs. W. T. Stanley was in charge of the program with the topic "Human Development." Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. T. C. Stanley, Mrs. Clarence Hambricht, and Mrs. Bob Sanders joined the leader in reading a conversation which brought out different questions, opinions, and needs in society today. A general discussion with everyone taking part followed.

To close the meeting, the members formed a circle and sang one verse of "Bless Be the Tie That Binds" and then recited the Lord's Prayer.

There were 18 members present.

Officers Elected By Masonic Lodge Thursday Night

J. C. Martin was elected worshipful master of Winters Masonic Lodge No. 743, in a regular meeting Thursday night of last week. He succeeds Dennis Poe in that office.

Other elective officers are George Garrett, senior warden; Sam Jones, junior warden; O. J. Murray, treasurer; John J. Swatchesue, secretary; Dennis Poe, tyler.

Installation of officers will be held July 6.

13 Youngsters Employed In NYC Program

Thirteen young people—10 boys and three girls—are employed by the Winters Schools for the summer under the Federally funded Neighborhood Youth Corps program.

The young people, all students of Winters schools, perform repair, maintenance and cleaning duties in the school plant. The group is under the supervision of Charles (Chili) Black, athletic director of the school system, who was employed by the school to head the summer program.

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot express our thanks to the many friends and relatives for their kindnesses during my illness at the hospital. I wish to express special thanks to the blood donors, Dr. Rives and the nursing staff at the hospital. For all the visits, cards, flowers and Pastor Probst's visits and prayers, may God bless each of you.

High School 2nd Semester Honor Roll

The second semester honor roll for Winters High School has been released by the principal's office.

To make the honor list, a student must make at least one A and no grade below a B in academic subjects. Many students are in band and athletics, some are in the vocational courses where they work a half day and go to school only one half day. Principal Jake Joyce said, thus the number of courses reported for students may vary from three to six.

County Agent's Column

Lawn Grasses Require Feeding

Lawn grasses do not thrive on restricted diets. If you want a beautiful, healthy lawn, regular feeding is a must, says County Agricultural Agent C. T. Parker, Jr.

Although lawn grasses require all plant nutrients, the most important are nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium (potash). These are needed in the largest amounts and usually the first to become limiting.

Grasses feed heavily on nitrogen and the amount in the soil is seldom adequate for good grass growth, points out the agent.

Supply nitrogen in adequate amounts along with phosphorus and other nutrients as needed. Avoid applying nitrogen alone continuously as phosphorus and potash will become limiting.

Common forms of nitrogen are quickly available to the grass so apply the material in frequent, small amounts to maintain healthy and uniform growth. Single applications should never exceed two pounds per 1,000 feet. One-pound applications are preferable on a more frequent basis. Also available are so-called "slow release" nitrogen fertilizers which permit heavier applications on a less frequent schedule.

Slime Molds on Lawns

Recent rainy weather has brought an influx of slime molds on some lawns in the county. However, the molds are not particularly damaging, says Parker. The molds appear as bluish-gray, black or yellow masses in small areas over the surface of the lawn. They are not parasitic on grass as they live on dead organic matter. The only damage they do is to shade and temporarily discolor the grass. According to Parker, the molds will become powdery masses and soon disappear once dry weather returns.

Slime molds are easily removed from the grass by mowing, sweeping with a broom or spraying with a strong stream of water. During periods of prolonged damp weather, homeowners may want to apply a good garden or turf fungicide to the affected areas.

Yellow Lawns

Lawns often become yellow—especially in alkaline soil areas such as the case in Runnels County—even though a good fertilizer program has been followed. This is usually due to iron deficiency and is referred to as "iron chlorosis," explains the County Agricultural Agent. Applying iron sulfate (copperas) will correct the situation. This also applies to your ornamentals and vegetable gardens. Further information on iron chlorosis can be obtained from the extension office at the courthouse.

SCREWORM BATTLE RAGING STATEWIDE

A "red alert" is being sounded throughout the state as screw worms continue to assault livestock and other animals. Runnels county has had one recorded case to date, and it's most important that all animals be checked closely and regularly for infestations.

Weather conditions were favorable for heavy screwworm buildups last winter in northern Mexico as well as in parts of the Southwest, explains the agent. Some infestations were also spread by transporting infested livestock last fall, and the insect pest spent the mild winter in new quarters. This spring overall conditions were "ripe" for a massive screwworm invasion.

According to Parker, more than 2,300 cases have been confirmed in Texas this spring, the earliest and heaviest outbreak in the history of the Screwworm Eradication Program.

Although sterile fly production at the Mission Lab is running at its peak—200 million a week—treatment with these flies is not enough to stop the destruction, flesh-eating livestock pest. Parker urges all livestock producers and owners of other animals (dogs, cats) to follow certain precautions:

1. Carry out all approved preventive practices to help eliminate screwworms.

2. Inspect animals regularly and carefully and treat all wounds whether they are wormy or not.

3. Delay all surgery until cool weather this fall. Shearing, docking, castrating and dehorning only provide additional wounds for worm infestations. Studies show that almost 90 percent of all worm samples come from calf navels and man-made wounds.

4. Spray animals with an approved product before shipping them. This is a preventive measure against spreading the infestation.

5. Be cautious of livestock shipments coming from infested areas. If buying such animals, be sure to check them thoroughly for wormy wounds.

6. Care should be taken not to move infested livestock across state lines. Infestations resulting from this practice may bring about a quarantine and the regulated movement of livestock.

7. As soon as a wormy wound is found, send a worm sample to the Screwworm Laboratory, Box 969, Mission, Texas 78572. If the case is positive, sterile flies will be dropped as soon as possible to further protect animals in the area. Parker stated that the bottles are available at his office at the courthouse.

"Everyone must cooperate if the screwworm eradication program is to be effective," emphasizes Parker. "This means farmers, ranchers, pet owners, auction managers and others who work with or own animals."

Cutting flowers from hybrid tea roses provides indoor beauty for the home and also encourages new growth and more flowers.

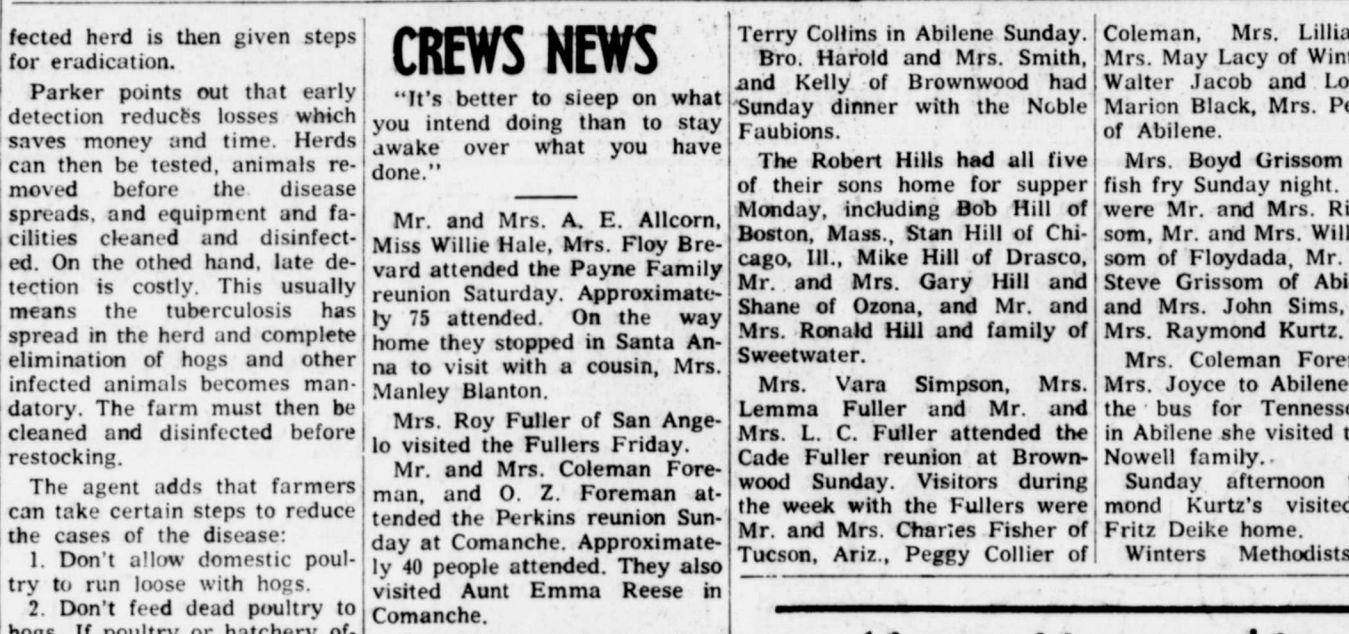

County Agent Parker offers these tips regarding the cutting of rose blossoms.

Remove flower stems only as long as you actually need for the vase you'll place them in, the agent points out. If you take too many food producing leaves with a cut rose, you may weaken the plant.

On roses that were set out as recently as last fall or this spring, the agent suggests cutting the bloom stems above the first leaf that has five leaflets.

On vigorous growing plants that are well established, flower stems may be cut longer without harming the plant. However, at least two good five-leaf leaves should be left below the cut. The less vigorous plant, the more foliage should be left, cautions Parker.

To remove faded blooms, groom bushes once or twice a week during the bloom season. This improves their appearance and prevents fruit development which takes food material away from new growth. Always use sharp cutting tools for cutting rose stems.

When hand-washing girdles, hose and other drip-dry items, place them in a colander while changing the water. The water that always accumulates under them drains away, carrying with it some of the suds. This can even cut down on the number of rinsings needed. If you leave them in the colander to drain a bit before hanging, drying time is shorter. They need not be squeezed or twisted, which might possibly damage the fabric.

TUBERCULOSIS COSTLY IN HOGS

Tuberculosis is one of the biggest and most costly causes of hog carcass condemnation in the United States. The disease, primarily the avian (bird) type, accounts for nearly one-fifth of all the hog carcasses condemned or retained by meat inspectors. Producers should know how to prevent the disease, how to identify it, and how to keep it from spreading in order to prevent future dollar losses.

Parker says that the disease is difficult to detect without tests, even in hogs which have advanced stages of the disease. Infected animals will appear healthy. Yet, there are a couple of ways to detect the disease in your hog herd.

One, commonly called the down-the-road method, involves a veterinarian injecting a small amount of tuberculin into the skin of the animal. A swelling at the site of the injection 48 hours later indicates that the animal is infected.

The other way, far more economical, is for federal or state inspectors to check carcasses at the time of slaughter. If lesions are found, state and federal animal health authorities are notified to trace the origin of the disease. The owner of the in-

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

BETTER OUTLOOK FOR PAPER

By Babson's Reports, Inc.

Wellesley Hills, Mass. — The paper industry has not done particularly well over the past couple of years because of sharply increased costs during a time of general economic sluggishness. After reaching a record $987 million in 1969, corporate earnings of paper and allied products firms slumped 27 percent to $719 million in 1970; this was followed by an additional drop-off of 20 percent last year. But the end of 1971 saw earnings pointing upward.

Under the influence of a strengthening economy and recent approval of price increases, earnings of paper concerns this year could show at least a modest advance over the 1971 level. For the longer range, the net of paper manufacturers should benefit from the better supply-demand ratio expected to prevail within the industry in years to come, although the cost factors of pollution control and recycling equipment will restrict earnings to a degree.

FEWER NEW MILLS PLANNED

In appraising future prospects for paper companies, the supply-demand relationship is a key consideration. In the past, new plant space has been added quite freely, bringing on periodic overcapacity which has resulted in a weak pricing structure in times of lessened demand. For the 1972-1974 span, paper companies plan to increase their production capacity only 1.6 percent annually for paper, 2.5 percent for paperboard. The limitation is traceable to the poor return on existing investment, heavy debt loads, a lack of attractive sites for new mills, and multiplying problems involving ecology.

This rate of growth will be the lowest for any three-year period since World War II. It compares with an average annual growth over the past sixteen years of 4.8 percent in capacity for paper and 3.8 percent for paperboard. Most of the upcoming expansion in capacity will be from additions to existing mills rather than from major new plants.

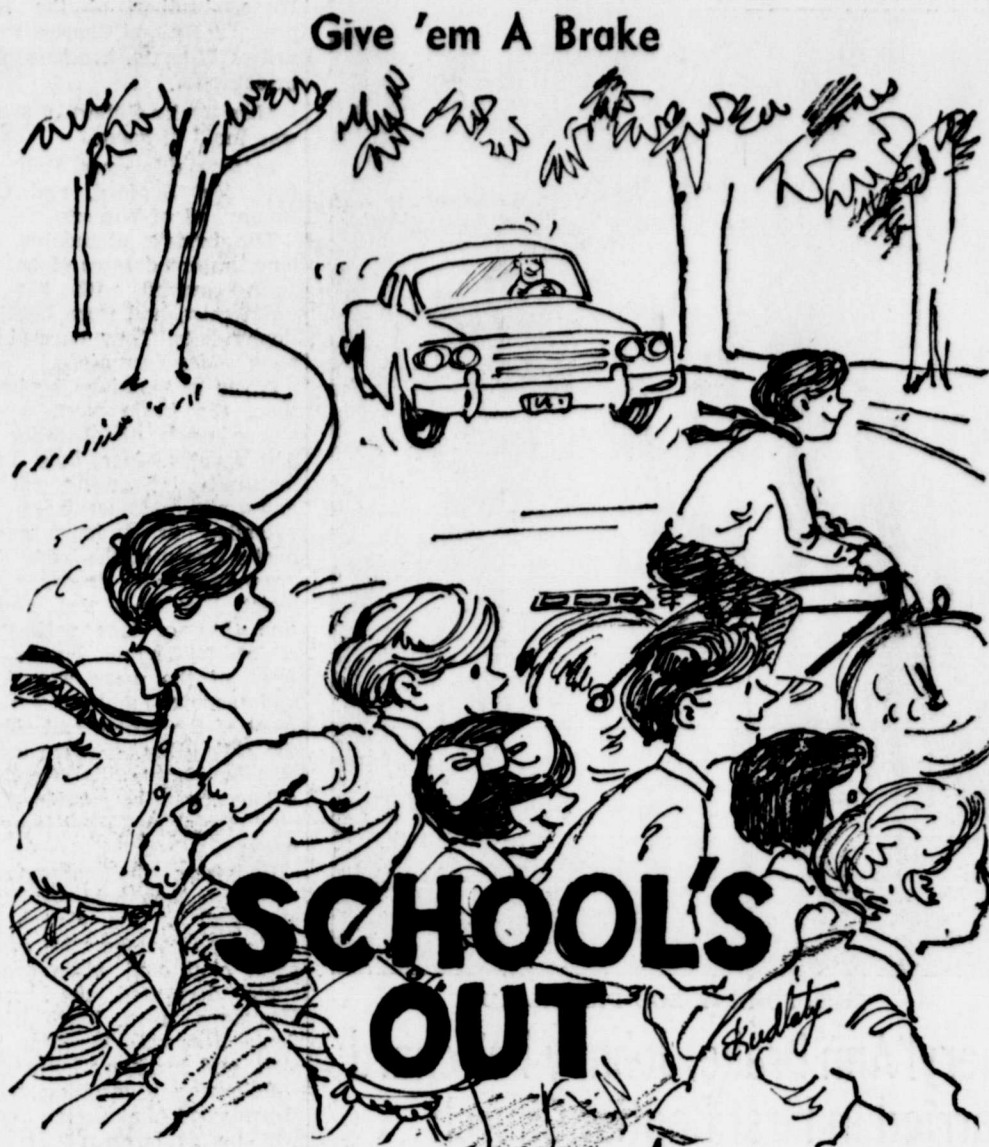

HIGHER OPERATING RATIO NEEDED

For more efficient operations and higher profits, a greater utilization level is essential. In 1969, a record year for profits, 94.3 percent of the industry's capacity was being used. But this ratio dropped to 90.7 percent in 1970 and 90.9 percent in 1971. As mentioned, a stronger economy means a greater demand for 1972, and fewer capacity additions should boost future profitability. Even then in view of the heavy capacity added in recent years, overcapacity may be a problem for some time to come.

NEW USES FOR PAPER

To counter the oversupply situation, the industry is seeking new uses for paper products. A big area here is disposable products, which could build a $1 billion market by 1980. Currently, the best hope for disposables is in textile-like, limited-life goods such as hospital bedding gowns, masks, throw-away diapers, and wiping cloths. Producers are looking farther ahead toward a sizeable recreation market to develop swimwear, outdoor clothing, sleeping bags, etc. Already in commercial production is low-cost, semi-permanent "paper" furniture, including end tables, chairs, music racks, and storage cubes.

Plastic-coated paper houses appear to be on the way. A sturdy, fire-resistant paperboard house capable of withstanding winds up to one hundred miles an hour and able to meet stiff building codes has already been developed. If the public accepts the concept of paper houses, a huge new market for paperboard could be opened up. If it really got rolling, chances are that this promising field could consume as much as 25 percent of all double-wall corrugated paper products.

Give 'em A Brake

The prices of most paper-company equities probably already reflect at least partly the earnings improvement that is expected this year. But commitments can be retrained on the basis of probable longer-term earnings progress. For purchase at this time, the Babson Staff recommends the speculative-grade common stock of St. Regis Paper Company, for appreciation and a well-supported dividend.

A lot of the new school buildings are being built without windows. Whatever will children look out of when daydreaming, pray tell?

Leave Wildlife Young In the Wild

Austin—Cute and cuddly wild life young have a way of growing into dangerous animals, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife officials.

This is the time of year when fawns and other appealing animals appear in large numbers. It is also the time when large numbers of recreationists head for the Texas outdoors.

These fun-seeking find the young animals, think they are abandoned and take them home for pets. This is not only dangerous, it is against the law if the animal is a game species. "The assumption of abandonment is probably false," according to Pierce Uzzell of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

"While the mother is away," said Uzzell, "the fawn lies very still, resembling a sun-dappled log or rock. During the first few days after birth, fawns appear to have no scent, and hunting dogs have actually jumped over a motionless fawn without noticing it." People who pick up young animals do a disservice to the animal and themselves. It takes special knowledge to raise a wild animal under domestic conditions.

Animals which survive table scraps and inexpert care grow up under protected conditions and lose their natural fear of man.

This makes them dangerous. The cases of "wild pets" suddenly becoming vicious are numerous. The victim is often a child.

"The best rule when finding a young animal in the woods is to leave it alone," said Uzzell. "Look at it for a while if you want, but then turn your back and walk away. Both animal and human will be better off that way."

Doing a great thing. For if, resolutely, people do what is right, in time they come to like doing it.

Muskellunge Imported To Texas

Austin — Approximately 30,000 tiny muskellunge have been delivered to Texas as part of an exchange with the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, according to Ted Lowman of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The Wisconsin agency received 16,000 to 18,000 hybrid sunfish in exchange for the muskies.

The one-inch muskies are being held at four state fish hatcheries: Lewisville, San Angelo, San Marcos and Jasper.

Biologists emphasized that the trade is one of convenience to both agencies. If either the muskies or the sunfish do prosper in transplantation, Lowman pointed out, it will be a fishing bonus at no additional expense to the state's fisheries program. Lowman noted that there is no history of successful muskellunge introductions in Texas, but that the species does stand a chance of survival here.

Muskies already have relatives in the state. The chain pickerel, also a member of the pike family, is native to Caddo Lake and a few other East Texas waters.

Nothing will ever be attempted if all possible objections be first overcome.

MRS. WILLIAM T. HERRING

Sandra Kay Beard, William Herring Married In Dallas Saturday Evening

Sandra Kay Beard became the bride of William T. Herring in a twilight garden ceremony Saturday at 4434 West Northwest Highway in Dallas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Beard of 206 Park Lane, Winters. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Jane Herring of Longview and Willis T. Herring of Shreveport, La.

Eldred Stevens, minister of the Preston Road Church of Christ, officiated. Music was furnished by an a cappella group from the Preston Road Church of Christ.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Bob Colburn of Abilene, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Chip Puckett of Abilene, sister of the bride, and Rudith Frazier of Dallas. D'Shay Puckett, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Charles Herring, of Minden, La., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsmen were Paul Buckner of Dallas and Edwin Greer of Shreveport, La. The groomsmen served as

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of candlelight organza and Venice lace with high Victorian neckline and bishop sleeves. Venetian lace flowed regally down the front accented with pink ribbon. The wattleu train fell from the sheer yoke. The dress and train were finished with Venice lace and pink ribbon. For her headpiece she chose a cap of lace and seed pearls in candlelight to frame her face. It was finished with an elbow length veil.

The bridesmaids wore powder pink organza gowns accented with Parish pink trim. The V-neckline and long Bishop sheer sleeves were edged with rows of powder pink organza ruffles. They wore Parish pink picture hats and carried baskets of fresh spring flowers.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at 4619 Lake Ave., Dallas.

The bride is a 1961 graduate of Eula High School and re-

MRS. JOHNNY BOB PRITCHARD

Cheryl Ann Drake, Johnny Pritchard Married In First Baptist Church

In a double ring ceremony Sunday, June 4, in the Winters First Baptist Church, Cheryl Ann Drake became the bride of Mr. Johnny Bob Pritchard.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Drake of Winters; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pritchard of Route 1, Wingate.

The Rev. Griffing performed the ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, before an altar decorated with 14 candles and greenery and white pom poms. An arch was covered with greenery and white pom poms.

Organist was Mrs. Kirke McKenzie, and soloist, Lesli Bishop, who sang, "Let It Be Me," and "There Is Love."

Candlelighters were Randy Drake of Winters, and Steve Pritchard of Wingate. Tina Merrill of Winters was flower girl, and Donnie Ensor of Bronte was ring bearer.

Jack Pritchard served his son as best man.

Ushers were Tommy Antilley of Wingate and Zane Eoff of Winters. Groomsmen were Charles Drake of Dallas, brother of the bride, Larry Pritchard of Waco, brother of the bridegroom, and Charles Pritchard of Wingate, brothers of the bridegroom.

Miss Becky Gilbert of Winters was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Judy Hodnett, Kei Bedford, and Cathy Bomar, all of Winters.

The bride's attendants wore long empire dresses of hot pink satin covered with hot pink mera mist, and wore light pink floppy hats. They carried long stem white carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long-sleeve gown of chantilly lace and sequins. Her lace bodice featured a Sabarina neckline, and a natural waist in front that extended to a long rounded bustle sweep at the back. Small organza roses decorated the waist. Her train was made of fine tiers of lace ruffles that swept to chapel length. The front of the gown was A-line, and sequins embroidered the front of the bodice and sides of the skirt. Her veil was a short elbow length mantilla attached to a lace cap. She carried a bouquet of pink and white baby carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. The table was covered with a white satin cloth and white organza roses decorated the corners. Hostesses were Lesli Bishop, Sonia Howard, Wandrea Parish, and Marilyn Mayfield.

Following a wedding trip to Brownwood Lake, the couple will be at home at 711 Vick Street, San Angelo.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Winters High School.

Mr. Pritchard, a 1970 graduate of Winters High School, attended Angelo State University, and is now employed by an auction company in San Angelo.
