HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Those of us who love good clown acts, and who missed the performances of "The Greatest Show On Earth" in Abilene recently, will get a chance next week to make up for our loss, if we sit close to our television sets.

That's when the Democratic National Convention will be meeting in Florida, and the television boys will be doing their best to bring to us what will be described as the play-by-play action which will take place. The tv cameras will be focused constantly on the unusual, the bizarre, the comedy—and perhaps the riots?—but on little of the seriousness, connected with the convention.

We'll get to see the mad-house milling of the crowds of delegates and spectators, perhaps even a tv cameraman being hauled bodily off the floor of the convention, fist fights, the wild antics and demonstrations of delegate groups, and to hear the long meaningless speeches of nominators and party officials.

These kind of shenanigans will be what we will be subjected to for several days, during the entire time of the convention—and the Republican Convention to follow—and we will be led to believe (or will naively believe of our own accord) that they are a necessary and important part of the process of picking party nominees for the office of the President of the United States. They have been going on for a long time, of course, but it has been only during the past couple of decades that we've had tv cameras to bring them into our living rooms.

All these things are merely window decorations. Rarely will we be shown the inner workings of the conventions, where the real and meaningful decisions are reached, the filing and counter-filing, the compromising and the back-scratching, takes place. Even if they could get tv cameras and microphones into these sessions—the smoke-filled rooms of old—what we would see and hear would be boring to all, even if we could understand all of which goes on. The television viewing public wants action, and the tv directors will give it—whether it is meaningless or not.

What we will be viewing on the lighted screen during the few days of the conventions will make many of us decide that this is one heck of a way to run a railroad! The trick will be to not let what we see cause us to turn against the convention system as we have experienced it. It has worked in (Continued on page 5)

Ahead of Schedule

Housing Units For Elderly Will Be Finished By September First

Thirty housing units for the elderly, of the project to build housing for the elderly and low-income families, will be ready to turn over to the Winters Housing Authority by September 1, a spokesman for the building contractors told the Authority this week.

The entire project will have 46 units, 30 for the elderly and 16 for low-income families. The elderly part of the project, located on the north and south corners of Grant and East Parsonage streets, will be ready by September 1, and the Housing Authority can begin assignments, it was understood. This part of the project is near the downtown section of Winters.

The other 16 units, located in the northeast section of town near the schools, will be finished some time in the fall, but probably before the deadline is reached, it was estimated.

The part of the project for the elderly will consist of 16 efficiency units and 14 one-bedroom units. Also located in this housing area will be a recreational building, Housing Authority offices, and maintenance headquarters.

Jake Joyce, chairman of the board of directors of the Housing Authority, said applications now are being taken for the housing, at the present office of the Authority, 110 South Main. However, he pointed out, no assignments are being made at this time, and sequence of applications will have no bearing on assignments. Those interested may contact Oliver Wood, executive director of the Authority.

L. D. (Dale) Whitecotton Jr., owner of Dale's Ford Sales and franchised Ford dealer in Winters, has been appointed to the key post of Area Director of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association.

Gene N. Fondren, TADA executive vice president in Austin, said Whitecotton will report to the TADA Board of Directors on all phases of activity relating to the motor vehicle buying public in the Winters area.

"Mr. Whitecotton will work closely with legislative and other governmental officials on all matters pertaining to the industry and the auto buying public," commented Fondren.

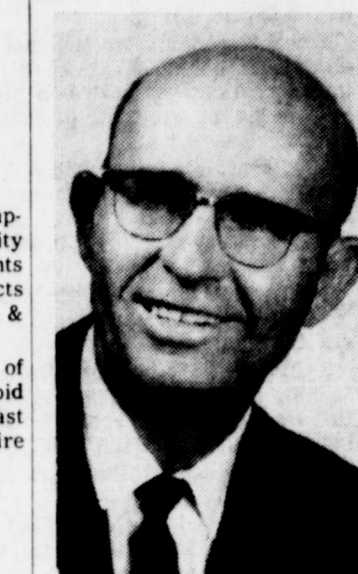

"The job of Area Director is one of the most important in our giant statewide association," said TADA President John C. Cleveland of San Angelo, "and we are confident that Dale Whitecotton will serve with distinction."

Bids On New Hospital To Be Opened 13th

Date for opening contractors' bids for construction of the new North Runnels Hospital has been moved from July 6 to Thursday, July 13.

Bids will be opened at 2 p. m., in the Winters Community Center.

Difficulty in obtaining material prices within the few weeks since the bid announcement was made was given as the reason for the request by prospective contractors that the bid opening date be extended one week, John W. Norman, chairman of the North Runnels Hospital District board of directors, said.

Winters Riders To Hit Trail For Coleman Tuesday

Members of the Winters Riding Club will have the annual trail ride to Coleman Tuesday, July 11.

Those making the ride are asked to bring a sack lunch for the on-the-trail noon lunch. A barbecue supper will be furnished by the Riding Club Tuesday night at Hords Creek Lake.

Milo Conditions Good In Area, But Bugs Attack

Conditions are among the best in years for milo grain sorghum in the area, according to farmers and grainmen, but a bug problem in the grain has arisen.

Rains within the past few weeks have improved conditions to the extent that prospects are good for one of the best milo crops in years, grainmen said.

However, another problem has arisen to darken the picture somewhat, they said. The area has been hit by an epidemic of chinch bugs, which have hit the milo in the young grain, and this could cut yield from 200 to 400 pounds per acre if not stopped soon. Most farmers have sprayed, or are spraying, to kill the chinch bugs.

This is the first year in some time the chinch bugs have been this big a problem, it was said. They come in cycles every so many years, and create problems.

New Building Started For Alderman-Cave

Foundation and floor steel and dirt fill is being put in for the new warehouse being built by Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co., just south of the present warehouse on State Street.

The dock-high warehouse, which will be used for additional sack storage of feed products manufactured by the Winters company, will be 120 by 150 feet, with a covered loading 40 by 60. The building will be an all-steel Star building.

Contractor on the project is Dwayne Clark Co. of Abilene. The building should be completed within a few weeks.

To qualify for the honor list, a student must be enrolled in 12 semester hours of courses, excluding pass-fail courses, and have at least a 3.0 grade point average. Texas Tech uses a 4.0 grading system.

Most Stock For Housing Corp. Already Sold

Most of the 50 shares of stock in the proposed corporation to build low-cost rental housing in Winters have been sold, Nolan Bahlman, chairman of the steering committee working on the project, said Monday.

At a meeting two weeks ago of the steering committee and other interested citizens, the proposal was approved to begin work on forming a corporation to obtain long-term loans with which to build low-cost housing in Winters to ease the housing shortage here. Plans are to sell 50 shares in the non-profit corporation at $40 each. With this amount—$2,000—the corporation then could apply for a loan from the Farmers Home Administration to build the rental units.

Bahlman said well over half of the shares had been sold, and that it is expected the rest will be subscribed within a few days. When all prospective shareholders are contacted, he said, a meeting of the stockholders will be called for organization and to formally begin procedures to incorporate and apply for loans.

There is no indication of how many units may be built once the loan is obtained. Bahlman said this would be up to the board of directors and members of the formal corporation once it is formed. He said the steering committee, appointed by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce some months ago, was responsible only for finding the need, determining the feasibility of such a project, and to lay groundwork for organization of the non-profit corporation.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Outgrowing The Common Cold
There is no cure-all for the common cold. But outgrowing colds may be one way to hold out against sniffles and sore throats.

One intensive study, conducted by the Child Research Council of the University of Colorado, showed that the preschool child had the greatest number of colds. As age increased, colds declined.

Subjects in the study—116 boys and 111 girls—were volunteered by their parents before they were born. Their illness records were kept for decades, in some cases as many as 34 years.

The results? Severe infections were most common in the very early years. But they decreased gradually after age two in boys and age five in girls. Mild infections peaked in preschool and early school years, slowly declined until mid-adolescence, then dropped off abruptly. During the year, most colds occurred between October and May. Colds were scarce during June, July, and August.

The study suggested that antibiotic therapy did not alter the number or the kind of infection. Also, the passage of time had not influenced the incidence of respiratory infection since 1930. Results of the study were published in a recent issue of the American Journal of Diseases of Children, a professional publication of the American Medical Association.

Outgrowing colds can be a long, scratchy wait. And millions of adults are still laid low by respiratory infections every year. To find out more about how your respiratory system works, check with your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. And when your system isn't working right, see your doctor.

The Return of Sen. Muskie

By RALPH NOVAK

NEW YORK (CEF)

Like the Creature from the Black Lagoon, Frankenstein's monster, Dracula and Godzilla, Edmund S. Muskie keeps coming back for more. Now we are being treated to "The Return of Sen. Muskie," with "The Revenge of Sen. Muskie" and "Son of Sen. Muskie" no doubt in the offing.

Since it appears we will not easily be rid of his candidacy, it behooves all of us to know as much about him as we can, so here is a little quick quiz to test your knowledge of the 1972 presidential campaign's version of the Edsel.

1. If Muskie's father had not changed the family name because it was too Polish for an American family, his name today would be: (a) Edmund Polanski; (b) Edmund Kiuszewski; (c) Edmund Muskellunge; (d) Richard Nixon.

2. Muskie's boyhood hero was: (a) George Washington; (b) Thaddeus Kosciuszko; (c) Calvin Coolidge; (d) Harold Stassen.

3. Muskie's father emigrated from Poland because: (a) his bowling team moved to Maine; (b) he had lost the election for czar of Russia; (c) he wanted to discover India; (d) he had a lousy staff of advisers.

4. Rate Muskie's charisma on a scale of 1 to 100: (a) 4; (b) 2; (c) 1/2; (d) —17.

5. Muskie originally decided to run for president because: (1) he wanted to keep everybody else from seeing George McGovern sneaking up on them; (b) he wanted to be known as "The Maine Man;" he always wanted to have his own TV show; (d) his bowling team moved to Washington.

6. In the famous New Hampshire incident, Muskie cried because: (a) Poles are an emotional people; (b) he had to do something; (c) Johnnie Ray told him how effective it was; (d) he wanted to attract the cry-baby vote.

7. In concluding his recent book, "Journeys," Muskie said "working together can make freedom and equality a reality." Who else has said that? (a) Lawrence Welk; (b) Genghis Khan; (c) Lester Maddox; (d) who hasn't?

8. Muskie's campaign slogan was: (a) "Remember the Maine;" (b) "I'd Rather Be Wrong Than Not Be President;" (c) "Do You Have Anybody Else Better in Mind?"; (d) "George McWho?"

9. His campaign has been generally greeted with (a) apathy; (b) apathy; (c) apathy; (d) all of the above.

10. If his comeback attempt fails, Muskie will (a) go to Poland and run for Czar; (b) join the Foreign Legion; (c) become a monk; (d) start planning for 1976.

Public Meeting Set To Discuss Waste Water

A public meeting to discuss waste water in the Colorado River basin will be held in San Angelo July 13, at 10 a. m. in the San Angelo Municipal Auditorium.

The meeting is being cosponsored by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Governor's planning Committee, Colorado River Basin Water Quality Management Study.

The purpose of the public meeting is to afford interested persons and organizations equal opportunity to present views and information regarding waste water disposal in the river basin, according to Col. Floyd H. Henk, Corps of Engineers District Engineer.

Col. Henk said that the Congress had directed the Corps of Engineers to proceed with a review investigation of the Colorado River and its tributaries, with a view to determining the feasibility of regional water supply and wastewater management facilities, including measures for water quality control, wastewater collection, purification and/or reuse.

In order to provide overall planning direction and assure the study reflects the views of the State and of a broad cross section of the general public, Governor Preston Smith has appointed the Planning Committee, Colorado River Basin Water Quality Management Study, to include on the membership officials representing the various affected Federal, State, regional, and local governmental units, plus local representatives from the general public.

Water quality in the Colorado River Basin is generally acceptable, Col. Henk said. However, there are seasonal occurrences of dissolved oxygen depressions as a result of return flows from some areas and large cities.

The objective of the study is to develop a wastewater management plan for the Colorado River Basin, that will provide a high quality, the Corps of Engineers district engineer said.

All interested parties are invited to attend the meeting, the sponsors said.

STATE Capital NEWS

By BILL BOYKIN

Austin. — Wide variance in election costs over the state have been pointed up by Secretary of State Bob Bullock in a recent report.

Bullock said primary expenses ranged from 36 cents per voter (democrats) in Travis County to $4.83 (for Republicans) in El Paso County.

Some county chairmen managed a "thrifter, better-organized election," while others spent the maximum amount authorized, said the chief election officer.

"These figures have reaffirmed our belief that single polling places for both parties, with primaries financed through the county clerk's office, would be a positive step toward reducing our primary election costs," said Bullock.

Bullock noted this breakdown for major counties:

County	Demo	GOP
Travis	36c	$2.50
Harris	61c	$2.44
Tarrant	61c	$1.83
Dallas	57c	$1.94
Bexar	59c	$2.65
El Paso	59c	$4.83
Nueces	52c	$4.48

Higher unit cost for Republicans is not surprising, due to the small size of the GOP primary, Bullock said.

In some counties, the Secretary of State complained, 400 voting machines were allowed where "half as many" probably would have done the job.

COURTS SPEAK

A U. S. Supreme Court decision holding the death penalty unconstitutional left uncertain the fate of 41 Texas prisoners on death row.

A federal court at Brownsville held five Texas laws used in labor disputes are unconstitutional and scored the role of Texas Rangers in a 1966-67 Starr County farm workers' strike.

The State Supreme Court next fall will hear arguments concerning the extent of a health insurance policyholder's rights in suits based on alleged misrepresentation in policy sales.

The High Court ruled Sun Oil Company has rights to use 100,000 gallons of water daily for injection of oil-bearing sands beneath a Hockley County tract to increase production.

Part of the value of medical and legal practices of divorced husbands can be held as community property for distribution to wives, the Supreme Court held.

The Court of Criminal Appeals ordered new trials for two men who had earlier received death sentences which had been overturned by the U. S. Supreme highway user tax revenues to cialistic schemes."

BILLBOARD FORMS AVAILABLE

Application blanks to erect billboards within 660 feet of highways are now available through Highway Department and city offices.

Sign permits are required under the new State Highway Beautification or billboard control act which went into effect last week.

Plans for enforcing sections of the billboard law dealing with illegal, abandoned and non-conforming signs, junkyards and auto graveyards will be announced later.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Smith appointed William A. Turner of Crockett, Dr. Warner A. Dunn of Nacogdoches and Charles Earl Nisbet of Lufkin to the Neches River Conservation District Board.

Dr. Louis H. Iaosa, former Havana psychiatrist, has been named superintendent of Austin State Hospital.

SHORT SNOOTS

The May unemployment rate for Texas rose slightly but remained below the May 1971 level.

More than 420 cities received $40 million from the local option sales tax during the first quarter of 1972.

William G. Tijerina of San Antonio was honored here as the 20,000th handicapped person to gain employment within the last year as a result of state rehabilitation services.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin received the Wyman Award as the nation's foremost attorney general for 1971-72.

Martin recently held in an opinion that an appropriation for statewide park planning is supported by pre-existing law.

A $441,638 federal grant will help the Texas Department of Public Safety expand its criminal intelligence functions.

Texas' business recovery continues slowly, but the threat of inflation remains, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Building permits in the state reached a new record high last month.

A new state bank charter is applied for in Huffman, Harris County.

Texas received the first federal formula grant for treatment, education and rehabilitation programs to deal with alcohol abuse and alcoholism.

Spraying with insecticides kills major cotton pests.

FILIBUSTER MARK SET

Sen. Mike McKool of Dallas cracked the world's filibuster record during the special legislative session, arguing 42 hours and 33 minutes for more funds to improve mental health-mental retardation services.

McKool's feat, which immobilized both houses of the legislature for nearly two days, may have thrown the session timetable out of kilter.

Indications are there is little hope of winding up work on the $4.1 billion appropriations bill before Friday. Additional federal funds totalling nearly $128 million apparently will be assured for welfare.

Senators scheduled a mid-week clash over adoption of new rules which include a controversial provision to authorize consideration of appointments by the governor in open session. Senators traditionally have done this work behind closed doors, and showed reluctance last week to depart from the old practice.

HIGHWAY FUND IN JEOPARDY

The entire Texas highway program is in jeopardy. Texas Highway Commission member Charles Simons told Texas Press Association at its summer meeting in Corpus Christi.

Simons warned the highway program is threatened by proposed environmental controls, raids on the federal highway trust fund, government reorganization, federal revenue sharing and bureaucratic red tape.

He said the federal government-state system as pledged, then release to the states responsibility for collection of the special highway user taxes invoked in 1956 to establish the highway trust fund.

Simons expressed concern over schemes to divert trust fund revenues to build rail mass transit systems in the East and Midwest. He charged a proposal for governmental reorganization is a move to "dominate the highway program and to divert wild-eyed welfare and other so-

Keep Your S. S. Card Available

Don't try to memorize your social security number. Don't try to repeat your social security number from memory when an employer asks you for the number for his records when you start a new job. That advice comes from J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

"Your social security number has nine digits," Talbot noted. "If you try to memorize it, you can easily give a wrong number when you try to repeat it. If you furnish a wrong social security number to an employer, it can cause difficulty in crediting your earnings to your social security record. That may eventually affect your social security benefits."

An employee's earnings are credited to his S. S. number when they are reported by his employer. The employee's earnings determine the amount of monthly social security benefits he may collect when he retires or becomes severely disabled; also the amount of benefits his family may get if he dies prematurely. "If all of your earnings are not credited to your social security number, your benefits may amount to less than they should," Talbot said.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

by BABSON'S REPORTS INC.

Fast Growth Of Pet Foods Market

"By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., July, 1972. There has been a quite dramatic expansion in the pet foods business over recent years. In view of the expected continuing increase in demand and the introduction of new premium items, both sales and profits of the leading manufacturers of pet foods should remain well above average over the period ahead. Taking a look at the longer term, however, we would not be surprised if keener competition and eventual curbing of the nation's pet population were to cause some slowdown in the industry's present rapid rate of growth.

Population Explosion In Pets

Greater affluence for the human populace as a whole, the heavy concentration within the younger age brackets, and the ever-growing movement of families to single residences in the suburbs have been potent factors in generating a boom in the totals of dogs, cats, and other pets adopted by the citizenry since World War II. While accurate "nose counts" of pets are not available, it would appear from results of market surveys that at least one out of every two households has a feline or canine member—and some have more than one. These animals are the mainstay of the pet foods field; other pets have far less effect on this market.

Since the late 1950s the nation's pet population has proliferated so spectacularly that the value of pet foods shipments from processing plants for dogs and cats alone has more than tripled. The retail value of these products was estimated to be in excess of $1.4 billion last year. It is not surprising that these impressive figures stimulate companies to try other items for catering to pets. Owners are, in fact, prone to buy all sorts of articles, such as collars, shampoos, brushes, toys, vitamin supplements, flea and tick deterrents, and even deodorants. While these nonfood items are not within the scope of this immediate discussion, many are being turned out in increasing volume by firms which started out making pet foods.

New Products Plus Convenience

There is still a great untapped demand for basic pet foods. In fact, best obtainable statistics indicate that less than half the dog owners and less than a quarter of the cat owners rely the past—not beautifully at times, admittedly—but the nation stands as evidence of its working.

So if we enjoy good clown acts, we can watch the conventions on tv, and enjoy ourselves. But we should not get carried away with the thought at this is all there is to it—the real working of the conventions is serious business—deadly serious—and what comes out of them means much to the future of our nation... whether or not we approve of this type of presidential nomination process.

The rains of the past few days, which cooled things off a bit, have helped most of us to better moods, even to the point of meaning it when we say "Howdy!" Even in face of the fact that we've experienced two Mondays this week.

One presidential nominee aspirant has reportedly threatened that if he does not get his party's nomination, he will quit the party. Our old Bluff Creek friend wonders if this means that if he gets his party's nomination he will threaten to quit the country if not elected?

Tail Does Not Wag Dog

With the exception of a few smaller companies in forms of annual sales and income—the pet foods industry is for the most part dominated by concerns which are either largely or very heavily based on facets of the people market. In these corporations, pet foods operations represent only a minor portion of annual sales and profits—even though this division of their business may have demonstrated the best record of growth for them over recent years. Hence, such diversified firms with a stake in pet foods are not likely to find themselves in the position of having "the tail wag the dog." Among the best of these currently recommended for purchase by the Research Department of Babson's Reports are Nabisco, Greyhounds and National Can.

As in the case of any specialty, it remains to be seen whether the profit climate can be kept as healthy as it has been over recent years. On the plus side is the probability of higher profit margins as the scope of premium products is widened. On the other hand it should be remembered that the nation's birth rate for the human population is showing a decline, and could have an effect of a similar

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON

Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—The Brookings Institution here in Washington is a non-partisan, non-profit research organization. In its economic studies it draws on some of the best scholars in the country.

In a recent study, a group headed by Mr. Charles L. Schultz, who was Budget Director in the Johnson Administration, came to conclusions and opinions considerably different from those he and associates expressed in the early 60's.

At that time, along with other prominent economists, Mr. Schultz, Walter Heller and others saw a "fiscal dividend" in the country's economic growth immediately ahead. At that time they saw large amounts of revenue coming into the Federal treasury permitting tax cuts, revenue sharing with states and localities and funds for programs of the "Great Society." The report recently completed by these gentlemen and others has the effect of repudiating many of the actions which were a part of the Great Society. The report calls for a reversal of direction for the Federal Government from providing goods and services and other complex schemes for aiding the poor, to increasing the quality of opportunity and improving the quality of public services. In clear terms it calls for drastic change in the spending programs of the Federal Government and warns of the fiscal plight which has overtaken it. One significant line stands out—"For the first time in American history, except during major wars, government spending—even without any new programs—is now rising relentlessly waster than the growth of revenues form an expanding economy." In other words, the conclusion is that the government is overspending itself and the programs to which the government is committed can't be paid for without huge deficits.

Following this conclusion, the report says that the over-committed Federal Government can not spend any more on trying to solve social or other problems without a big tax increase. It says that even if the Congress enacts this year only the programs that President Nixon has proposed, and no more, the Federal Budget for 1975 will reach $300 Billion and that this would be $17 Billion more than tax revenues under present rates.

The makeup of the Brookings Group who produced the report reflects a change of attitude on the part of liberal intellectuals who had considerable influence in shaping policies and programs now criticized. They refer to many programs as uncertain, wasteful and not providing solutions. It goes far in undermining the liberal intellectual belief in the Federal Government as the chief problem-solver in our society.

The Brookings people seem to agree with proposed reforms which have been around several years. Essentially what is needed, among other things, is (1) 5-year budget projections submitted annually; (2) pilot testing of any new programs; (3) a joint congressional committee to evaluate the total budget to determine both revenues and expenditures and (4) more disciplined spending.

What is needed is new incentive to reduce the tax drain and curb spending for programs of uncertain effect.

This sort of policy contradicts candidates on the campaign trail who dreamingly promise to cut taxes and increase spending. It just can't be done and people know better.

TOMATOES

Tomatoes — red, ripe, and fresh from summer vines—are a joy to the summer cook. By serving a fresh, chilled tomato salad on a day when the temperature soars, you'll make wilted appetites come to life.

Crisp, refreshing salads offer the most popular way to serve tomatoes. Tossed green salads lend themselves to the bright red of tomato wedges and patterned tomato salads such as a combination add much to the appetite appeal of a meal. Sliced tomatoes will put sparkle in your salad buffet platters. Or utilize a variety of tempting fillings in a fresh tomato cup salad.

Tomatoes, stuffed with corned beef hash, or perhaps canned chili con carne or a seafood mixture, and baked provide an appetizing entree. Broiled tomatoes are especially tempting during the picnic and barbecue season. Tomato wedges are a must for many popular kabob recipes, too.

For a combination salad custom-made for summertime appetites, try:

TOMATO-POTATO SALAD STARS

- 2 c. diced, cooked potatoes
  - 1/4 c. finely chopped parsley
  - 1/4 c. diced celery
  - 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped
  - 2 T. mayonnaise
  - 6 medium-size fresh tomatoes
  - 1/4 c. French dressing
  - 1/4 c. diced cucumber
  - 1/2 tsp. salt
  - Lettuce
- Combine all ingredients except tomatoes and lettuce. Chill at least 1 hour. Wash and core tomatoes. Cut lengthwise in sixths, but not cut completely through. Place each tomato on a lettuce leaf. Spread sections apart. Spoon salad mixture into centers of tomatoes. Makes 16 servings.

COUNTY AGENT PARKER'S COLUMN

NEW FARM SAFETY STANDARDS INVOKED

If farmers in Rannels County are not already familiar with the new safety standards required by the new Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) of 1970, they should become acquainted with the act as soon as possible.

The OSHA has special implications to the farmer who employs anyone at any time outside of his own family. In this case, the farmer must display a 10 by 16 inch safety poster from the U. S. Department of Labor and must comply with four standards that apply to agriculture.

These four standards cover (1) temporary labor camps; (2) storage and handling of anhydrous ammonia; (3) pulpwood logging; and (4) slow-moving vehicle emblem.

The law also requires farmers to have available for inspection and keep a "Log of Occupational Injuries and Illnesses" even though none have occurred. Both the record form and safety poster are in the Department of Labor booklet, "Recordkeeping Requirements." Each farmer in the county should have received a copy of the booklet. If it has been lost or misplaced, another free copy is available from the Occupational Safety Administration Regional Office, Room 730-C, Mayflower Bldg., 411 N. Akard St., Dallas Texas 75301.

A copy of "Safety and Health Standards of Agriculture" is also available from the Dallas office. This publication contains detailed standards applicable to agriculture.

The new act requires all farmers employing people outside their immediate family to maintain accurate records of work-related illnesses and injuries and to also report deaths within 48 hours to the regional OSHA office. Employers are also required to be able to supply an annual summary of occupational injuries and illnesses upon request from the Labor Department.

The OSHA provides for mandatory penalties of up to $1,000 for each serious violation and for optional penalties of up to $1,000 for each non-serious violation. Records must be maintained for at least five years following the end of the calendar year to which they relate.

AMMONIA FERTILIZERS
Ammonia fertilizers can blind you for life. If you work with liquid fertilizers, particularly ammonia, you're in line for a serious eye injury and possible blindness unless you wear proper eye protection.

As helpful as agricultural chemicals may be for increasing crop yield, they are dangerous, especially ammonia and other solutions with high nitrogen content.

The best insurance against eye injury from ammonia is wearing the appropriate safety goggles with hooded vents and a rim that fits close around the eyes.

The goggles must be worn at all times when working with or around the chemical. An accident can happen anytime, and the most cautious man alive is not immune.

Because of the rapid penetration rate of ammonia, even emergency treatment such as flushing with water won't remove all the chemical, though it will limit the damage.

The highest percentage of ammonia accidents occurs during transfer of liquid ammonia from one tank to another. All it takes is a minor equipment defect, a weak point in a hose or a faulty valve that might be impossible to detect before an accident occurs.

If an accident does happen, the injury must be immediately and continuously flushed with water for at least 15 minutes. If a pond or other body of water is near, the injured person should jump right in and immerse himself. But most important, the five-gallon water containers attached to the nurse tank and applicator should always be filled with fresh water.

Any contaminated clothing should be removed as soon as practical. Once on-the-spot emergency treatment is completed, seek medical help immediately. Until the injured man can get to the doctor, no other treatment besides washing with plain water should be attempted. Salves or ointments must never be applied; they tend to seal in materials and may only add to the damage.

To avoid such accidents, remember to wear tight-fitting goggles and rubber gloves. For most complete protection, wear a full-face combination gas mask and goggles. Also, don't place your head or body in the direct line of valves or hose couplings. Always stand upwind when transferring the liquid and have an ample water supply on hand at all times.

GARDEN CHECK LIST FOR JULY

Make your second application of chinch-bug control materials about the second or third week in July.

Chrysanthemums should receive their last pinch in late July.

Do not neglect to pinch copper plants to make them bushy and compact.

The mulch on landscape beds should be checked and replenished or replaced where needed.

Lawns and landscape plants require ample water this month and the next. Give them an occasional thorough soaking rather than frequent light applications.

This is the critical period for plants set out within the past 9 months. Inadequate root systems and drought can be damaging.

Gladiolus corms can be dug cured, and stored after the foliage has turned brown.

Azaleas and camellias will be forming buds in late July and August. Insure flowers for the spring show by adequately watering them during this period.

For fall color in those empty beds sow seeds of cosmos zinnia, marigold, periwinkle, petunia, etc., this month.

Clean up iris beds and thin out clumps if crowded.

Roses still require spray for blackspot control. For ample fall flowers do not forget to give them a good application of fertilizer and plenty of moisture. If plants are getting tall, sacrifice some of the small summer bloom and cut back to produce new growth and fall flowers.

If you are going on vacation make a thorough survey for insects and diseases and apply the correct pesticides for their control before you leave.

Arrange for continued mowing and irrigation while you are on vacation. Many reliable junior high school and high school boys and girls are looking for an opportunity to earn some extra money.

You have been doing a good job of gardening up to now, do not let the hot weather and summer drought get you down. Adequate care now will result in an attractive fall garden.

For each 100 pounds of fiber, the cotton plant yields 180 pounds of seed.

Cottonseed hulls make excellent fertilizer.

Cottons can be made to look like linen, silk or wool.

About 50 percent of cotton produced is used for clothing.

About 90 percent of U. S. cotton is mechanically harvested.

No Age Limit On S. S. Payments

There is no age limit for the payment of social security taxes, but all workers, regardless of their age, pay the tax on their covered earnings. This reminder comes from J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

"It makes no difference that a worker may be over age 65, or over 72, or receiving social security insurance payments," Talbot explained. "Social security taxes are payable if a worker is paid covered wages of any amount or has covered income of $400 or more from his own business in a year."

Wages paid to the spouse or child under age 21 by an individual employer are not covered by social security and should not be reported, Talbot pointed out. However, the wages of a parent who works in the business of his son or daughter are covered but not if the parent works in the child's home.

Is now
the time to refinance loans?

Capital for expansion, more money from your equity, debt consolidation, smaller payments—these are important reasons for adjusting your loan structure. It's sound business to analyze credit obligations at least once each year to make sure borrowed money is being used to full advantage. Let's talk it over. Should you decide to rearrange your debts, we would be glad to make a Land Bank refinancing proposal.
