HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Spec Robinson and Ed Roller went out to "McGee's Tank" over the weekend to do a little "fishin'." Ed put three nice bass on a stringer, and dropped them into the water at bankside. Later, Spec started to pull in a line and suddenly figured he'd hooked a whopper. Reeled in, and caught on his hook was the stringer with the three bass. Somehow, while Ed was occupied fishing, the bass had pulled the stringer loose from the bank and headed for deep water.

Now the question of ownership or "catch credit" comes up. Ed claims the fish were his, he'd already caught them. But Spec claims that in any other circumstances, like shaking loose from the hook, they would be classified as the "ones that got away," and claims they were "free" fish, to be caught by anyone.

Nod Crowley claims he was attacked by a quail last week. While walking in a field near an oil lease close to Winters, he said an adult quail flew out of the ground growth and for a few seconds fluttered wildly a few feet from his face. He saw several chicks scotching down the row away from him, and figured the mama—or papa—was trying to attract his attention while the little ones got away, by pressing an attack. He said this was the first time he'd ever been jumped by a bird.

Pollution—or anti-pollution—seems to be the name of the game these days. Seems that about everything we do adds to increasing pollution of our water, air and soil, and we are being constantly warned that we'd better do something about it or we'll end up with a dead planet on our hands.

There's a lot being done to reduce the rate of pollution—by car manufacturers, aircraft engine makers, factories, changes in chemical content of pesticides and herbicides, and in about every area. In one state, it is even unlawful now to use disposable and non-returnable bottles for soft drinks. But so much more needs to be done to prevent added pollution, to say nothing of making amends for what already has happened.

Recently we saw a short television feature on smoke pollution. The camera picked up the results of automobile exhaust gases, smoke from factories, leaf and trash burning... and even pointed out that the American "cookout" was responsible for a big part of the pollution problem. The producers of the short film must have had a hangup about cookouts, because the camera kept returning again and again to show two beautiful, juicy steaks being prepared on an outdoor grill. The implication was that we'd better cut out this sort of thing, because it was ruining our air. And there has even been some talk that within a short time, such enjoyments as cookouts will be outlawed because of the pollution. That means that all such outdoor fires, campfires and the like, are in danger of being outlawed. In such an event, in a couple of more generations, Boy Scouts may be taught how to safely and properly turn a switch on an electric outdoor "campfire."

But in all the publicity about the use of pollution-causing equipment—cars, factories, and outdoor steak grills—we have noticed no mention (perhaps we've missed it) of one thing, owned by most every family, which is bound to be a contributing factor to the pollution problem... the gasoline-powered lawn mower. So far as we know, there has been no mention of installing emission

Blizzards Play Merkel Tonight

Hard on the heels of their 20-16 win over Clyde in the season opener last Friday night, the Winters Blizzards travel to Merkel this Friday night to take on the Merkel Badgers, in a non-conference game.

Merkel has been reassigned to 1-A status for this two-year period, but still presents a formidable opponent for area 2-A teams with whom they were assigned the past two years. Winters defeated the Badgers 29-28 last season.

The Badgers have five returning starters on offense, and five on defense. They run from the Wishbone T, and use the same offensive tactics Winters uses. They have some good backs, lighter but quicker than Clyde exhibited last Friday night.

Outstanding among the Badgers will be Steve Teaff, 165, a running back; Higgins, 175, a returning starter as offensive guard; and Jerry Beard, 160, end and receiver.

Coach Chili Black, after viewing films of the game last Friday night, said the staff is pleased with the progress of the Blizzard offense, and expects to field a Blizzard team calculated to hold their own this week. Coaching staff and team are hoping for cooler weather for this week's encounter; the untimely heat of last Friday night contributed to the slowdown of most everyone.

The Blizzards have no serious injuries to plague them as they go into this second game of the 1972 season.

Will Seek Site For Land Fill Trash Disposal

The City of Winters within the next few months probably will be instructed by the State Health Department to make radical changes in the manner in which trash and garbage are disposed of, city officials said this week, and a search is being made for a suitable site for an approved land fill operation.

The City has been notified that the present system of piling and burning is unsatisfactory, officials said, and it is expected that definite instructions to make changes are forthcoming.

The present site, the "city dump," southeast of the city, would not be suitable for a land fill operation, it was felt, because of the high water table. Bore tests will be made on other city property near the city farm, Mayor Wade White said, with hopes that that area would be suitable.

The land fill system requires deep ditches to be dug to receive the refuse, and then to be covered with dirt. Mayor White said the system would require an additional bulldozer, and ditches would be filled about twice a week. The system eliminates smoke, rodents and flies, and used areas can be returned to productive fields or pastures within a short time, it was stated.

Jim Vaughan Star In "Fiddler On The Roof" at ACC

Jim Vaughan, Abilene Christian College student from Winters, will portray the leading role of the Jewish Russian milkman in the ACC production of "Fiddler on the Roof," the world-popular musical to be presented by ACC on the Abilene Civic Center stage at 8 p. m., Oct. 19-21.

Vaughan, a graduate of Winters High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Vaughan of Winters.

He will play the part of Tevye in the musical, and has spent at least 140 hours already in rehearsal. The production of "Fiddler on the Roof" will be the ACC 1972 homecoming entertainment.

Vaughan said the role of Tevye "is very challenging to me. He considers himself a hard-working man, and irritable at times."

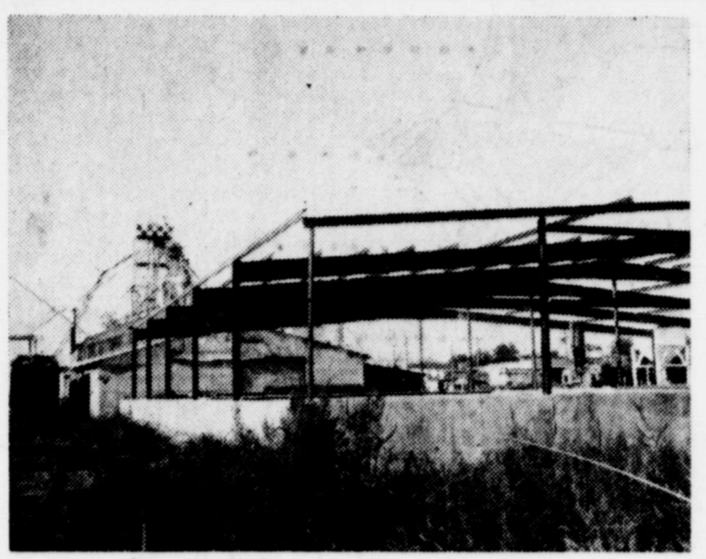

The probable starting lineup for the Blizzards for Friday night:

Blizzard Band Named Outstanding In Fair Parade In Abilene Saturday

The Winters High School Blizzard Band, under the direction of Kirke McKenzie, won the "Outstanding Band" trophy in their division in the opening parade of the West Texas State Fair in Abilene last Saturday morning.

The marching band, with 137 members marching, was presented a giant trophy—about three and one-half feet tall—as the first place winner in Class AA competition. Other bands in Class AA included Ballinger, Haskell, Hamlin and Cosco. The Winters band was the only band in the parade with colors and a flag corps, and was the largest band in the parade, Director McKenzie said.

Twenty-nine bands marched in the parade, with 25 in competition. Abilene High School Band won the Class AAAA award, and Roscoe won the A, B award. Many Winters people attended the Saturday morning parade.

Winters Lions Club Will Sponsor Golf Tournament Here Sept. 23rd

The Winters Lions Club will sponsor a golf tournament, limited to members of Lions Clubs of the area, at the Winters Country Club, Saturday, September 23. Tee-off time for 18 holes of play will be 9 a. m.

Members of the local Lions Club, plus members of Lions Clubs from the entire area, have been invited to participate in this tournament, which the Winters club hopes to make an annual event.

A team trophy will be presented for low score for four players from any one Lions Club.

Individual trophies for low score (medal scratch), will be presented to first, second and third places. Individual trophies for low score (Galloway system) will be presented to first, second and third places.

A "blind" hole award will be given on one hole, to be decided by the committee. A trophy will be awarded for the highest score recorded, and there will be chances for other prizes.

Entry will be on an individual basis, with entry fee of $7. Golfers may contact Gattis Neely, club tournament committee chairman, prior to the tournament, or may register on the day of the tournament prior to tee-off time.

Rural Residents Reminded Of Last Day For Joining Water System

Ladell Davis, president of the North Runnels Water Supply Corporation, has reminded rural residents of North Runnels County that if they have not already signed up for membership in the organization, they have only two weeks to do so before the September 30 deadline. Otherwise, he pointed out, their chances of getting water through the proposed rural distribution system after completion may be slim, and even then probably will be much more costly than the present $100 initial membership charge.

The board of directors of the new corporation has set September 30 as the deadline for signing up to be included in the planning. The deadline was set so that a complete map of the area, showing location of all membership outlets, can be provided engineers for final surveys and planning, Davis said. More than 400 rural residents have already signed up, and will be included in the system, Davis said, according to the "pattern" of outlets. The board has set a goal of 500 members before the final date, he said.

In mentioning the deadline date again, Davis said it was imperative that engineers have a cut-off date so plans can be completed. Many people who have signed up have just been waiting and watching developments, the board members indicated, and it is felt that most of them now will go ahead and sign up.

The new corporation, made up of landowners and residents of most of Runnels County north of the Colorado River, proposes to build a distribution line to reach almost every rural area and homestead, including some sections of South Taylor County. The cities of Winters and Ballinger both have indicated willingness to provide all or part of the water which will be needed for the system, Davis said.

Applications have already been forwarded to proper agencies for long-term loans and Federal grants to build the proposed system, Davis said. These applications have been approved by the West Central Texas Council of Governments. In applying for the loans and grants, it was pointed out that the potable water supply of the area is dwindling. Much of the ground water of the area has become polluted with nitrates, and is unfit for human consumption, and in some instances, unfit for animal use, it was reported. The rural water distribution system will ease this problem, proponents of the system pointed out.

Donations Made By Local VFW To Several Projects

Winters Post 9193, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has released a list of donations made by the local post to several projects recently.

The local post donated $75 to the American Heritage program, to be used in the local schools for drug education. Also, $75 was donated to the Winters State Bank, Monday, September 18, through Friday, September 22.

The public is invited to view this exhibit. Many of the paintings will be priced for sale. Mrs. Porter, daughter of Mrs. Lillie Heath of Winters, has a bachelor of arts degree in art from Howard Payne College, and has studied with Luis Gorman, Paul Soldner, Henri Gaudois and Fred Samuelson.

State Conservation Board Hears Elm Creek Plea

Much evidence of destruction of homes and other property, loss of livestock, high erosion of topsoils, and even threats to human life, was presented Tuesday night by Runnels County residents at a public hearing on the proposed Elm Creek Water Control District project, before the State Soil and Water Conservation Board.

Evidence presented underlines the need for the flood control measures proposed by the Elm Creek Water Control District, witnesses told the State Board, in addition to the need for additional water supplies for the area.

About 20 witnesses read reports of flood loss in various sections of the Elm Creek watershed, and urged the State Board's approval of the flood retention project. Other letters of loss reports and evidence were presented to the board.

Joe Antilley, chairman of the state board, said the board would reach a decision on the project sometime this year, and will establish the district's priority for funding, if approved.

W. M. Hays, chairman of the Elm Creek Water Control District board, presided at the meeting, and said if the state approves the development of the watershed work plan, consideration will be given to developing a municipal water supply for Winters and Ballinger.

The need for additional water supplies for Winters and Ballinger, in addition to the proposed rural water system for the north part of the county, was brought out by representatives of the two cities.

LaDell Davis, president of the North Runnels Water Supply Corporation, which proposes to provide water for all rural areas, said most of the ground water in the area is unusable because of high nitrate and salt content. He said the water corporation will look to Winters and Ballinger for water for the rural project.

Price Middleton, Runnels County auditor, testified that some experts have estimated that annual damage by flooding in the Elm Creek watershed is $376,000.

Others testified to loss of crops, livestock, fences and roads due to flooding in the watershed. Ken Shrank of the Runnels County Soil Conservation Service office, showed slides of damage done in the past years when Elm Creek and its tributaries reached flood stage.

Witnesses at the hearing included:

W. H. Rampsy, former Runnels County Judge, who has worked with the Elm Creek District board since its beginning; Melvin Mapes, Runnels County Commissioner, Prec. 2; Felton Saversness, Taylor County Commissioner; Jimmy Partin, representative of the Middle Clear Ford Soil and Water Conservation District; Grider Hays, of the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District; Hugo Vogelsang, chairman of the board of Valley Creek Water Control District.

Also, E. E. King, chairman of the board, Runnels County Water Authority; Charles Clifton, mayor of Ballinger; Wade White, mayor of Winters; LaDell Davis, president, North Runnels Water Supply Corporation; A. L. Faubion Jr., president of the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Tommy Russell, representing the Winters Chamber of Commerce; Rev. Frank A. Jernigan, Ballinger minister; Price Middleton, Runnels County Auditor; Elliott Kemp, Runnels County Judge; Mrs. Emma Marks, farm owner.

AROUND THE 6-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

District 6-AA won 3 and lost 2 over the weekend, as the 1972 football season got underway. One district team, Stamford, had an open date and will not begin seasonal play until this Friday night, when they go against Breckenridge in a non-conference.

Each team of the new district gets an open date this season, with the last games to be played November 17. Anson and Winters are open October 13; Ballinger is open October 6; Hamlin and Haskell are open September 22. All open dates come before conference play begins October 20.

The Winters Blizzards started the season with a 20-16 win over Clyde Friday night. In unusually sweltering heat, the Blizzards controlled the game for most of the first half, holding Clyde to 9 points until halftime activities, while making their total score. Clyde came back stronger in the second, scoring a TD and converting, and gave Winters trouble right up to the final gun. Clyde was rated in the No. 3 spot for their District 9-AA by the Harris Rating System. Winters was pre-season rated in No. 4 spot for 6-AA.

The Haskell Indians, rated before the season started as the No. 1 team in 6-AA, upset strong Eastland—last year's Class AA semifinalist, and this year's No. 1 in 9-AA, according to the ratings, with a 21-20 win for their opener Friday night at Eastland. Haskell's recovery of Eastland fumbles added the dash of something needed for a final victory for the Indians.

Hamlin, No. 5 in the 6-AA rating lineup, lost a close one—21-18—to Rotan at Hamlin Friday night, as the Yellowhammers spoiled Hamlin's opening game. Hamlin was on the board first in the opening quarter, capitalizing on a Rotan fumble. Most of the scoring was done in the third period, with Rotan grabbing a fumble and keeping the advantage. An 80-yard race down the sidelines for a Hamlin score added spice to the game.

Ballinger, rated in the No. 3 spot in 6-AA, refused to let Brady cross at all Friday night at Brady, and came home with a 20-0 victory for an opener. The Bearcats made their first TD just before halftime when linebacker Johnny Slaughter intercepted a Brady pass and returned it 50 yards for a touchdown. Brady was pre-season listed as the top team in 24-AA.

Anson was the other loser for District 6-AA Friday night, as the Coleman Bluecats, No. 2 in 9-AA ratings, trampled them 23-8. Coleman scored in the second, third and fourth, and Anson was unable to do anything until about a minute after the fourth quarter started.

Coleman Co. Fair Set For Sept. 20

The annual Coleman County Country Fair will be held Saturday, Sept. 30, at the Coleman Rodeo Grounds, from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Members of the State Soil and Water Conservation Board are Joe Antilley, Abilene, chairman; J. Frank Gray, Lubbock, vice chairman; and members, E. W. Wehman of Pleasanton, Henry Turney of Dublin, Albert Roach of Paris.

Also present at the meeting were Harry E. Davis, executive secretary of the State Soil and Water Conservation Board; G. E. Kretzman, engineer for the state board; L. F. Stewart, field representative for the state board; and Logan W. Crews, assistant state conservationist for watersheds.

JAMES F. WILLIAMS JR.

Jim Williams Is New Field Super For Humble Oil

James F. Williams, Jr., of Winters has been promoted to field superintendent at Bronte-Fort Chadbourne for Humble Oil & Refining Co.

He succeeds N. S. Richie who was transferred to the Long Beach, Calif., division.

Williams is a native of Grosvener, and joined Humble in 1946 in South Texas. Four years later, field assignments took him to the Bronte-Fort Chadbourne area.

In 1970 Williams was named maintenance foreman, a position which he held prior to his recent promotion to field superintendent.

He and his wife, the former Joe Ann Wells, are the parents of a daughter, Denise.

Homer J. Hodge Receives Top Lions Award

Homer J. Hodge Jr., immediate past-governor of Texas District 2-A1, Lions International, has been awarded the coveted "100 Percent District Governor's Award," in recognition of his work and services during the past year.

The award was made during the meeting of the Winters Lions Club Tuesday noon, and the presentation was made by George M. Beard, president of the local club, and immediate past secretary and a cabinet member of District 2-A1. The pin and accompanying certificate was sent from Lions International headquarters, and signed by the International President.

The award certificate states, "The International Association of Lions Clubs, in recognition of the services of Homer J. Hodge as District Governor (for the year) 1971-72, hereby confirms and gratefully acknowledges his leadership and invaluable contribution to the strength and growth of Lions International. Signed, Robert J. Uplinger, International President."

In making the presentation, Lions Club President Beard said that the "100 percent devotion and service" rendered by District Governor Hodge during his time in office may be equaled but can never be surpassed.

Hodge, in accepting the award, thanked members of the local club for their support and assistance during his term of office. He said he had traveled 38,000 miles in his visits to each of the clubs in the sprawling West Central and West Texas district.

Band Sweetheart Will Be Chosen Next Friday Nite

The Winters High School Blizzard Band is making preparations for the halftime activities during the Winters-Coleman football game, September 22, which will include crowning of the Band Sweetheart for 1972-73. All senior girl members are nominees for the honor.

Halftime activities by the band will be dedicated to all senior members of the Blizzard Band.

More Students Off To College

The list of students enrolling or returning to colleges and universities continues to grow. The most distant university being attended by an ex-Winters student is the University of Maryland-European Division in England. John Thomason, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Thomason of Winters who is in the U. S. Air Force at Lackenheath AFB, England, has enrolled in that University.

Others on the school list are: Hudon White Jr., and Sherrill Alexander, to Texas A&M; Gary A. Young, James Connally Campus, Texas State Technical Institute, Waco; Gilbert Bean, University of Texas at Austin; Larry Jack Pritchard, freshman, to Baylor School of Dentistry, Dallas.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—In January of 1979 the Congress passed what is known as the Logan Act. In essence the law forbids private citizens from engaging in diplomatic negotiations with foreign governments without official sanction. It carries a maximum penalty of 3 years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine for violation.

At intervals in our history some prominent and well-known people have been accused of violating the Act but it turns out that, although frequently cited, it is one of the least used laws on the books.

The law came about in a rather curious way.

Ordinarily, legislation bears the name of the Congressman or Senator who authored it. In this case, George Logan, a wealthy Philadelphia Quaker and physician, was an early leader of conscientious objectors. In 1798 he was worried about the outbreak of war between the United States and France.

The French were angry over

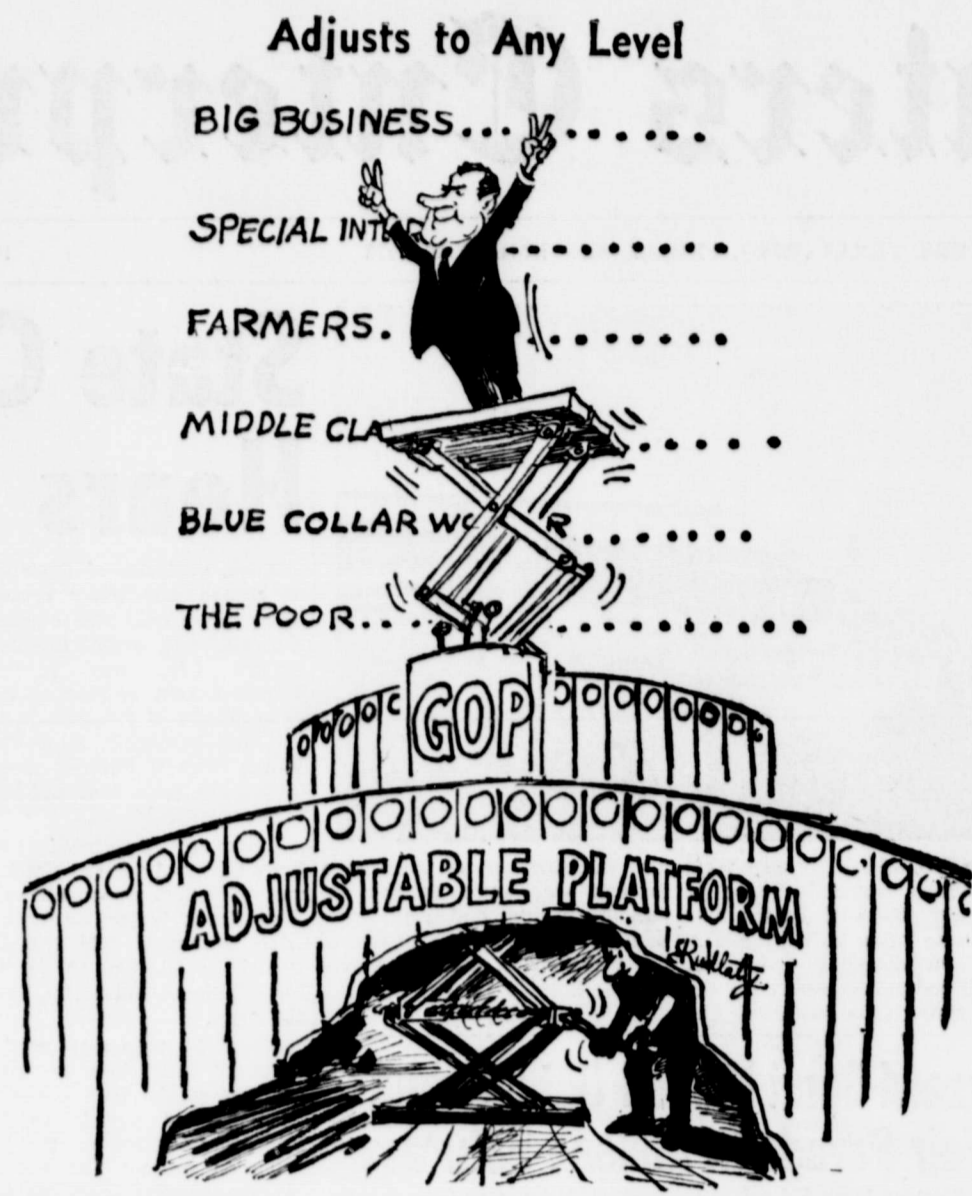

American reluctance to support her as repayment for her help in the American Revolution against England. In 1789 France had placed an embargo on U. S. shipping and seized several merchant ships and crewmen.

With a letter of introduction from Thomas Jefferson, then Vice President, Mr. Logan went to France to confer with her Foreign Minister, Maurice de Talleyrand, and obtained the release of the ships and crews. Even Federalist President Adams was impressed with Logan's success but the Congress was not and passed the law bearing Logan's name since his acts were resented by the Legislative Branch.

Undaunted by the law named for (or against) him, Logan left the Senate in 1807 and 3 years later went to England in an effort to negotiate better relations and try to avoid the War of 1812. In this effort, obviously, he failed. The Act was not invoked against him.

Apparently the only indictment ever returned under the law was against Francis Flournoy, Mr. Flournoy was a Kentucky farmer with a very great interest in foreign affairs. In 1803 he wrote an article urging that a separate country be established in the American West, allied with France. Officials in Washington directed the U. S. Attorney for Kentucky to seek a Grand Jury indictment. Flournoy was indicted but charges were dropped when the United States made its Louisiana Purchase from France and the separation issue faded.

In more recent years such nationally prominent people as Henry Ford, Senator Joseph McCarthy, Vice President Wallace, Harold Stassen and Cyrus Eaton have been verbally cited as being in violation of the Federal Law. It is now being questioned in some quarters as to whether Ramsey Clark, Pierre Salinger and Jane Fonda violated the Act by their talks with

Former Resident Died In Crane Monday Morning

Mrs. I. N. Johnson, 85, a former resident of Winters, died at 10:05 a. m. Monday in a nursing home in Crane.

Funeral services were held at 9 a. m. Wednesday in the Shepard Chapel in Crane, with graveside services at 3 p. m. at Lakeview Cemetery in Winters. Grandsons were pallbearers.

She was born Mamie E. Gardner, October 9, 1886, in Hopkins County. She married Isaac Newton Johnson Nov. 6, 1904, at Travis.

Her husband was an oil field worker for many years, and they lived in Howard County near Big Spring for many years, later moving to Ranger. They moved to Winters in 1946. Mr. Johnson died March 4, 1961.

Mrs. Johnson was formerly a member of the Winters First Baptist Church. For the past few years she had been living in Crane.

Surviving are one son, Gardner Fred Johnson of Albany; three daughters, Mrs. Gladys Horton of Andrews, Mrs. Modest Short of Crane, and Mrs. Frances Ash of Crane; 11 grandchildren, 22 great-grandchildren, and four great-great-grandchildren.

Wingate Sew and Sew Club Meeting

The Wingate Sew and Sew Club met recently in the Wingate Methodist Church. Mrs. Nolan Cave was hostess. Quilting was done for the hostess.

Present were Mesdames Nellie Adcock, J. O. Bradford, J. C. Belew, Leila Harter, Ed Kinard, George Lloyd, Fay Pingar, Ethel Polk, Clifford Burrow, Butch Burrow, Emma Doggett, Julie Hancock, Elmer King, Flossie Kirkland, Mildred Patton, Williams, and two visitors, Mrs. Jack Patton and Angela Burrow.

The next meeting will be Sept. 19 in the home of Mrs. Bobby Airhart.

the North Vietnamese communist in Hanoi and Paris.

It seems that the lawyers in the Justice Department are saying that if any action is to be taken, it should be recommended by the State Department. The State Department says that it is the Justice Department who should act if there were law violations.

Probably the best explanation at this time is that neither want to pick up a hot potato because (1) they would be accused of political sledge - hammering, which the law has seemingly always been; (2) they seem to think it would be difficult to prove "negotiations" and (3) prosecution would tend to make a martyr out of the defendants.

So, as it has always been, the Logan Act is something more to talk about than to prosecute under. But in reviewing the Logan Act's history, Harvard law professor Dellev F. Gags wrote in the American Journal of International Law: "Who can tell when a new administration, thinner skinned or harder pressed than its predecessors, may in its irritation, call into play this sleeping giant?"

Leather Fashions

Going natural is a big thing these days, and fashion-conscious Texans can do just that with leather—suede or smooth-grained.

The current appeal for layered separates couldn't be better for leather apparel as the trend of classicism blends with put-together ensembles which feature leather jackets, vests, skirts and pants. Jackets in the fashion forefront include the short battle jacket, skirt jackets, smocks, blazers, wrap-around, and safari jackets. Short fashion leather vests top skirts, while vests in longer lengths pair with pants.

CREWS

in suede or grained styles—is supple and projects a lean line. With the re-entry of skirts into fashion, leather appears in wrap-arounds, gored and A-line silhouettes.

The spectrum of leather variations provides additional excitement to its fashion appeal. Leather types divide into two categories—suede and spit leather.

With these categories options offered by animal hides and skins become more apparent, Mrs. O'Connor states. Categories also indicate the care required for these leathers, as permanent-care labels are not required for garments made with them.

Suede leather is recognized by its velvety nap. The leather has been turned inside out and buffed to achieve its soft surface. Split leather is cowhide with a rough, brushed nap.

Heavily soiled suede and spit leather should be professionally dry cleaned. In-between care simply involves brushing with a terry towel or suede brush to remove loose soil. Spots and light stains can be removed with soft gum eraser, emery board or chalk cleaner.

If suede leather gets wet, dry the garment away from the heat. After it's dry, restore it to the original appearance by brushing with a terry towel.

Grain leather is recognized by its smooth appearance. Apparel made with grain or smooth leather may be cared for at home by wiping the surface with a damp cloth and soap—not detergent—then patting dry.

Wrinkles will hang out of the garment if it's left in a damp room overnight. However, if wrinkles remain, smooth leathers can be pressed.

Using a low temperature and heavy wrapping paper as a press cloth, press the leather garment on the right side. Overheating and shine can be avoided by using a light, quick hand.

As with all wet leathers, smooth leathers should be dried away from the heat.

To hang leather garments, give them proper support to preserve the shape with wood or covered hangers. Seasonal storage in a well-ventilated room will allow the leather to breathe and have a long life. Plastic bags should be avoided. Instead, a cloth cover will keep the leather dust free.

Stylish and easy-to-care for qualities make leather a natural choice for adding spice to the wardrobe, stated Mrs. O'Connor.

Chicken A L'Orange
3 T. flour, 1 tsp. salt
3 pounds frying chicken pieces
1 can (4 oz.) mushrooms
1-4 cup Tang Instant Breakfast Drink
2-3 cup water
1-8 tsp. pepper
1-4 cup shortening
1 med. onion, thinly sliced
1-4 tsp. tarragon

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge chicken in flour mixture; brown in hot shortening in large heavy skillet. Remove from skillet and set aside. Pour off all but 1 tablespoon drippings from the skillet. Drain mushrooms, reserving the liquid. Sauté mushrooms and onion in skillet; add chicken. Mix instant breakfast drink, tarragon, water and mushroom liquid; pour over chicken. Bring to a boil; then reduce heat, cover and simmer until chicken is tender—about 30 minutes. Place chicken on heated platter. Skim fat from sauce in skillet. If necessary, thin sauce with a little water; serve with chicken. Makes 4 servings.

Austin.—About 20,000 on Texas welfare rolls may lose their eligibility next month due to increased federal Social Security benefits.

Probably 110,000 more may get a cut in state Old Age Assistance as the federal benefit goes up.

However, Department of Public Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Vowell emphasized that total income will still be higher even where state benefits drop.

Federal law requires the state welfare agencies to count Social Security income in figuring financial need for welfare grants.

Vowell said the Welfare Department is trying not to lower or deny welfare grants wherever possible.

He advised welfare recipients to notify their local aid offices of any change in their need or other income.

Budgetary revisions in welfare procedures will permit continuation.

Before action can be taken on commutations, prosecutors who do not want to start new trials must make formal written requests to the Board. In nearly all cases, local prosecutors are expected to request commutation rather than retrial.

The Board plans a meeting within the next month to take formal action.

The Department of Defense has asked for 15,900 men from all states October-December.

Glantz indicated about 1,100 Texans will be drafted during the last three months of the year. Induction orders will go to men qualified for military service who were born in 1952 and those who lost a deferment in 1972.

State Director of Selective Service Col. Melvin N. Glantz said 95 is the lottery number cut-off for induction of non-volunteers for the rest of the year. Lottery cut-off for September is 75.

That 11 per cent average statewide auto insurance rate cut went into effect September 1 as scheduled.

They will be available to auto owners when they purchase new policies or renew existing coverage in the next 12 months.

An additional 10 per cent cut is possible after passing a National Safety Council-prescribed defensive driving course. Total reductions amount to about $70 million.

Texas Water Rights Commission recessed hearings on feasibility of rival damsites for the next reservoir in the Nueces River watershed until September 28.

At the same time, TWC Chairman Otha Dent hinted neither the proposed R & M nor Choke Canyon sites may be acceptable for the immediate future. Corpus Christi officials favor the R & M site (above Calallen on the Nueces River) which is closer to the city, while many other potential water users favor Choke which would be smaller and cheaper.

Nueces River Authority has filed as sponsor of the Choke Canyon project on the Frio River west of Three Rivers, TWC said the Federal Bureau of Reclamation, which would build the reservoir, did not consider water rights already granted when it made studies of the sites.

Attorney General Martin held constitutional a 1971 act to prevent insurance holding companies from draining off assets of insurance companies they control. The act was an outgrowth of the National Bankers Life Insurance Company scandals.

In other recent opinions Martin concluded: -Independent school districts are barred from collecting delinquent ad valorem taxes incurred before Dec. 30, 1939.

-Northwest Houston Water Supply Corporation bonds are not to be considered as "other obligations" of the city under the water code.

-A commissioners court does not have authority to compensate justices of the peace on an hourly basis.

-A district clerk is legally authorized to retain as a fee of office compensation for accounting and administrative expenses in handling trust funds paid into court during litigation and invested at interest.

-The executive director of the Texas State Hospitals and Special Schools is the official on whose salary is based the contribution of eligible HSS board members for retirement credit.

-A one-year real estate loan providing for an interim payment on or before six months from date of a specified sum, plus accrued interest with unpaid principal balance due and payable on or before one year after date meets requirements of 70 per cent loans.

Texas is sixth among destination of vacationing American families, according to a national survey cited by Texas Tourist Development Agencies.

Texas also ranks fifth in visitor spending, as well as sixth in family visits last year, according to the study commissioned by Better Homes and Gardens magazine.

With 2.8 million family vacation visits credited to the state last year, Texas was exceeded by California, 5.6 million; Florida, 5.5 million; New York, four million; Pennsylvania, 3.5 million and Tennessee, three million.

Visiting families spent $474 million in Texas, compared with $1.9 billion in Florida; $1.5 billion in California; $684 million in New York and $650 million in Hawaii.

DEATH SENTENCES COMMUTED

Some 28 prisoners sentenced to death have had their sentences commuted to life imprisonment following a high court decision that capital punishment as now applied in Texas is unconstitutional.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin August 2 held the U. S. Supreme Court decision (now on appeal) meant sentences must either be commuted or prisoners given new trials.

A Board of Pardons and Paroles member said he did not know when inmates whose sentences have been commuted by Gov. Preston Smith actually will get the official news. He said there are 45 on death row in Texas prison and that the Board may wait until all sentences are commuted before informing either prisoners or the public.

With 2.8 million family vacation visits credited to the state last year, Texas was exceeded by California, 5.6 million; Florida, 5.5 million; New York, four million; Pennsylvania, 3.5 million and Tennessee, three million.

Visiting families spent $474 million in Texas, compared with $1.9 billion in Florida; $1.5 billion in California; $684 million in New York and $650 million in Hawaii.

Top Democratic candidates George McGovern and Sargent Shriver planned back-to-back visits to Texas this week and last week.

Still on the look-out for bogus state employees, state auditors screened House and Senate staff members carefully when they picked up their September 1 paychecks.

A mockingbird carved out of pecan wood will be the farewell gift of Governor and Mrs. Smith to the state governor's mansion.

U. S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen is pushing for a two-pronged federal attack against an outbreak of fever ticks that caused quarantine of cattle in Jim Wells, Duval, McMullen and Live Oak counties.

State inspection of meat packing plants has brought only one lawsuit but several assaults on meat inspectors, a legislative study committee was told.

The Governor approved federal anti-poverty grants of $410,000 to the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity.

A fiery chili cooking championship—the Third Chillympiad—will be held at Aquarena Springs in San Marcos September 29-Oct. 1.

Gift Tea Honors Mrs. Randy Polk, Recent Bride

A gift tea was held Saturday night, honoring Mrs. Randy Polk of Austin, a recent bride.

Special guests included the mother and sister of the bride, Mrs. Frank Brown of Winters and Mrs. Ronnie Schueler of Austin.

The serving table was laid with white, with a centerpiece of red roses and crystal appointments.

Hostesses for the tea, which was held in the Fellowship building of the Church of Christ, were Mrs. Noel Reid, Mrs. Eva Kelly, Mrs. Fred Young, Mrs. Bill Byrns, Mrs. Harry Grantz, Mrs. Wade White, Mrs. E. E. Prewitt, and Mrs. Clifford Hill. Mrs. Polk is the former Martha Brown.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

Tired of not catching fish?
That's a common complaint at certain "slack" seasons of the year—especially days when the temperatures are high.

Naturally the easy answer to the problem is to fish at night. Then the water is cooler by several degrees. As a consequence of the temperature changes the big bass move up from the depths and into shallow water where again it's comfortable and there's new food to be found.

Anglers who like to hear the explosion of a lunger bass in the still of the night as it smacks a top water lure with all of its dynamic power—use a chugger, or a popper or a stick with spinners and aft.

Let this happen alongside the boat, as it sometimes does and you'll not only get a thrill but the sensation of a cold chill running up and down your spine . . . despite the warm night.

One who seeks the bass in the hot daytime weather, needs a different approach. He has to fish deep—real deep. Big bass seek not only shade to escape the hot rays of the sun, but also the cooler water (around 68 degrees) which may be 30 to 60 feet deep if the weather has been very warm for some time.

First of all one needs a worm rod and a bait casting reel for this job, with 20 pound-test line or stronger. That is, if he wants to land a lunger.

This time the lure needs to be a plastic worm, preferably the small seven-inch size in strawberry red, brown, blue or black.

Fish off of a point from boat to bank, shallow water to deep, using a slip sinker heavy enough to keep the worm crawling slowly along the bottom. . . deeper, deeper and deeper, until you feel that longed-for "telltale tap" that means a strike.

If at first you don't succeed, change worms until you find a color or combination of colors, to his liking. A white-tailed worm is great!

Esther Circle Met Tuesday Morning

If still no luck, try longer worms!

Failing there, tie on a jig and eel and bounce 'em off the bottom in the deepest hole you can find. Here, a depth finder comes in mighty handy.

Don't give up — they gotta eat sometime!

County Agent's Column

Soil Test Small Grain Land

Although small grain planting time is just around the corner, there's still time to get a soil test on the land to be seeded, says County Extension Agent Parker.

Small grains cannot be expected to perform well when grown with inadequate amounts of plant nutrients. Lime may be needed in parts of East Texas and in the coastal regions.

Many producers apply nitrogen in the fall or as a topdressing in the spring but do not consider other nutrients that small grain crops may need.

Small grains are very responsive to phosphorous and only a soil test can determine the amount to apply. Phosphorous stimulates rapid, early growth which is especially important if the crops are to be grazed. Phosphorous should be drilled at planting or broadcast and worked into the soil prior to seeding. Some fields may also need potash which improves the standing ability of plants. However, this plant nutrient is generally not needed as often as nitrogen and phosphorous.

A soil test is the best guide to a sound liming and fertilization program for small grains. Soil samples may be submitted to this office at a cost of $2.00.

Most Pastures Can Use Lime
Late summer and early fall is a good time for applying limestone to established permanent pastures.

Liming is especially important on extremely acid soils as it increases the effectiveness of applied fertilizers. Liming these soils also reduces the level of harmful elements present in the soil that reduce plant growth. The overall effect is increased forage quality and quantity for livestock grazing. The Texas Agricultural Extension Service recommends 1-2 to 2 tons of limestone per acre on established pastures having a pH of 5.8 or below. Liming is especially important if a legume is growing in pastures.

A soil test will indicate the need for liming and will provide current pasture fertilizer recommendations. It is sound economics to apply lime and fertilizer as indicated by a soil test.

Generally, late summer and early fall is a slack period for lime dealers and their equipment, so agricultural limestone can usually be applied upon short notice.

HEALTH FOR ALL

The "flu" may be of little concern to most people, but there are those with one or more chronic ailments which make it a mighty important part of their health planning, reports the Texas State Department of Health.

The end of a long, hot summer signals the approach of fall and winter and their threats to the health of the individual. Influenza is a distinct possibility during the cold, blustery, wet months.

What to do about it
If you fall into one of the special high risk categories, the State Health Department recommends an annual vaccination against influenza.

You are in the high risk group if you have one of these chronic debilitating conditions:

1. Congenital and rheumatic heart disease, especially with the narrowing of a heart valve, and the hardening and thickening of arteries;

2. Chronic bronchopulmonary diseases such as asthma, chronic bronchitis, cystic fibrosis, bronchiectasis and emphysema and also advanced tuberculosis;

3. Diabetes mellitus and other chronic metabolic disorders. Although the value of routinely immunizing all older age persons is less clear, the State Health Department says patients with incipient or potentially chronic disease should also be considered for annual immunization. Of particular consideration should be those with diseases affecting cardiovascular and bronchopulmonary systems.

Persons who provide essential community services may also be considered for immunizations if local priorities justify.

Influenza occurs in the United States every year, but the incidence and geographic extent vary widely. Periodically, it appears in epidemic form, such as the onslaughts in the past few years of the A-2 Hong Kong variety.

The U. S. Public Health Service says the effectiveness of inactivated influenza vaccines has been variable, and protection has been relatively brief. Partly for this reason, vaccines are recommended only for selective use in persons at high risk.

Primary series of vaccine consists of two doses preferably six to eight weeks apart—with completion around mid-November.

Because of the time lapse between the first and second shots for those getting shots the first time, persons falling into the recommended categories may want to contact their private physicians now about getting vaccinations.

Persons who have had one or more doses of vaccine containing the Hong Kong strain antigen (all influenza vaccines since 1968-69) need only a vaccine. All others should receive the full primary series, according to the Public Health Service recommendations.

Persons who are hypersensitive to egg protein, inactivated or injected, should not be vaccinated. Influenza vaccine is prepared from viruses grown in embryonated eggs and ordinarily should not be administered to those who have an egg allergy.

Research is going on constantly toward developing other types of vaccine, but it must be tested and approved before release for general use. The influenza injection-type vaccine is the only one in use at present.

The State Health Department doesn't recommend flu shots for everyone. However, those with chronic problems are more apt to suffer from the serious effects of flu and take longer to recuperate.

EMPHYSEMA COUNTRY
One cigarette unsets the flow of air and blood in your lungs. Years of smoking can cause emphysema. And in the last decade, deaths from emphysema almost tripled in this country. To investigate the relationship of smoking and emphysema—Drs. Oscar Auerbach and E. Cuyler Hammond—studied whole-lung sections from autopsies of 1800 men and women. Then they checked the lungs for the degree of emphysema that might be present. Later they found out from relatives the smoking habits of the dead persons.

How closely did smoking habits correlate with the extent of emphysema in the lungs? Very closely.

Of the persons who had never smoked regularly, 90 percent had no emphysema at all. The air sacs, where oxygen and carbon dioxide are exchanged, were not damaged and torn. The walls of the small blood vessels around the air sacs were not abnormally thickened.

In contrast, of the persons who smoked 20 or more cigarettes a day for years, 99 percent had some degree of emphysema. Their lungs looked lacy, dotted with holes where thousands of air sacs had ruptured and broken. Among persons with the same smoking habits, the degree of emphysema in their lungs increased with age and the number of years they had smoked cigarettes.

Other studies cited by the U. S. Surgeon General show the chances of dying from emphysema are 25 times greater for people who smoke two packs a day than for nonsmokers.

Find out more about ways to quit smoking from your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. It's a matter of life and breath.

The Invisible Pollutant
We can close our eyes to wipe out the world. But we can't shut our ears.

The delibel count in our industrial society is soaring. Jet planes streak across our skies. Trucks and millions of cars pound our highways. Rock music chokes the airwaves, and television sets turned up too high assault our silence.

Noise bombardment affects our hearing and high levels can cause permanent hearing damage. Experiments have shown exposure to high levels disrupts sleep and rest patterns, causes irritability and mental distress, and reduces work capacity. Abnormal heart rhythm may be associated with long-term occupational noise exposure.

For reasons not yet fully understood, noise even affects the way we breathe. A recent report prepared by the U. S. Army shows that our rate of breathing actually decreases from exposure to noise. And the heart rate and blood pressure increase. Experiments on animals showed that exposure to high levels of noise also damaged the kidney, liver, and stomach, as well as caused deviations in brain waves and skin resistance.

We can, of course, start wearing earplugs and insulated helmets. But we can also demand that top levels for noise be established at the places where we work and the cities where we live.

WAGE CURBS AND LABOR RELATIONS

Wellesley Hills, Mass. — The fact that wage-price controls are operating with some degree of success is having a quieting effect on union-management negotiations. There appears to be less aggressiveness on the part of labor representatives than at any time in recent years. This may be traced, at least in part, to the realization that bitter strikes for wage concessions greater than the 5.5 per cent are pointless since any larger raises will undoubtedly be rejected by the Pay Board or by the Construction Industry Stabilization Committee.

And there are other factors that are making negotiations somewhat more cautious than usual. For one thing, 1972 is, all in all, an undramatic bargaining year with few industries involved that might be expected to blaze new trails for other lines to try to follow. This was, of course, an especially good year for a wage-control tryout, giving both management and labor a relatively subdued period in which to see how relations might respond as curbs take hold.

PROBLEMS IN CONSTRUCTION

Even in the building field, where there have been skyrocketing pay rates for a number of years, the situation is showing fewer fireworks. During the first six months of 1971, according to Labor Department figures, first-year raises in multiyear pacts within the construction industry shot up 13.3 per cent on average. For the first six months of this year, there was a far more restrained 8 per cent advance.

Controls are not alone in exerting downpressure on wage gains in construction. Softening in the building industry for some localities and still high unemployment have contributed. Since runaway pay rates in the field have become the rule, consumer opposition to exorbitant building costs has become a powerful force. One result of this has been a rapid and far-ranging move away from the use of union labor, particularly in outlying sections where non-union contractors are more common. This can, of course, bring savings in home building.

SHORTER CONTRACT DURATION

Because of the impact of wage controls and the general slowing of the pace of wage increases, more and more unions are plumping for shorter contracts, preferably for those extending only one year. Then, if controls are still on at expiration time, another single-year agreement can be sought under permissible ceilings. But should controls have been removed—or abated—by expiration, make-up raises could be sought at once, without waiting for another year or two as would be the case under a multiyear agreement.

Although Senator McGovern has stated that he will remove controls within ninety days if he is elected, most union and management officials seem to be going on the assumption that the significant negotiations of 1973—including those in the electrical, auto, and trucking industries — will take place with curbs still in effect. The fact is that they do not expect either party to remove anti-inflation bans at the start of a year that promises to see so much activity at bargaining tables in pace-setting business lines.

CONTROLS INFLUENCE NEGOTIATIONS

Labor relations are likely to be less militant as long as curbs appear to be working successfully. Unions anticipate getting whatever pay demands are permitted under the guidelines without the necessity for a knock-down battle. To fight for exaggerated benefits that would probably be nixed by the Pay Board would be a costly waste of time. True, there will undoubtedly be some flare-ups during the course of 1973 bargaining sessions, but these may be more for the purpose of convincing memberships that their union leaders are looking out for their interests than for trying to extract unacceptably large gains from industry. If the unexpected happens and controls are completely withdrawn, look for fireworks on the labor front.

Meet '173-Gun Pete,' Sportsman
By RALPH NOVAK

NEW YORK (CEF) — The main reason Congress never passes any effective gun control laws, we are often told, is because of the opposition of "sportsmen."

Most of us do not know any sportsmen but I was lucky enough to meet one on the bus the other day and get his side of the story.

He said his name was Peterson Lilliput, though most of his friends call him "173-Gun Pete," because of his firearms collection. He is the president of the local chapter of the U.S. Association for Bullets and Nice Guns (usually known as USA-BANG) and complained that his duties were making it hard for him to devote full time to his regular job as a brain surgeon.

"Where are you going?" I asked. "To the target range, perhaps? Or to a friendly competition among sportsmen like yourself? To hunt a moose?"

"No," he replied, unconsciously practicing his quick draw. "I'm going to the store to buy a pistol."

"No. 174, eh? It must be a rare antique or a special souvenir, I'll bet."

"No," he said, aiming his index finger at a passing policeman. "It's just a regular pistol, on sale for $3.98, with this special coupon from Shooting Illustrated. Cheap, but deadly, you know; cardboard-plated grip, guaranteed not to explode unless it's fired and it will bring down any Communist invader who gets close enough for you to club him with it."

"So you have all those guns to defend your country?" "Right you are," he said. "You never know when those fluoridating monsters will come after you."

"How many Communist invaders do you run into per week in your neighborhood, on the average?" I asked.

"None so far," he said proudly, throwing his shoulders back so that the outline of a shoulder holster appeared under his suit coat. "They respect strength, so I make it known around that I have weapons. You know, I show the guns to the kids on the block and explain to them about Bat Masterson, John Wayne and the other heroes of the Revolution so they know how a gun makes you a real man and all."

Just then he got up and said, "Well, I'd like to talk some more but here's my stop and I have to get off. I see there's a big line at the gun store already because of the special."

"It's always that way on Saturday night."

Former Resident Named "Senior Citizen of Year"

W. B. (Bonnie) Puckett, native of the Drasco community, and operator of a store in that community for some time, recently was named "Senior Citizen of the Year" at Hamilton. A ceremony honoring Mr. Puckett was held at the Hamilton Senior Citizen Center. Eloe Stringer, a member of the Governor's Committee on Aging in Hamilton, presented a plaque to Mr. Puckett.

Mr. Puckett was born at Drasco in 1902. He graduated from Drasco High School in 1920 in the first graduating class of Drasco. He and his brother, Richard, operated a store in Drasco for some time, and he then moved to a farm near Big Spring. Later, he moved to a stock farm near Hamilton, where he is still living.

Your Social Security

There is no age limit for the payment of social security taxes, but all workers, regardless of their age, pay the tax on their covered earnings. This reminder comes from J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

"It makes no difference that a worker may be over age 65, or over 72, or receiving social security insurance payments," Mr. Talbot explained. "Social security taxes are payable if a worker is paid covered wages of any amount, or has covered income of $400 or more from his own business in a year."

Wages paid to the spouse, or child under age 21, by an individual employer, are not covered by social security and should not be reported, Mr. Talbot pointed out. However, the wages of a parent who works in the business of his son or daughter are covered but not if the parent works in his child's home.

For more information, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P.

O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo. Residents of Winters may call toll free by dialing "Operator" and asking for "Enterprise 2058."

Charlie Graham Died Friday In Ballinger Hospital

Charlie L. Graham, 85, early-day settler of Winters, died at 8:25 p. m. Friday in the Ballinger Memorial Hospital following a short illness.

Funeral services were held at 2:30 P. M. Sunday from the First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Harry Grantz, pastor, and the Rev. Riley Fugitt, pastor of Clyde First Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Northview Cemetery under the direction of Spill Funeral Home. Grandsons and great-grandsons were pallbearers.

Mr. Graham was born March 1, 1887, at Luling, the son of the late George W. and Mary Wood Graham. At the age of 17 he went to work for himself, and then joined his father in farming in Jones County in 1908.

He married Eula Mae Cooke, August 12, 1908, at North Park, Abilene, in the home of her parents, the late Dr. and Mrs. Robert Cooke, who was the first physician in Winters.

In 1915, he and his wife and family moved to Winters where for more than 35 years he was in the grocery business. He retired in 1947.

He had been a member of the First Baptist Church for 57 years, and for 20 years he was head usher of the church.

Mrs. Graham died July 25, 1972. A son, Robert, died in 1945.

Survivors are one son, George Graham of Brazoria; two daughters, Mrs. H. E. Swofford of Clyde and Mrs. George Poe of Winters; two sisters, Mrs. Willie R. Shields of Abilene and Mrs. Onia Marshall of Fort Worth; five grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

Ford Division's 1973 Cars and Trucks Release Thursday, September 14

An all-new Ford car, significant improvements in other car lines, and new Ford pickup trucks with the most extensive changes in six years highlight Ford Division products for 1973.

Cars will make their debut at Dale's Ford Sales, Ford dealership in Winters, on Friday, September 22, and trucks Friday, September 29. Availability of all vehicles is subject to Federal emissions certification.

"Any year in which the big Ford, our bread-and-butter car, and our pickup trucks are new just has to be a banner year," said Dale Whitecotton, local Ford dealer.

"Ford dealers will lead from a position of strength in '74. We have national marketplace leaders in Pinto, Torino, Thunderbird and Mustang, and will have a great opportunity to continue breaking sales records with the new hardware coming our way," Whitecotton said.

New impact-absorbing bumper systems are standard on all 1973 Ford Division cars.

The front bumper is designed to prevent significant damage to safety-related lighting, exhaust, cooling, fuel and latching systems in five-mile-per-hour front-end barrier collisions. The rear bumper offers protection in two-and-one-half mile-per-hour impacts.

The Ford Division cars also have new exhaust emission control devices to improve control of oxides of nitrogen.

Radial-ply, steel-belted tires are standard on Thunderbird and optional on all other car lines. Forged aluminum wheels are optional on Pinto, Maverick and Mustang.

An anti-theft alarm system is optional on the Ford and Thunderbird; a new spare tire lock is available on all models; and an inside hood-latch release is standard on Ford, Thunderbird and Torino.

One less model in the Ford car line reduces the total division car models to 39.

The Ford car features a new grille, new sheet metal below the windows on all models, and all four-door Fords have new "greenhouses" with increased headroom.

Other Ford standard equipment improvements include a new, more convenient instrument panel, a glove box three times larger than in 1972, additional sound insulation and improved window weather-stripping for an especially quiet ride, windshield washers on the wiper arms, and a spare tire extractor in station wagons. All 1973 Fords include power front disc brakes.

New options with Fords include power mini-vent windows for four-door models, a recreation table between the facing rear seats in station wagons, an AM-FM multiplex stereo radio with integral stereo radio and stereo tape player, and an automatic emergency-brake release.

The 460-cubic-inch 4V eight-cylinder engine is an added option with Ford cars. Both the 240 Six and the 302 V-8 are discontinued.

The 1973 Ford Thunderbird offers a new front appearance produced by a new grille, stand-up hood ornament and larger bumper. Opera windows in the rear roof pillars now are optional.

An all-new car in 1972, the Ford Torino has a new front appearance in 1973. Low back front bench seats are standard, and a rear window electric defroster optional for station wagons.

A new Torino series is added. It includes the Gran Torino Brougham two-door hardtop and four-door pillared hardtop. The new models replace the Brougham Interior Trim Group option of 1972.

Ford Mustang's five models—still the widest choice in the small specialty segment—include Ford Division's only convertible for 1973. All Mustangs carry a new grille, and molded urethane front bumpers which match the body color.

Ford Maverick's substantially upgraded interior includes more comfortable seats and richer-looking door trim. Interior and exterior dress-up options also have been significantly upgraded. Maverick's ride quality, too, is improved.

Ford Pinto—which received many "running changes" in mid-1972, including thicker seats on all models, improved suspension and the Ford quiet ride—for 1973 adds steering and brake refinements and an optional handling suspension package. Such 1972 1-2 additions as the station wagon, sun roof and Sports Accent group will continue into 1973.

New inside and out, Ford Division's F100—250—350 pickup trucks offer major new features and additional recreation-oriented options.

A larger cab, with storage space behind the seat, features a new instrument panel and more comfort features. Longer wheelbases and wider tracks give a more comfortable ride, without sacrificing the load-carrying capabilities.

A new F-350 Super Camper Special is designed especially for the recreation market and features a side-mounted spare tire, 140-inch wheelbase, and a deeper frame to combat "free-way bounce" when a camper is mounted. Other highlights include fuel tanks mounted between the frame rails, an optional camper tie-down system and optional dual batteries.

Bronco offers automatic transmission, power steering and a luxury Ranger option package, while automatic transmission and power steering also will be offered as options on the F-100—250 four-wheel-drive pickups.

Other Ford light trucks—Econoline, Club Wagon and Ranchero—include many refinements and improvements.

Blizzards Hit Bulldogs 20-16 In Season Opener Here Friday Night

The Winters Blizzards pulled off a 20-16 victory over the Clyde Bulldogs in the season opener for both teams Friday night in Blizzard Stadium. The Blizzards came on strong in the first half, scoring seven points in the first quarter and 13 in the second period. Their offensive attack was stymied throughout the second half, with the defense allowing one score to the Bulldogs in the third period, as well as one in the second and a field goal in the first.

The Blue team took the opening kickoff and made two first downs on carries by Fred de la Cruz and Jerry Mack Jackson before losing possession on a fumble. On their next possession, after a Clyde punt, Jackson scored on a 19-yard run. The point-after kick by Lee Choate was good for a 7-0 score at 7:06 in the first quarter.

A fumble on the return of a Clyde punt set up the drive which led to the Bulldog's field goal. The Blizzard defense held the Bulldogs three times on the five-yard line, and Clyde had to settle for the three points and a score of 7-3 at 1:49 in the first period.

Early in the second quarter the Blizzards showed how the triple option is supposed to look on a play covering 66 yards. Quarterback Oscar Torres carried for 25 yards before pitching back to Jackson who carried the remainder of the distance for the touchdown and a 13-3 score at 10:12 in the period. Choate's kick was blocked. Clyde had to punt on their next possession, and in six plays the Blizzards were on the scoreboard again. Halfbacks Jackson and Choate and fullback de la Cruz alternated moving the ball, and it was Choate who took it off tackle the final four yards across the goal line. His PAT was good, and the scoreboard read 20-3 at 5:15 in the half. The Bulldogs put their passing attack to work for their scoring effort and made the score 20-9 at halftime.

The Blizzards were unable to mount a scoring drive during the second half, despite moving the ball well on occasion. The Clyde quarterback kept for a touchdown in the third quarter, making for the final score of 20-16.

The fourth period saw Clyde intercepting a Blizzard pass, then Blizzard Rex Pritchard picked off a Bulldog pass. After exchanges of punts the clock ran out with the Bulldogs threatening to score. On the final play of the game Jackson knocked down a Ramos pass to put the game on ice for Winters.

Good defensive efforts were put in by Torres, Ricky de la Cruz, Jackson, Denny Heathcott, Luther Smith, Wayne Schwartz, Mike Moore, Rodney Richards, Glen Hoppe and David Kirchmann.

controls on lawnmowers, and anyone who has ever pushed one of these monsters knows of the pollution it causes.

It would be a safe bet, too, that there are many more lawnmowers owned than there are steak grilles. At least, there are not as many grilles in operation at any one time. So it seems a bit unfair to lay so much of the blame for pollution on the doorstep of the man who cooks an occasional steak over a fire in the back yard, and ignore something even more responsible for a big part of the air pollution, the lawnmower. It pollutes more than the air, too—on a quiet Sunday morning, when one is trying to catch a little extra sleep, or when a good football game is on in an afternoon, it can pollute the very sound-waves. Were not for the danger that we might end up on the business end of a push-type, man-powered mower, we'd start a campaign... We're not so worried about our contributions to pollution with a steak grille.

4-H Delegates Met To Plan Awards Banquet

Runnels County 4-H delegates met recently in the courthouse to discuss the 4-H Awards banquet, and plans were made to have the banquet in the Parrish Hall in Ballinger. The Christmas party also was discussed.

New officers were elected for the new year. They are: Via Halfman, chairman; and Jack Earnshaw, vice chairman; Bonney Helwig, secretary-treasurer; and Vickie O'Dell, reporter. Present for the meeting were Sharon Book, Bonney Helwig, Via Halfman, Vickie O'Dell, Edgar Artegon, Lenice Mooney, Charlie Fredrich, Jack Earnshaw and Donald Baize.
