HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

An article in a Fort Worth newspaper recently estimated that only about 20 percent of the motorists who meet or overtake school buses which are stopped to load or unload students, obey the law and come to a stop. Eighty percent of the drivers in such circumstances were said to sail right on by, ignoring the flashing stop signals on the buses.

The article had to do with a survey taken in the Fort Worth metropolitan area, and not with rural roads and highways, in this particular instance. But, even though the percentages may be much higher for the first category and much lower for the second category, on rural roads and highways in this area, there still is too much ignoring of the law regarding school buses. Too many motorists continue their headlong flights down the roads and highways, paying no attention to stopped school buses. This places a great danger in the way of students, especially the smaller children who do not realize the danger and are apt to dart across the road once they are off the buses and free of school-day activities.

A moment's stop to wait for a school bus is not too much to ask of anyone—no one's business is so urgent, and no one is so important that they cannot show some consideration for the safety of school children who ride the buses.

Handed in: The quarterback had a great season, but he wasn't a happy fellow. It seems that his girl friend had been faithful to the end.

It's interesting to observe the manner in which people—most people—react in certain circumstances. And in making this observation, we have been very pleased to learn that we have not been more than a little peculiar in our own behavior—we have not been alone in this area.

Just inside the front door of The Fashion Shop, Frances Campbell, Prop., has placed a seated mannequin, clothed in the latest styles. From a distance, it appears that a woman is seated by the entrance. Several times during the past few days, we have entered, and with our attention being mostly directed toward the interior of the store, have hesitated before the mannequin, said "Good morning" at least twice, "Excuse me" a time or two, and nodded two or three times, before the realization hit that this was just a mannequin and not a real person seated in the chair.

After we had been caught up short a few times, we decided to observe the manner in which others reacted in this situation. Sure enough, of several people who entered the store during our survey, most would hesitate, even stop, when noticing the mannequin. One nice lady even appeared to begin a conversation before she realized what it was—we could see her lips move in a "Good morning" salutation.

Just emphasizes that most of us, when on an errand or in our daily mad rush, pay very little attention to the objects nearest us, and to what is happening right by our side—our minds are reaching out beyond our immediate surroundings.

That may be the reason many of us don't know what's going on a big part of the time. We fail to recognize people around us at times, or fail to pay attention to what is going on right under our noses. May be the reason humans make the

About 525 Residents Signed Up For North Runnels Rural Water System

About 525 rural residents of North Runnels County have signed up with the North Runnels Water Supply Corporation, it was announced this week following closing of the membership books September 30.

Corporation officers said the map, showing location of all outlets, will be finalized this week, and forwarded to engineers who will make the final planning map of the area.

Although more than 400 residents had signed up by the first of September, the board of directors of the corporation had extended sign-up date to September 30, to allow all who had not joined an opportunity to do so. No further outlets will be added to the map now, it was stated.

Rainfall received in Winters during September was below the ten-year average for the same month, according to figures compiled by Roy Rice, official observer for the U. S. Weather Service in Winters.

A total of 2.88 inches of rain was received during the month of September, to bring the year's total to 17.21. This amount was lower than that received during most Septembers since 1962. 2.78 was received during this month in 1970, 1.97 in 1968, 2.80 in 1965, and only 0.80 in 1963. However, during

Last Boll Weevil Killing Being Done This Week

The third and final aerial spraying of cotton fields in the Runnels Boll Weevil Control Area was begun this week. The final application was expected to be completed by the last of the week.

The program, which covers an area west, north, and southwest of Winters, and reaching into South Taylor County, is planned to kill this year's crop of boll weevils, to prevent overwintering and heavy infestation in next year's crop. C. T. Parker, Runnels County extension agent, said. Cost of the program is being paid for through voluntary payments by cotton farmers, with assistance from the State Agriculture Department.

Parker said results of the sprayings look good, but there is no absolute way of knowing until next year. The spraying was not done to benefit this year's crop, which is already coming off.

Boll weevil damage to cotton in this area has been high this year, Parker said.

Young Farmers Will Meet Next Monday Evening

Dr. Joe Pat Hemphill will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Winters Young Farmers next Monday, October 16, at the Winters school vo-ag building. The meeting will begin at 8 p. m.

The Homecoming Queen will be revealed during special ceremonies at the Winters-Ballinger football game October 27.

Two Homecoming Queens will be named during homecoming activities this year, one from the student body and one a former student.

Applications Ready for Prospective Tenants of Winters' Housing Project

Beginning Friday, October 13, applications for assignment to units in the new housing project of Winters Housing Authority will be available for those eligible for the housing, it was announced this week.

Construction of the housing is practically completed, and the Housing Authority office will be moved to the new building at East Parsonage and Grant streets this week, Oliver Wood, executive secretary of the Authority, said. He said applications for assignment and rental will be available at the new office Friday.

No date has been finalized on completion of the project, but it was expected that all units would be ready within a few weeks. There will be 30 units available for assignment to the elderly, and 16 units for low income families.

Eligibility requirements are varied, it was understood, and all applicants will be screened and assigned by the board of directors of the Authority. Information regarding eligibility may be obtained at the Authority office.

Local Firemen Won Contest At Convention

A team of Winters firemen won first place in the three-man race, and the Winters entry won second place in the one-man race, in contests during the Hill Country Firemen and Fire Marshals Association convention in Sonora last week.

Buddy Miller, Buddy Davis and Johnny Merrill were first-place contest winners, and Johnny Merrill was second in the single man race.

Miss Janice Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Henderson of Winters, was elected Sweetheart of the Hill Country Firemen & Fire Marshals Association.

The Winters Volunteer Firemen and the Women's Auxiliary also won a silver "man-miles traveled" trophy. There were 28 in attendance from Winters.

Winters firemen in the six-man pumper race were Davis, Miller, Merrill, James Spill, Robert Carey and Don Emmert. They also participated in the water polo contests.

Auxiliary members taking part in the six-man pumper race were Mrs. Carson Easterly, Mrs. Johnny Merrill, Mrs. Jay Henderson, Mrs. Don Emmert, Mrs. Buddy Davis, and Miss Janice Henderson. They also took part in the nozzle race. Also in the nozzle race was Mrs. Robert Carey.

Sorghum Growers In Member Drive

The Grain Sorghum Producers Association is currently in a membership drive, and Andrew Englert, Runnels County director, this week appealed to each grain sorghum farmer to mail his 1972-73 GSPA membership dues promptly.

Englert said the GSPA's main goal is to make grain sorghum a more profitable crop to produce, and the organization's work helped to lead the 1970 Congressional action that tied grain sorghum government price supports to corn according to nutritional value, giving sorghum farmers an increase in the loan rate, and an increase in the support payment.

BLIZZARDS OF THE WEEK

Jerry Mack Jackson, offense, and Ricky Mathis, defense, were named Blizzards of the Week for the Brady game, by the Blizzard Boosters Tuesday night.

Elm Creek Information Meet In Ballinger Oct. 19

ELM CREEK DIRECTORS—M. M. Hays, left, and Charles Hambrick, right, are members of the board of directors of Elm Creek Water Control District. Purifoy is secretary-treasurer and Hambrick is vice chairman of the board.

They will be present at the bond election information meeting in the district courtroom in Ballinger next Thursday night, to help explain the details of the $300,000 bond election scheduled October 31.

School Girls' Dress Code Amended By School Board Tuesday Night

A less restrictive but controllable dress code for Winters school girls was adopted by the board of trustees of Winters Independent School District in a regular meeting Tuesday night, following several weeks study of the proposal and interviews with representative high school students.

Adoption of the code, which becomes effective immediately, followed requests from the high school girls for a more lenient rule regarding wearing certain types of pants suits and pants, and other clothing which has become acceptable and line with present-day styles.

A survey of Winters High School girls recently indicated that a large majority of the girls were in favor of a high standard for the school, but still allow some leeway for them to follow the "fashions." The survey showed that 123 of 177 of the girls felt that dress "reflects attitude at school."

Most of the girls voicing opinions in the written survey—145 to 4—said they thought girls should be allowed to wear jeans at school. However, they placed heavy restrictions on the wearing of jeans, according to the answers. They are against "faded jeans" 117 to 28; tie dyed jeans, 138-19; frayed jeans, 106-38; tight fitting body shirts 106-37.

Comments on the written survey mostly centered on the possibility of "lowering standards." Most of them agreed that "we are a better looking student body than most, and would like to keep it that way."

Although the new rules are fairly lenient regarding dress for on-campus wear, stricter requirements will be made when girls participate in activities which take them out of town or onto other campuses. Dress requirements for such trips will be made jointly by the activity sponsor and the school administration.

The new dress code adopted by the board Tuesday night goes further in spelling out acceptable clothing and restrictions contained in the portion of the old code it supercedes. Text of the new code is as follows:

Girls may wear appropriate clothing styled for school wear provided such clothing does not attract undue attention. It is recognized that the style of girls' clothing will continue to change, yet many of the "fad" manners of dress will continue to remain unacceptable for school wear. Among these are tank shirts, army type clothing, see-through blouses, halter type blouses, sweat shirts, T-shirts, shirts with slogans, tight-fitting body shirts, boys' shirts with shirt tails out, hippie type costumes, frayed or faded pants or blouses, and any other type of junk clothing or extremely tight clothing.

Those activities in which students travel and represent the school are subject to a stricter requirement in relation to dress than is expected in normal everyday school activity. Dress requirements for any trip shall

A public information meeting, to discuss the proposed $300,000 Elm Creek Water Control District bond issue, will be held in the District Courtroom in Ballinger next Thursday, October 19, beginning at 8 p. m.

W. M. Hays, chairman of the board of directors of the district, has urged all residents of Ballinger and the Ballinger area, included in the district, to attend the meeting to gain first-hand knowledge of the plans for the water control project. He pointed out that damage from floodwaters from Elm Creek has been high in the past in sections of Ballinger, and the project promises to reduce this danger in the future.

Residents of the Elm Creek District will vote Tuesday, October 31, on the bond issue. If approved, sale of bonds will allow the district to acquire right-of-way and easements to build floodwater retaining structures on the watershed.

Hays and other members of the board of directors have stressed that the Ballinger area would have much to gain by passage of the bond issue and subsequent construction of the dams in the district. Also, there are plans to include in the project, a multi-purpose dam, if feasible, which would serve as a water supply for both Ballinger and Winters.

Another meeting has been scheduled for Winters and Winters area residents, to be held in the Winters Community Center Thursday, October 26. Similar information meetings were held at Crews last Saturday night, and at Bradshaw Tuesday night.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

FOURTH-QUARTER INVESTMENT PROSPECTS
Wellesley Hills.—For most of August and much of September, a drifting pattern prevailed in the stock market with a net trend on the downside. The Dow Industrials and Rails followed this pattern, while Utilities displayed surprising strength for a time, only to drift downward again. Volume was average until near Labor Day when investors turned to recreational activities and trading dropped off sharply.

BRISKER ACTIVITY AHEAD?
As we move along in the early part of the fourth quarter, it appears that more vibrant stock market action lies ahead. At the present time, there is a good deal of apathy among investors generally, apparently a result of the numerous uncertainties existing in this country and throughout the world today. Chief among these are the war situation in Vietnam and the uneasy psychological mood that precedes a Presidential election. While a peace settlement in Southeast Asia is possible before the election, it is unlikely that the North would hand President Nixon a gift like this to support his campaign. On the other hand, if the polls continue to show Senator McGovern lagging badly, the North Vietnamese might not feel any further need to withhold their trump card.

EFFECTS OF ELECTION
Investors must, of necessity, eye the election warily. While President Nixon would seem to be far ahead, the possibility still exists that McGovern might come out on top. Though he has modified some of his pie-in-the-sky concepts, his position on a number of questions is still somewhat unpalatable to many, especially investors and share owners.

Another area of doubt, even before the election, is the possibility of a change in wage-price policies if inflation fires begin to heat up again. It is easy to see how such uncertainties have made many investors—particularly the smaller ones—adopt a cautious attitude. While institutional traders have been active, individuals have tended to stick to the sidelines. However, if one or more of these nagging problems were to be suddenly resolved, it could well be the signal for a renewed pickup in investment activity. After all, it should be kept in mind that the economy looks quite healthy.

EFFECT OF OUTCOME AT POLLS
It is difficult to correlate numbers as expressed by the Dow Jones Averages with the stock market as a whole. These figures, however, are widely followed and carry considerable psychological weight. Thus, the Research Department of Babson's Reports suggests that the indexes for the fourth quarter will show more backing and filling by the stock market. This will probably persist until election time. Then, if Nixon turns out to be a second-term, we would expect a strong post-election rally—one which might join forces with the traditional upward move often seen at year end.

MOVEMENT OF INDIVIDUAL ISSUES
One flaw that has characterized stock market performances in 1972 has been lack of breadth. In other words, price trends have been dictated by comparatively few issues, principally in the high-flying glamor group. These have risen to exceptionally high levels, as expressed by their price-earnings ratios. On the other hand, the so-called "cyclicals" experienced less participation. Cyclicals may be termed issues selling on the basis of their relationship to the state of the economy or separate parts thereof. Hence, a vitalized economy could generate more interest in these types. Rather than anticipating vigorous improvement for the glamor establishments of all types. By the year 1975, total construction is likely to reach a historic height of $150 billion, 38 percent above the record pace set during 1971.

Political Priorities

THE BUILDING OUTLOOK
Wellesley Hills, Mass.—Spending on public and private construction during 1971 totaled a record-shattering $109 billion, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce. Of this amount, expenditures for public construction accounted for $30 billion, the private sector for $79 billion. For the current year, total construction outlays are expected to advance 8 percent to $118 billion, with private construction amounting to $86 billion, public spending to $32 billion. Looking ahead to 1973 and beyond, a continued high level of construction activity may be expected as a result of the enormous task of replacing the nation's outdated industrial and commercial facilities as well as meeting sustained demand for better housing and more service establishments of all types. The year 1975, total construction is likely to reach a historic height of $150 billion, 38 percent above the record pace set during 1971.

HOMEBUILDING PEAK PASSED?
An unsurpassed 2,050,000 housing units were started last year—43 percent more than the 1,400,000 units begun the previous year, and about 7 percent above the earlier high of 1,908,000 starts in 1950. The hot pace of residential building continued into 1972. Recently, however, there have been indications that the housing boom has passed its peak. For example, although new housing starts for the second quarter of 1972 rose 16 percent above the year-earlier rate, on a seasonally adjusted basis, they were just about even with the number recorded during the first quarter. This broke a string of eight consecutive quarterly housing records. (August starts, however, rose 12 percent above the July level.) Although the housing boom may have peaked, strong pent-up demand and availability of long-term money indicate that residential building should continue at a well-sustained level through 1972 and into 1973.

PRIVATE NONRESIDENTIAL BUILDING
Private nonresidential construction—industrial, commercial, religious, educational, hospital—inched ahead only 4 percent last year as a result of a low rate of capacity utilization in the industrial sector and receding demand in the office building division. This year, however, a more impressive gain is anticipated.

PUBLIC UTILITIES ON RISE

Public utility construction was second only to residential construction in terms of percentage gain last year. With a record volume of $14 billion expected to be spent erecting gas, electric, and telephone facilities this year, the category should once again be a pace-setter in terms of percentage improvement.

PUBLIC CONSTRUCTION PROBLEMS

Public construction was hampered in 1971 by declining revenues of local communities, a temporary slowdown in the disbursement of federal aid funds, and difficulties caused by high interest rates and rapidly rising costs. Public education was especially weak in 1971, and a further decline in this category is anticipated this year. Public hospital construction, however, has shown powerful expansion in recent years, and this pattern should continue.

BUILDING MATERIALS

Recent prices of the stocks of many building materials companies tend to reflect investors' fears that residential construction may be headed downward. A number of such issues, in fact, are near their 1971 lows and appear to well discount any moderate slowdown that may be forthcoming. The Research Department of Babson's Reports feels that at recent prices most of the building stocks we regularly supervise are worth holding. For current purchase we recommend Giant Portland Cement and Weil-McLain, both on the New York Stock Exchange.

Chickens
Delicious, nutritious and economical chickens can be found in any kitchen across America and around the world. And chickens can also be found in ageless proverbs from many different countries.

Perhaps the most common "chicken" proverb in America is "Don't count your chickens before they hatch." In China, there's a saying: "One needn't devour a whole chicken to know the flavor of the bird."

A Frenchman might comment, "He that eats chicken gets chicken." The Spanish say,

"A chicken is not hatched for itself alone" and from India, the Hindus provide this one: "Women and chickens get lost by wandering from house to house."

"Broiler-fryers are expected to be plentiful in October" is not a proverb—but shopping advice, as October broiler-fryer production is expected to be 3 percent more than a year ago, assuring abundant supplies of broiler-fryers at attractive consumer prices.

Chicken Chowder
1 chicken (about 4-lbs.)
1 quart water
1-4 tsp. pepper
3 medium onion, sliced
3 tsp. salt
1 tall can evaporated milk (1 2-3 cups)
10 large potatoes, peeled and cut in cubes

Cut up chicken. Remove pieces of excess fat and save for some other purpose. Place chicken pieces in a large kettle with the water, 1 tsp. salt and pepper. Cover and cook slowly until chicken is tender, about 2 or 3 hours. Remove chicken. Add potatoes and onions, together with the 2 tsp. salt, to broth in kettle and boil until vegetables are tender but not mushy. Meanwhile, remove chicken from the bones and cut into small pieces. When potatoes are tender, add chicken and evaporated milk and heat.

Makes 6 to 8 servings. (Note: Carrots, green beans or peas may be substituted for part of the potatoes.)

Fresh Apples
Have you ever heard of Christopher Cucumber? . . . or Marco Potato? Of course not. But you have heard of Johnny Applesseed.

Probably no other fruit or vegetable in the world has such a legendary figure associated with it as the American apple.

Traveling throughout the Ohio Valley country, Jonathan Chapman, better known as Johnny Applesseed spread miles and miles of delicious apples.

The almost legendary figure was actually a missionary of the Sweden-borgian faith. He lived frugally, never owned a home, dressed in what-ever he could find and often went bare-foot in summer and winter. During his travels, Johnny Applesseed planted and tended seedling apple tree nurseries, and distributed seeds and trees to the early frontier settlers. His efforts provided settlers and native Indians with abundant supplies of fresh, delicious apples.

Applegrowers and processors adopted Johnny Applesseed's charge by providing abundant supplies of fresh apples to modern-day settlers. The U. S. Department of Agriculture reports that estimates by its Agricultural Marketing Service and industry indicate that fresh apples will be plentiful in September. Fresh apples are included on USDA's Plentiful Foods List.

Johnny Applesseed's life and work are now commemorated in a part and memorial at Fort Wayne, Ind. Now is the perfect time for you to commemorate his work by using abundant fresh apples in planning fall menus.

Here are some tempting menu ideas in honor of the "apple apostle-Johnny Applesseed."

Apple Sauce Roll-Ups
1 pound bulk sausage
2 cups bread crumbs
2 cups apples, diced

1 small onion, diced
Spread sheet of waxed paper over working surface. Roll or press sausage into a rectangular shape, about 1-2 inch thick. Combine apples, bread crumbs and onions. Spread mixture over sausage. Roll up as for a jelly roll. Place roll in a baking dish and bake in oven at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Serve hot. It makes 8 servings.

Apples and Rice
1 1-2 cup apple cider
1-2 tsp. salt
1 1-2 cup packaged rice

1 1-2 cup diced red apples
1 T. butter or margarine
In a large saucepan, combine apple cider, diced apples, salt and butter or margarine. Bring mixture to a boil and then stir in rice. Continue cooking according to directions on rice package. Serve hot with a rich cream accent, or chilled with a sweetened whipped cream garnish.

Cotton poplin is from the French "papelaine," because it was first made in a papal city.

Austin—Ten members of a 12-member jury can decide civil cases under new rules of civil litigation procedure adopted last week by the State Supreme Court. Unanimous verdicts are now required of juries, and the change is regarded as one of the most far-reaching in many years.

An effort in the last Legislature to authorize 10-2 jury verdicts fell under weight of defense attorney opposition.

Retiring Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert called the revised rules "the greatest reform measure during my term (22 years) on the court."

Rules deal with appeal motions, depositions, evidence discovery motions, and other matters.

Calvert said changes would do away with some elements of the adversary system and open up evidence. Rules will take effect February 1, 1973.

Unanimous verdicts still will be required in criminal cases, but in civil litigation 10 or more jurors can decide a case. Five-to-one verdicts will be permitted in municipal, justice of the peace and county courts at law where six-man juries now decide cases.

Some attorneys said the key rules change would eliminate hung juries in civil cases, speed up trials and ease the backlog of civil cases jamming metropolitan courts. Others said the changes in discovery of evidence will reduce the number of actual trials. The latter change will allow all parties to a case to see what both sides have as evidence.

Another change would allow the State Supreme Court to reverse or modify a lower court finding or enter a new decision without awaiting formal arguments of contesting parties.

AGENDA GROWS AND GROWS Gov. Preston Smith continued to open the special session call to new subject matter before any final action was taken on competitive insurance rates or gubernatorial fiscal powers.

Last Tuesday he dropped 16 more bill proposals on lawmakers for attention in a session due to wind up October 17. Among them were the following:

An $8 million appropriation for a Fort Worth school for the mentally retarded, changing hunting and fishing license fees, allowing bond financing of voting machines in counties over one million population, allowing subdivisions to issue bonds for air control facilities and lease the facilities to private interests, amending retirement statutes to allow credit for certain military, state employment and judicial services, allowing the State Board of Control to make purchases for political subdivisions and defining "child" under juvenile court procedures as one over 10 and under 17 years of age.

Key legislators began to question whether the variety of subjects permitted the focus of legislative and public attention on insurance reform which Smith claimed he wanted.

SUPERPORT COMING? Texas may be getting a new offloading terminal for super-tankers whether the Legislature approves a state commission to plan and construct one or not.

Oil company spokesmen told a joint House-Senate committee they propose to have their own facility (known as "seedcock") operative by 1975 or 1976 and feel there is no need for a state expenditure.

A bill submitted by Governor Smith to create a state authority to formulate plans for the offshore terminal won support of many witnesses who claimed a vital segment of the Texas economy depends on a super-port's being constructed along the coast.

A governor's office report said marine transportation and deep water ports are essential to maintaining the state's maritime trade.

VOTER REGISTRATION HIGH Voter registration for the November 7 general election ended at midnight Saturday, with indications the total number of Texans eligible may reach a record 4.8 million.

At that, however, the total percentage of eligible voting age Texans may be less than 1968 and 1970.

There are now about 7.5 million Texans of voting age. The expected 4.5 million to 4.8 million sign-up would represent a 60 per cent showing. A 4 million registration in 1968 and a 4.1 million figure in 1970 amounted to about 64 per cent of the eligible population.

An estimated 660,000 voters have been added to rolls since the voting age was lowered. There are an estimated 1.5 million now eligible to vote who were not eligible in the 1968 presidential election.

COURTS SPEAK Texas Supreme Court handed down more than 100 rulings as it opened its new term last week. Among them were the following:

—Upholding a Fort Worth district court injunction prohibiting students at Tarrant County Junior College from disruptive conduct.

—Affirming a Laredo woman's claim to damages because a J. C. Penney Store detective took her to a police station on unfounded suspicion.

—Agreed to adding $50 to a father's child support payment until he catches up with a $2,000 delinquency.

—Held Southwestern Bell Telephone Company must pay gross receipts taxes on income from electric companies and cable TV pole rental.

—Concluded an El Paso photo supply store must pay for four million labels even though it intended to order only 4,000.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Smith named Associate Justice Joe R. Greenhill chief justice of the State Supreme Court on retirement October 4 of Judge Robert W. Calvert, and selected Hawthorne Phillips of Austin to fill Greenhill's place.

Robert J. Glasgow of Stephenville was named 29th district attorney.

John B. Latchford is new field operations director of Texas Water Quality Board.

Dr. Joseph C. Schooler was elevated to director of Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences, Houston.

AG OPINIONS

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin told the State Highway Commission it can go ahead with construction of its controversial new state headquarters building on a site near the Capitol.

In other new opinions, Martin held:

—More stringent Texas law applies on navigable vessel lighting over federal law on inland waters until the Coast Guard commandant terminates a waiver.

—The amount a state agency can contribute for insurance for employees is limited to $12.50 multiplied by the number of fulltime employees on its payroll.

—The comptroller is authorized to spend money out of funds for the payment of salaries of positions in state government which have been exempted from the position classification plan by executive order of the governor or direction of the legislature.

Sixty-six consultants will teach 262 workshops. Meetings will focus on continuing needs of migrant students including oral language, reading, bilingual education and individualized instruction.

Texas Education Agency advisory committees held a joint meeting here Tuesday on cultural or language differences among the state's school children.

Wallace-Murray Has Role In Auto Emission Controls

New York, Oct. 2—Wallace-Murray Corporation estimates nine months and year-end earnings will be approximately 30 per cent ahead of the like periods last year on sales improvements of approximately 15 per cent.

Speaking before the New York Society of Security Analysts today, Fred R. Raach, president and chief executive officer of Wallace-Murray, has estimated year-end earnings on a fully diluted basis of approximately $1.90 versus $1.46 in 1971, and sales close to $260 million, as compared with $224 million the year before.

Regarding the third quarter, Mr. Raach said, "We cannot maintain the rate of improvement that has gone on since the second quarter of 1971. We do expect that the third quarter will be as good as or better than the outstanding third quarter of 1971." This, combined with an excellent six months, will give the corporation earnings in the neighborhood of $1.30 a share for nine months versus 99 cents in the like period of 1971.

Mr. Raach told the analysts that the company has a number of product and market developments, the most interesting of which is the role of the company's turbocharger in helping to solve the automotive engine emissions problem.

Wallace-Murray's Schwitzer Division is one of the largest manufacturers of turbochargers — a proven piece of equipment used in diesel engines for many years to improve power.

According to Mr. Raach, "existing devices that help clean up the conventional automobile engine rob it of power and performance. The turbocharger board of Texas" for 1971-1972.

Securities registered for public sale in Texas during the fiscal year which ended August 31 soared beyond $1.5 billion.

Construction is underway on Terrell State Hospital recreation and training building and a Big Spring State Hospital maintenance building.

Milton C. Campbell of Ralls, Cullen Luttrell of Sonora, Herbert Smith of Rusk, Melvin E. Bayless of La Grange, and Rinaldo Rivera of Falfurrias were finalists for the Lady Bird Johnson highway beautification award.

CARD OF THANKS We wish to thank our neighbors, friends and relatives who called at Hendrick Hospital after our automobile accident, and who have been so kind since we have returned home. A special thanks to Mrs. Walter Adams, Mrs. Bo Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Pumphrey, and Mrs. E. J. Bishop for their special care. We are especially grateful for the cards, gifts and food and other acts of kindness. —The Adam Lopez Family. 1tp

AROUND THE 6-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

District 6-AA loopers got whopped by outsiders again last Friday night, with only one win for the five teams playing. Ballinger had an open week.

The District managed only 54 points in the five games Friday, while allowing opponents 101.

The Anson Tigers, whose searches for wins in the first four games had been fruitless, entered the win column for the first time. The Tigers hit the Ranger Bulldogs with everything but the goal posts at Ranger, to come away with a 30-7 win.

On the other hand, the league-leading Haskell Indians, without a blemish to their season's record, let Olney squeeze by them 3-0. From the looks of the stat figures, it was a defensive stand-off all the way, until Olney managed to score a field goal. Olney outdistanced Haskell on the ground, and in the air, but managed only a 3-point-er to come out ahead.

Another non-district team which had been looking in vain for a win in the previous four games finally got one Friday night, but at the expense of the Winters Blizzards. Winters went into that game with a 3-1 record, while Brady had been defeated four times. The Bulldogs simply outplayed the Blizzards, and walked away with a 35-6 victory. Brady had previously been beaten 20-0 by the Ballinger Bearcats, who will face Winters two weeks from this Friday night.

Stamford hosted Childress Friday night, and ended the evening's outing with another entry in the lost column. The Bulldogs failed for the second time this season to cross the goal line, and the game ended 16-0 for Childress. Stamford now is 1-3 for the year.

Hamlin still is looking for some sort of win to break the monotony of a winless season. The Pied Pipers dropped a big one 40-18 to Coahoma Friday night, and have to face Childress this week.

Anson and Winters both will have open dates this week, which has caused some fans to suggest that the two meet in a non-counter—just to feel one another out—before they play for the marbles in district competition Nov. 10.

This week will wind up the non-conference season for all District 6-AA teams, and the following week they will begin on one another. Because of the varied competency of teams which have been played in non-district competition thus far, it would be hard to determine the pre-conference standings. Haskell probably would have to be kept as the No. 1 contender—the team to beat, because of the teams they've met and defeated.

SEASON'S STANDINGS

Team	W	L	T	Pts	Opp
Haskell	3	1	0	109	29
Winters	3	2	0	89	106
Ballinger	1	2	1	40	29
Stamford	1	3	0	24	109
Anson	1	4	0	45	76
Hamlin	0	3	1	48	110

Blizzards Drop Game To Brady, 35-6, For Second Loss of 1972 Season

The game belonged to the Brady Bulldogs Friday night, and they dominated the first three quarters of play, amassing 35 points before the Winters Blizzards tallied their lone score in the fourth quarter for a final score of 35-6 and a victory for the host Bulldogs.

Brady put together a running and passing attack for two touchdowns in the first quarter, one in the second, and two in the third. Each touchdown was followed by a successful kick for the one-point conversion.

The Blizzards were limited to one first down in each of the first three quarters. The first came on carries by halfbacks Jerry Mack Jackson and Lee Choate; then Choate picked up the second first near the end of the half on a ten-yard carry. Early in the third period an Oscar Torres-Jackson pass for six yards and a five-yard carry by Choate accounted for a first and ten. Other than this, the Blizzard offense was stymied for three-fourths of the game.

The Winters touchdown in the fourth period climaxed a 76-yard drive, made up of carries by Jackson and Choate and a Torres-Scott King pass completion covering eight yards. Jackson carried the final three yards for the score, and the attempted two-point conversion was no good.

Bright spots in the Blizzard defense were provided by sophomores Ricky DeLaCruz (a fumble recovery and a pass interception), Mitch Davis (a pass interception), and Mike Moore (fumble recovery). Also strong for the Blizzards were Torres, Ricky Mathis, Joe Ray DeLaCruz, and Glenn Hoppe.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Once again something good has happened in Washington—at least for the time being. The Senate has abandoned efforts to pass a Consumer Protection Bill before the Congress either adjourns or recesses at the week's end.

In October of last year the U. S. House of Representatives passed a measure creating an Office of Consumer Affairs within the Executive Office of the President. The stated general purpose of the proposal was to coordinate Federal consumer protection activities.

The Senate bill goes much further. It would create a new super-agency to preside over an estimated 24 other Federal agencies affecting 554 different types of proceedings and activities. In other words, it would be another all-powerful bureaucratic operation over about every other department, commission, bureau and agency. The power given to the three men appointed to administer the authority would appear to be greater than now given to the Environmental Protection Agency, which is proving to have almost unlimited control over our industrial capacity and which is doubtless going to cost consumers extra money.

It seems we have forgotten the doctrine voiced by Patrick Henry in the Virginia Convention of 1788 when he advised "power always to be distributed sparingly on the assumption that bad men will use it badly, for it is likely they will."

In this proposed legislation the agency has the potential of being a government on top of another government.

Everyone recognizes that there are problems in our complicated economy and particularly in the marketing end but the problem has been seized upon with somewhat the attitude the Washington must tell all consumers what is good for them and how it is going to take care of them. In the day of the village blacksmith standing under a chestnut tree, the consumer had an easier time. If the shoe didn't fit, he could lead the horse back. Responsibility was direct and the customer recourse was immediate.

Obviously nothing like this exists today—TV sets made in Japan; a shoe made in Italy. Responsibility becomes blurred when defects show up. It doesn't appear, however, that the answer is to be found in setting up another all-powerful government bureau to hold our hand. Consumers are not mere beads on a string and there is no reason to believe that these bureaucrats would be any more wise or skilled than bureaucrats who now serve the Federal Trade Commission, the Food and Drug Administration all the other bureaucracies of the Federal Government.

The Consumer Protection Agency provided in the Senate Bill would be the largest over-all agency and would be an expert in everything—in aeronautics, in oil and gas, in milk and tomatoes, in fabrics, drugs, safety devices, public parks, banks, bonds and boats.

The idea that the government can impose "fairness" in a free market place assumes that all consumers are exactly alike and can be told by a third party in Washington what their choices should be in the daily market place. It assumes that the individual sovereignty is more or less defunct.

As mentioned by Mary Bennet Peterson in her work just published, "The Regulated Consumer," "most regulation is simply economic intervention—the substitute of the Washington way (the public way) for the free market (the private way). It is the economic version of government by men rather than government by law. In the name of protecting the consumer, it undermines consumer sovereignty (independence), in the name of preserving competition, it undermines competition."

Ralph Nader's opinion notwithstanding, Congress might better protect the consumers by just leaving them alone.

The power proposed in the pending bill is to create a czar. Although this legislation appears dead for this session of the Congress, it will not lie still forever but could be rejuvenated should the Congress come back into session after the election or in the new session of the Congress beginning in January.

COUNTY AGENT'S WEEKLY NOTES

Control of Next Year's Boll Weevils

The early maturity of cotton in Runnels County gives producers an opportunity to harvest early and at the same time reduce the number of boll weevils that will overwinter and attack next year's crop. The addition of 0.5 lb. methyl parathion or 0.25 lb. Guthion to phosphate type defoliant or arsenic acid will kill boll weevils present in the field and the harvest-aid chemicals will destroy the weevils' food source.

The use of harvest-aid chemicals in combination with these insecticides is very important in areas where a diapause boll weevil program is being carried out. This effectively prevents the boll weevil from building up fat reserves necessary to sustain it through the winter. Without the use of harvest-aid chemicals in combination with insecticides, boll weevils would be allowed to either feed until frost or several insecticide applications would be required at 10 to 14 days intervals.

The use of harvest-aid chemicals in combination with an insecticide is most effective when carried out by all of the producers in area. This is true because one heavily infested field in which boll weevils are not controlled can produce large enough numbers of potential overwintering boll weevils to infest neighboring fields the following year.

Care should be taken when using menthyl parathion or guthion in combination with phosphate type defoliant since the combination may pose a greater toxicity hazard to humans than either compound used alone. The combination of these insecticides with sodium chlorate type defoliant creates an extreme fire hazard.

Plant Bulbs For Spring Color

Our recent cool weather has reminded many gardeners that it's time to start planting their spring flowering bulbs. The bulbs have arrived and assortments are great.

The wise gardener makes his purchases early, assuring himself of fresh, accurately labeled bulbs. They can then be stored in a cool, dry location until planting time in late October-November.

Spring flowering bulbs are durable plants, surviving from year to year with only minimum care. Listed below are several timely tips to help you with your spring bulb garden.

Planning: Plan carefully before buying. Consider color, size of plant and flowering date. Plan your plantings so some will be visible from inside the house. Choose varieties that will give you a long blooming season. You will get a more spectacular effect if you use masses of one color, rather than mixtures. Color massing is enhanced by using plenty of bulbs planted relatively closely. Color effects will be most dramatic if you plant your bulbs in front of contrasting colors.

Planting: Spade 12 inches deep. Sand and peat moss or shredded bark should be tilled into the soil, especially if you plan to use the area for an annual flower bed after the bulbs are through flowering. Apply one pound (2 rounded cups) of fertilizer per 50 square feet. Rake this into the soil mix. Always plant spring bulbs with the growing point facing up. Depth of planting varies, but generally is 2 to 3 times the height of the bulb. Water the bed thoroughly after planting and whenever the soil dries out during the winter. Additional fertilization should not be necessary.

If your six year old saw something like this, would he know how to phone for help?

It's too important a question to leave to chance. That's why we're running this ad. If there are any six- or seven-year-olds around your house, teach them how to report emergencies. Tell them to dial "0", give their name and tell our operator where they are and what's wrong. With older children, train them to dial emergency numbers direct, since that's the fastest way to call for help. But don't stop there. Copy down the emergency numbers listed on the inside front cover or first page of your telephone directory. Add your family doctor's number. And the number of the nearest hospital. Next, tuck up the list near your phone. Then get your kids to memorize it, in case it gets lost. By the time they're through memorizing those numbers, they're going to have every grownup in the house knowing them, too. Which is also why we're running this ad.

DON'T TAKE RURAL TEXANS FOR A RIDE... AND DON'T TAKE US FOR GRANTED.

HERE'S WHAT NIXON IS DOING TO RURAL AMERICA

WHEAT SCANDAL - Giant wheat exporters made huge profits at the expense of individual wheat farmers, many in Texas, on Soviet trade.

TAXES - Wall Street Journal says federal laws favor the corporation or investor who farms on the side for a tax write-off.

FARM ISSUES - Under Nixon, parity dropped the lowest since 1933. Nixon held up payments of nearly $400 million for feed grains in 1970, forcing farmers to borrow at highest interest rates in history.

CONGLOMERATE SCANDALS - Big Business first, the public second - that's the Republican philosophy. Anti-trust suit against ITT dropped at the same time ITT pledged $400,000 to finance Republican Convention.

Harry S. Truman said, 'The Republicans admire our government so much they want to buy it.'

Let's face it. The Republicans just haven't changed much since the days of our grandfathers. They still favor Big Business over the average working man and woman. And while they're taking us for a ride, they keep telling us what a 'dangerous radical' Senator McGovern is.

That's what they said about Harry S. Truman.

HERE'S WHAT McGOVERN IS DOING FOR RURAL AMERICA

HIS STANDING - George McGovern has been elected time and again as a Democrat from a Republican farm state . . . because they know where he stands.

TAXES - His tax proposal would end the loopholes for tax-loss farming by giant corporations and the wealthy individuals who compete unfairly with family farmers. McGovern's proposal calls for the same tax on capital gains as on earnings.

FARM ISSUES - He sponsored and co-sponsored: Meat Import Limitation Law; Dairy Import Act; Wheat, Feed Grain, and Soybean Emergency Reserve Bill; Rural Development, Rural Job Development, and Rural Telephone Acts; Farm Credit Act; and other pieces of important legislation.

HIS BELIEFS - George McGovern knows that the answers to many of our most pressing problems in America today can be found by developing genuine opportunities for everyone in our small towns and rural areas throughout the country.

Let's not be taken for granted by the Nixon Republicans. Rural America has always fared best under a Democratic administration. If you want to stand up and do something good for rural America, the answer is to help put a Democrat in the White House. We need George McGovern . . . and George McGovern needs us.

RURAL TEXANS NEED A DEMOCRAT.

worst witnesses. Especially is this true if we are walking down the sidewalk, with automobile traffic passing in the street. We may look directly at someone in a moving vehicle, or even meeting us on the walk for that matter, and yet fail to show one bit of recognition, even to nod or lip good morning. There are times when the other party may feel slighted and miffed a bit because a friend fails to acknowledge his fleeting presence. Much of the time, however, if the truth were known, the failure to acknowledge is two-sided, and neither could not say two minutes later that they saw Joe or Bill walking or driving down the street. We are too tied up in our own purposes to even pay attention to what is going on.

"Dr. Phibes Rises Again"

Elated with the horrendous effect his skulldigging had on his audiences in "The Abominable Dr. Phibes," the inventive doctor returns with a new batch of outlandish horrors in "Dr. Phibes Rises Again," showing Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre. Each of his nasty tricks is a masterpiece of brilliant devilry and worthy of standing alone as the piece de resistance of any horror flick. Combined as they are in this latest gory go-round, they make a veritable feast of cinema fascination.

Vincent Price again portrays the Machiavellian master, lending his inimitable savoir-faire to the proceedings. Among the grisly accomplishments of the flamboyant menace are the creation of a new armaments of gadgets for doing away with one's victims including a trick telephone that projects a golden snake into one ear of the user and out the other; a collapsing bed whose ends grind together, squeezing the occupant between them; a gigantic bottle to contain a corpse; a descending ceiling festooned with spikes; a chair in the form of a metal scorpion which closes onto the victim, its barbs making a sieve of his skin and a ravenous eagle capable of shredding a subject alive.
