HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

The new North Runnels Hospital was born of necessity. For several years, the people of North Runnels County have realized that in order to continue providing health and hospital service to the people of the area, definite action had to be taken.

For many years, the Winters Municipal, built in the mid-1930s, has served the people of a wide area. It has never been considered a "Winters only" hospital, but has been an important part of the entire community since it was built. In the beginning, and for many, many years, the Winters hospital, like most hospitals of its type throughout the country, was adequate to meet the immediate needs of the area. And, also like other similar hospitals, the going was rough at times—but somehow, through the diligence and concern of the people, it kept going.

But as the years wore on, and medical science rapidly advanced, the people began to use the hospital more and more. Equipment and services were added, as the hospital attempted to keep abreast of the advances and the demand. Requirements of federal and state agencies having to do with local hospitals became more strict and demanding, and to meet these requirements meant additional equipment and procedures.

In the meantime, the hospital structure itself, however adequate when built, began to show signs of age. There also was a need for more patient room, and space for needed equipment. The question arose: To build onto the present structure; repair and remodel; or build an entirely new hospital?

The people of the area being served by the hospital organized a hospital district, comprised of the two north precincts of Runnels County. Study was continued, and eventually, in answer to the wishes of the people, the decision was made to build a new hospital.

Although many hospitals serving similar communities throughout the state and the nation had been and were being built with federal and/or state financial assistance, requests for such aid for a hospital to serve North Runnels fell on deaf ears. After all avenues of outside assistance were explored, to no avail, the people decided to finance the enterprise themselves—they voted by an overwhelming majority to issue tax bonds to finance construction of a new hospital.

The new North Runnels Hospital becomes a monument to those who refused to wait, and wait, and wait, hoping for some type of financial breakthrough. They have long been used to doing things for themselves, anyway, so this was really not a new route for them.

There has been much work on the part of many people in this new hospital project. To name them all would be next to impossible. Many of them are known, but there have been many who have worked behind the scenes. None of them have worked to gain personal recognition; instead, their efforts have been directed instead to the welfare and good of the entire community. Their efforts have borne fruit, and North Runnels now has one of the finest hospitals of its kind in the country.

First District Game

Blizzards Host Hamlin Friday

With five non-conference games behind them, the Winters Blizzards will open the second half of the 1973 football season Friday night, meeting the Hamlin Pied Pipers in a district 6-AA game. All district games begin at 7:30 p. m.

The Blizzards have had a two-week layoff period, which they have used to heal wounds received in previous games, and to work on strategy to be used against Hamlin. The Winters team is now down to four senior starters—two on offense and two on defense—but anticipate the return of a quarterback who has been out. Coach Chili Black said the first of the week that Stanley Tatom may be back for the Hamlin game, to divide work with Mitch Davis in the slot position.

The Blue squad was hurt to a big extent when Luther Smith, defensive tackle and offensive fullback, broke an ankle in a game a couple of weeks ago. He will be out of action for the rest of the season, and "will be hard to replace," according to Coach Black.

In spite of their 1-4 record for the season, Coach Black said, the Blizzards are "showing good attitude," and are ready for district competition. In workouts, the Blue team is working "to get mistakes out of their system," Black said. "They realize the need to improve," he said, "and are striving toward that goal."

The Hamlin Pied Pipers were pre-season picks to win district honors in 1973, and have lived up to that prediction thus far, going into conference play with a perfect 5-0 record.

With a fast and tough backfield, protected by a line averaging 200 pounds or more, the Pipers have whipped all comers this season, piling up a tremendous scoring total, while holding opponents to low scores.

The Pipers are sparked by Willie Hooper, a 150-pound senior quarterback. Working in the backfield with him are Johnny Jones, a junior, 175 pounds, who has been the biggest threat to opponents this season. Also, Albert McAfee, 190-pound senior fullback, and split end Bill Cork, 145, make up a hard-to-stop scoring backfield. Cork is used on reverses, has good speed and is a good pass receiver.

In the line, Ray Scifers, 240 pounds, is a standout, as is Alfred McAfee, a senior guard scaling 180 pounds.

The Pipers are a tough squad, have lots of speed and like to run. They throw only when they have to throw, and use sweeps, traps and power plays on the ground. Of the 11 starters, 10 are seniors.

Coach Black said that although there may be some changes as the week progresses in workouts, the following lineups should take the field against Hamlin Friday night:

New North Runnels Hospital Fully Equipped, One of Most Modern

When the doors open at the new North Runnels Hospital for the open house event Sunday, October 21, the public will see one of the most modern hospitals of its size in the country. Little has been spared to make this new community hospital the equal of any comparable institution, and in many ways it will surpass many in similar areas.

Following the open house Sunday, the hospital will be in operation beginning Monday, October 22, although the first patients may not be moved from the old hospital until about Tuesday or Wednesday, according to Jim Shook, hospital supervisor. When the patients are moved, all supporting supplies and equipment will be moved.

John Chiles Allen of Austin was the architect for the new hospital, and Rose & Sons Construction Co. of Abilene were the prime contractors.

The new hospital building, located on the southeast edge of Winters on FM 53, is of brick and steel construction. The several entrances have been so situated as to be easily accessible for emergencies, service, visitors, and quick exit from any section of the building. Plenty of off-street parking space has been provided, for visitors on the north side of the

Rev. Bob Sanders To Lead Heritage Tour To Europe

The Rev. Bob Sanders, pastor of Winters' United Methodist Church, will be one of the leaders on a church heritage tour to Europe in November. The tour is for ministers and laymen of the church.

The Rev. Sanders is the Southwestern regional representative on the 13-member Methodist Heritage Advisory Board. The denomination's national board is sponsoring a nine-day heritage tour of England, leaving Dallas November 26.

"I have participated in these Methodist Heritage Tours," the Rev. Mr. Sanders said. "Each tour has been exciting and inspiring."

He also participated in a six-weeks pulpit exchange last summer with the Rev. Eric Roberts, pastor of Kings Hall Methodist Church in Southall, England.

The November tour will land in Manchester and depart from London, traveling in groups of 50 in tour buses, the Rev. Sanders said. "We will travel over 1000 miles of English countryside."

Members of the United Methodist Church, and others, who would like to join the heritage tour may contact the Rev. Sanders for information.

Runnels Soil-Water District Plans Conservation Tour October 25th

Plans have been completed for the annual conservation tour of the district by the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District. Grider Hays, chairman of the board of directors, announced this week.

The tour will be held Thursday, October 25, beginning at 9 a. m. at the Soil Conservation Service field office in Ballinger.

Hays said the tour will have stops to observe conservation programs in various stages of completion on cropland, rangeland, and wildlife land which are being applied to improve, protect and maintain the natural resources.

Hays said that everyone, including businessmen, farmers and ranchers, is invited to make the tour. The tour will conclude around 2:30 p. m. Those attending are asked to bring a sack lunch. The Runnels SWCD will furnish the drinks.

building, a separate parking space for staff members and parking for service vehicles on the west side.

Patient room make up the east wing or one leg of the modified "H" type building, connected by a corridor to the lobby, administration and kitchen areas on the northwest, and by another corridor to storage, housekeeping rooms, operating room, X-ray room, laboratory, delivery and emergency rooms on the southwest.

The building is practically fireproof. Very little wood was used in the construction. Even the inside wall studding is made of steel, covered with plaster board, and there are few areas in the entire building which would feed a blaze of any type. In addition, a sophisticated fire detecting and alarm system has been built into the structure. The detecting system is so sensitive that a heavy cigarette smoke in some areas will activate the alarm system. Hall doors are electronically connected with the fire detecting system, and even a small amount of smoke or heat will

City Told of Responsibility In Watershed

W. M. Hays, chairman of the board of Elm Creek Water Control District, met with the Winters City Council Tuesday night, and reported on the work now being done toward development of the Elm Creek Watershed project.

Hays reminded the council that the city, along with the City of Ballinger, would be required to share the cost of engineers studying feasibility of including a multi-purpose water storage structure in the watershed project. The proposed multi-purpose dam would impound water for municipal use by Winters and Ballinger, if built.

Hospital Open House Sunday

A long awaited event—opening of the new North Runnels Hospital—will take place next Monday, with an open house affair to be held Sunday, October 21, before the institution becomes officially operative and the first patient is moved in.

The open house Sunday will begin with a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 2 p. m., and will continue until 5 p. m. State Representative Lynn Nabers of Brownwood, who sponsored the legislation through the Texas Legislature authorizing creation of the North Runnels Hospital District, will cut the ribbon opening the hospital to the public. Carroll Tatom will be master of ceremonies, and Paul Wallace, minister of the Main Street Church of Christ, will give the invocation.

All members of the board of directors of North Runnels Hospital District, will also be present for the open house, as will other specially invited guests.

The open house is being sponsored and organized by the Civic and Public Affairs Committee of the Winters Chamber of Commerce.

Hostesses for the open house will be ladies from the several communities within the hospital district. Members of two girls' clubs, the Goal Diggers and the Sub Debs, will serve as guides for tours of the hospital during the open house. Mrs. Willis C. Davis is coordinating this phase of the event.

Members of the hospital staff—nurses, technicians and maintenance and housekeeping personnel—will be on hand in the several departments to greet the many visitors who are expected to attend the open house affair.

The Diversity Club, the Literary and Service Club, and the Junior Culture Club, will be in charge of the flower arrangements, and the Winters Lions Club will help in the open house. Winters artist Bill Wilson will hang one of his paintings in each patient room, in the lobby and reception rooms, and in other rooms of the hospital, for the open house.

The public is being invited and urged to attend this open house affair. It can be seen much better before actual operation begins Monday, it was explained by those promoting the event, and there will be no patients to disturb.

Opening Of New Hospital Follows Many Months Work By Many People

The new North Runnels Hospital, which will open officially next Monday, October 22, is a "do-it-yourself" project, completed by the people of the north half of the county comprising the North Runnels County Hospital District. No amount of Federal or State funds have been used in the planning or construction of the hospital, which is a tax-bond and revenue-fund supported institution.

In addition to underwriting construction of the building itself through a tax bond, the people of the district also have voluntarily contributed more than $70,000 to be used to purchase equipment for the hospital.

It all began in the summer of 1968. At that time, the Winters Municipal Hospital was providing service for a large area, and the need for better and more extensive medical facilities continued to increase. The hospital building, which had been built in the mid-1930, had been adequate through many years, but with the industrial and agricultural growth of the area, and the rapid advance of medical science, the needs could not be met. Also, there was some question of continuing to meet the new requirements of Federal and State agencies licensing such hospitals.

That summer, the Winters City Council, faced with the burden of providing medical facilities for the area, and responding to the consensus of the people of the entire area, appointed a special steering committee to study the problem. Appointed to this first committee were Nelan Bahlman, owner of a local dry cleaning plant and at that time a member of the Council; Ted Meyer, of Spill Funeral Home; and T. A. Smith, Winters druggist.

The steering committee spent many months investigating all angles of the problem. They visited hospitals in other towns, and examined the workings of special hospital districts in several areas. They advised with the people of the area being served by the Winters Municipal. Finally, they reached the conclusion that the people of the two precincts in the north half of Runnels County were in favor of forming a special hospital district in the area, and made that recommendation.

The legislation authorizing creation of the hospital district authorized the district to levy up to 75 cents per $100 valuation. The district levied only 20 cents per $100.

The new hospital district board began efforts to upgrade facilities, and purchased some new equipment. Architects were consulted regarding the hospital structure, and it was decided it would not be feasible to spend money on attempting to remodel the building, or building onto the structure.

In a community-wide meeting in early December, 1970, sponsored by the Winters Chamber of Commerce, the Winters City Council, the Winters Independent School District, and other boards and committees of North Runnels County, the people of the area were asked what was most needed to better the entire community. An overwhelming majority of the area stated that the most urgent need for the entire community was a hospital. Seventy-two percent of those turning in "civic betterment" suggestion forms following that meeting indicated that a hospital-building project should have a higher priority rating than any other of the several projects which had been discussed.

The board of directors of the hospital district began intensive studies toward construction of a new hospital, and of means to finance such an enterprise. John Chiles Allen, an Austin architect, was employed to draw up plans for a proposed hospital. These plans were accepted by the board in August, 1971.

cause all doors to close automatically, sealing off affected areas if need be.

Floors are covered with asphalt tile, and walls and fixtures in the rooms and lobby are painted in different colors, in pleasing and relaxing combinations.

The main entrance is on the north side, a few feet away from the visitor parking area. Provisions have been made for a fountain or garden to be built into an outside alcove next to the main entrance. A double-doored weather entrance opens onto a spacious lobby, attractively appointed. The reception desk is at the right of the main entrance—a stand-up type desk. Adjacent to this reception office are administration offices and business rooms.

MODERN KITCHEN

A large, roomy kitchen, featuring the most modern equipment, is in the northwest corner of the building. It can be reached from the north corridor, and also from the service entrance on the west side of the building. Stainless steel equipment is used throughout the kitchen, and a walk-in refrigerator and freezing unit is available. An ice maker has been provided, and pantries and storage rooms are walk-in type.

The dishwashing room, with automatic equipment, is separated from the kitchen, and is accessible only from a short hall. A pass-through window connects the dishwashing room with the kitchen proper. Another pass-through window is provided on the east wall of the kitchen, reaching the staff dining room, where tables are provided. This dining room will be used only by the staff.

OPERATING ROOM

The operating room is large, and is equipped with the most modern operating table, new anesthesia equipment and piped in oxygen. The oxygen is located outside the main building, and oxygen is piped into all patient rooms, and the operating and delivery rooms, as well as the emergency room.

The operating room also is equipped with piped-in vacuum or suction system.

Staff preparation rooms and washup rooms are located next to the operating room, and reached through swinging doors.

A Castle Day-Star surgical light is installed over the operating table. Few hospitals of this size have this type of operating-room lighting, it was stated.

The operating room will be so equipped as to handle many types of operations, the staff said, and all new equipment is provided.

DELIVERY ROOM

The delivery room is located in the south part of the building, in the area of the operating room, but not connected by doors. Completely equipped, it is connected with labor room, which is isolated from the rest of the patient rooms in the hospital. The labor room opens off the south corridor. There is a private bath for the labor room.

X-RAY LAB

All new equipment is being provided for the X-ray laboratory, located in the southwest corner of the hospital building. The X-ray lab is adjacent to the laboratory, and near the emergency room.

A new laboratory is equipped for almost any lab procedure. Hospital Supervisor Shook said, and a laboratory technician will be on duty.

EMERGENCY ROOM

The Emergency room—large, as are all rooms in the new building—is near the emergency entrance on the west side of the hospital building. It will be equipped with the latest emergency equipment, and can also be used as an operating room if needed, for minor surgery.

The floor of the emergency room, as are the floors of the operating room, the delivery room, and intensive care rooms, are covered with conductive tile, to prevent sparks from static electricity.

The emergency room, surgery section, delivery room and the intensive care units, are equipped with special monitoring systems to indicate the presence of excessive electricity, another safety device and hazard prevention system included in the construction of the hospital.

At the emergency entrance, the south door on the west side of the building, a communications system has been installed so ambulance drivers can summon nurses and hospital staff members to that area. All doors of the hospital will be closed and locked from the outside during certain hours, and this system will enable ambulance drivers to contact nurses immediately.

Oxygen and vacuum systems are also available in the emergency room.

FELLOW AND HIS FRIEND are visitor Scott Hafen, 5, of North Las Vegas, Nev., and one of the permanent residents at California's tourist mecca, Knott's Berry Farm. Scott is the 1974 March of Dimes National Poster Child. Born with multiple defects, including open spine, he represents many children with similar problems benefited by March of Dimes-financed research and treatment.

NURSES' STATION

The nurses' station is located in the east wing of the hospital building, with a long and fully equipped desk. An intercom system is located at the nurses' station, connected to each patient room, for voice communication between nurses and patients.

The nurse on duty also has visual contact with the entrances of all patient rooms, along with a light system.

The nurses' station also is across the hall from the intensive care unit, and nurses on duty have visual contact with patients in the ICU, and also in the isolation room. Work room, drug rooms, and patient pantry are all located behind the nurses' station, and easily accessible.

INTENSIVE CARE UNIT

The intensive care unit, designed for two beds, is located in the main patient section of the hospital, near the nurses' station. A big glass window provides visual contact with the patients.

A cardiac monitor is provided, with a reading screen on the wall of the room. Plans are to have a duplicate monitor screen at the nurses' station.

The isolation room is located across a short hall from the intensive care unit, and near the nurses' station. It is fully equipped for complete isolation, with clean-up rooms and other contamination-prevention facilities.

PATIENT ROOMS

There are seven private patient rooms, seven semi-private rooms, 2 intensive care rooms (or beds) and one isolation bed. The rooms are so designed that 25 patients can be accommodated at one time.

Each patient room has bath facilities, and each room is individually heated or cooled. Oxygen has been piped into each room from an outside supply source. Conduits have been installed for future television units in each room. Phone jacks have been provided for each patient room, also.

None of the patient rooms are decorated in the same manner. Several colors have been used, to prevent a sameness throughout the hospital.

Each room is in voice communication contact with the nurse on duty.

CONTROLS NOW HAVE FEW FRIENDS

Wellesley Hills, Mass.—When the Administration's two-year-old wage and price controls program first went into operation, many people were hopeful that it would succeed in slowing the inflation already becoming rampant. Many labor leaders were willing to give it an honest try—provided the checkreins on both pay rates and prices were fairly administered—and most top executives were willing to go along if it meant a genuine curb on inflation. Few felt that controls would be immediately and entirely successful, but some action seemed better than none.

Now that two freezes are behind us and Phase 4 is being established in a more or less piecemeal fashion, the disenchantment over the whole system of wage-price controls is spreading rapidly among politicians, businessmen, labor officials, and the general public. Even those once strongly supporting the process as a brake on inflation are becoming convinced that any usefulness it ever had has now been outlived. As of this writing, Phase 4 is still evolving rather fumblingly, and the government is aware of a growing sense of failure.

TRIAL AND ERROR

The labor-management advisory committee set up by the Administration and consisting of ten outstanding business and labor leaders has already proposed that controls be completely done away with by the end of the year. Nixon aides have been reluctant to give assent to this suggestion and have avoided giving any indication of a definite date for discontinuance of the curbs. They have admitted only that when the time comes the intention is to remove one industry at a time from supervision, until finally all are selectively freed of controls.

But a clamor for termination of wage-price checkreins is now coming from almost all quarters with increasing vehemence.

AFL-CIO President Meany has been against controls for quite some time, finding them not only useless but unfair to the unions and their members.

The Federation now calls for scrapping of restraints at the earliest possible moment, and most officials at the local level agree.

CHAMBER AND NAM JOIN HANDS

In an unexpectedly joint move, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the National Association of Manufacturers have urged President Nixon to throw out the wage and price controls promptly, all-at-once, without any effort at industry-by-industry phase-out. Top leaders of the two businessmen's organizations declare that a staggered phase-out, sector by sector, would create more problems than it would solve. It would be impossible, it was pointed out, to maintain a practical and equitable wage-price-control machinery with the economy half within and half out of the program of controls.

To do the decontrolling step by step would, they stated, drive buyers and sellers to try to anticipate upcoming decisions and act accordingly, thereby bringing about critical market distortions and creating serious supply interruptions. Cited were the setbacks that curbs brought about in terms of union bargaining, the artificially created shortages, and the damage exerted upon U. S. trade relations with other countries. It is the considered opinion of C. of C. and NAM officials that to keep the controls in operation means only that such dislocations will increase and become even more intense.

GOVERNMENT MUST WEIGH APPEAL

An interesting feature included in the letter jointly aired by the nation's two most powerful business organizations is the strong support they promise the President if he moves to end the program of wage-price curbs right away. They propose that he employ fiscal measures to fight inflation, such as holding down the federal budget and keeping the nation's supply of money within reasonable bounds. While Nixon is known for his independence, he is surely listening carefully to such strong appeals from so many sources.

Birds' Sight
Birds have developed powers of sight to a remarkable degree. Probably they surpass all other creatures in excellence of vision. Most birds can see clearly both at shorter and longer distances than man.

Egyptian Calendar
The Egyptians adopted the first calendar based on the solar year in 4246 B.C. A 12-month calendar with 30 days in each month, the calendar totaled 360 days for the year. To make it come out even with the sun, they added five days at the end of the year—six days every fourth year—but these were not a part of any month. Instead, the extra days were used as feast days in honor of their gods.

AROUND THE 6-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

Beginning Friday night, October 19—and for five weekends until the end of the regular season—everything the football teams of District 6-AA do will count in the race for the golden trophy. All non-conference games have been played, and the six member teams have had a chance to test their mettle without damaging their district images, and in the process, take up slack and work on shortcomings.

The six 6-AA teams have played 18 games from out of the district during the past six weeks. Some of the outsiders met more than one 6-AA team, but Clyde was the leader there—the Clyde Bulldogs met all but one 6-AA team—Ballinger—and won two out of the five games. Coleman was runner-up in that department, playing three of the 6-AA squads—and defeating two of them. In the 30 games played 6-AAers won 16, lost 13, and tied 1.

Only four 6-AA teams played last Friday night—Winters and Anson had open dates. They won three games and tumbled once.

The Hamlin Pied Pipers continue to be THE team of 6-AA, at least in non-conference outings. They have marked up a perfect 5-0 record for themselves, while scoring 170 points and holding opponents to only 39 points. Haskell, Stamford and Ballinger each have 3-2 records, while Anson stands at 1-3-1, slightly ahead of Winters with 1-4.

Hamlin went against Childress last week, and downed that team 34-20. Childress had previously beaten Stamford. The Pipers got their marks in the first two quarters, with Childress scoring in the second and third. Hamlin will visit Winters this week for the district opener. The two teams have played only one common opponent—Clyde, with the Pipers defeating Clyde 41-6, and Winters losing 36-7.

Haskell hosted the Clyde Bulldogs last Friday night, defeating the visitors 22-7. The Indians rushed ahead of the Bulldogs 24-10, but lagged in the passing department, 42-7. Haskell scored in the second and fourth, holding the Bulldogs scoreless until the fourth quarter. Haskell goes to Anson for their 6-AA opener this week. The two teams have played only one common opponent—Clyde again.

Stamford squeezed out a win over Quannah Friday night, 14-6. The Bulldogs, punted and backed Quannah up at their own one-yard line. Stamford's defense recovered a fumble for six points, and then kicked the extra. Quannah also scored in the first, but were kept away from the point-after attempt and held for the rest of the game.

The Ballinger Bearcats hosted the Coahoma Bulldogs Friday night, and their guests took home all the honors. Playing in the rain, and trying to build up their 3-1 records, the 'Cats mowed deep into the Bulldog end of the field a few times, and then were stopped on a fourth-and-inches try. It was mostly a defensive game, as visitors and hosts plowed through the mud most of the night. Coahoma finally got on the scoreboard with eight minutes left to play in the final quarter. Ballinger goes to Stamford this week for their first conference game. Each have a 3-2 record, and have played no common opponents.

Anson, whose only win of the season was their 44-6 victory over Ranger, had an open night last week. They have a 1-3-1 record for the season. The Tig-

Thunderbirds To Highlight Dyess' Eighth Open House

Dyess AFB, Texas — The Thunderbirds are coming! A wedge of five red, white and blue aircraft from the United States Air Force Thunderbirds will charge the skies over Dyess AFB (Abilene) Oct. 27. The thrill of the performance will be exceeded only by the skill of these pilots as they fly their aircraft a mere three-feet apart in a tight diamond formation.

Over they roll, the pilots never letting their aircraft move out of alignment. Their task is to demonstrate the capabilities of modern fighter aircraft and the ultimate in precision formation flying.

As the diamond pilots complete their maneuver, the Thunderbird solo pilot roars in a minimum altitude. With vertical rolls, aileron rolls, and reverse half-Cuban eights, the solo displays the high performance and maximum capabilities of the aircraft.

The aerial demonstration on Saturday, Oct. 27, will be only one of some 100 shows for which the Thunderbirds are scheduled each year. Now into their twenty-first season, the team has flown more than 1,750 demonstrations in all 50 states and 48 foreign countries.

More than 99-million spectators throughout the Free World have awarded the Thunderbirds the title "America's Ambassadors in Blue."

Representing the entire United States Air Force is the mission of this team—to symbolize the skill and dedication of almost 800,000 people stationed around the globe.

The Thunderbirds particularly portray the tactical air forces. For instance, the tactical fighter aircraft which the team flies, is the same Air Force Phantom II that had supported our ground troops in Southeast Asia.

Moreover, all of the Thunderbird pilots are Vietnam veterans with more than 2,000 combat missions. Collectively, they have been decorated with the Silver Star Medal, 14 Distinguished Flying Crosses and 130

A Household Word

Mr., Mrs. Dale Carter, Missionaries In Elementary, Brazil, Use Plane and Radio In Work Junior High Honor Roll

By Charlsie Poe

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Carter are serving their fifteenth year as missionaries in Corrente, Plauti, Brazil, where he is business manager of a Baptist Mission School.

Mrs. Carter will be remembered as the former Sue Worthington, daughter of Mrs. T. H. Worthington and the late Mr. Worthington. Carter is a native of Roby. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Carter.

Corrente is in such an isolated area that the only instant contact with the outside world has been a ham radio owned and operated by the Bruce Olivers, another missionary couple.

The Olivers have moved to Recife where he will be working with the Pernambuco State Camp Program, so at the present time the Carters are the only missionary family in Corrente. Of course, the Olivers took their ham radio which leaves the Carters stranded.

Friends in the states are interested in providing a two-way radio for the Carters as soon as possible. Anyone wanting to have a part in this important project may send a contribution to the "Dale and Sue Carter Radio Fund" in care of The Winters State Bank. The project will take approximately $1600.

Since the area is so isolated, the mission owns an air plane. Carter has always been the "back-up" pilot, with Oliver doing most of the flying, but now he has complete responsibility of the plane. Since Oliver left in July, he has had several emergency trips to Brazilia.

"I went with Dale on one of these trips," writes Sue. "We took a man whom the doctor here said had to operate on within twenty-four hours or he wouldn't live. They do operations in our little hospital here, but not one as complicated as this one was. Dale also took an eight-year-old child with meningitis and encephalitis to Brazilia. The child is still alive."

On Sept. 24, Carter went to Anapolis to the Missionary Aviation Fellowship Shops for a 100-hour check-up on the plane. He was gone five days.

Mrs. Carter writes that at last they have a telephone system with 42 phones, but it can only be used locally. Mail has progressed to the point that it can be received once a week instead of monthly, if the dirt roads are passable.

Mrs. Carter writes optimistically of the prospects for microwave in another year. "Now that will be the day when we can talk to Recife or Brazilia. Also, they are building a road between Tresina, our state capitol, and Brazilia, the national capitol, and it goes through Corrente. It hasn't gotten here yet, but it looks like it is going to make it. We feel that, even though Baptist work has been here a long time, it is just now at a point where it can really go forward."

Even with the prospective improvements, it will probably be years before the Carters can have outside contact in case of emergency.

Mrs. Oliver was principal of the primary school. When she left, Sue Carter assumed this responsibility in addition to teaching, which she was already doing.

Sue writes, "I still continue to teach my children in the afternoons. They go to the Brazilian school in the mornings, and I spend each afternoon teaching first, second and sixth grades. Tim, our 14-year-old, just finished the eighth grade, and will begin 9th grade University of Nebraska correspondence course in a few days. This is an English course and he will continue in the Brazilian school. Becky will begin 7th grade soon, Joel, third grade, and Jon, second."

People who are living such dedicated, productive lives as the Carters, deserve to have the very latest equipment. What better mission project could one engage in than giving to this fund.

A new state agriculture department office has opened in Dallas to serve Dallas, Ellis, Collin and Grayson counties.

State park visitors during the winter months must limit their stays to 28 consecutive days.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

by BABSON'S REPORTS INC.

GROWTH EXPECTED IN AUTO REPLACEMENT PARTS

Wellesley Hills, Mass. — The feverish pace of auto and truck sales since 1970 has enhanced prospects for companies serving the replacement market for auto parts. There are several key factors affecting the future of such firms: The lessening in recent years of guarantee liabilities by the auto makers; the ever-growing number of older cars on the road; the growth of optional equipment; and the increasing mileage driven by Americans.

Replacement parts companies have compiled an impressive record of sales and earnings expansion. Contrary to original equipment producers, replacement parts suppliers are notable for their net gains even during downturns. Their profit margins, in general, have been higher, and their common stocks have commanded higher earnings multiples, on balance. The outlook is for continuance of this pattern.

GROWTH BY NUMBERS

Demand for replacement parts comes from 118 million registered vehicles on the road at the 1972 year-end plus those added thus far in 1973. Most of these cars, some 70 million, are in the 3 to 10 year-old range and are prime candidates for replacement parts. This pool of older vehicles is constantly expanding. Considering that some 10 million new cars are sold every year in this country and that annual scrapage rates have been at about 7 million units, the differential of 3 million is constantly being added to the pool. So when viewed in terms of numbers, the field is one of inherent growth.

COMPLEXITY A FACTOR

Owing to our penchant for luxury-laden cars, the replacement parts field is growing in complexity as well as numbers. Today's auto, loaded with optional equipment, has become more intricate and needs more extra components. In fact, the highly sophisticated auto contains about 15,000 individual parts, thus serving further to broaden the mix of the replacement market. Also, the government's efforts to curtail harmful emissions have added even more devices. These required parts mean a still bigger market for maintenance and replacement items.

SHORTER GUARANTEES A HELP

The standard guarantee in the auto industry is now 12,000 miles or 12 months, whichever comes first. Earlier, the length of time and mileage was for longer periods. In fact, a few years back auto companies were allowing 50,000 miles or 5 years' guarantee on some auto components. Now that maintenance or repair functions are not guaranteed after the specified contract, these items are serviced by the replacement parts industry. This fact and the increase in the average miles driven per vehicle in the past decade are additional pluses.

NEWER PARTS ON STREAM

As more equipment and gadgets have been added, fresh demands are made on the car's system. For example, with so many electrical options, the size of the electrical loads required has brought about a change in the nature of the parts used. Some cars are now featuring electronic systems, electronic ignitions, increased battery capacities, etc. In brief, newer-type parts requiring more complex technology have changed the nature of the market for suppliers. Initially, this affects only origin-

County Agent Urges Watch For Screwworms

C. T. Parker Jr., Runnels County extension agent, has urged all livestock owners in the county to be on the alert for screwworms.

There has been only one known case found in the county, Parker said, but others may be present and not sent in. Specimen containers may be al equipment manufacturers. But with the passage of time, the replacement parts companies will service these vehicles by broadening and changing the scope of their lines or markets.

We feel that the foregoing factors and developments make for a favorable outlook for the replacement parts companies. There are several well-known firms that are strongly established in this important field, and these are bound to share in the anticipated progress for the industry. At this time, the Research Department of Babson's Reports favors purchase of two common stocks in this line for capital appreciation potential: Champion Spark Plug and ESB, Inc., both of which are traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Artificially Spawmed Trout Survive, Are Doing Well

Palacios — A second try at artificially spawning speckled trout was successful at the Parks and Wildlife Department's Palacios Marine Fisheries Research Station.

The trout were not only spawned back in July but they lived and thrived.

Initial artificial spawning of trout took place in May at the department's Olmito Fish Hatchery near Brownsville. It was the first time on record that such an event took place but the little fish did not live.

At the Palacios facility in July, five of 13 female speckled trout spawned which were injected with human hormones. Some 150,000 larval fish were produced.

Department biologists Robert Colura, Larry Elam and Jim Dailey placed 125,000 of the fish in a one-third acre pond at the station and the remaining 12,000 fish which survived into the lab.

According to Colura, approximately 10 percent of the lab fish lived past the critical stage of metamorphosis, a stage which the Olmito fish failed to survive.

"This period in the development of a speckled trout is the riskiest," said Colura. "At this point, the larva absorb their yolk sacs, start to take food by mouth and begin to look like little trout."

Of the surviving fish, 100 were retained in the lab and they are now two to three inches long.

The remaining 1,000 trout

Dinell Elaine Hirt, Gary Jacob Make Plans To Marry In February

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Hirt, St. Laurence Route, Garden City, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dinell Elaine Hirt, to Gary Herbert Jacob, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jacob, Route 2, Winters.

The bride-elect's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hirt of Wall and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kadlacek of Eola. The prospective bridegroom's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Michalewicz of Ballanger and Mrs. Herman Jacob and the late Mr. Jacob of Winters.

The couple plans to be married Saturday, February 23, 1974 in the St. Lawrence Catholic Church.

The bride-elect is a 1973 graduate of Garden City High School.

Her fiancé is a 1969 graduate of Winters High School, 1971 graduate of TSTI, and attended Angelo State University. He is engaged in farming near Winters.

were placed in a 1/4-acre pond and Colura estimates that the fish are now two to 2 1/2 inches long.

Colura is pleased with the 10 percent survival rate but hopes to improve the figure next year.

"We need to work with more fish next spring and summer to see if we can raise the survival ratio."

Work still remains to be done on determining which individual adult fish are the closest to spawning and the best for injections.

The research station's ponds will be drained in October to determine how many other trout survived.

As many fish as possible will be retained over the winter.

"This is our first opportunity to work with a large number of speckled trout," said Colura, "and, to our knowledge, the first time biologists have had a chance to observe and record the growth rates of one of the Gulf's most popular game fish."

Department biologists at Palacios plan to conduct similar spawning experiments with redfish later this fall.

A group of 39 male and female adult redfish are in the facilities' ponds, some of which will be injected with hormones to prompt spawning.

SWEATER KNITS

Sweater knits make the fall fashion scene, but may require slightly different sewing techniques. In general, techniques suitable for double knits can be used successfully with stable sweater knits. Stretchy knits, however, require slightly different treatment. For example, select patterns—in your regular size—designated for stretchy or sweater knits.

Also, coordinate weight of the fabric in relation to design—light to medium weight for most styles and heavy weight for jackets and pants.

Before cutting, launder sweater knits to allow for relaxation shrinkage. Exceptions to this are wool and mohair, and blends of these two fibers.

Slit tubular fabric open along one rib, as some knits are sold in tubular form.

To keep colors alike on all areas of a garment, use the "with-nap" layout.

If a center crease doesn't come out, lay pattern pieces to avoid it. At the same time, don't let fabric fall over the edge of the cutting surface—it will stretch. When cutting these fabrics, use very sharp shears or shears designed for knits—do not use pinking shears.

It is recommended that a ball point needle be used, or a very sharp No. 9 or 11 needle, depending on fabric weight. Also, polyester or polyester-ocre thread.

Then set machine stitch

Debra Lynn Forest, Terry Lewis Plan Dec. 22 Wedding in Midland

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Forest of Midland announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Debra Lynn, to Mr. Terry Vance Lewis. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lewis of Winters.

The wedding will be December 22 at Fannin Terrace Baptist Church in Midland.

length at 10-12 stitches per inch for either straight or zig-zag stitching.

To make sweater seams, stitch on the seamline and again one-fourth inch from seamline in the seam allowance.

Avoid seam breakage during wear by stretching seams slightly during sewing. Trim seams to three-eighths of an inch. Either zig-zag stitch or overcast edges loosely. Also staystitch neck edge to prevent stretching. Use tape or ribbon in waistbands. Make hems fairly narrow—prevents bulkiness and droopy lines—and apply them loosely.

When finished completely, steam garment lightly from the wrong side—unless fabric is mohair, which should never be steamed.

HIGHS AND LOWS

Some aerosol products are designed to spray into the atmosphere or under the arms. Some are meant to inhale through your mouth or nose. But aerosol misusers who are looking for "highs" breathe in gases in extremely high concentrations. They can—and do—die in seconds.

The aerosol industry itself is

- 1/2 c. milk
- 3/4 c. brown sugar
- 1/4 tsp. baking soda
- 2 1/2 c. coarsely chopped fresh cranberries

Pre-heat oven to 375 degrees. Cream margarine and sugars together. Beat in orange juice and egg and milk. Sift dry ingredients and combine with creamed mixture and blend well. Stir in nuts and cranberries. Drop by teaspoons onto greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes. Makes about 12 dozen tea-size cookies.

alarmed about the situation and has begun a campaign to educate young people about the hazards of misuse. According to the Aerosol Education Bureau, most deaths due to deliberate misuse happen among teenagers when they are with their friends. Accurate statistics are hard to come by, but currently the largest cluster of deaths from aerosol misuse, says the Bureau, is in the age group 14 and 15. The misusers are getting younger and younger. As recently as 1970, the largest number of deaths occurred among the ages 15 to 18.

Deaths usually come through asphyxiation and heart arrest. The air sacs of the lungs, vital for the exchange of oxygen and carbon dioxide, can be damaged as well as the network of blood vessels that surround them.

Aerosol products are easy targets for experimentation: they are inexpensive and everywhere. There are 300 types of aerosols. And within the last three years, sales have doubled to almost two billion a year.

Using spray cans improperly can be hazardous to your lungs, even when there is no deliberate misuse. To protect yourself, read and follow the directions on the can. Do not expose the products to heat, do not puncture the cans, use them only in well-ventilated rooms, and keep them out of children's reach.

What we inhale is a matter of life and breath.

STATE Capital NEWS

Austin, Tex. — The Chairman of the State Railroad Commission has issued a grim new warning that natural gas shortages will hit Texans hard this winter.

In a speech to Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association at Dallas, Chairman Jim Langdon said: "Propane already is in short supply due to stockpiling to offset the natural gas shortage.

"As much as 500,000 barrels daily of distillate fuel oil will be needed from November to March.

"If distillate use is as high as predicted in the state, three to five times above normal, shipments to out-of-state consumers may have to be cut 50 per cent.

"Out-of-state commitments, mandatory federal allocations and other factors may require that Texans share proportionally in shortages.

"This means that Texas might not only be denied access to its total distillate needs, but that access to its normal requirements could be cut," said Langdon.

"The gasoline supply-demand situation as well as every other petroleum product, will experience shortages this winter. As in the case of natural gas, a shortage in any type of fuel which results in an unsatisfied demand will exert pressure on available supplies of other fuels, setting up a domino-like effect."

Langdon recommended early construction of offshore deep-water ports to accommodate super-tankers from foreign countries and stepped-up development of domestic reserves of oil and gas (including shale oil) and increased use of coal.

Meanwhile, only one major customer of Lo-Vaca Gathering Company, Lone Star Gas Company, of Dallas, rejected a Railroad Commission temporary rate increase—to 29.55 cents per 1,000 cubic feet — on natural gas delivered by the big Houston-based company to its customers around the state.

CREDIT INSURANCE CUT UNCERTAIN

Credit life insurance rates, which haven't been cut since 1968 in spite of reductions in losses, are going down, but it isn't certain how much.

The subject caused a minor hassle between State Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie and Marcom Shockley, Board life insurance division head, at a hearing on credit insurance.

Shockley recommended a 23 per cent cut in single premium reducing term rates and 10 per cent reduction in rates for level-term coverage based on a three-year experience factor.

Christie wanted to figure on the basis of 192 losses only, which would cut reducing term rates 25.3 per cent and level term rates 18.6 per cent. The chairman later told newsmen Shockley had recommended the

BOLLWORM DEADLINE EXTENDED

Upper Coast and Winter Garden cotton growers have been granted a 10-day deadline extension for cotton stalk destruction—until October 20—in the pink bollworm control program.

Rains forced the plowup extension in Aransas, Calhoun, Refugio, Jackson, Victoria, Goliad, Dewitt, Karnes, Live Oak, Wilson, Atascosa, Bexar, McMullen, Medina, Frio, La Salle, Dimmit, Zavala, Maverick, Kinney, Uvalde, and Val Verde counties.

SHORT SNORTS

The Texas Safety Association launched a campaign to eliminate "booby traps" on 18,000 miles of county roads and city streets.

A manpower policy report to the Governor recommends eliminating all discrimination in state hiring and creation of a Texas Fair Employment Practices Commission.

The Governor has asked for federal disaster aid in flood-damaged Guadalupe, Hidalgo and Wilson counties.

Texas is the first state in a single year to rehabilitate more than 25,000 through vocational retraining programs.

Orr Gerald Brooks of Jeff Davis County received the 1973 Lady Bird Johnson award for highway beautification efforts.

Homer Foerster, Texas State Board of Control executive director, received the employer of the year award from the National Association for Retarded Children for employment of the retarded and other handicapped persons.

Former Gov. and Mrs. Price Daniel donated 100 acres of land in Liberty County for a Southeast Texas Sam Houston Regional Library and Research Center and regional archives depository.

AG OPINIONS

Atty. Gen. John Hill held cities can charge regulatory fees (but not taxes) on coin-operated amusement machines for children.

In other opinions, Hill concluded: "Appeals court judges must be paid at least $1,000 a year more than state district judges; and courts of civil appeals judges must get at least $1,000 less than State Supreme Court justices.

"Texas Mass Transportation Commission may accept federal grants when authorized by the legislature or an agency. It may grant financial aid to political subdivisions for planning public mass transportation either out of funds which may be appropriated for that purpose by the legislature, private gifts or federal grants for the purpose.

"An appraisal study on assets of a Houston rapid transit line can be withheld from public disclosure under an exemption to the open records law because the city is negotiating for purchase of the company, and publicity may have a detrimental effect on the negotiating position of the governing body.

"The chairman of the 1973 constitutional convention must be one of the 181 legislators who are delegates.

"State law does not permit education of the value of real property owned by a subsidiary of a bank or held in trust for the bank, though it allows reduction of the actual cash value of bank shares by a proportionate amount per share at which the real estate directly owned by the bank is assessed to it for taxes.

Thunderbirds Return To Dyess For 8th Annual Open House

October 27 will see the United States Air Force Thunderbirds return to Dyess Air Force Base, Abilene, as the base celebrates its eighth annual open house. Many outstanding USAF aviators have served with the Thunderbirds since the squadron was activated some 20 years ago. The five pilots who will perform this year are no exception to that rule.

Each member of the flying team is a veteran of the war in Southeast Asia. They have a combined total of more than 1,300 combat missions and flew a variety of aircraft in the SEA conflict.

Statistics reveal that the team's average age is 33. They average just under 11 years service and have an average of 10 years flying experience in mostly fighter type aircraft.

Commander and leader of the Thunderbirds is Lieutenant Colonel Roger Parrish, 37, from Carbondale, Ill. Col. Parrish earned his wings at Craif AFB, Alabama, in November, 1958. He served at Cam Ranh Bay Air Base, Republic of Vietnam, and flew 137 combat missions. He is married and has four children.

Flying the left wing position is Major Nels Running, 32, of Frenchtown, Mont. Maj. Running, a 1964 graduate of the Air Force Academy, earned his wings in August 1965 at Moody AFB, Georgia. In two tours of duty in Southeast Asia, he flew the F-105 Thunderchief on 272 combat missions including 104 missions over North Vietnam. Maj. Running is a bachelor.

The right wing position is filled by Major Rip Blaisdell, 34, of Topeka, Kans. Maj. Blaisdell, a 1962 graduate of the Air Force Academy, earned his wings in August 1963 at Webb AFB, Tex. The major has also served two tours of duty in Southeast Asia. He served as a Forward Air Controlled flying the tiny prop-driven O-1 Bird Dog during his first tour and returned to fly F-105 Thunderchiefs during his second tour of duty, for a total of 489 combat missions. Maj. Blaisdell is married and has three children.

Flying the slot position is Captain Tim Roels, 31, from Crystal Lake, Ill. Capt. Roels was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps in 1964 and earned his wings at Webb AFB, Tex., in October, 1965. He served at Da-Nang Air Base, Republic of Vietnam flying the F-4 Phantom. During his tour he flew 136 combat missions, 101 of which were over North Vietnam. Capt. Roels is married and has two children.

The Thunderbird solo pilot is Captain Kirk Brimmer, 31, of Marshalltown, Iowa. Commissioned through the AFOTC in 1965, he trained at Vance AFB, Okla., where he earned his wings in 1966. Capt. Brimmer served at Bien Hoa Air Base.

Vietnam and logged 281 F-100 Super Sabre combat missions. He is married and has two children.

The voice of the Thunderbirds is Major Al McArtor, narrator. The 34-year-old native of Webster Groves, Mo., is a 1964 graduate of the Air Force Academy. Earning his wings at Vance AFB, Okla., in 1965, the major is a veteran of 187 combat missions in Vietnam. Maj. McArtor is married and has three children.

These are the Thunderbirds. Their experience and precision make for an outstanding show wherever they perform. See them at Dyess Air Force Base Saturday, October 27.

Gates open to the public at 10:30 a. m. All Big Country area residents are cordially invited to attend.

Keep your nose to the grindstone, your shoulder to the wheel, your eye on the road and your ear to the ground, and you'll wind up as the Chiropractor's Dream Patient of the Year.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

SLOWER GROWTH FOR APPLIANCE INDUSTRY

Wellesley Hills, Mass. — Appliance sales have been barreling along at a record-setting pace. Last year's 10 percent gain in shipments has already been surpassed during the first eight months of 1973, with totals soaring upward 14 percent. There are, however, a number of signs that output for the appliance industry may slacken in the months ahead. For example, reports on consumer buying intentions have recently become less optimistic. With housing starts slowing down appreciably, there may well be a substantially lessened demand for kitchen ranges and other large-ticket appliances during 1974. The energy problem, particularly involving the availability of gas, suggests a reduced rate of shipments for gas appliances. Rising interest rates and expanding debt (credit is used extensively in the purchase of appliances) also point to a more bearish outlook for sales of major appliances over the near term.

INVESTORS ARE CAUTIOUS

In view of these clouds moving in on the scene, forecasters within the industry are cutting back on their earlier predictions as to output for the fourth quarter. Investors have become leery of a faltering appliance market and have generally shunned stocks of home-appliance manufacturers. So, in spite of the recent rally in the Dow Jones Industrial Average, the stocks of such outstanding appliance producers as Fedders, Maytag, Whirlpool, Singer, Hoover, and White Consolidated Industries are selling well below their 1973 highs. And price-earnings ratios for the industry are still low.

LONG-TERM PROSPECTS BRIGHT

In the opinion of the Research Department of Babson's Reports stocks of the appliance manufacturers mentioned above are well worth holding at present prices. Of these, Fedders is on our list of securities currently recommended for purchase.

Despite the possibility of a near-term slowdown in appliance sales, the longer-term prospects for the industry remain rosy. In addition to benefiting from increases in new housing projected beyond 1974, the appliance industry should respond to some longer-range favorable factors including growth of new families, a more equitable distribution of income, a continuing increase in the labor force, and gains in disposable income. In addition, since the average appliance lasts only about ten years, the replacement market offers a fertile field for future sales. Replacement business in the field has been stimulated in recent years by a marked increase in home remodeling. A survey by the National Home Improvement Council reveals that an upturn in remodeling normally has a corresponding effect on major appliance replacement sales.

FEDDERS FOR APPRECIATION POTENTIAL

Fedders Corporation, our present appliance "buy" candidate, is the country's leading producer of room air conditioners. The corporation also turns out a full line of home appliances including washing machines, dryers, stoves and refrigerators. Among its other products are central air conditioning systems, dehumidifiers, radiators, oil coolers and heater cores for autos, radiator and space heating equipment, and heat exchange components. A seven-month strike severely penalized earnings for fiscal 1972. Although the strike was settled last October with a new three-year contract, post-strike costs at the company's main plant and an initial low level of production continued to affect results adversely in the early part of fiscal 1973.

Improvement, however, was evident in the latter part of the fiscal year, and outlook favors a renewal of the previous earnings uptrend. Expanded facilities and increased volume should enable profit margins to widen. Over the past decade, sales and earnings have risen at an average annual compound rate of 20 percent. Purchase of the speculative-grade common (New York Stock Exchange) is recommended for investors seeking appreciation. Yield was recently 2.8 percent.

There's a difference between a man who leads a well-ordered life and one who is married to a determined woman, but it escapes us.

Edwards Plateau Deer Die-Offs Said Serious By P&W Biologists

Austin — A widespread white-tailed deer die-off in the Edwards Plateau has been reported by Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists, and they say it could be the beginning of a disastrous year for the species.

The deer, biologists say, are suffering from theileriosis, a blood parasite which doesn't bother deer until they are suffering from malnutrition.

According to Rod Marburger, project leader for the department's wildlife disease project, nature threw the whitetails a curve this year when heavy spring rains brought optimum lawning conditions, boosting the deer population. But a summer drought cut drastically the amount of fruits, buds and seeds available to deer in the late summer and early fall.

The prognosis is not bright for the rest of the year because a late spring freeze accounted for the worst acorn crop that biologists can remember. Deer are heavily dependent on acorns to get them through the winter.

Heavy rains during the past week will help some, say biologists, but they will only forestall for a few weeks inevitable widespread deer starvation.

According to Marburger, deer at this time of year should be in prime condition. But census lines reveal that this is not the case. One biologist reported seeing 38 deer on his census line, and only one was in fair condition. The rest were in poor condition.

As an ironic twist, bucks in the Edwards Plateau have fine antlers this year because of good available food during the period of antler growth in the spring. Biologists say it is not unusual to see deer with huge racks and protruding ribs.

Biologists say two courses of action are available to land owners who want to keep their deer population healthy—supplemental feeding, which is extremely expensive, and allowing more hunters to kill deer, thereby thinning the population.

Biologists advocate a thinning of the deer herd. This would mean more food for the deer which survived the hunting season, giving them a better chance to survive the winter.

The whitetail's great reproductive capacity will help the deer population to rebound when conditions get better, say biologists.

Marburger said the deer began dying on ranches which had been overgrazed this summer. But as the weather increases its severity, the die-off could extend to nearly all the ranches in the Edwards Plateau.

Senior Citizens Meeting Friday

The Winters Senior Citizens met at the Humble Building Friday night, for games and entertainment.

Those present were Claudia Ponder, Ida Bates, Ettie Bryant, Dessie Fisher, Ethel Hill, Roland Sample, Lulla Sample, Ann Grenwelle, Martha Sellers, Bill Wilson, Levi Smith, Olga Minzenmayer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bates and Mrs. Mary Kurtz.

Commission Raises Walleye, Striped Bass Limits

Austin — Two popular species of "exotic" fish are doing so well in Texas that the Parks and Wildlife Commission has authorized more liberal possession limits, according to department executive director Clayton T. Garrison.

Walleye perch and striped have been successfully stocked in some Texas watersheds and the commission feels that the fish will stand additional pressure from anglers.

The daily bag and possession limit of five walleye has been raised to five per day and 10 in possession.

Previously, only one striped bass could be taken. Now, one per day and two in possession are legal.

The exception is Toledo Bend Reservoir where the bag limit is two striped bass per day and four in possession.

Also, the commission established a possession limit for brown and rainbow trout of 10 in the aggregate.

Old regulations permitted a daily bag of five brown and rainbow trout in the aggregate with no possession limit.

Trout are stocked in some Texas rivers on a "put-and-take" basis. A possession limit was set to prevent overharvesting of the fish.

These new regulations go into effect Oct. 12, in the Edwards Plateau, Panhandle, Northeast, Oak Prairie, Possum Kingdom, South Central, Southeast, Permian Basin and Trinity Regulatory Districts.

Both walleye and striped bass have been produced in Texas from native brookstock. Work is currently underway to develop techniques for rearing brown and rainbow trout.

Hospital Opening

ploded, including Federal and State grants or loans. The board met with no success in trying to get outside financing for a new hospital building, and there appeared to be little hope for such assistance in the future. So the board decided to go the bond-issue route. An election on a proposed $475,000 bond issue to finance the new hospital was called for October 19, 1971.

In that election, voters of the district approved the bond issue by a better than 2-to-1 margin, and the hospital district board began immediately on final planning and site selection.

In the meantime, a separate group of citizens of the community began a drive to raise extra funds to purchase equipment for the hospital, and by the middle of March, 1972, more than $62,000 had been raised in contributions and pledges. Most of the pledges have been honored, and to date there has been more than $70,000 contributed.

In June, 1972, the hospital district board called for bids for construction of the new hospital. Rose & Sons Construction Co. of Abilene submitted the acceptable bid, and ground was broken at the site on the southeast edge of Winters, on FM 53, and construction was begun immediately.

He earned the award for meritorious service as an automotive mechanic in the 190th Maintenance Company of the Brigade's 169th Maintenance Battalion.

The Specialist's father, Horace L. Gibbs, lives at Rising Star. His wife, Anita, lives at Rising Star.
