Lone Star Seeking Increases

Lone Star Gas Company's return on its utility residential and commercial service in Texas has been reduced to virtually nothing, primarily due to increasing gas costs, the Texas Railroad Commission was told this week.

Louis B. Huley, senior vice president, told the Commission that in 1974, while total natural gas sales by Lone Star climbed to a record $313 million, net income of the company's utility division was down 22% due mostly to a $76.5 million increase in gas purchase costs over the previous year.

The rate relief sought, Huley stressed, is primarily to assist the company with the serious problem created by the increased cost of our gas supply. Huley urged the Commission to authorize a 100% monthly pass-on of increased gas costs instead of the 65% semiannual pass-on currently in effect.

Winters City Council recently authorized an increase in electric rates, under a fuel escalation clause in the rate ordinance, to counteract recent increases in the cost of gas, and in anticipation of another round of raises.

In addition to Huley, six other company witnesses and two expert outside consultants were scheduled to give largely technical and financial testimony to the hearing examiner during the day.

Besides recouping from customers the rising costs of the gas it purchases, Lone Star has applied for an increase in the rate it can charge residential and commercial customers in Texas caused by inflationary rises in such items as materials, labor, costs of borrowed money and taxes.

This is Lone Star's first full rate proceeding since 1969.

March 2-8 National DECA Week

Members of Winters High School Distributive Education classes this week join approximately 135,000 other Distributive Education Club members from all 50 states in observing National DECA Week.

Mrs. Phil Harrison, chapter advisor, announced this week. As a part of the observance, three members of the local DECA chapter will go to San Antonio Thursday, Friday and Saturday, to attend a convention and take part in state contests.

Emmett Barthelemy will compete in the service station trainee contest. David Hendrix and Janet Richards will attend the meeting as voting delegates. The advisor, Mrs. Harrison, will accompany the students to San Antonio.

Mrs. Harrison said the Winters DECA chapter has 25 students, who work in several places of business in Winters.

It's (Almost, That Is) Spring, and ...

GOUND BREAKER—Although spring is officially a good many days away, gardeners have been preparing their land for planting ...

ONIONS—The season for planting early onions began several days ago, and some gardeners already have planted peas and other early vegetable crops. In many parts of the community, however, the land still is too wet to plow properly. Nationally, it has been predicted that home gardeners would number many thousands more this spring than in the past.

Student-Aimed Workshop On "Values" Last Week

A two-day student-aimed workshop on "Value Clarification" was conducted in Winters High School Tuesday and Wednesday of last week by guidance personnel of Region 15, Education Service Council, with assistance by members of the Student Council. The workshop, presented to all grades of Winters High School, dealt with "recognizing and labeling values," with students giving an evaluation of each of four films on the subject, and a total evaluation of the two-day series of lectures and discussions.

Main emphasis of the workshop, according to Education Service Center personnel, was "to get students to recognize values on their own on the basis of their personal values."

Representing the Service Center were Jim Coffee, Larry Lusby, Rocky Broadmole and George Plier. Student council officers participating were Mitch Davis, president, and Benji Alldredge, vice president.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By Cong. Bob Krueger
21st District

Few things seem easier in Washington than spending the taxpayer's money or pretending that the government is saving citizens money by passing regulations that will bring about low prices. Both these habits sometimes bring short-term rewards, and long-term headaches.

Last week provided two examples. First, Congress passed a tax refund, as the Administration requested. I voted against this bill, because our federal deficit will already be too large, and because I thought it would be inflationary without restimulating the economy effectively. Further, I did not support the bill because it removed the depletion allowance for oil drilling, at a time when we need incentives to discover new oil and gas in the U.S.A.

Similarly, the Energy and Power Subcommittee, on which I serve reported out a bill continuing our present two-tier price system for old oil and new oil until January 1, 1976. I was the only member from either party to vote against it. Under this system old oil from fields drilled before January 1, 1973 sells at one price, and new oil discovered after January 1, 1973 sells at the world price, which is twice as high. There is no logical defense for selling an identical product at two different prices. This will not encourage domestic drilling and production, nor keep American producers from selling their old oil overseas, if they can get higher prices for it there. Uncomfortable as it is, we will have to move to the world price if we are ever going to have incentives to develop enough petroleum at home for our own needs, and then, when the price of oil has found its natural market level, the determination can be made whether coal can be competitive with oil. When it is, people on the east coast and in the far west will have a secure price for coal that will allow them to engage in heavy investment in coal mining for this country's future.

Our government has over-regulated many things, and in doing so, has often achieved short-term gains but at the expense of long-term goals which are more desirable. Political expediency can be a very strong motive. I'm hopeful that expediency will not win out, and I believe that there are still enough people who will be openminded to the needs for developing a sensible long-term energy policy so that we can forge a program genuinely suited to our national needs.

It takes more than optimism!

The farmer/rancher is an eternal optimist. He must be—to contend with such imponderables as weather, prices and costs.

Yet, it takes more than optimism in today's high cost agriculture. It takes an organization the farmer/rancher knows he can count on. Farm Bureau is such an organization. That's why four out of five farmers in the nation are members of Farm Bureau.

Farm Bureau works for agriculture on three broad fronts—

1. TO INCREASE ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY—Through effectiveness in Public Affairs (policy development & legislative activities)
2. TO STRENGTHEN FARMERS' COMPETITIVE POSITION IN MARKETPLACE—Through marketing programs, commodity activities, market expansion
3. TO CONTROL PRODUCTION COSTS—Through group purchasing (tires & batteries), insurance protection (fire, life & casualty), group insurance (medical care)

C. T. Parker's Weekly News Column

A good health management program is important for your cattle operation because disease problems can mean the difference between a profit or a loss.

Herd health is especially important due to current low cattle prices, emphasizes Parker, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

He suggest several ways of improving health management of cattle operations, such as providing adequate nutritional feed, adopting a good vaccination program, and controlling internal and external parasites.

It's important to provide enough forage and stored feed to sustain a herd for a year, points out the agent.

A good vaccination program is vital to herd health. Every calf over four months of age and every yearling should be vaccinated against Blackleg and other infections. Vaccinating against leptospirosis is also suggested and should be carried out in consultation with a veterinarian.

New animals should be given blood tests to determine whether they have brucellosis (Bangs disease), adds Parker.

External parasites can be controlled by treatment with insecticides while properly timed worming can rid animals of internal parasites.

Parker advises ranchers to provide a source of magnesium for their cattle during the winter months to prevent grass tetany.

One thing that will benefit home vegetable gardens in Runnels County is organic matter, says C.T. Parker, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Organic matter usually takes the form of animal manures, cover crops, compost or mixed organic fertilizer.

Although many gardeners add some type of organic matter to the soil, most do not apply large enough quantities, contends the agent. At least two inches of organic material should be applied each year and then tilled into the soil to a depth of six to eight inches.

Organic matter should be added to soil at least two weeks before planting and preferably longer.

What is so important about organic matter in soil? Parker lists these benefits:

Sound Advice :
Not wearing a hearing aid can make you look pretty dumb too.

By DARYL KING

Remember when you were a kind, and somebody made you wear something that made you feel a little silly? You probably felt pretty dumb about it. And chances are, you're the only one who did.

The point is this. The person who has to wear something is the one who's the most conscious of it. Odds are, other people don't even notice. Or give it a second thought if they do.

Hearing aids are like that. People would rather live with the very real embarrassment of a hearing loss than with the imaginary stigma of a hearing aid.

We think that's kind of dumb. And if you think about it, we think you'll agree.

Come see us. Talk to a specialist who thinks the smartest looking thing in this world is someone wearing a hearing aid.

I will hold my regular hearing aid center at the WINTERS MOTEL, TUESDAY MARCH 11th, 9-10 a.m.

1. Improves tilth and condition of soil.
2. Improves ability of soil to hold water and nutrients.
3. Improves "buffering" capacity of soil; keeps soil from over-reacting.
4. Supports the solid's micro-biological activity (its life).
5. Contributes nutrients.
6. Releases nutrients slowly.

7. Releases acids as it decomposes; this helps convert insoluble natural minerals into plant-usable forms.

Organic material added to moist, warm and well-aerated soil will be decomposed rapidly by soil micro-organisms such as fungi, bacteria, molds and earthworms. This decomposition process gives life to the soil and thus allows it to better support growing plants.

So, organic matter does play an important role in crop production, but often it is not given enough attention, points out Parker.

Change of Policy for Collections at North Runnels Hospital

Good financial management and a high percentage of collections for services rendered is a necessity for any business activity that deals with the public. To maintain good delivery and quality health care, hospitals and other health care institutions must pay higher salaries for professional help and also higher costs for medical products involved in the care of your family and friends. In order to improve the hospital's delivery of health care to the public under sound financial management, it is necessary that FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENTS BE MADE FOR ALL OUT PATIENT CARE BEFORE IT IS COMPLETED. This includes lab work, x-rays and electrocardiograms.

Also, beginning March 1, 1975, x-ray charges will be handled as follows:

YOU WILL RECEIVE A CHARGE FOR THE PROFESSIONAL FEE OF THE RADIOLOGIST FOR: THE X-RAY THAT YOU HAVE RECEIVED. THIS CHARGE COVERS:

1. CONSULTATION WITH YOUR PHYSICIAN REGARDING THE STUDIES OF THE X-RAY
2. A WRITTEN REPORT TO YOUR PHYSICIAN
3. A WRITTEN REPORT FOR THE PERMANENT HOSPITAL RECORDS.
4. THESE WRITTEN REPORTS ARE NECESSARY EVEN THOUGH PERSONAL PHYSICIAN ADVISES YOU OF HIS REPORT ON THE X-RAY, EVEN THOUGH THE RADIOLOGIST IS NOT PRESENT AT THE TIME OF YOUR PHYSICIAN'S REPORT.

THE X-RAY CHARGE ON YOUR HOSPITAL BILL COVERS:

1. SERVICES OF THE X-RAY TECHNICIAN AND OTHER HOSPITAL PERSONNEL
2. COST OF FILM, SUPPLIES, AND OTHER DEPARTMENTAL EXPENSE
3. USE OF HOSPITAL FACILITIES AND X-RAY EQUIPMENT

THE HOSPITAL CHARGE DOES NOT INCLUDE THE FEE OF THE RADIOLOGIST

Your help and cooperation in understanding this will be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. O'Connor's Weekly News Column

The most misunderstood winter fruit is the pear. The problem lies not in the eating, but in the ripening.

Winter pears, more specifically the Anjou variety, are on the market in record quantities. Marketing Specialists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture say the total pack of winter pears reached 6.9 million boxes. As of the first of the year there were 4 million boxes still available, 35 percent more than on the same date a year earlier.

A supply so large will insure good, fresh-fruit eating right into spring. But you must know when the pears you buy are right for eating.

Contrary to most ripening fruits, color is no indication of ripeness. Characteristic of the Anjou is its green to yellow-green skin and its smooth texture. This will not change during the ripening process.

Unlike most fruits, the pear is picked when mature but not ripe. As a matter of interest, should you ever see it advertised as tree-ripened, you would be right not to purchase it. Tree ripening of this pear causes it to lose its fine flavor and smooth texture.

The only true test of ripeness is the thumb test. It will be hard and firm to the touch when you buy it since it has been kept refrigerated since harvest. To ripen to perfect eating condition, pears should be held at room temperature, preferably 60 to 70 degrees, for a few days to a week.

Test pears daily. They are ripe when they yield to gentle thumb pressure. To test, place the pear in the palm of your hand and apply thumb pressure at the stem end of the pear. To inhibit further ripening, pears should be stored in the refrigerator.

Some fruit dealers now offer pears "conditioned" for immediate use. Conditioning, a commercial ripening process of fresh pears is a time-saving service for some food store, restaurants, hotels, hospitals, and other institutions. But for the most part, pears found in food stores must be ripened by the consumer.

Anjou pears are great for out-of-hand eating and they are particularly good when used in salads. You'll be glad you served them in this manner. So will your family.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—A Texas presidential preference primary bill finally limped through the House of Representatives after two days of bitter debate.

Opponents assailed it as a winner-take-all measure, disregarding national party regulations aimed at assuring proportional representation among state delegates of presidential candidates.

Proponents argued it will give average voters a more direct voice than they now have in the presidential nominating process.

Impetus for the bill (HB 679) by Rep. Tom Schieffer of Fort Worth came from supporters of U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas for president and citizens weary of the political convention process.

Fierce opposition came from Democratic liberals who want to retain the "reformed" convention system, from George Wallace supporters and a few who have little enthusiasm for Bentsen's candidacy. Most Republicans also voted against the bill—quietly.

As sent to the Senate, the measure calls for a vote in May on slates of delegates committed to presidential candidates who file. Elections would be held by senatorial or congressional districts (depending on decision of a state party's executive committee).

Seventy-five percent of Texas' allotted delegates to the national party conventions would be elected directly at the district level, 25 percent at the state conventions.

Proponents predict Senate passage of a similar bill, but some senators are reluctant. Gov. Dolph Briscoe has given his support, along with Bentsen.

SCHOOL PLANS IN

finance revision plan hit legislative hoppers this week, and committees of both houses prepared to begin hearings on the high priority topic soon.

Briscoe's bill calls for a "weighed pupil" approach to distributing state aid and would cost $589.9 million during the next biennium ($919.9 million overall).

Cost compares with $2.7 billion for the Texas State Teachers Association school finance bill and about $1 billion for one proposed by Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale, former House Education chairman.

Briscoe proposed to increase teacher salaries from $6,600 a year to $7,430 during the next year and $7,840 the next. TSTA is aiming for a $10,000 a year starting teacher salary and Kubiak recommended $8,400.

The Governor saw his bill as "a proposal to guarantee quality education to every child in Texas, regardless of the income of his parents or the wealth of his community."

SHORT SNORTS

A $64.1 million quarterly rebate of city sales taxes was announced by Comptroller Robert Bullock—a month earlier than usual.

Attorney General Hill filed new motions to speed release of $174 million in pollution control funds for Texas which had been impounded by the federal government.

Cash receipts from Texas agricultural products decreased more than $495 million in 1974, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White. White said value of Texas cattle and calves was cut more than half between January 1975 and the previous year ($2.5 billion).

Twelve million in emergency funds will be mailed to 37 public junior colleges late this month.

Elementary School Urging Registration Of Children Who Start First Grade

Parents or guardians of pre-school age children, who will start either first grade in August or kindergarten in August 1975 or January 1976, are being urged to register the names of these children with the Elementary School as soon as possible.

George M. Beard, principal of the Elementary School, said names and ages of all children who are eligible to enroll in Winters Public School First grade in August and in kindergarten, for either the August or January class, are needed so assignment plans can be made as early as possible.

This registration precedes the annual spring pre-school round-up, which will be announced later, Beard said. To be eligible for kindergarten, children must be five years of age on or before Sept. 1, 1975. Children will be assigned to the first semester or the second semester on the basis of either age or choice, or both.

To enter first grade, children must be six years of age Sept. 1, 1975.

Children who enroll in the Winters Schools for the first time in either first grade or kindergarten must present birth certificates, the principal reminded.

Expect More Highway Tending In N. Runnels

Runnels County, one of the most heavily populated rural areas in the San Angelo district, is to receive the benefit of a reorganization of the Ballinger Maintenance Section, which formerly included Coke County.

As of September 1, 1974, a new Maintenance Section was organized for Coke County, maintaining 203 miles of highway, 88 miles of which were formerly maintained by the Ballinger Section. The new Coke County Section has temporarily operated from a maintenance warehouse in Bronte, but will soon move into its new facility in Robert Lee. Under the new setup, the most distant point under the care of the Ballinger Section is only 32 miles from the warehouse. This is a 36% reduction in distance from the previous more than 50 mile distance.

The resulting savings in travel time and the concentration of the work force in the smaller area will provide better maintenance and more efficient manpower and machinery use for Runnels County.

The City of Winters, one of the central population area is only 18 miles from the Section Warehouse, in the northern portion of the county. Work time formerly spent in Coke County, now may be brought back across the Runnels County Line
