Memorial Day To Be Observed Monday, 26th

Monday, May 26, is one of the several days of 1975 suggested by the Winters Chamber of Commerce, to be observed as a holiday.

Memorial Day will be observed May 26, instead of the traditional May 30.

It is expected that most businesses will be closed on this date, including the post office, which will observe regular holiday schedules.

Yearbook Is Dedicated To Teacher

The 1975-76 edition of The Glacier, the Winters High School yearbook, was dedicated to David Coffman, Spanish and world history teacher in high school. Coffman, who has been a member of the high school faculty for six years, is retiring following the close of this school year.

The Glacier was released and distributed to the student body during an assembly program in the high school last Thursday.

Weldon Middleton, advisor of the yearbook staff, was awarded an engraved yearbook in recognition of 25 years service to Glacier staffs.

Mitch Davis was selected as Most Representative Boy, and Denise Rodgers was selected as Most Representative Girl, for 1975, and special pages in the yearbook were devoted to these two students.

Named to Who's Who in the several departments of the school, and receiving recognition in the yearbook, were students chosen by the sponsors of the clubs and organizations in high school. They included:

Members of the yearbook staff for the 1975-76 school year were announced. They are David Waldrop, editor; Jeanene Hoppe, assistant editor; Cathy Alburn, business manager; Pat Webb, feature editor; Rodrick Bredemeyer, photographer; Craig Gehrels, assistant photographer; Kevin Hall, sports editor.

SURVEYORS—Sam Hall, chief of the Soil Conservation Service work planning survey crew from Waco, points out the next stand where lines will be shot, in the surveying of the area to be included in the Elm Creek Watershed project. Working with Hall are Vernon Hastings, at the instrument, and Miles Oakley.

Elm Creek Watershed Project Is Progressing

The work plan for the Elm Creek Watershed project, located mostly in North Runnels and South Taylor counties, is about 32 percent complete, it was learned from the Soil Conservation Service planning party now in the area making topographic surveys.

part of the project is separate from the original water control project, which has been under study and in the planning stage for several years, by the Elm Creek Water Control District, formed by special state legislation some years ago.

Plans now are to construct 10 to 12 flood control dams on Elm Creek, or its tributaries. The cities of Winters and Ballinger also are working with the survey planning crews in an attempt to locate a site for a joint water storage reservoir to serve the two cities. This

Entries In Jamboree Events Solicited

The 85th Jamboree Committee of the Winters Chamber of Commerce is seeking individuals and groups to sign up to participate in the "Good Old Days" birthday celebration, to be held June 19, 20 and 21.

The Winters Riding Club will sponsor a cross-country pony express type relay race from Hsatchel to Winters Saturday, June 11. Riding clubs from all over the state will be participating in this horse race. A number of entry positions are still open for riding clubs interested in the cash prizes which will be offered.

Other events which need entries at this time are the arts and crafts show, the talent show, the antique show, and the downtown parade.

Individuals or groups interested in participating in these activities should contact Mrs. Emma Marks in the office of the Winters Chamber of Commerce.

Scholarships Go To Six '75 Graduates

The directors of the Wallace Murray Education and Welfare Foundation have announced first year college scholarship awards to six children of employees of Dry Manufacturing Division of the Wallace Murray Corporation.

Awarded scholarships on the basis of exceptional scholastic achievement were Benji Alldredge, honor award of $1300; Lesa Giles, merit award of $950; Lisenell Brown, merit award, $750; David Lee McAdoo, merit award of $550; Lola Hoelscher, commendation award of $500; and Robert Garza, commendation award of $200.

Alldredge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Alldredge, Winters, will study veterinary medicine at Angelo State University.

Miss Giles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Giles, Winters, plans to attend South Plains College at Levelland, where she will be a computer science major.

Miss Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Brown, will study physical therapy at Texas Women's University, Denton.

McAdoo, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. McAdoo, will be a student at Stephen F. Austin University, Nacogdoches, where he will major in game biology and management.

Miss Hoelscher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin A. Hoelscher of Ballinger, will study computer programming at Texas Institute in Dallas.

Garza, son of Mr. and Mrs. Inez Garza of Winters, will study law enforcement at Western Texas College, Snyder.

Five of the award winners are graduates of Winters High School. Miss Hoelscher is a graduate of Ballinger High School.

Rural Water System Is Approved

Ladell Davis, chairman of the board of North Runnels Rural Water Supply Corporation, said this week that actual construction work on the proposed water distribution system, to supply most of North Runnels' rural area, probably is some months away, but that final surveys and planning will commence immediately.

Requests by the non-profit corporation for grants and loans from the Farmers Home Administration have been approved, Davis learned Monday. He said he had been "unofficially" notified some weeks ago that the requests had been approved, but that "official" notification would come from the office of U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen. Davis said he had not been personally notified, but had only read of the approval in a newspaper.

The grant will be for $307,000, and the long-term loan will be for $337,600, according to Davis. He said this amount will finance final engineering

MD March Is On

Volunteer marchers are conducting a house-to-house appeal May 26, for funds to fight muscular dystrophy.

Estella Bredemeyer is campaign treasurer, and The Winters State Bank will act as depository bank.

Miss Bredemeyer said muscular dystrophy is "a devastatingcrippler of people, through their nerves, muscles and metabolism." Thousands of people afflicted with MD need help, she said. Funds contributed through this march will be used for research facilities, and to assist patients through therapy, service programs and clinics.

and construction of the first two phases of the project, which has been divided into four phases. Davis said work on application for funds for remaining two phases would begin immediately.

Davis said engineers will now begin to put the final touches on the plans already drawn up, and work will begin to obtain easements and rights-of-way on which to construct the system.

There will be some areas which will not be reached by the distribution pipeline in construction of the first two phases, it was understood, but these areas would be reached when the entire project is completed. Although the system will require above water storage tanks, and pumping stations, it is not known at this time where these will be located.

Water for the system will be obtained from Winters, supplied from the Winters City lake. If necessary, it is expected that water will also be obtained from Ballinger, if the need arises. Projections indicated that consumption by customers of the system, when in full operation, will not be more than about two days' consumption demand for the city of Winters.

This project was begun about two years ago, when rural residents faced with a shortage of water and contamination of wells, began to seek a source of water. The organization was formed, incorporated as a non-profit institution, and applications made for FHA funds. The membership of the corporation is made up of rural landowners, who deposited an amount equal to $100 for each anticipated outlet on the line. These funds have been invested in the interim, it was explained.

SCHOLARSHIPS—Hal Dry, right, a vice president of Wallace Murray Corporation, and general manager of Dry Division of the corporation, presents letters of scholarship to five Winters High School graduating seniors. The scholarships were made available to local

.....GINGERLY.....!—Fritz Pruser was careful to use a pair of pliers to hold up a porcupine, which his dogs killed on his place west of Winters last Friday night. Saturday, when this picture was taken, Pruser said he had extracted several quills from the nose of the "small dog," but had been unable to hold the "big dog" long enough to yank out the stickers. Porcupines are rare in this section, although several have been seen through the years. One was seen on a farm near Wingate about two years ago, and others have been sighted. Those who seem to know say this area is not a natural habitat for porcupines.

First Furniture Store
Winters first furniture store was established in 1901 by Ed Stone. The building was across the street just south of the present Spill's Furniture Store. The street was only a country road.

Jim Eoff hauled freight from Ballinger and Abilene to Winters during 1901. He had a special frame built on his wagon and hauled furniture from Ballinger to stock the new furniture store.

The furniture store was in a frame building, having a porch at the east end. A balcony, reached by an outside stairway, covered the porch and was quite a favorite gathering place for young people on Sunday afternoon. Nearby a drink called "glace" and lemonade could be bought for 5 cents per glass.

Mr. Eoff often told of a near tragedy that he had with one load of furniture. At that time, there was no bridge or causeway across Elm Creek. The crossing was just west of the present concrete causeway near old Runnels, and the bank was very steep.

Mr. Eoff, then a young man of 24, was sitting on top of a high load of furniture driving the mules to his furniture van when someone yelled, "Hey, wake up!" He had gone to sleep, and his team was starting down the steep incline. If he had not awakened there would have been disastrous results.

Died In Dallas Last Saturday

Mrs. Tommie L. Whittenberg, 67, of Tuscola died at Baylor Medical Center in Dallas at 11 a.m. Saturday after a short illness. Services were held at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday at Spill Memorial Chapel in Winters.

The Rev. David Crooks, pastor of First Baptist Church and the Rev. Lionel Cooksley, pastor of the Freewill Baptist Church of Abilene, officiated. Burial was in Northview Cemetery.

Born Edith Talley June 15, 1907, at Sweetwater, she lived east of Winters for a number of years. She married Tommie Whittenberg Jan. 3, 1938, at Wingate. They moved to Abilene in 1948 and to Tuscola in 1968. She was a Baptist. Her husband died June 1, 1971.

Survivors include an uncle, Earl White of Winters; and aunt, Mrs. Ethel Bishop of Winters, and several cousins.

Pallbearers were Don Marks, Don Emmert, Bill Hoppe, Earl Cooper, J.W. Allmand, Troy McKnight, Edgar Porter and Carl Parks.

J.O.Y. SS Class Meeting Recently

The J.O.Y. Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pyburn Brown. Husbands of the members were guests, and the group played 42. Homemade ice cream was served.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames L.F. Herrington, Lee Harrison, Jack Pierce, Kenneth Sneed, Bill Webb, Frank K. Antilley, Bill Russell, Robert Paschal, and Mesdames Ray Laughon, Joyce Krause, Emily Pendergrass, and Leah Renee Pierce, Cherie and John Krause, and Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

Coast Guard Issues Warning On PFD's

The U.S. Coast Guard recently issued a warning to all recreational boaters that wearable personal flotation devices (PFD's), such as Life Jackers, Life Preservers and Special Purpose Devices, should be purchased according to the size of the wearer.

Personal Flotation Devices should fit the individual without any major adjustments in order to provide the proper buoyancy for the wearer. For example, types I, II and III PFD's are intended to aid the wearer in keeping his head above water. Any alterations to the device by the potential user, aside from rendering the device non-approved, could very well void the designed buoyancy characteristic.

Selection according to the size of the wearer is most important, says Rear Admiral John F. Thompson, Chief of the Office of Boating Safety, in Washington, D.C. This is definitely one case where the bigger the better is not necessarily true. All PFD manufacturers must design PFD's according to size specifications and all recreational boaters should pay close attention to size requirements posted on each PFD for proper fitting to the user.

KRUEGER'S KOLUMN

By CONG. BOB KRUEGER
21st Texas District

This week I have good news. After weeks of working for sensible oil pricing policies in this country, my amendment on oil pricing was adopted 8-7 by the Energy and Power Subcommittee of the House. In introducing this amendment, I had to work from proposals submitted by others to improve and refine them, and the exact language was not precisely as I might have hoped. However, politics involves the use of compromise to get the best resolutions that one can, and I am convinced that if this legislation should become law, those who produce energy will be able to produce enough domestically to supply our needs.

The basic problem for the American producer and the American consumer of oil is that while American producers are paid $5.25 for two-thirds of the oil they produce ('old oil'), foreign producers are paid $12.50. American producers received the full world market price for "new oil", that is, oil produced and discovered since May 1, 1972; and this oil constitutes one-third of our domestic production. Many so-called consumer advocates, particularly from northeastern states, have wanted to roll-back prices on American oil, both new and old, to lower levels. This may be attractive in the short run, but it is certain to make us even more dependent than we now are on foreign suppliers. If producers of new oil in America were limited to $7.50 per barrel, while foreign oil prices were at $12.50, then it is clear that there would be no incentive to take oil out of the ground in America that might cost over $7.50 to produce. Instead, the incentive would be to look for oil overseas. In the short run, prices at home would be kept lower, but, in the long run, they would be higher to consumers, and we would become increasingly dependent on foreign supply. This would endanger us economically and militarily.

My amendment which was accepted would allow all "new oil" to be sold at the market price, and would, by 1979, phase out government control of prices so that the price of oil, like other commodities, would be governed by a free market system.

My amendment also provides for a tax credit on domestic exploration and development to be used against any windfall profits tax that would be imposed. The bill, finally, would give increased incentives for enhanced recovery techniques that would allow us to get more oil out of the ground than is possible under normal drilling procedures.

This amendment will still have to be passed by the full Commerce Committee and then on the House floor. There will be many people working against it, but we have won a victory which, frankly, no one in Washington thought would be possible in this subcommittee, and it will certainly be worth the fight we are able to bring this policy into law.

Legislating is hard work, and one often does not achieve precisely what he aspires to. But the stakes are so high when they concern our future energy resources that it is immensely satisfying to be able to contribute in some way to legislation which will benefit the entire country.

MRS. O'CONNOR'S WEEKLY COLUMN

A Mountain of Dry Milk

Our national supply of nonfat dry milk is a whopping 103 percent higher right now than it was a year ago, say marketing specialists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The "mountain-sized" supply is 118 percent larger than the average for the past three years at this time.

A combination of factors brought about the abundance, including the yearly springtime increase of fresh milk from our dairy farms. There is already a heavy supply of cheese, one of the normal outlets for springtime fluid milk, so less milk is needed for cheese production and more of it has been pressed into nonfat dry milk.

What is nonfat dry milk? It is the versatile-mix product that results when processors remove the fat and water from pasteurized fluid milk. Most of milk's natural protein, minerals, and vitamins are retained in the dry product.

By and large, the product that American consumers see most on grocery store shelves is instant nonfat dry milk. This is produced with larger particles or flakes which are more easily dissolved in water than those in regular nonfat dry milk. Because it mixes a little quicker, the instant is preferred by customers. But both types are equally nutritious, and the products are often fortified with vitamins A and D.

The plentiful supplies of nonfat dry milk, displayed in supermarkets during May and June, will remind shoppers that economy and long storage life in the home are additional features of dry milk products. Properly packaged and kept in a cool dry place, nonfat dry milk retains its quality for about six months.

Potatoes for dessert? Very tasty, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture, (USDA), which offers this potato doughnut recipe to make good use of "planned-over" mashed potatoes.

6 cups sifted enriched flour
7 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg
3 eggs
2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups warm mashed potatoes
6 tablespoons melted lard
3/4 cup milk
Lard for deep-fat frying.
Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and nutmeg. Beat eggs, sugar, potatoes and lard and continue beating.
Add milk and mix well. Add dry ingredients and mix only until flour disappears. Chill thoroughly.
Place about one-third of the dough at a time on a lightly floured surface. Roll dough to 1/2 inch thickness. Cut with floured doughnut cutter. Fry until golden brown in hot deep lard (375 degrees F.). Drain on absorbent paper. Dust with confectioner's sugar and serve while hot. This recipe makes 4 to 4 1/2 dozen doughnuts.
Potatoes are in heavy supply, reports USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, so this is a good time to try your luck with "potato doughnuts."

C. T. Parker's Weekly News Column

Plants Make Air Conditioners

Have you ever considered air conditioning your yard? If you have any plants in your yard, it's already air conditioned to some degree.

According to C.T. Parker, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, plants filter air the same way a mechanical air conditioner does.

"Trees mix clean air with polluted air by giving off pure oxygen which mixes with unclean air. A commercial air conditioner does the same thing by forcing good air into an area of impure air," explains the agent.

"This ability of plants to filter air is useful to us as a pollution fighter. Large areas of grass, trees and shrubs can be used to help diminish some buildup on highways and other areas of high pollution."

Plants cut down on dust pollution by trapping dust particles with tiny hairs on leaf surfaces. When it rains the dust is washed to the ground.

"Not only do plants filter and help purify air, they can also camouflage unpleasant odors," points out Parker. "The fragrant blossoms of Texas mountain laurel, viburnum, honeysuckle, jasmine, pittosporum or lilac can usually overcome factory, garbage or animal smells."

Along with the beauty, shade and screening benefits of plants, they also provide many other fringe benefits, adds the agent.

Care of Spring Flowering Bulbs

Where spring flowering bulbs bloom year after year, wait until their foliage has died back to the ground before removing it says Parker, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"If foliage is tall and unsightly, as with the daffodil tie a loose knot in the leaf cluster to lower its silhouette," the agent points out.

Most bulbs should be dug and beds renovated every three to five years, depending on how long a bed of bulbs has been planted and how crowded the bed is.

After digging the bulbs, Parker suggests one of two things. "Bulbs can be replanted into the renovated beds or dried for several days, put in aerated bags and stored in a cool dry place during the summer."

Remove any seed pods that have formed while the foliage dried, as they use food necessary for the production of the developing bulb for next spring's flowers.

After the bulbs flower, apply a complete fertilizer of about two to three pounds of 16-20-0 per 100 square feet of bed, recommends the agent. "These nutrients will be needed by the plant in developing the bulb and storing carbohydrates for next spring."

With Armored Division At Fort Hood

Army Private Richard A. Garza of Winters has been assigned as a "Chaparral" crewman in the 2nd Armored Division at Fort Hood.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ynez Garza of Winters.

Spring Clean-Up for Safety

Spring clean-up is not exactly something everyone looks forward to. But it's a good time to clean out the cobwebs and start a safety program in the home and on the farm, says C.T. Parker, Jr., county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The amount of time you spend clearing out unnecessary clutter, improving storage space, checking tools and equipment, and eliminating potential hazards is important to you and your family's safety," says the agent.

Get rid of old newspapers, magazines, clothing toys, empty containers and broken or worn out equipment. This cuts down on fall and fire hazards in addition to improving overall appearances.

Also look in shelves, cabinets and other nooks and crannies for empty bottles, chemicals or medicines and get rid of these.

The county agent recommends checking ladders, electrical appliances and power tools and making repairs where necessary to eliminate hazards. Electrical wiring systems should also be checked, and a qualified electrician should be called for needed repairs.

"Make sure there are sturdy handrails on steps and stairs," says Parker, "and check for loose floor boards, protruding nails, sharp objects and overhanging objects that could fall."

Start a campaign for safety this spring and keep it going throughout the year, emphasizes Parker. It can save you time and money, but more importantly, it can save your life of the life of a loved one.

Swine Disease on Increase

Apparently healthy swine acting as carriers are the probable chief source of sudden outbreaks of erysipelas, a serious swine disease, in some parts of the nation. However, there have been no confirmed outbreaks in Texas, points out Parker, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The disease can incite a chronic form of arthritis and cause condemnation of prime cuts, hams and picnic shoulders. It can also cause death in some infected animals.

According to the agent, carrier animals were known to harbor the disease-carrying organism, but their importance in spreading the infection was not established until recent studies by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service.

A commonly held belief, not supported by research evidence, has been that the organism is capable of long-term survival in hoglot soil. However, studies by the Agricultural Research Service have shown no evidence of growth or maintenance of the disease organisms after they were added to experimental soils.

Reddy's helpful tips for your Room Air-Conditioners

Your air-conditioner will operate inefficiently if filters are not cleaned regularly. Dirt and lint collected on the filters, restricts air flow to the coils. Clean filters every two weeks.

Let nature help you save energy by shading your home with trees and shrubs to help cut down on summer cooling costs. Draw draperies against afternoon sun.

Remember to keep outside doors, windows, and fireplace dampers closed. If you have window units, close the heating vents near the floor, as cool air falls and can escape through vents.

You purchased fine-home comfort when you bought your air conditioning unit. Properly maintained, it will offer you years of efficient service. A once-a-year check-up by your dealer pays dividends in savings on operating and breakdown costs.

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

In keeping with the spirit of promoting the upcoming 85th Jamboree, The Enterprise this week is beginning a four-week series of pictures of early days in Winters. The supply of these old pictures is so great that it would be impossible to publish all of them in the special Jamboree Edition planned for June 20. This method of publishing some of the old pictures affords an opportunity to let readers see what it was like in Winters when the town was young.

Several businesses in Winters expressed a desire to help in this project, and we know everyone will want to express their thanks to them for helping to make it possible. There are many more, we are sure, who would like to have an opportunity to take part in this project, but the time element prevents contact with them. Perhaps at some future time, we can publish all the pictures available—we believe, along with most, that they should be preserved for the future.

We hope you will enjoy this picture series. There will be many more in the special edition now being planned and prepared. We also hope this series will have some little effect on promotion of the big celebration.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Legislature is racing toward its closing date with most of its major assignments unfinished but with reasonable hopes of finishing many of them.

School finance debate began this week in the House, while the Senate Education Committee wrestled with its version of how to help equalize educational opportunity.

When all is said and done, a bill in the $600 million range seems likely to emerge, with school teachers assured of a starting pay of $7,600 to $8,000 a year.

The Senate has passed a bill to establish a three-member statewide utilities regulatory commission, and the action this week switches to the House where a rival measure is pending.

Conference committees will get the job of working out differences between the two houses over both school finance and utilities regulation. Final agreement on a utilities bill is a reasonable expectation.

Two-year budgets have now been drawn by both the Senate Finance and House Appropriations Committees. Both are expected to leave close to $600 million in unobligated revenues—most of which will go into the schools.

Some expect Comptroller Bob Bullock to revise his income forecasts to show $677 million in unspent revenues over and above the budget.

REDISTRICTING APPROVED

A prolonged fight over single-member House of Representatives districts has been settled in the House — but with minority groups still unhappy.

The House agreed on an omnibus redistricting measure for Travis, Jefferson, McLennan, Tarrant, Lubbock, Nueces, El Paso, Galveston and Hidalgo counties. Senate approval is still required.

Jefferson, Tarrant and Nueces county spokesmen threatened a challenge in federal court.

PENSIONS SWEETENED

Legislators, with few knowing what they were doing, approved substantial improvements in their retirement benefits.

House amendment, never debated before adoption, altered a state employee and officials' retirement system overhaul to gear elected officers pensions to pay of district judges. That would mean legislators with 30 years' service could get $18,600 a year in retirement pay, instead of the present $10,800 maximum.

After newspaper criticism of the undebated action, both House and Senate went back and passed a resolution endorsing their decision and urging the governor to sign the bill.

PARK BUY URGED

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong is seeking $8 million to buy 220,000 acres west of Big Bend National Park for about $36 an acre.

Armstrong has advised legislative committees the area has mineral production possibilities as well as vast tourist attraction potential.

There are 700,000 acres in Big Bend Park.

COURTS SPEAK

The State Supreme Court reversed itself and concluded in a 6-3 decision that San Marcos has authority to turn down a Lower Colorado River Authority electrical rate hike.

The High Court affirmed a $358,180 judgment against Ford Motor Company as the result of a defective car, which overturned near Waco, seriously injuring the owner.

In still another case, the Supreme Court agreed to dismiss a motion to review a $25 million divorce settlement against F. Lutch Brown at Houston.

A Houston man won reversal of a 15-year sentence for murder because the prosecutor raised questions about his juvenile record.

AG OPINIONS

Allocation provisions of a proposed refinery tax do not violate the constitution, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- The Department of Public Safety can ask information on a person's race and sex on the driver's confidential accident report.

- Present composition of The University of Texas System board of regents is not illegally constituted.

- Where a part of a county's federal revenue sharing funds can be identified as solely attributable to taxing efforts of a hospital district, the money can be transferred to the hospital.

- A commissioners court may select a bank as county depository when members of the court collectively do not own more than 10 per cent of its stock.

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Dolph Briscoe appointed Dr. George J. Beto of Huntsville, Ruben Schaefer of El Paso and Howard J. Middleton Jr. of Houston to Texas Youth Council.

He appointed Hilmar G. Moore of Richmond to the State Board of Public Welfare and Charles C. Gaither of El Paso to the Board of Control.

The Governor appointed Joseph Connally of Odessa chairman of the Texas Board of Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies.

LOANS EXPANDED

Qualified veterans can now borrow up to $15,000 to purchase a minimum of 10 acres of land under the State Veterans Land Program.

A new law raised the limit from $10,000. The down payment is five per cent on the maximum loan, with a 40 year payback period at five and a half per cent interest.

SHORT SNORTS

Both houses of the legislature have now passed a bill to limit smoking in public places. It returns to the Senate for consideration of House amendments.

The Senate voted to increase unemployment compensation from $63 to $70 a week maximum.

The Governor launched a new program to create 4,000 new jobs during the next 12 months.

Twelve health service areas have been delineated for Texas to continue eligibility for federal health program aid.

A bill to require that insurance policies be written in understandable language has passed the Senate.

Comptroller Bob Bullock's agents seized enough liquor and assets from three San Antonio liquor stores to cover $300,000 in delinquent taxes.

MR. FARMER:
Small grain harvest is upon us and we wish to remind you that you have several choices as to the way your crop can be marketed.

- Cash Sale We pay you top market price load by load as the grain is delivered.
- Grain Bank Storage Oats and barley can be stored in our grain bank to be milled out to you later as cubes or mixed feed. There is no charge for this storage service.
- Commercial Storage The grain is stored in our elevator or forwarded to terminal storage for later sale. You have complete control of when this grain is sold and may sell all or any part of it at any time you wish. This method is superior to on-the-farm storage in that you are protected against shrinkage and deterioration of grade. We must know in advance of unloading if you want your grain to go commercial storage. This is because we will be hedging the crop daily as received. Grain not so marked will be considered sold for cash.

The crop looks good at this point and we pledge our best to assist you in selling it for top value.

A Prelude To WINTERS' 85th BIRTHDAY JAMBOREE

WHO NOW REMEBERS?—No hitching rack was around, so the cowboy who wanted a haircut in the barbershop, second building on the left, tied his horse to the nearest porch post. This was a street scene of Winters in 1905, with the drug store, a feed store, where corn and oats were offered, and on the right, the land agent's office, the wagon yard, and boots and shoes in another building.

FIRST TRAIN—This was the first train to arrive in Winters, in 1909, running from Abilene. Several hundred people from this area turned out to witness this momentous event, which put Winters "on the rails," and provided an outlet for agricultural products, and means of hauling freight and passengers into this new city on the prairie of West Central Texas.

OLDEST BUSINESS—In 1905, the late Albert Spill opened a business in Winters, and laid the foundation for what was to become one of the town's largest and most important in point of history. He later was joined by His brother, the late Ben Spill, and the business became Spill Bros. & Co. In 1919, the late Albert Afferback joined his uncles as a third member of the firm, and then a sister and her husband, the late Ernest and Emma Adami, came into the business in 1921. The business, now known as Spill Bros. Co., and the Winters State Bank, opened in 1906, are the two oldest businesses still operating in Winters. Mrs. John Gardener, daughter of Albert Spill, retains her father's interest and is general manager of the modern furniture store.

SECOND SHCOOL—Winters' second school was built "on the hill" about 1907 or 1908, near where the elementary school stands today. The Winters school system has now grown to become one of the state's better Class AA systems, with a high percentage of graduates going on to college.

The board of directors of First Texas Financial Corporation has declared a second quarter 1975 cash dividend of ten cents per share, payable June 13, 1975 to stockholders of record May 21, 1975. In making the announcement, John L. Ingle, president of the Dallas-based savings and loan holding company, said that this is the eighty-third consecutive cash dividend, and the fiftieth consecutive quarterly cash dividend paid by First Texas or its predecessor.

"Despite the adverse economic conditions under which we have been operating," Ingle said, "this cash dividend reflects our long standing policy of paying cash dividends to our stockholders as earnings are generated."

First Texas Financial is Texas' largest savings and loan holding company and the second largest in the country headquartered outside of California. It has controlling interests in 10 savings and loan associations throughout Texas which operate a state-wide network of 53 offices with 9 more to be opened but not yet open.
