Terrace systems are essential on most cropland in this vicinity for conducting away surplus water rainfall.

TERRACE SYSTEMS BEING BUILT BY SOIL CONSERVATION AGENCY

Several land owners of the district are building terraces on their croplands. The extremes of weather for the past several years has demonstrated a two fold value of a properly installed terrace system. Terraces on croplands have proven highly effective in handling rainfall of high intensity and amounts by carrying surplus water slowly to protected outlets and on the smaller rains, a terrace system in conjunction with contour farming greatly aid in holding maximum rainfall in place.

This immediate area has weather conditions such that a terrace system often gives both advantages to landowners within a single season. A good vegetative program including crop residue management and cover crops further increases the value and functioning of a terrace system.

Farmers who have most recently built terraces on their farms are as follows: W. D. Brown located six miles northwest of Gorman, 3.1 miles of terraces; R. D. Craighead of the same general area, approximately four miles of terraces in process; J. B. Elder located six miles south of Cisco, 3.3 miles of terraces completed; D. A. Fawcett of Ranger, completion on a small field, an M. S. James, located four miles south of Ranger has constructed terraces with his own farm equipment.

Terrace systems are needed on many farms and this has been recognized by the landowners. Terrace construction might well be regarded as a seasonal job which, if done, must be planned during the time that the fields are not occupied by crops. This season is usually short in duration and if the land owners fail to take action he must wait another year until his land is open again. Land owners interested in this important conservation practice are encouraged to take timely action.

Soil Conservation Service technicians are available to as-ist land owners in the application of this practice and the local County ASC Committee has federal funds with which to handle outside water and also terrace water. If this practice is needed both technical help and federal cost share is available to landowners. A practice of this type has just been completed by D. D. Warren of Gorman.

Farm ponds have been completed on the farms of C. H. McBee, Orval Johnson, and Guy Lyster located south of Eastland. Ed Harrison finished building a nice pond on his ranch of the Gorman area, and C. E. Neger and A. E. Crawley completed ponds on their farms located south of Ranger. Farm ponds furnish water for livestock and assist in getting uniform distribution of grazing. Ponds also afford recreation in fishing and swimming to many farm families.

The supervisors of the Upper Leon Soil Conservation District plan to hold their regular March 13, 1959, meeting at Eastland. C. M. McCain, local supervisor of Zone 3, has extended an invitation to the public to attend this meeting. Mr. McCain stated that it was the purpose of the District and the duty of the supervisors to aid in every way possible in cutting down soil and water losses, but it was the people on the land who must get the conservation on the ground and maintain conservation measures.

Kenneth Rogers and family of Wichita Falls and Bill Huddleston and wife of Midland visited their parents, Cullen Rogers and wife, over the week end.

Walter J. Greer of Fort Worth spent the week end with his parents, W. J. Greer and wife.

To Carbon Telephone Patrons

You have now used your Dial Telephone for about 6 months and we are sure you have noticed the improvement over the old "Hang on the Wall" system. To give you dial service we had to build new circuits to each subscriber, both in town and in the rural community. Have you noticed how quick your calls, both local and Long Distance, are completed? Toll connections are established nearly as quick as local - In fact Carbon is now on a network of Toll lines that you get the same service as if you were living in a larger town or city.

Follow the following rules for better service:

1. Never leave your receiver off the hook or cradle when you are not using the telephone. This will automatically cut your telephone off until the receiver is back on the hook.
2. In case your telephone is in trouble, dial No. "0" ask for service assistant. Tell her the nature of your trouble and she will get a repairman for you.
3. For numbers not in the directory Dial No. "0" ask for "Information" who will give you your number.
4. Call 2211 if you want to know something concerning your bill or want a telephone moved, etc.

When paying your bill by check, please put number of your telephone on your check,

County Sets New Record Low For Poll Tax Receipts

The records of J. C. Allison, county tax assessor-collector, reveal that only 2,682 persons in Eastland County paid the necessary $1.75 in order to be eligible to vote in 1959 elections, it was reported here Friday.

This constitutes a modern all-time low in poll tax sales in Eastland County, the number last year totalling 4,038. With 1959 being an "off election year," with only school board and city elections being held, interest naturally lags, but the last "off year," 1957, saw 3,122 receipts entered in the records.

The Cisco sub-station reported the highest number of sales, except the county courthouse, with 711. A total of 1411 tax slips were recorded in the courthouse.

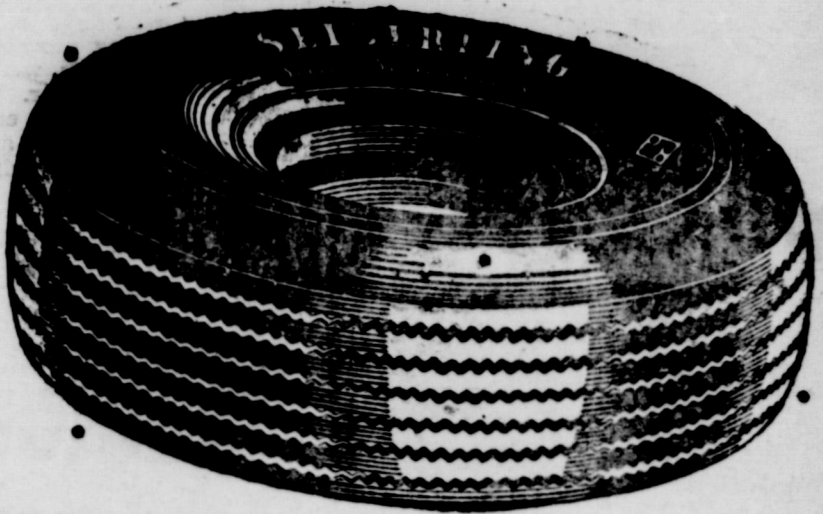

Sales at the Ranger sub-station totaled 282, Gorman 147 and Rising Star 126. County sales in 1956, a presidential election year, totalled 5,100.

Allows Deduction For Child Care

A deduction on that 1958 Federal income tax return for the expense of child care is allowable for working women and widowers employing someone to care for certain dependents in order to be gainfully employed. Administrative Officer, A. E. Fogle of the Internal Revenue Service, said today.

The number of persons who are eligible to take such a deduction is quite limited, however, because of a number of conditions which must exist.

A woman, married or single, may be allowed the deduction. A married woman is allowed the deduction only if she files a joint return with her husband (unless he is mentally or physically incapable of earning a living). Persons legally separated by a decree of divorce, or of separate maintenance, are not considered married at the close of 1958.

Mr. Fogle explained that for purposes of the child care deduction the term "dependent" is limited to:

- (1) A child or step-child of the taxpayer under 12 years of age; or
- (2) A dependent physically or mentally incapable of caring for himself.

Bill To Combat Shoplifting Due In Legislature

A bill to combat the $15,000,000 a year shoplifting racket in Texas will be introduced in the Texas Legislature, Mrs. Lucile Huffmyer, secretary of Merchants Credit Association, said today.

She said sponsors of the legislation would be Senator Robert W. Baker of Houston and Representative Carl C. Conley of Raymondville.

The main purpose of the legislation, Mrs. Huffmyer said, is to provide stiffer penalties for habitual offenders. The bill will also permit merchants and their authorized agents to detain suspected shoplifters without fear of subsequent charges of false arrest or other civil suits.

She said that when shoplifting losses are absorbed by retail outlets they constitute a major item of overhead and to cover such tremendous losses, it is necessary to raise the prices of merchandise.

It has been estimated that shoplifting costs the average buyer at least $2.50 each year in most cities and sometimes as high as $5 per year.

A recent statewide study of the shoplifting problem showed that food markets were the heaviest losers each year. They lose more than $5,000,000 each year. Department stores and other retail outlets lose nearly $10,000,000 a year.
