PUT NO TAINTED BALLOT IN THE BOX.

When an honest and loyal voter casts a ballot for a candidate for public office at a primary election he or she registers thereon a certificate that the candidate voted for is loyal, honest, efficient and altogether worthy for the office to which he aspires.

This certificate should be given only upon mature thought and met with the conscientious approval of the voter giving it, for it will be thereafter used by the candidate receiving it as a personal endorsement of his loyalty, his honesty and efficiency and his private and political integrity.

If any candidate for any office from governor to constable: Be not loval, scratch him.

If any be not honest, scratch him.

If any be not efficient, sel atch him.

If any be not altogether worthy, scratch him.

If any there be who sees no dishonor in official graft so long as he or his political friend or followers profit thereby, scratch him.

If any there be who would lay destructive hands upon the institutions of learning of his state and debase them for political purposes, scratch him.

If any there be who has directly or indirectly polluted the ballot or debauched the franchise, scratch

If any there be who prefers a life of indecency to a life of deceney, scratch him.

If any there be who has thought or thinks more of the emoluments or power of office than the economical and effective administration of public affairs, scratch hm.

If any there be who has worked at violations of the law or who has not used his best endeavors for its full and effective enforcement, scratch him.

If any there be who has made prostitutes, gamblers and election pollutors his companions and friends and hopes to kill the votes of good citizens by the ballots of such lawbreakers, scratch him.

Put no tainted ballot in the box. that he will thenceforth carry the brand of the disfavor of all conscientious voters, his political power will soon be broken and the virtue of the community in which he lives will not be measured by either his personal or political in-

He will hold the short tenure of his office as a social and official leper, and the cry "unclean, unelean," will echo around him wheresover he be and withersoever he goeth.

The power of the ballot that is bodily and conscientiously scratched is greater than the power of the vote that is weakly or unconscient
