FORGET THE THINGS BEHIND Look Forward to the Things Before.

This is What Business Has Got to Do and is Doing:

Forget that there was a war and the reconstruction period; forget that there was profiteering, irritation, hardship and losses.

Quit holding POST MORTEMS. What's done is done and can't be undone.

A mill will never grind with the water that has passed.

Mistakes? Of course we have made mistakes. A man who never made a mistake never made anything. The successful man, the great man, is not the man who makes no mistakes, but the man who organizes victory out of mistakes.

No less an authority than Judge Gary, who, they say, controls more money than the United States Treasury, declares that there is a new day dawning in business already in the East; that the Atlantic seaboard feels the difference in the new spring of life.

Shall we, out here in the West, trail behind the East?

'Out where the world is still in the making, Where fewer hearts with despair are breaking, That's where the WEST begins."

We, who hold the gateway to the West. It is unthinkable that we, of all others, shall permit the past to overshadow us, get a grip on us and hold us down. The long night has rolled away. Now it is time to forget it—to wake up—and, with fresh and cheerful aspect, look to the future.

There are several very definite things for us to do.

I. Get Money Out and Set it to Work

The circulating medium is like the circulation of the blood. It can congest, cause disease, decay and financial death.

The present is no time to keep money tied up in safety deposit boxes, or hidden away in trunks or bureau drawers. You can't dig down deep enough to hide your money where it will be safe. Like the blood, it is much safer in circulation. A man who read our page ad the other day stepped in at once to an Investment Company's office and said: "Make me out a deosit book for $10,000. I am going over to the safety vault to bring you the currency."

The company did as they were told but did not know whether to expect him back or not. In a short time he was there with the $10,000.

Now, if you have got $1,000, $100, or even $10 stowed away where it can rust and decay, get it out at once and set it to work.

Remember the parable of the man who took his talent and wrapped it in a napkin and buried it that it might be safe when his master came home. He was denounced and punished for his action, while the man of the five talents was rewarded because they set their money to work.

II. Work Yourself

Don't talk so much. Whatthe world needs right now is work—efficient work, tireless work. Did we forget how to work during the war? Some certainly did.

Are you a laboring man? Make your work as efficient and productive as you can and you can and you will benefit not only the community and the nation, but your self and your family. Pay no attention to rules that would try to make you limit your production. Such rules are vicious and cripple the prosperity of the world.

Are you a clerk, a salesman, a manager—whatever you are, make every minute count. Waste no move, no act. Watch the most skilled laborer in the factory at the machine. Not one movement of his muscles is lost. Do the same way in your work.

Don't talk so much and above all, don't mouthe and growl.

III. Build Something

Build a house, build a business, put new paint on the old store front, tear the front clean out and make it over anew; paint the house, mend the sidewalk, build a fence or, better tear it down and build a garden. BUILD ANY OLD THING, BUT BUILD. Suppose it does cost money to do it, all the better. You set somebody to work and you get a return.

IV. Make a Very Definite and Determined Effort at Good Cheer

Optimism can be voluntary; cheerfulness can be cultivated. and it certainly is a stimulus to business and to the public welfare.

There is no use for a man, any more than for his money, to wear out or to rust out. It is care that killed a cat, not hard work. It is anxiety and worry that dries up the springs of life, never activity and GOOD CHEER.

V. Go Out and Kill Somethig —GLOOM

It is not for us to be content with being cheerful ourselves; but it is for us to try to drive away the mists and the blues from around the other fellow.

Hopefulness and cheery activity are infectious and you can count on the other fellow catching it from you—but this is not enough.

Each one of us can add to production and speed up business by making a definite effort to lighten the other man's gloom.

If it takes time to do it, it is time well spent, for it will affect the atmosphere of the whole community in which you live and, therefore, of the nation.

VI. Help the Other Fellow's Business

If one prospers, all prosper.

If one suffers, all suffer.

The social structure is like the human frame—a tooth can't ache without upsetting the whole physical being.

The welfare of each one is the welfare of all. We are tied together with invisible, but universal bonds.

It is as true today as it was in the day of Ben Franklin that we must all hang together, or hang searately.

CO-OPERATION, then is essential.

Talk up the other fellow's business and don't knock. Whether he is a competitor or not, he is a member of society and so are you. You are both in the same boat.

If we all pull together with a heavy pull and a long, strong one, the business boat will go forging ahead and the race will be won.

-(Kansas City Post, Jan. 30, 1921.)

RESCUED FROM RHEIMS

A French tot from the ruined city of Reims who has been rescued from the shattered streets and debris of his home town, and taken to the fresh-air colony at Villers-Allerand, where he is given sunshine and good food. The colony was established by a Reims schoolteacher for the benefit of delicate children, and she has had many fairy godmothers, including the junior Red Cross, which has helped with 48,000 francs.

Fingerprints by X-Ray Superior. The possibility of error in the co parison of fingerprints as a means o identification are very remote, but is said that there will be even le uncertainty with the new method of making the fingerprints by means of the X-ray. This method consists of rubbing into the lines and marking o the fingertips a preparation of bonate of bismuth or some other salt, which, when the fingers are photo graphed with X-rays shows corre sponding opaque marks in the picture thus obtained. The salt can be madto fill completely the minute markings of the skin, even below t fingernails, and when photographed with X-rays these are said to present a more complete and exact record than any other form of print. A Patient Toiler.

This is an advertisement.

Not a very long one, to be sure, but an advertisement.

It has a most unusual purpose—to advertise advertising.

The message is this:---

Don't miss the advertisements in this paper.

Many of them make good reading just from the news and educational standpoint alone.

But more than that:---

Advertisements keep you in touch with the world's progress.

They point the path to little comforts that were unknown in the old days.

They announce the latest styles and tell you where to go to get the most and the best for your money.

They help you to save.

They protect you from fraud.

Don't miss the advertisements

They are guide-posts to better buying.
