

Maintenance sparks SPS power blackout

By RICK WHITE
Managing Editor

Mike McDearmon was in a Southwestern Public Service manager's meeting in Lubbock when the lights went out.

It was just one of several ironic events Tuesday during the biggest power outage in the South Plains in the last 40 years.

"We just kind of sat there for a few minutes waiting for the lights to come on," said McDearmon, manager of the SPS office in Muleshoe. "Once we realized they weren't coming back on soon, it was like an emergency room situation."

Within 30 minutes, Lubbock television crews showed up at the SPS office demanding an explanation why the city and most of the South Plains was without power. Somewhere between 600,000 to 750,000 SPS customers in three states were without power for two hours or more.

Then the rumors started.

CNN heard a bomb had been exploded at the SPS Tolk Station near Muleshoe because it was so close to the anniversary of the Oklahoma City bombing (April 19). The FBI's Dallas office heard that a plane had crashed into the plant in a kamikaze sabotage attempt. A boiler explosion was the local guess.

"It was paranoia over the Oklahoma City bombing as much as anything else," McDearmon said. "We live in a sensationalistic society. I guess that sounded better."

The problem almost instantly was traced to a freak accident at the Tolk Station.

Meanwhile, life in Muleshoe went on as normal. Muleshoe, quickly becoming a curse word in three states, never lost power. Lights flickered a couple of times, but life went on as usual, to the dismay of some folks.

"A couple of people said they were mad at me," McDearmon said. "They told me everybody else got to go home but they had to stay and work."

The third irony was that a standard maintenance procedure, done to prevent exactly what happened, caused the outage.

A crew was using high-pressure water hoses to clean dust and grime build-up on insulators at a power plant substation. Mist drifted to nearby insulators, heavily coated with dust. The combination of dust and mist acted as a conductor, causing an electrical fault.

It was the exact problem the maintenance crews were trying to prevent.

The electrical fault caused both generating units at Tolk Station to go off-line. Losing both units at SPS' largest power

Perry maintains Texas, U.S. beef supplies are safe

AUSTIN — Underscoring the safety of the U.S. food supply, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry says that Bovine Spongiform Encephalopathy has never been a problem in the United States and that stringent steps are in place to prevent BSE from entering the country.

"BSE affects the central nervous system of cattle, causing the animals to lose all muscle coordination," Perry said. "Unfortunately, it's being called 'mad cow disease' because the way cattle act and stagger around. In reality, it's a very sad situation to see."

There have been no cases of BSE found in the United States, and in 1989 a total ban was imposed on cattle imports from countries with BSE. The U.S. Department of Agriculture Food Safety Inspection Service says that no beef has been imported from the United Kingdom since 1985.

There is no scientific evidence that BSE is present in meat or milk, or that BSE can be transmitted through physical contact or the consumption of beef or of dairy products.

In a statement released March 20 by the Spongiform Encephalopathy Advisory Committee, any connection between BSE and the 10 cases of Creutzfeldt-Jakob Disease, a human brain disease, reported in Great Britain occurred before control measures such as the bovine offal ban were introduced. The SEAC is a British based group of experts in neurology, epidemiology and microbiology.

In 1989, the British government banned the sale of offal from cattle to consumers. By-products covered by the ban include the brain, spinal cord, thymus, intestines, tonsils and spleen.

Commissioner Perry says that the USDA has taken certain steps to prevent BSE from entering the United States. He mentioned the importation

Understanding office roles vital

Bosses, secretaries give keys to productive relationships

By MARTHA TOLES FROST
City Editor

Many Muleshoe employers will honor their secretaries during Secretaries Week April 21 to 26, and especially on Secretaries Day Wednesday, April 24.

Three local employers and their secretaries recently explored the boss/secretary relationship with the Muleshoe Journal.

Janice Bradshaw has been a secretary in the office of Muleshoe attorney Criss Cleavinger for three years.

Cleavinger said it is a secretary who gives clients the first impression of an office by the way she meets and greets them.

"She meets the public well. She's the same every time," Cleavinger said. "She answers the phone the same every time. People ask me, 'Doesn't she ever have a bad day?'"

Cleavinger said that she and her secretary are courteous to each other.

"I don't expect her to get my coffee," Cleavinger said. "Whoever is up gets the other one's coffee while she gets her own."

"Sometimes I am very busy and don't have time to take care of the details of my personal life. When it's hectic, Janice is willing to take on some of these details, but she knows it isn't expected of her," Cleavinger said.

"Janice is organized and efficient, so she helps me stay organized and efficient. She is an excellent person, and her skills as a secretary complement that. She helps me do my job better. I can't imagine practicing law without her."

"Most importantly, she is careful not to divulge confidences. It's important in other places, but it's mandatory (it's the law) in a law office."

From her secretary's point of view, Cleavinger is considerate of family time. "She cares about you as a person — and what your feelings are. She is a friend, and she values my friendship," Bradshaw said.

Bradshaw considers her employer to be patient — and a good teacher. "She gives you a job, tells you what to do, expects you to do it and doesn't hover over you," Bradshaw said.

Heritage House Inn secretary Darla Stovall said that consideration is the greatest attribute of her bosses, Clinton and Evelyn Peat.

"They understand when my kids are sick and I can't come to work," Stovall said. "They don't put me on the night shift when I have three kids at home."

Stovall said the Peats keep their employees informed. "They tell us first about what happens, and they are there for us if we need them."

Clinton Peat said that in a business that involves taking care of people's needs, the two greatest assets for secretaries are dependability and punctuality.

"Friendliness, someone who looks friendly (no sour looks) and someone who is knowledgeable of the area" are qualities that Evelyn Peat looks for in a secretary.

Bobbie Harrison has been secretary at the Bailey County Farm Bureau for almost 23 years, working with a total of six managers.

Farm Bureau agency manager Rickey Barrett said that having someone as knowledgeable as Harrison makes the office run smoothly, whether the agents are there or not.

"She answers the phone politely," Barrett said. "And she knows practically everyone who walks through the door."

"She finds out what a person wants before she brings them to us — that way we

The Peats choose employees who are dependable, punctual, friendly and knowledgeable of the area to help them run a business that focuses on hospitality and meeting people's needs.

What secretaries look for in a boss

- consideration of family time
- understanding feelings
- patience, good teaching skills
- clear directions, updates
- no hovering over you
- congenial, caring friendship
- good working relationship

What bosses want in a secretary

- good first impression
- friendliness, meeting the public well
- telephone and people skills
- consistency, efficiency, courtesy
- organization, time management
- dependability, punctuality
- confidentiality, knowledgeability

Crosnoe resigns to take job in Lubbock

By MARTHA TOLES FROST
City Editor

County Attorney Paul Crosnoe has submitted his written resignation to Bailey County Judge Marilyn Cox effective May 3.

Crosnoe, 35, said he was approached to accept a position at the District Attorney's office in his hometown of Lubbock, beginning May 6.

"It wasn't a position I sought, Crosnoe said, "I wasn't expecting it, but the D.A.'s office informed me that a position was available and asked me if I was interested. I thought it was a great opportunity."

Crosnoe has been serving as Bailey County's county attorney since he was appointed to serve the unexpired term of Luther Thompson when Thompson resigned in April of 1994. He was subsequently elected to the position.

Crosnoe also has been assisting District Attorney Johnny Actkinson in Parmer County while working in the law firm of Aldridge, Aycock and Actkinson in Farwell.

AROUND MULESHOE

Cardigans coming to Muleshoe via Mulepex Productions April 27

"The Cardigans" will appear at 8 p.m. at the Muleshoe High School auditorium Saturday, April 27.

"The Cardigans" like their female counterpart, "Beehive," which visited Muleshoe last year, sing 50s and 60s music.

Jeff Jarnagin, Shawn Nelson, Loren J. Strickland and Shawn Walsh play the four singing fraternity brothers from Ohio's Wooster College.

Tickets are on sale at $6 per ticket from Mulepex Production members or at the door. For ticket information, contact Debra Noble at 272-4711.

MHS senior parents present donkey basketball

Bob Crosby's Donkey Basketball, presented by the Muleshoe High School senior class parents, will appear at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 21 at the Watson Junior High School gym.

Advance tickets at $5 for adults and $3 for grade-school students, are available at Five Area Telephone, 1st bank and the Chamber of Commerce. Tickets at the door are $7 and $5. Proceeds go to Project Graduation '96.

Annual Power Puff Football slated for Monday, April 22

Muleshoe's annual Power Puff Football Game is scheduled for 8 p.m. Monday, April 22 at the MHS football stadium. Admission price is $2 per person.

The event is sponsored by the Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Dr. Kerry Moore. At the powder puff football game, freshmen and senior girls called "Olympians," suited out in purple and gold, will play the sophomore and junior girls named "Titans," dressed in blue and red.

The traditional powder puff football game in Muleshoe was initiated by the Class of 1950 and sponsored by Margie Moore, a retired Muleshoe and Lubbock teacher, who played in the first game with the senior girls.

Soup & Sandwich luncheons being hosted by 16th & D Church of Christ

The 16th & D Church of Christ in Muleshoe at 1600 W. Ave. D will be hosting a monthly series of Soup & Sandwich luncheons beginning Thursday, April 25.

Community members, business people and anyone else interested are invited to enjoy a monthly soup and sandwich luncheon (two types of soup, sandwiches and dessert).

The luncheons are offered on a free-will donation basis and to enjoy various programs featuring speakers, special groups and topics of interest from noon to 1 p.m., normally (except for the first meeting) on the third Thursday of each month.

At the first meeting on April 25, Muleshoe Independent School District Superintendent Bill Moore will speak on a variety of education topics and focus on what is on the horizon for MISD.

A schedule of upcoming dates and programs is being mailed to local businesses, churches and groups.

For more information, call 272-4519.

Parents of current fifth-graders meeting a MHS cafeteria April 23

Parents of fifth-grade students will be meeting at the Muleshoe High School cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 23 to pre-enroll all fifth-graders passing into sixth grade.

An interpreter will be available for all Spanish-speaking parents. For more information, contact Diana Gallegos at Watson Junior High School.

Three Way Board interviews coach, accepts resignation of teacher aide

Three Way Independent School District Board of Trustees interviewed one candidate for a coaching position at a special called meeting Thursday, April 18.

The Board also accepted the resignation of teacher aide Cathy Martha, effective April 30.

Bailey County AHA sponsoring 'Women & Heart Disease'

The Bailey County Unit of the American Heart Association is sponsoring a "Women and Heart Disease" conference Saturday, April 27 at the Bailey County Civic Center.

The conference speaker will discuss a heart smart life style, with reports on the latest research and tips for a heart smart diet.

Registration is from 1:30 to 2 p.m. and admission fee is $15 per participant. Free blood pressure checks will be available, and cholesterol checks will be given for $5.

The conference, which will conclude about 5 p.m., is open to both men and women who want to learn more about a prudent cardiovascular lifestyle.

The conference is being sponsored by the Bailey County AHA along with Five Area/West Plains Communications and Plateau Cellular Network.

Portales gearing up for Heritage Days

The 12th Annual Roosevelt County Heritage Days Rodeo and Celebration will be held on April 26 and 27. The festivities will kick off at 7:30 p.m. Ticket prices will be $4 for adults and $3 for children 12 and under.

Saturday's activities will kick off with the annual Heritage Days Parade. The parade will begin at 10 a.m. at the old Furr's building and continued North down avenue C, turn East on Second Street and disband at the Courthouse.

Arts and Crafts exhibitors and numerous non-profit organizations will be manning booths on the courthouse parking lot from 10 a.m. till 5 p.m.

More than 60 booths will offer anything from face painting, games, dunking booths and an array of entertainment for the whole family.

Arts and crafts are continuing part of the celebration and include wood carvings, signs, toys, crafted pottery, ceramics, dried flowers and sand paintings, which will bring the warmth of home-made products to any family.

The annual barbecue lunch will be held at the old Anthony's building next door to the Fitness Center from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. The meal will be served by Smokehouse Bar-B-Que of Portales.

"I have enjoyed working here in Muleshoe," Crosnoe said. "I have also appreciated the opportunity to work in the law firm in Farwell. I've made a lot of good friends."

Crosnoe said he looks forward to returning to Lubbock, where his father and mother, Paul and Shirley Crosnoe, farm outside of Lubbock.

Judge Cox said she has enjoyed working with Crosnoe. "We will hate to lose him," Cox said, "but we're happy for him. We'll miss him."

The Bailey County Commissioner's Court will meet Monday at 10 a.m. to accept the resignation and appoint a new county attorney.

"The county attorney must be a lawyer who lives in Bailey County," Cox said.

have time to clear our desks and get ready," Barrett said Harrison usually introduces the customers to him.

He said if the agents have to be gone to a conference, things still run smoothly because Harrison can answer most of the customers' questions "up to a point" and give them a rate quote that is "in the neighborhood."

"There have been lots of changes in the insurance industry," Harrison said. "The building has expanded, and computers have changed things considerably."

Harrison said a good office atmosphere is created when the people who work there are congenial, considerate and understanding.

"A good working relationship in an office is important between the boss and the agents — and the board of directors."

As for the way she would prefer managers to do things, "They all have their own routines," she said diplomatically.

Mules have sights set on state bid

The Muleshoe High School boys golf team is like the PGA tour. Each week there is a new name among the leaders.

Muleshoe does not have one dominant golfer, District 2-3A champion Kyle Embry comes the closest, instead the Mules feature five golfers capable of being among the leaders every tournament. All five have led the Mules in scoring at a tournament this season.

It's that balance that helped the Mules win the District 2-3A title and qualify for the Region I tournament for the sixth-straight year.

The Mules are ranked sixth in average per round among the 16 teams playing in the 36-hole Region I tournament April 22-23 at the Ratliff Ranch Country Club in Odessa. The top two teams advance to the state tournament.

"Playing each other every day keeps us competitive," said Muleshoe senior Cyle Marr, making his third regional appearance. "That's what makes us a strong team. We push each other very day."

Muleshoe doesn't necessarily need to play its best to advance to the state tournament for the first time in school history, they just need four good scores for two days. The top four scores are counted toward the team total.

Both the players and coach Ralph Mason said 310 is the target score for each round. They averaged 326 per round, which including several tournaments played in 30 mile-per-hour plus winds and near freezing temperatures in the final round of the district tournament

Regionals new to young MHS golfers

Muleshoe High School is just happy to be playing in the Class 3A Region I girls golf tournament April 22-23 at Ratliff Ranch Country Club in Odessa.

And they should be.

It's the first time anyone can remember the Lady Mules qualifying for regionals. Most likely the first time ever. And they've done it with a young team, consisting of four underclassmen and senior Dacia Stewart.

"We wanted to do it for Dacia," said sophomore Keisha Whitt, the Lady Mules leading scorer all year. "She hasn't got a chance to go."

Mason echoed the same thoughts.

"It's great Dacia is getting a chance to go," Mason said. "She's worked so hard for so long."

Longhorns win eighth-straight district track title

CANYON—Brice Foster won the 400 meters and Lazbuddie used its depth to captured its eighth-straight district boys track title April 13 at Canyon High School.

Lazbuddie finished with 152 points in the District 5-1A meet, Channing was second with 128 1/2 points and Amherst was third with 100.

Foster ran the 400 in 54.77 seconds, and also ran a leg on the Longhorn's district champion 1600-meter relay team.

The top two in each event advance to the Class 1A Region I meet at April 26-27 at Levelland.

Foster, second in the triple jump and third in the long jump and 100 meters, was one of three Longhorns to score in at least four events.

Cade Morris qualified for regionals with second-place finishes in the 110 and 300 hurdles and the 1600 relay. Cameron Turner qualified in the pole vault, finishing second, and in the 1600 relay. Guy Nickels was the fourth member of the relay team, finished second in the 400, third in the triple jump and the 800, and fourth in the high jump.

In the girls meet, Mandy Magby won the triple jump and Shana Foster the 300 hurdles, but Lazbuddie fourth.

Amherst dominated the meet, scoring 164 points. Channing was second with 123 points and Adrian third with 119.

Magby jumped 32 feet, six inches and Foster ran the 300 hurdles in 51.86.

Magby also qualified for regionals in the 100 and 300 hurdles.

better be on your game because there are too many good teams down there."

Used to playing on wide-open, hazard-free West Texas courses with postage stamp size greens, Muleshoe has to contend with a different type of course in Odessa, a course loaded with sand traps, plenty of water and big greens.

"It's kind of a disadvantage," Mason said. "But that's where experience comes in."

Embry and fellow junior Darren Box are also playing in their third regional at Odessa.

Regionals

Muleshoe doesn't figure to be a factor at the regionals.

"It's a great accomplishment," Mason said. "The thing people don't realize sometimes is the amount of accomplishment that goes on. They've made a lot of headway since last year."

"We're real excited," said

"It's an opportunity to play with some real good players and to play in front of a lot of people," Black said, "which makes me kind of nervous."

Muleshoe finished second in District 2-3A, well behind Friona.

The "Unseen Player" Continues To Play

The illustration below (reprinted in Leadership journal from the London Observer some time ago) is one of my favorite. It's a "cute" story, but I think it has a pretty potent point for a society prone to be blindly arrogant regarding its own "knowledge and discovery." It's entitled, "The Unseen Player."

Curtis Shelburne

"Imagine a family of mice who lived all their lives in a large piano. To them in their piano world came the music of the instrument, filling all the dark spaces with sound and harmony. They drew comfort and wonder from the thought that there was Someone who made the music—though invisible to them—above, yet close to them. They loved to think of the Great Player whom they could not see.

"Then one day a daring mouse climbed up part of the piano and returned very thoughtful. He had found out how the music was made. Wires were the secret, tightly stretched wires of graduated lengths which trembled and vibrated. They must revise all their old beliefs: none but the most conservative could any longer believe in The Unseen Player.

"Later, another explorer carried the explanation further. Hammers were now the secret, numbers of hammers dancing and leaping on the wires. This was a more complicated theory, but it all went to show that they lived in a purely mechanical and mathematical world. The Unseen Player came to be thought of as a myth.

"But the Pianist continued to play."

Reduce the world to its most mechanical level, assume that nothing occurs that cannot be explained by math or science and you end up with a poverty-stricken view of reality. Look at the world and your own life as at best a cosmic accident and you'll shut yourself off from much of its music and beauty.

But add faith and what happens? Discovery is still important, but every new discovery becomes one more reason to give heartfelt thanks to the Pianist who makes the music happen. With faith we're able to hear the music more clearly than ever Pianist continues to play.

PLANO — The DeShazo Elementary School "Crunch" team finished third in Division I at the state Odyssey of the Mind contest April 13.

The team of Gradee Adrian, Brennan Broyles, Jordan Dale, Cydni Vandiver, Kyle Yell, Jamie Carpenter and Brady Broyles advanced to the state contest by winning the Midwest Region Feb. 17 at Texas Tech.

There were 23 teams in Division I (third-fifth graders). Odyssey of the Mind is a creative problem-solving tion for kindergarten through college, and the military.

One of the three areas the teams were judged in was long-term problem solving.

The first is long-term problem solving. This year, it was to build a structure out of balsa weighing no more than 18 ounces (about three chocolate kisses) to support as much weight as possible while withstanding the impact of billiard balls.

The Crunch team's structure held 375 pounds. At the regional, it held 540 pounds.

Lazbuddie students of the month

Lazbuddie School selects February Students of Month

Two students at Lazbuddie High School were selected as students of the month for February:

Shena Seaton, 16, daughter of Rick and Mandi Seaton.

Shena's date of birth is March 16. Spaghetti and Cherry Coke are fantastic foods for her. "Time" ranks as top tune. The Wizard of Oz classifies her best picture. ER gratifies her idea of prime entertainment.

English exemplifies her area of greatest success. Barrel racing and basketball show her zest for competition. Blue appears as her special color.

Christy expresses her literary genre. Her future goals include going to a top college and pursuing a career in marine biology.

Guy Wayne Nickels, 17, son of Nicky and Deborah Nickels.

Guy's birthday is May 26. His favorite foods include whatever he can get his hands on, except Chinese, complemented by a milk shake.

His top tune remains "Dust on the Bottle" by David Lee Murphy. Broken Arrow exemplifies his choice picture. Home Improvement realizes his selection of the best in TV viewing.

Sports rank as his total physical and mental workout. Black distinguishes his spectrum of colors. Bon Jovi motivates his musical mood. Where the Red Fern Grows classifies his literary appetite.

Future goals for Guy include playing football for Texas Tech.

Lazbuddie Junior High also selected two students of the month for February:

Kati Mimms, 12, daughter of Reta and Clay Mimms.

Kati's date of birth is May 13. She enjoys Mexican Fiesta and water.

"Open Arms" ranks as her top tune. Home Alone captures the best picture title. Full House typifies her area of TV entertainment. Math multiplies her academic talents.

Reading creates her area of pastime enjoyment. Pink embellishes her choicest color. Mariah Carey epitomizes her prime musical artist.

Nothing Hurts But My Heart explores her area of literary selection. Future plans include becoming valedictorian of the 8th grade class.

Randy Bohler, 14, son of Jim and Terri Bohler.

Randy was born on May 14. He enjoys pizza and Big Red. "My Heart Will Never Know" ranks as his prime song selection. An optimal choice for movie would be Tommy Boy. Seinfeld represents his idea of great viewing pleasure.

Math complements his areas of academic achievement. Basketball and golf typify his idea of pastime pleasure.

Green appeals as his special color. Nearly all country music has a message for him. Alas, Babylon expresses his literary specialty.

His future goals include graduating from high school and going on to college to pursue the career of his choice.

Farm Service Agency news

From Bailey County Executive Director Kim Hanlin

CRP contracts

Producers with CRP contracts expiring Sept. 30 will have the opportunity to request early release of this acreage. If you are interested in early release of partial or all acreage in CRP, you must file a request by April 26, 1996.

Producers can also request a year extension. There will be no change in the per acre payment rate. The sign up period for requesting extensions is through May 31.

Emergency CRP grazing

Due to current drought conditions, the Secretary of Agriculture has announced an extension for emergency grazing of CRP Acreage through September 30 in approved counties.

This authorization could be terminated prior to that time if STC determines that conditions have improved sufficiently. Should the STC decide conditions have improved sufficiently, producers would have 10 days after being notified to remove livestock from CRP Acreage.

The cost to graze this acreage will be 25 percent of the annual CRP payment per acre grazed. The payment can be made at the time of sign up or can be withheld from the annual payment.

Producers approved to graze the CRP Acreage from February through March 31, will be required to pay an additional 15 percent fee to continue grazing the acreage

Planting deadlines

The following dates have been established as final planting dates:

Mungbeans, July 1; pumpkins, July 1; mini pumpkins, July 1; cantaloupes, June 15; pinto beans, July 1; jalapeno peppers, June 1; sweet peppers, June 1; watermelons, June 15;

green beans, July 15; black-eyed peas, July 1; cabbage, July 5; carrots, July 10; sweet corn, June 20; Indian corn, June 20; cucumbers, July 15; peanuts, June 5; potatoes, May 1; tomatoes, June 1; acorn squash, July 15; gourds, July 1; haygrazer, August 1; millet, Aug. 1 and broccoli, July 5.

Program crops

Corn, May 15; cotton, May 31 and grain sorghum, June 30.

Livestock feed program

Bailey County has been approved for the 1996 Livestock Feed Program.

The 1996 Farm Bill eliminates the LFP Program. To be eligible, producers must have suffered a 40-percent loss on wheat and grass pastures, current feeding and purchasing of feed must be above normal, and the producer must have owned the livestock for at least six months.

Applications will only be accepted up to 30 days after the 1996 Farm Bill is signed. For more information, please contact this office.

Production records

Producers who purchased CAT insurance are required to bring their 1995 production records for the insured crops. This is necessary in order to calculate 1996 APH's.

Producers are reminded that if these records are not submitted to the FSA Office by April 30 an assigned yield will be used for the 1995 crop.

Small grains deadline

Producers are reminded that May 15 is the final date to certify small grains. All small grains, whether for harvest or cover crop, must be certified by this date.

Reporting changes

In order to keep our records updated, any changes to a farm must be reported to this office.

If there is an operator change, cropland change, owner change, address change, or any other change on a farm, please keep this office informed so that we can make the necessary changes in our files.

Guy Kendall's wife, Elsie, brought his favorite cake Sunday, in celebration of his birthday.

The April birthday party is planned for Thursday, April 25, at 3 p.m. Note the time change, please.

Wednesday afternoon, J.C. and Odessa Shanks, came to entertain the residents with music and song.

Mr. and Mrs. Hukill and the Care Center family were happy to see Wanda and Melvin Griffin. They have been away visiting in Arkansas.

Thursday morning, Pastor David McIntire, Clara Lou Jones and Rue Kimbrough led our devotional/reflection time.

Bootie Tiller has just finished a nice crocheted green and white afghan. Congratulations Bootie.

Ada Murrah brought several nice lap robes for the residents Tuesday.

The Truth Seekers Sunday

School Class of the First Baptist Church made a donation to the Healthcare Center.

Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Shanks led the residents in a gospel sing-a-long Friday afternoon. This really was a "up-beat" way to end our week.

Clara Lou Jones taught Bible study Sunday morning. The Muleshoe Singers came Sunday afternoon for a gospel music sing-a-long.

Tuesday afternoon, Alice Lyles' FHA class from Muleshoe High School came to visit and assist the residents with reading or writing letters.

The ladies came Tuesday afternoon, to volunteer their time and talent to giving shampoos and sets in the beauty shop.

Wednesday morning, Buster and Wanda Kittrell hosted coffee/donut time. Later the Kittrells and Loyce Killingsworth lead our group in a devotional time. Jim Claunch also participated.

Cowarts selected Library Family

By MARTHA TOLES FROST
City Editor

The Barry Cowart family of Muleshoe was named Library Family of the Year at the Muleshoe Area Public Library Thursday.

The Cowarts, who have lived in Muleshoe more than 20 years, are the 27th family to receive the annual award.

Library director Anne Camp said she selected the Cowarts because the entire family is heavily involved in reading — and attending special library events.

"They have a good record," Camp said. "No books out, no unpaid fines, and they come regularly and take part in library activities."

"They do more than read books. They check out videos, and when they are getting ready to go on vacation, they check out audio book tapes."

"If a family comes all together to the library, it's good," said Camp, who often sees mothers or fathers with their children in the library, but seldom both parents.

To be named Library Family of the Year, the whole family has to get involved. "Their name (the Cowarts) comes up every year (when it is time to choose Library Family of the Year)," she said. "They're a nice family."

Muleshoe veterinarian Barry Cowart remembers reading the Hardy Boys mystery series as a youth in Olton, while his wife, JoEllen, was reading Nancy Drew and

Thirst for knowledge

The Barry Cowart Family (above) was selected as the Muleshoe Area Public Library Family of the Year. Presenting the Cowarts with a Webster's Collegiate Dictionary is Annette Bonds, a member of Friends of the Library. Below, Library Director Anne Camp displays two of the books awarded during National Library Week.

Trixie Belton.

Now Barry especially likes nonfiction about making investments, as well as Louis L'Amour, Tom Clancy and John Grisham novels. He has a Harold Bell Wright collection, and JoEllen still has her Nancy Drew collection.

JoEllen, who works as a homebound math teacher, is a fan of Grace Livingston Hill and Jeanette Oak Christian novels and Victoria Holt mysteries.

The Cowarts have four children, all avid readers. John Bryan, 17, a fan of "intrigue" is the unofficial pre-reader of new books that come to the Muleshoe High School library. Robin, 15, likes Mary Higgins Clark novels (and so does her mother).

Joel, 11, reads Goose Bump books and the Hardy Boys, while Amber, 9, reads Baby Sitter's Club, Sweet Valley Kids and the Berenstain Bears.

The whole family has been going to libraries since they can remember. Camp said JoEllen used to help her during story hours when her children were the right age for that.

Friends of the Library, represented by Annette Bonds, presented the Cowarts with a large new Webster's Collegiate dictionary. "My first new dictionary since I graduated from high school," JoEllen said.

Camp's life centers around the library

By MARTHA TOLES FROST
City Editor

If Muleshoe Area Public Library director Anne Camp appears comfortable in libraries, maybe it's because she used to live in one.

"I grew up in a library," Camp said in a recent interview. "We lost a living room and the town gained a library."

Camp's mother Olive McFarland, a school teacher, felt so strongly that Winters, Texas, needed a library that she opened one in her home.

The library grew to 10,000 books, and the front porch had to be enclosed to help contain it. The library was finally moved to a deserted bank building "during the Depression when many banks failed."

The new library was beautiful — it had marble floors," Camp said.

Camp thinks coming to the Muleshoe Public Library should be fun, so every summer, just once, she let's each child in the summer reading program explore "the secret passageway," a fire escape in the center of the building that leads to the basement.

Camp started working part-time at the Muleshoe library to help out with the bookmobile in its pilot program during the fall of 1963.

That was when her youngest daughter started to school and the bookmobile was parked outside Muleshoe's library in what is now Leal's

Tortilla Factory. (Before that, the local library was inside the Bailey County Courthouse, Camp said.)

Camp, who has worked at the library 32 years, said what she enjoys most is "helping people look for a certain kind of book and being able to find it for them."

While some people are known as "walking dictionaries," Camp could be called a "walking card catalog," because she knows practically every book that is in the library.

She has kept up with the times, however, by converting all the card catalog information to the computer—a task which has taken almost a year.

Friends of the Library member Annette Bonds, who has worked with Camp for several years, called the library director a "patient workhorse."

As a Friend of the Library, Bonds has brought the library scrapbook up to date and volunteers whenever Camp needs help.

Camp and Friends of the Library have been sponsoring a book sale during National Library Week.

"We've made over $165," Camp said. "That's pretty good when you're selling books for 10 and 15 cents each. People are carrying out big sackfuls."

A Bailey County history book is being sold to the highest bidder, and someone will win Van Gool's Treasury of World's Fairy Tales.

Jeremy Bruns to perform in homecoming recital April 28

Jeremy S. Bruns, of Muleshoe, will be featured in recital at First United Methodist Church in Lubbock at 5 p.m. Sunday, April 28.

The recital is sponsored by the Vesper Concert Series of the church. (Bruns is the only organ recitalist featured in this year's series).

The program will include music of varying styles and will be performed completely from memory.

Jeremy, an organ virtuoso, is completing a master's degree in music performance and literature at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York, and in June will begin a full-time interim church position in Shreveport, La.

He has a number of recital engagements contracted for the remainder of this season, as well as negotiations for recitals next season (including the National Cathedral in Washington, D.C.). Another recital in this area will take place at the First Presbyterian Church of Lamesaat 8 p.m. Thursday, May 30.

In August, Jeremy will make a concert tour of England, including recitals at St. Paul's Cathedral London and Canterbury Cathedral.

Jeremy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bruns of Muleshoe.

Bull calves and squash

BAXTER BLACK

ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

Don said he heard of a feller who came home from the auction market this spring and told his wife, "I lost money today."

"How's that?" she asked.

"When I came out of the sale this afternoon," he said, "somebody'd left six Holstein bull calves in the back of my pickup."

Good news has been scarce this last year. Economists are predicting hard times for the cattle market for a year or two to come. The price of grain is high and steady.

The government is plotting to kick the subsidy floor out from under crop farmers. They picked a good year to do it. Like confiscating everybody's snow shovel in June. 'Course, crop farmers can be comforted in the knowledge that any new congress can change any bill anytime it wants regardless of any seven year plan. Some of you might recall the Graham Rudman Act of 1985. It was supposed to balance the federal budget. I guess they forgot.

Unlike grain, the cattle market business has always been a pretty unregulated and unprotected market. Unless, of course, the price gets too high. Then someone like Nixon will slap on a price freeze. Some Canadian provinces established a floor subsidy for their cowmen and cattle feeders. But it didn't last long. The cattlemen themselves asked that the "insurance" be removed so they could compete equally with the U.S. cattlemen. They might be having second thoughts now.

So here the cowman sits on his tractor or on his horse looking into the crystal ball and all he can see is his reflection with a bull's-eye painted on his forehead.

We passed the check-off and watched demand go up and cow numbers go down. We saw cattle prices go up and stay up. After several prosperous years we decided to save back a few extra replacement heifers. Increase our numbers a little just to see what the market would bear. Only twenty head we told ourselves, that shouldn't hurt. Multiplied time 20,000 cow herds, we found what the market will bear.

Now this assumes that our country and our export customers will only buy a finite amount of beef. I'm not sure that's a valid assumption.

But as we sit here gazing into foggy future of the next couple years it appears we have two choices to bring the price back up. Increase the demand or decrease the supply. Convince the public to eat more beef or offer them less.

So what can you do personally in conjunction with your neighbor, your livestock association or your consumer to contribute to a solution? I mean besides complain.

Don's story 'bout the Holstein calves reminded me of the old country truism 'bout people only locking their doors in July and August. So neighbors couldn't sneak in while yer gone and leave four wheelbarrow loads of fresh summer squash on yer kitchen counter.

I guess we either cut back on the size of our garden, or make our kids eat more squash.

Journal editor addresses SCAC

The Student Community Action Club (SCAC) met on March 11 in the home of Cari Faver. Barak Harlan called the meeting to order and Daniel Garbarino said the prayer. Cari Faver gave the treasurer's report and reminded everyone to pay dues.

Garbarino introduced the speaker of the evening, Rick White, managing editor of the Bailey County Journal.

Mr. White moved to Muleshoe from Waterford, Conn., in September. He said one of the hardest things about being a newspaper writer is trying to present the best version of the truth possible.

Next, the auction bake sale was discussed and will be held some time the first of May. Before the club adjourned, SCAC members were asked to get the word out about the historical Bailey County placemats.

The next meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. on April 15 at JoBeth Gilleland's home.

The first paper mill in America was built at Germantown, Pennsylvania in 1690.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As graduation day nears for my daughter Courtney, a senior at West Texas A&M University, and a 1992 graduate of Muleshoe, I can look on her success in many ways.

She has aspired to do well and has set goals for herself and she has used what was taught her by many gifted teachers at MHS.

Courtney has worked hard and I don't want to diminish that fact, but I also realize she had the privilege of learning good strong work ethics from teachers who knew their subjects and expected their students to study hard and strive for the best they could be.

College is never easy, but if you have been properly prepared a diploma is yours with study and diligence.

Pat Watson, Johanna Wrinkle, Marilyn Miller, Dr. Kerry Moore, John Gulley, Barbara Milburn and Jean Allison were instrumental in Courtney earning her degree.

Each of these teachers taught Courtney more than just the subject they were teaching. They taught her to study, to have good work ethics, and to believe in her capabilities. For these people, teaching was not just a pay check but a calling, and a vocation.

As a parent who is proud of my child's success, I owe much to these fine people for doing more than just being in the classroom for 45 minutes . . . they were mentors.

Role models in today's society are vital.

Sincerely,
Kay Graves

plant at the same time triggered a reaction throughout the system, causing several other power plants to shutdown as a preventative measure.

The system safety had worked perfectly.

By the time McDearmon left Lubbock Tuesday, there were already T-shirts out declaring "I survived the black-out of '96."

McDearmon wished Thursday that he had bought a couple.

By that time, everything had returned to normal across the South Plains.

Brenda McDearmon given baby shower

Brenda McDearmon was honored with a baby shower, Sunday, April 14, in the home of Rayniel Bamert.

Guests were treated to breads, lemonade punch and fresh fruit.

Special guest was Sally Brown of Canyon, a friend of Brenda's.

The hostess gifts included a diaper bag, a baby swing and a willowbasket filled with baby lotion, powder, shampoo, wipes, Q-tips and other baby needs.

Hostesses included Rayniel Bamert, Cindy Barrett, Debbie Conner, Melanie Grulhkey, Sue Holt, Sue Johnson, Ann Mount, Rhonda Myers, Cindi Pace and Sharon Williams.

Putting forth a Real effort

A child's first attempts at printing require deep concentration and great effort. However, with patience and practice he becomes more adept and lettering is easier. Then he is ready for the next step, learning to write.

The Lord expects us to put forth an effort to improve ourselves.

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
