(By Associated Press)

He went to a fountain with Mary
And met with an awful mishap;
For he awkwardly emptied a glassful
Of grape juice all over her lap!
But Mary was gentle and gracious (For none is so tactful as she!)
And smiling with perfect composure,
Said sweetly: "The drinks are on me!"

DECLARES SUIT WILL DISCLOSE SOME BIG NEWS

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—Frank A. Vanderlip, a retired banker, and recently prominent as a witness in the oil investigation at Washington, in reply to the $600,000 libel suit filed against him yesterday by the owners of The Marion Star, declared today that he welcomed the suit.

The wealthy banker expressed hope that the suit would be the forerunner of "court proceedings that would make public some news that the great newspaper did not see fit to print."

Mr. Vanderlip recently testified before the oil investigating committee that $550,000 was twice as much as the Marion Star, former President Harding's paper, was worth. It was alleged that the present owners paid Mr. Harding $550,000 for the Star.

ROBBERS RAID A. & S. STATION

Special to The Ledger:
BRADSHAW, Feb. 21.—Burglars broke into the Abilene & Southern depot Tuesday night, stealing some goods and damaging others.

The damage to property amounted to more than the loss in goods stolen, according to a check-up of missing stuff. The robbers carried off a sack of parcel post mail, and Agent Steele's raincoat was also stolen. The thieves broke open several boxes of freight and one box of express, but failed to find goods which suited them and nothing was missing from the boxes.

An entrance was made into the freight and express room thru a window which the robbers smashed and then unlatched the window and raised it. The sheriff's department was soon on the job, but has no clue.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—Challenges against hundreds of ballots in the Texas senatorial contest between Senator Earle Mayfield and George Peddy, have already been made by both counsel for Mayfield and Peddy as the count is proceeding by the Senate elections committee.

There is no direct evidence of fraud affecting either candidate yet been found, according to Senate investigators, but many irregularities are resulting in challenges from both sides.

A recount of three counties had been completed up to noon today. These three counties are Anderson, Andrews and Atascosa, and they were carried by Mayfield by large majorities. The recount showed only slight gains for Peddy.

The committee began counting the votes from Angelina county, and one precinct in that county showed a large gain for Peddy, indicating that he received 229 votes in the precinct when only 77 had been counted.

FIRE BOYS BURY PIONEER MEMBER

The remains of George Hull were laid to rest Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock by members of the Ballinger Volunteer Fire Company. Members of the fire company with quite a number of friends gathered at the home of the deceased where Alfred Cramer conducted a brief service, and led by the fire truck a procession formed and the remains were carried to Evergreen Cemetery and tenderly laid to rest.

Mr. Hull was a charter member of the local fire company, serving as a fire fighter in the days of bucket brigades and before the city even owned a foot of fire hose. He had not been active for several years, but the fire boys paid a tribute of respect to the departed pioneer citizen.

Alligator Gar Fights Captor.

Porter Davis, local fisherman, caught a mammoth alligator measuring 8 1/2 feet and five inches in length and weighing 114 pounds on a trot line
out in the Ohio river a short distance below the gravel pit, says the Mount Vernon (O.) Democrat. Davis said the creature put up a game fight, coming at him in his snout with his mouth open and his long teeth gleaming.
Davis used a grab hook in landing
the gar. The creature was kept alive and exhibited by Davis on the court square. Fishermen say the gar could inflict serious injury to swimmers and that it constitutes a warning to the host of small boys going into the river near the gravel pit.

Bride Advised on How to Be Boss of Husband

Don't wear curl papers the first two years—after that it will not matter.
Keep a set of Walter Scott in your apartment to occupy you in the hours
when you are not on speaking terms with your husband. Some brides have been able to finish Dickens and "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" as well.

Teach him to cook before you are married; he will be unsuspecting then,
and they learn easier before than after marriage.

Don't believe him when he says he will take up dancing next winter.
Make him sign a contract to this effect
before the ceremony.

Don't start him in on sweetbreads and creamed mushrooms; this will make the contrast too marked when you begin to feed him on potato chips and cold ham. A hungry man will eat anything if you give him time; and he will be less likely to talk about the way mother used to cook if you train him in the first six months.

Always be taken ill when your mother-in-law comes to visit you; after she has done all the work for a day or two she will be glad to go back to her own home again. In the meantime you can have a good rest in bed.

Any bride who follows these directions accurately can have as many husbands as she wants.—New York

British Officer Found Townships, Too Big

For nearly a year the British prisoners taken after Burgoyne's surrender were held in Massachusetts, and then came from congress the order to march them to barracks in Virginia. The officers traveled with considerable liberty. Thomas Amburey, a British lieutenant, complained of the size of the townships in Connecticut in his reminiscences, first published in 1780, and recently published. "About the center of these townships stands the meeting house, or church, with a few surrounding houses; sometimes the church stands singly. It is no little mortification, when fatigued after a long day's journey, on inquiring how far it is to such a town to be informed you are there at present; but on inquiring for the church or any particular tavern you are informed it is seven or eight miles farther."

Amburey observed that most of the Connecticut houses were only half finished, the other half having only the rough timbers that supported the building. "Upon inquiry I learned that when a man builds a house he leaves
it in this state until his son marries, when he fits it up for his family, and the father and son live under one roof."—New York Herald.

Wine for Codfish

Spain and Iceland have made a trade treaty. The document specifies that Spain is to grant most-favored nation treatment to dried codfish from Iceland and Iceland is to exempt Spanish wines of not more than 21 per cent
alcoholic content from prohibition.
What a standoff! Now the Spanish internal economy may be lubricated
and padded with portions of cod-liver oil and the cockles of the Icelandic heart may be warmed with drafts of Castilian vintage.

The elevation of Bacchus to equality with the sacred cod is like to seem heresy to folk up Gloucester way. Wine for codfish. We lean for explanation on the ancient aphorism that there's no accounting for tastes. But were we to choose? Well, the thing doesn't seem real.—The Nation's Business.

Way Out of It

The little boy was fond of nursery rhymes and fairy tales, and was always asking questions about them.

One day he asked his mother: "Why didn't the man in the nursery rhyme put up a notice to 'Keep Off the Grass'? Then he wouldn't have been cruel to the madden."

"Which man, dear?" said his mother; "and to whom was he cruel?"
"Well," said the little fellow, "nurse often tells me about the man all tattered and torn who kicked the maiden off the lawn!"

Kills and Cures in Coal

Healing medicines and deadly explosives lie latent in every lump of coal, and science is extracting one or the other in a thousand laboratories over the world each day. Half the drugs in the pharmacopia probably are coal-tar products. While one laboratory may be extracting salicylic acid, for gout,
for instance, or aspirin for congestion and rheumatism, another chemist will be distilling the products from which TNT is made or even lyddite, the powerful explosive first used in the Sudan.

Worth It

A newly rich woman, given her first dinner party and anxious to make it a success, was engaging the services of a certain well-known singer.

"My fee," said the latter "is $50."
"I agree to pay that," answered the hostess, "but you understand that you will not meet my guests, don't you?"
"Oh," came the quick reply, "then I will take $25."

The Blunder

"Gentlemen of the jury," said a blundering barrister, in a suit about a lot of hogs, "there were just 30 hogs in that drove; please to remember that fact—30 hogs—just exactly; three times as many as there are in the jury box."
That counsel did not win his case.

COLEMAN MURDER CASE IS REVERSED

The Court of Criminal Appeals
Wednesday reversed and remanded for a new trial the case of Bob Collins, convicted at Coleman and given 35 years in the penitentiary for the murder of Clabe May in November, 1922.

Collins is a cripple, and has lived in a wheel chair for more than ten years. In 1912 Collins was injured when caught by a cave-in, sustaining a broken back and has been paralyzed from his waist down since the accident.

In November 1922 he rolled his chair up to May and shot the man, killing him instantly. He pleaded self defense when arraigned for trial, declaring that he thought May was going to kill him because they had engaged in a quarrel.

In the trial of the case the judge failed to submit the legal theory of self defense to the jury and the higher court held that the defendant should have been given the benefit of this charge.

Industrial History Is Shown in Magazine "Ad"

If one would get a bird's-eye view of America's industrial development and, in a sense, her social evolution as well, says the Christian Science Monitor, he can do no better than make a study of the advertising in long-out-of-date magazines.

It is an absorbing bit of research. Go to a library, or into your own dusty files and get copies of two or three of the older leading magazines of the country for the years, say, of 1890, 1893, 1898, 1900, 1906 and 1914. In the advertising columns you may trace the evolution of the American country house and all its furnishings. You will see the bicycle begin and end. There will pass in review before you a whole cycle in the art of printing.

This stage, set for the motorcar, will portray in a complete dramatic entrance, its transformation, its triumphant domination of the scene. Many a gigantic 10,000-candle-power advertising appropriation of today can be seen slowly, cautiously feeling its way along a twilight road; first guessed by faint auroral flames sent out from quarter-page displays.

The pages themselves will increase in steady arithmetical progression, parallel with the growth of the average American bank deposit. No treatise or text book could present more graphically the phenomenal industrial metamorphosis of the United States and the alterations in national tastes, desires and wealth.

French Now Sending Autograph Telegrams

It is now possible to send autograph telegrams as the result of the perfection of a device for that purpose by M. Belin, a French inventor. This transmitting machine is being installed in all the French telegraph and post offices.

The sender of a telegraph message writes the telegram on a revolving cylinder, and through a series of novel mechanical devices it is received by the addressee in the original writing of the sender.

Over the surface of the paper on the revolving cylinder runs a needle, which in its movements breaks and restores an electric current. Special ink is used in writing this telegram, so that the words are in slight relief above the surface of the paper.

The delicate needle strikes the obstacle made by the letters, is jerked upward and interrupts the electric circuit.

These interruptions are all registered at the receiving end, and the result is that by the inverse process the exact pattern of the written telegram is reproduced and this "tele-autograph" is delivered to the addressee.

Sea Sand for Fertilizer

In Cornwall, England, sea sand is used very largely for fertilizer and for dressing the soil of the farms. This is because the sea sand from places nearby contains a large percentage of calcium carbonate derived from the shells of the sea mollusks. The winds carry the sand inland for some distance and pile it up in dunes. Its low price makes it preferred now to lime, although for years it was considered valueless.

Hydromotor Bicycle

A motor bicycle which can run on land or water, designed by an Italian, has been tried out successfully. It is equipped with pontoons which keep it afloat and with a rudder which is controlled from the handlebars. The pontoons are filled with air similar to the life-saving crafts used at the beaches, so that they cannot be submerged. The bicycle is equipped with a small engine of two horsepower, but the designer is developing one of higher power.

New Fields for Railways

A great enterprise of the early future will be building railways in South America, Asia and Africa. In each of those continents are now vast areas of rich land that can be exploited only when the railways come. In the United States there are on the average 83 miles of railway to every 1,000 square miles. In Europe there are only 62 miles of railway to every 1,000 square miles. In South America only seven, in Asia only four, and in Africa only three.—Youth's Companion.

Safeguarding the Crossing

One traction company in New Jersey, realizing the danger to the motoring public of grade crossings, has evolved a sign system of warning at each crossing. Suspended across the road and directly above each crossing is a large board with several electric lights. This board bears the following message: "Danger! Look Out for Locomotive! Stop When Lighted!"

THEATRES MOVIES

BLAZE THE TRAIL IN "THE WAY OF A MAN"

One of the most impressive scenes in the ten-episode Pathé serial, "The Way of a Man," from the widely read novel of Emerson Hough, famous author of period stories, is a great train of prairie schooners, slowly wending down a steep winding road, known as the Oregon and Santa Fe trails.

This serial, directed by George B. Seitz, is said to be a triumph in chapter-play production. It presents in the leading roles two splendid artists, new to serials—Ailene Kay, a young lady of much beauty and athletic prowess; and Harold Miller, handsome manly and fearless.

Others in the cast are Bud Osborne, once a cowboy, now a finished actor; Whitehorse, raised by Indians; Chet Ryan, Kathryn Appleton, Florence Lee, Lillian Gale and a large order of genuine Indians. Episode one of "The Way of a Man" is the attraction at the Maeroy Theatre Saturday of this week, and will be shown there thereafter on Saturdays for nine more weeks.

"STRANGERS' BANQUET" SPECIAL ATTRACTION AT FO-TO-SHO FRIDAY ONLY

Marshall Neilan

Marshall Neilan's first production in association with Goldwyn, will be seen at the Fo-to-sho tomorrow (Friday). This is "The Strangers' Banquet," from the novel by Donn Byrne, which Mr. Neilan purchased several years ago, but which he found himself in a position to film only since his recent alliance with the Goldwyn company, needing for its production all the technical and mechanical facilities that the great Goldwyn studios could supply. It has proved to be Neilan's most ambitious effort thus far.

The picture is a colorful story of the shipyards; of a girl's valiant struggle to manipulate wisely the fortune left by her father and to carry on his lifetime's work of building ships.

Probably no more famous aggregation of screen talent has ever been gathered together for a single picture than was engaged for this one. Many of the names in the cast, which numbers about forty, are of themselves sufficient to draw big audiences. Hobart Bosworth was persuaded by Neilan to stop work temporarily on his own pictures in order to assume the role of the old ship-building genius, Shane Butler Keogh. Claire Windsor, one of the most beautiful leading women of the screen, is seen as the daughter, Derith Keogh. The always popular Rockliffe Fellows plays opposite Miss Windsor as Angus Campbell, son of Keogh's best friend.

Then there is Nigel Barrie as John Keogh; Eleanor Boardman as his wife; Thomas Holding as a fanatical labor agitator; Stuart Holmes, Claude Gillingwater, Eugenie Besserer, Aileen Pringle, Philo McCullough, Dagnar Godowsky, Ford Sterling, Arthur Hoyt, Brinsley Shaw, James Mason, Edward McWade, Tom Guise, Margaret Loomis, Hayford Hobbs and Lucille Rickson.

Mr. Neilan was assisted in the direction by Frank Ursin, who also collaborated with him on the continuity, and Tom Held. The photography was by David Kesson, and the art direction in charge of Cedric Gibbons.

CAST OF PROMINENT PLAYERS IN PICTURE

For once we have a star who is not afraid to have herself surrounded by a company of sterling actors and actresses. Elaine Hammerstein, who is the bright star of "Broadway Gold," the feature attraction which closes at the Maeroy Theatre tonight, is supported by a large cast of players who are stars in their own right.

Kathlyn Williams, Elliot Dexter, Richard Wayne and many other well-known players compose the excellent list of thespians with which Director Edward Dillon has surrounded his youthful and beautiful star.

Emerson Hough, author of many popular novels dealing with early American life, wrote the story of "The Covered Wagon," and it was produced by James Cruze in film version for the Paramount Pictures Corporation.

It is thought that a number of Ballinger people will go to San Angelo to see the epic when it is shown at the Lyric.

Carmel Cognoscenti
Bar Modern Devices

An artistic Elysium where streets and sewers and other evidences of modern civilization do not exist, the kindred acres where, according to Cato, no usury stands to retard creative inspiration, freedom from society's fetters.

Such is the incentive of the new artists' retreat that well-known members of the Carmel Cognoscenti have established at Nottley's Landing, an abandoned town 15 miles from the scene of Carmel itself.

For Carmel, declare these anti-conventionalists, is fast becoming too modern to be the ideal playground for brain children. New sewers, an incorporated city government, all the conventionalities of a stylish summer colony, do not blend harmoniously with ideal artistic conception, they declare.

The movement for an artistic exodus is well under way, it would seem, with Evan Royal Mosher, painter; John Howard Plummer, composer, and Herbert Heron, writer-poet, already living at Nottley's Landing, and with William Overstreet, Carmel editor, announcing his plans of following suit.

With the advent of numerous summer visitors Carmel, the artists' state, has taken on too many aspects of a real city, whereas it was once replete with freedom and artistic communism. —San Francisco Chronicle.

Roman Generals Liked
Spring Mineral Water

The Romans, who knew much about external and internal cleanliness that was forgotten after the downfall of their power, attached the greatest importance to the drinking of mineral water. At Aix-les-Thermes, for instance, in the Pyrenees, the waters were used by the Roman conquerors, and St. Louis had a pond built there for the use of Crusaders who returned from the Holy Land stricken with leprosy. This pond is still in existence.

It was in the Nineteenth century, however, that Aix-les-Thermes was adapted to modern needs and became a popular resort. Its waters contain sodium sulphide and are very beneficial for rheumatism and gout.

In this country the term "thermal" is not in wide use, one seldom hearing the term "thermal resort" applied to places where persons go to take a "cure." In Europe, on the other hand, the word is in common use, and a thermal resort is recognized as a place whose waters possess certain healing and health-giving properties, and which has also been developed to take proper care of those who repair for a cure or to enjoy a period of rest and recreation. —Detroit News.

Locate Leaks

An automatic leak indicator for ships consists of a number of small cast-iron boxes screwed to the bulkhead of each compartment and set at predetermined distances, one above another. In each box there is an electrical contrivance connected with an indicator board, either on the bridge or in some other convenient place. The board is fitted with a number of small glow lamps of different colors, and is connected with an alarm bell. When water rises to the level of the lowest box it makes an electrical contact, by which the lamp corresponding to the height of the bulkhead that the box indicates is lighted and so remains until the next box is reached by the water, when the second lamp is lighted. Meanwhile the bell rings continuously until shut off.

Words Failed Her

The telephone rang and a voice buzzed: "Say, Blanche, is zat you?"

"Yes."

"Say, Blanche, I called you up to tell you somepin important."

"Just a minute, Mittie. Wait until I take the eggs off the fire. Now what is it, dearie?"

"Hold the wire. My soup's scorching."

There was a long pause, and then: "Hello, Blanche."

"Hello, Mittie. What was it you wanted to tell me? Somepin important, you said."

"I dunno now, Blanche. My biscuits are burnt to a crisp."

Origin of Old Phrase

It is said the phrase "Throwing sand in their eyes" had its origin in a curious circumstance.

The tale comes from the south of Siberia, where the landscape consists principally of sand. For centuries this country was inhabited by hostile tribes and primitive "running" methods of horseback warfare.

And it is related of these people that one of their principal weapons in pursuit of an enemy was their native sand, which they tossed at him, with the result, if the aim was good, of at least temporary bewilderment and blindness. —Detroit News.

42 Days to Cross Sea

Seventy-five years ago the Hamburg American line established its first ship, the Deutschland, in the service between Hamburg and New York. This was a sailing vessel of 771 tons, and was regarded as a monster craft in those days. Adolph Geoffrey, director of the company, at a meeting of the directors in 1848, told with great pride of the high character of the accommodations which its three ships were affording transatlantic travelers, who fared 42 days on the trip from Hamburg to New York and 30 days on the eastward trip. —Detroit News.

HUSBAND SAID WHY NOT TRY IT

Wife Said She Would. Result, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

East Hardwick, Vt.—"Last winter I was not able to do any work at all. I had backache, headache, side ache, and was sick all the time for six months. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers, and my husband said to me, 'Why don't you try it?' So I said I would, and he went and got me a dozen bottles. It has done me more good than I can ever tell, and my friends say, 'What have you done to yourself? You look so well.' I tell them it is the Vegetable Compound that makes me so well and strong. There is no use to suffer with backache and pains. I will tell every one what it has done for me."
