CIVIL WAR LEADER DIES

(By Associated Press)

WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 23.—Major General James Harrison Wilson, of the United States Army retired, died at his home here today.

Major General Wilson was the last of the corps commanders of either the Union or Confederate forces in the Civil War and the last member of General Grant's staff. In his long, distinguished career he was a soldier, engineer, railroad man and author.

Born near Shawmestown, Ill., Sept. 2, 1837, Gen. Wilson's earliest known paternal ancestor was a revolutionary soldier. His father was a captain in the Black Hawk War, and subsequently a colonel in the Illinois militia.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Holt spent Sunday at Christoval, and while eating dinner on the river a short distance from Christoval, Mr. Holt captured a deer, about a year old buck. Someone had shot at the deer further up the river, and the deer ran upon Mr. Holt before he knew it. After a lively tussle Mr. Holt had the deer in captivity and it developed that the deer was formerly a pet, but had been running wild for four or five months. A ranchman in the neighborhood claimed the deer, but promised to send it to Mr. Holt, if he could get permission of the game warden.

MAN CRUSHED; CAR TURNS OVER

Ed Jansa, a farmer living South of Rowena, is in a local sanitarium suffering with serious injuries sustained when his car turned over on the Ballinger-Rowena highway Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Jansa was driving a Gray car, and it was said that he was making a high rate of speed when his car went in the ditch. Parties appearing on the scene a short time later rescued Mr. Jansa from the wreckage and removed him to his home, and later he was carried to the sanitarium. He was caught under the car in the wreck and was unable to extricate himself.

The accident occurred on a straight stretch of the highway and practically at the same spot where a man was killed and his car burned a few months ago.

SPEED UP AND PAY YOUR FINE

"Motorists are getting too reckless again," said Chief of Police Pileher, "and I wish you would throw out a warning just to give them a chance to slow down before having to pay a fine."

The chief stated that the traffic officers were on the job again and would enforce the speeding law regardless of who the speeder is. If you exceed twenty miles per hour within the city limit and get by with it you will have cause to congratulate yourself, and if you keep it up you will find yourself kicking in to the tune of almost a dollar a mile.

A campaign against speeders some time ago had the desired effect and people learned to respect the law. The officers issue a warning that the law will be enforced, and if you are caught exceeding the limit, the nearest way out will be by the city hall, where you can deposit $15.70.

Runnels County Fair to Be Held Oct. 13-16

At a meeting of the committee in charge of the fair work last Saturday the dates for the 1925 Runnels County Fair were definitely fixed. Tentative dates were set a short time ago, but a slight change was made, and the dates are now definitely set for a four days fair—Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, October 13-14-15-16.

Last week was a busy week for the various fair committees. A committee meeting was held each day, some part of the fair work coming up for attention. The concessions committee experienced a busy week. The amusements and entertainment committee was busy, and the committee meeting Saturday finally approved the dates for the fair.

One of the largest carnival attractions playing in Texas this fall has been booked for the Runnels County Fair. Only one other county fair in Texas receives as high a price for the privilege of playing. The carnival and show folks consider Ballinger as one of the best points on their itinerary, and are willing to pay a high concession price.

A meeting of the Young Men's Business League will be held on Thursday morning, Feb. 24th, at 9:30. This will be a regular meeting of the board and a call for a special meeting of the League's membership.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harold Tucker of Jermy, motored the distance of two hundred miles Saturday, spent Sunday with W. C. Penn and family, and returned home Monday. They came to see the new baby at the home of Mrs. Tucker's sister, Mrs. Cecil Thorp.

FUNERAL FOR MINE VICTIMS

(By Associated Press)

SULLIVAN, Ind., Feb. 23.—Burial of the victims in last Friday's disastrous explosion in the City Coal Company's mine and the rendering of aid to the families of fifty-one dead miners, occupied the attention of this coal mining city today.

Next will come the problem of determining the cause of the fatal blast and the possibility of averting another such tragedy. Funerals were held today for almost a score of mine victims.

SENATOR WANTS CHARGES PROBED

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, February 23.—A searching inquiry into the charges that he has practiced before the federal departments in connection with the fur dying industry, was invited by Senator Spencer, republican, of Missouri, in a letter sent today to Attorney General Stone.

Senator Spencer wrote that Assistant Attorney General Donovan had informed him that the attention of the department of justice had been directed to such a charge.

LEGION DRIVE TO BEGIN TOMORROW

About twenty members of the Pat Williams Post of the American Legion will leave Ballinger early Tuesday to make a thorough canvass of the entire county in the finish of their membership drive. The county will be divided into districts and the different teams will scatter over the county working in an effort to build the membership in Post No. 8 up to 250, which will make it the biggest post in the 17th district.

Local men will meet the Ballinger boys in each district and assist them in the drive and the legion members expect to have their membership drive for 1925 in good shape by tomorrow night.

The drive will be pushed in Ballinger all the remainder of the week as there are about 60 men in the city who have not signed up for 1925. The post already has the biggest membership it ever had, and the boys feel that they should add at least 75 more during this week.

TWO ROAD MEN BEFORE PROBERS

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 23.—Two San Antonio road contractors, R. W. Colglazier and O. C. Chapin, testified before the House highway investigation committee today. Both men testified that they had leased highway department trucks and equipment from Bexar county. The equipment leased was material, which according to Representative Smith, had been turned over to the state for its exclusive use, or for the use of cities and counties, and could be either rented or purchased by contractors.

W. A. Spalding, county engineer of Ellis county, declared that the highway engineer had threatened to withdraw state and federal aid from Ellis county, if he was appointed engineer. He produced a letter signed by J. D. Fauntleroy, then highway engineer, stating that in the opinion of the writer Spalding was not qualified to build the high type of roads demanded.

PEACE COURTS TO LESSEN WAR

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, February 23.—Proportionally as nations make progress in creating effective tribunals for peaceful settlement of international differences, they will themselves be more able to lessen their military establishments, President Coolidge said in an address today to the delegates to the Women's Conference on National Defense, at a peace insurance.

TWO REPORTS ON PRISON SYSTEM

(By Associated Press)

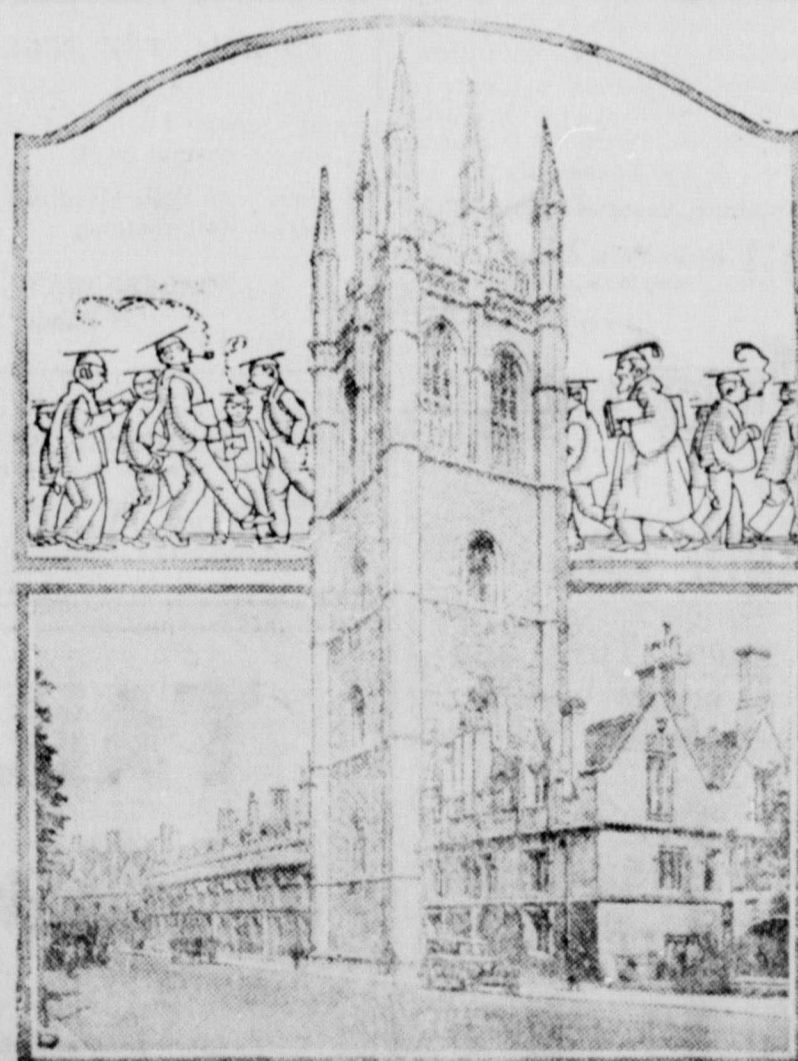

AUSTIN, Feb. 23.—The possibility of a joint minority report from the joint prison investigation committee loomed today when it was learned that Representative Stevenson was making a determined stand for a centralized penitentiary system on the South Texas farms.

The joint committee has virtually committed itself upon the centralized system in principle and in the incumbent disposition of the scattered farm system, but the committee is desirous of locating the main penitentiary somewhere near the center of population, and to this end Waco has been suggested, or a tract of land near Austin has also been suggested as the best place for the prison.

Mr. Stevenson does not object to a more central location in general, but he questions the advisability of locating in a town on a new tract of land with the state's finances in their present strained condition.

MOTOR TRIPS ABROAD

Magdalen Tower, Oxford University
ELEVENTH OF A SERIES OF TRAVEL TALKS

The possible origin of the name "Oxford" is interesting. One explanation is that it points to a ford for oxen across the Thames river.

FEW American tourists ever go to London without going to Magdalen College, which was founded in 1458. The famous Magdalen tower which is 150 feet high, required 13 years to build. It is one of the sights of England.

The roads from London to Oxford are perfect and no American in England with a motor car should think of leaving the country without making this 60-mile trip.

OUR POSSIBILITIES

Mr. Pettibone is right about the agricultural possibilities of this section being as great as those of the Plains. Take Runnels County, which he apparently observed from his car window as he came to San Angelo the other day. Last year Runnels produced 53,000 bales of cotton and was one of the banner counties of the State in cotton production. All along the Santa Fe from its most eastern border to Miles its fields are prepared for the rains which will come and put moisture in the ground for this year's banner crop. Its fertile soil must look pleasing to the eye of one who thinks in tonnage for a railroad.

Some day all the land between Miles and San Angelo will look just like it. There will be a time when the good land that makes up such a large part of Tom Green county will be producing cotton like Runnels.

Just how soon this will be depends on such men as Mr. Pettibone. On the Plains, the parent company to his line, the Atchison, Topoka & Santa Fe, has done much to advertise its territory, as the coming agricultural section of Texas. They have helped colonize it. Booklets by the thousands have been printed. The Santa Fe agricultural journal, Earth, has boosted it. A great agricultural development is the result.

San Angelo and West Texas has many assets that the Plains do not possess—all of which could be made to produce revenue to the Santa Fe. Our climate has made this a winter resort of some note—yet Santa Fe advertising would lead one to believe that San Antonio had all the sunshine Texas winter affords.

The Santa Fe can be of great benefit to San Angelo and to this section by giving it proper publicity through the many mediums that it has access to. Mr. Pettibone could help his line by doing a little boosting for this part of West Texas.—San Angelo Standard.

Yes, Mr. Pettibone is right, and his road can help to finish the job of developing this region. The Santa Fe and other railroads are aiding in colonization programs on the Plains, and passing up the best part of Texas.

There are thousands of untitled acres in Runnels county, and in other counties in this section of the state, acres of as fine agricultural land as a crow ever flew over, and if the owners of this land will put it on the market, and the railroads spread the news abroad, they will receive good returns for their efforts in increased freight tonnage, both going and coming.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Wilmeth returned home recently from a visit to McKinney, where Mr. Wilmeth went on business and where Mrs. Wilmeth spent a couple of weeks with relatives and friends.

OPPOSED TO LIGHT TAX

In feeling out the pulse of the people on the question of selling the municipal light plant, practically every man approached on the question expressed more or less apprehension that sooner or later the city plant would cease to be self-sustaining.

It is this apprehension that prompted the expression of an almost unanimous opinion that the safest policy for the city to pursue at this time would be for the city to get out of the electric light making business while the city can do so at a profit and without loss to the tax payers.

With all due deference to those who have managed the city's light plant up to this time, and granting the claim that the plant has made a good showing for the first two years, there is a general feeling of fear that we have reached the turning point, and that the good record established by the city while its plant was new, and practically without competition, cannot be maintained under conditions which will be more difficult for the city to cope with.

Up to this time the city has had a new plant. The upkeep has been light, and the cost of depreciation which comes early in the life of every gas engine has not yet been felt, and the city plant has enjoyed about ninety per cent of the business. In the face of future conditions the city can hardly hope to continue to maintain this good record.

The city plant was born out of necessity. It was a demand for service and not a question of rates which brought the city plant into existence, for we are paying the same old rate. The city plant has served its purpose, as the question of service from the privately owned corporation can not be questioned.

There are those who voted for the city light bonds believing that the whole proposition was merely a bluff to force the private corporation to give good service, and voted as they did under the impression that the bonds would never be issued, or the tax levied. But the project was carried out and the city plant installed as a necessity.

Conditions are different today.

This city, with forty other towns, may be served by a privately owned corporation, managed by skilled business men, and with ample capital to take care of any emergency, and a guarantee to give good service.

The light bonds voted by the people stand as a debt against the city. All would be well if these bonds could be paid off from revenue from the light plant, but that is the big question before the public at this time. The parties who hold the bonds are not looking to the light plant for their money. The bonds are secured by the assessed valuations of the city, and will be paid by a tax levy against the property when the revenue from the light plant ceases to be sufficient to take care of the obligation. It is our opinion that should the question of a tax to support the light bonds be submitted to the voters today that the issue would lose by an overwhelming majority.

The present city administration, or no future administration can guarantee the tax payers that it will not be necessary to levy such a tax, and that possibly at a much earlier date than most any of us suspect.

John A. Weeks is in San Antonio on business.

TAKES NOTES ON LEGION PROGRAM

Grady Kinsolving, post commander of the Abilene American Legion post, was here Friday to accompany the local Legionnaires to Norton, where they presented an Americanization program. Mr. Kinsolving expressed himself as being delighted to find such a live bunch of ex-service men here, and while here on business from time to time he stated that he would accompany the boys on other trips throughout the county in the Americanization drive. The Ballinger post is almost as large as the Abilene post. Mr. Kinsolving is traffic manager for the West Texas Utilities Company and his duties will keep in Ballinger part of the time.

"Henpecked" Is Right

Carl Wiener, nineteen years old, a mighty youth who formerly swung a sledge in a Yonkers blacksmith shop, complained to Judge Boote in the Yonkers court recently that nine months of marriage had made him a "champion henpecked husband."

Judge Boote dismissed a charge of abandonment against him and ordered Mrs. Wiener, twenty-seven years old, a public stenographer in Manhattan, to appear in court and explain why she should not permit Carl to remove his clothing from his home.

Immediately after their marriage, Wiener said, Mrs. Wiener compelled him to give up his job as a blacksmith to become her assistant in her office, at 25 cents a week.

"She introduced me, not as her husband, but as the hired man," Wiener said. "And then, when I tried to get a new and better job, she had me arrested for abandonment. She also had me thrown into a patrol wagon because I stayed away from home one night."—New York Herald Tribune.

"It is our verdict that every farmer who raises livestock should provide his animals with comfortable, storm-proof shelter to protect them from the weather, promote their development, and make it possible for them to show maximum returns for their 'board and keep'."

The jury is right of course. Every practical farmer knows that livestock can be reared most economically and profitably only when properly housed in bad weather. And such shelter pays larger returns now than ever before.

"The Lover of Camille" Opens at Queen Theatre for 2 Day Run

In "The Lover of Camille," the screen version of the famed Sacha Guitry play, "Deburau," being shown today and tomorrow at the Queen Theatre, Monte Blue has the starring role, playing the part which Lionel Atwill assumed on the boards.

"The Lover of Camille," had an unusually long run on Broadway, distinguished among other long-engagement photoplays by the brilliant all-star cast. In it people find the romance they never found—the achievements they somehow missed, the adventure they dreamed of but never knew. All these things are contained in the story of Deburau, the master pantomime and lover of Camille.

Marie Prevost is the Camille, and the supporting cast boasts such personalities as Willard Louis, Pierre Gendron, Rose Dione, Winifred Bryson, Harry Beaumont, the noted director of "Beau Brummel," "Main Street" and "Babbitt," did the direction; and the equally prominent Dorothy Farnum was assigned the transposition of the play to the screen.

"The Lover of Camille" tells of Jean Gaspard Deburau, greatest pantomime actor of France, who has swept the women of Paris off their feet. But he remains true to the dream-girl of his life. A silent lovely lady visits him after a performance—and she proves the first to storm his heart. The Lady of the Camelias gives him her love all she realizes that he is poor, and leaves him for Armand Duval. Deburau is heartbroken but has to continue his work, outwardly blithe and debonair, inwardly cankered with care. The story unfolds with fascinating implications.

Cast of Notables in "Pleasure Mad" at Paramount

One of the most promising pictures of the year is "Pleasure Mad," the Reginald Barker production, showing at the Paramount Theatre today and Tuesday. This is Mr. Barker's third picture for Metro and Louise B. Mayer. The other two were "Hearts Aflame" and "The Eternal Struggle," both of which scores immediate success.

Mary Alden, who was recently featured in "The Eagle's Feather," will again appear in her favorite role of a mother, the kind of a role that won her fame in "The Old Nest." Huntley Gordon, famous for his sterling characterizations in "The Famous Mrs. Fair" and "The Social Code," will play opposite her. Other favorites also exceptionally well cast include William Collier Jr., Norma Shearer, Winifred Bryson and Frederick Truesdell.

"Pleasure Mad" was adapted from Blanche Upright's novel, "The Valley of Content."

The secret of happiness is in getting what you want instead of what you want others to think you want.

SEATS SELLING FAST FOR DEMOLAY SHOW

The rush on reserve seats started Monday morning for the DeMolay play, "The Hoodoo," which will be the attraction at the Maeroy Theatre tonight. The present indication is that a capacity house will greet the players when the curtain rises tonight at 8:00 p. m.

The final dress rehearsal was all that could be expected. Every character knew their lines perfectly, their actions were natural and the costumes worn by the cast is a big asset to the production. The specialties and the orchestra are exceedingly good. Mr. McGee in a group of songs will be sure to please all, as he has a solo voice that is unusual and a personality that will get you. The "Bluebeard" skit is something different from the usual run of between-act entertainment and is a beautiful portrayal of the old story of Bluebeard and his wives told us when we were children.

Seats will remain on sale at the Strain Drug Co. store until 7:00 p. m. The box office will open at 7:00, and the curtain will rise promptly at 8:00 o'clock.

Colds

In the chest—Apply Red Pepper at once

Not a plaster, not mustard. Not any old-time method. The modern way is Red Pepper Rub.

Nothing else applies such concentrated, such penetrating heat. And heat that doesn't hurt. The old ways can't compare.

Rub it on the chest where congestion exists. A cold is congestion, you know. At once you feel the tingling, penetrating heat. Circulation starts, congestion is relieved. And soon you will feel the cold loosen.

This is just the age-old method of dealing with a cold, perfected by modern science. Red pepper, applied in this way, does what old ways could not do. Use it once and you will use it always. The difference will quickly show.

But have it ready—get it now. Every hour saved at the start of a cold may save many hours of trouble. Be ready to loosen it at once.
