BAPTIST MEET IN BIRMINGHAM

(By Associated Press)
FT. WORTH, June 9.—Two hundred representatives of Baptist students of denominational and state schools in Texas are planning to attend the first Southwide convention of Baptist students at Birmingham, Ala., October 28 to 31. R. F. Royal, of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, who represents Texas on the executive committee in charge of arrangements for the convention announced.

The convention will be held under the auspices of the Inter-Board Commission on Student Religious Activities of the Southern Baptist Convention and will give itself to a serious study of the social, practical, personal and religious problems of college students as well as plans for more closely aligning the college students with the churches in the college towns and preparing the young people for efficient service in the churches following their graduation.

It is anticipated that more than 1,600 students will attend this conference and the various states have assumed definite quotas.

While the larger part of the discussion of practical problems will be contributed by the students themselves, leading representatives of the denomination and other men and women of national and international reputation are being secured to bring inspirational messages.

Among the Texas institutions that will contribute to the delegation from this state are: the University of Texas, Texas A. & M. College, Baylor University, Rice Institute, Baylor College for Women, College of Industrial Arts, North Texas Junior A. & M. College, Texas Technological College, John Tarleton Agricultural College, Simmons University, Howard Payne College, Burleson College, College of Marshall, Wayland College, Rusk College, San Marcos Academy, and state normal and teachers colleges at San Marcos, Huntsville, Canyon, Commerce, Nacogdoches and Kingsville.

WINTERS WINS ONE-SIDED BALL GAME

The baseball game which was played at Fair Park here Tuesday was certainly a one-sided affair, inasmuch as Ballinger failed to get a hit and incidentally a single score, while Winters seemed to hit at will.

The final tabulation showed the game was won by Winters 17 to 0.

WILMANS CLAIMS MEN STEALING HER THUNDER

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, June 9.—"Men candidates for governor of Texas 'are stealing the women's thunder,'" Mrs. Edith Wilmans, of Dallas, candidate for governor, declared here today in a speech before Dallas county women who are supporting her.

Mrs. Wilmans charged that her platform advocating primary election reforms had been appropriated by Lynch Davidson. Mrs. Wilmans said several other candidates were using her planks and to this extent, she said, had endorsed her stand.

Ralph Shuffler, editor of the Olney Record, with his wife, stopped off here Tuesday night. Ralph, it will be remembered by many of the old timers, is the son of Rev. C. W. Shuffler, a former pastor of the Methodist church; and the young man is steadily climbing the ladder of fame as an editor and humorist.

Mrs. R. H. Clem and daughter, Miss Katie Ray, and Mrs. Clem's mother, Mrs. Anna Mathis, arrived in Ballinger Wednesday and are guests at the L. C. Alexander home on Eighth Street. Mrs. Clem will be remembered as Miss Inez Mathis, having married Ray Clem in Ballinger.

PIGEON-TOED WALK IS AID TO GOLF GAME

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, June 9.—Walking pigeon-toed will aid the golf game and run down heels will kill it, Dr. S. D. Tomlinson of Oklahoma City, president of the Oklahoma Podiatry Association, declared here today at the final session of the Southern Association of Chiropractors convention.

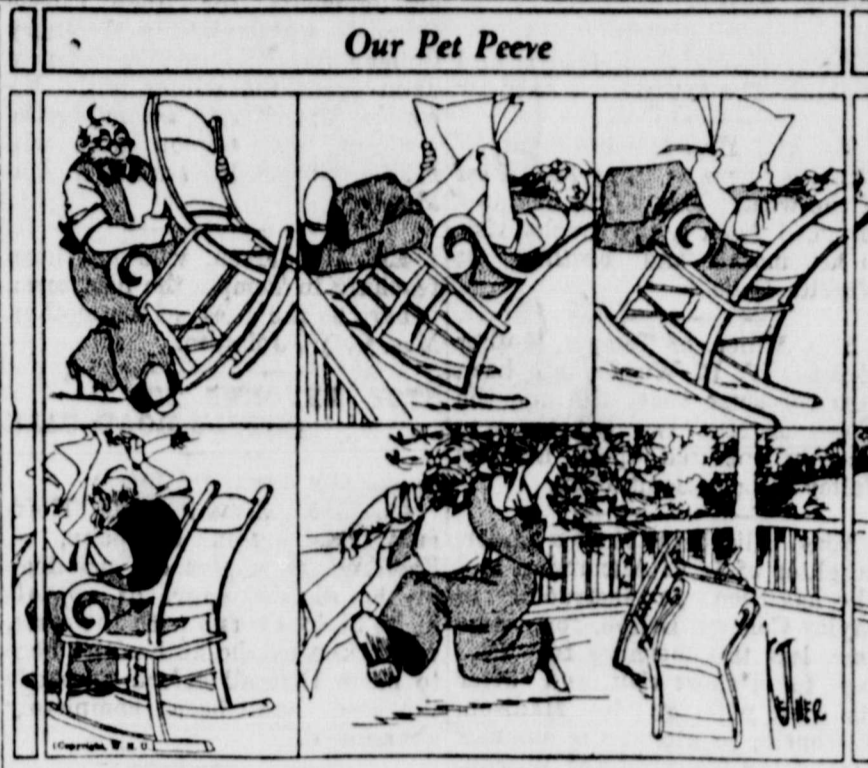

The pigeon-toed walk is the way nature intended man to use his pedal extremities, and this method, Dr. Tomlinson said, does a number of things, not the least of which is to improve the golf game.

"Believe it or not," said Dr. Tomlinson, "I have not only cut the number of strokes of my game by walking pigeon-toed but I have reduced my steps about 1,500 in playing 18 holes."

"Healthy feet that do not fatigue one are the greatest assets any golfer may have, for bad feet will not allow for a proper stance and that being the case the game is lost in spite of the golfer's skill or perseverance. When one walks pigeon-toed the heel touches the ground first, the weight being carried from this point halfway forward on the outside of the foot from where it is equally distributed over the head of the five metatarsus or toe bones. In this mode of walking one rises higher on his toes and allows for a longer stride. The longer stride cuts the number of daily steps greatly and makes for more efficiency in walking."

"Run over heels mean weakened arches with muscular fatigue and lowered body vitality. Children as a rule are born with healthy pedal extremities, but proud mothers, anxious for the infant to walk, often bring about conditions that last a lifetime and impair one's locomotion. Infants should not be compelled to stand on their feet or encouraged to take their first step until they themselves attempt to do so. When nature is assisted rather than rushed the result generally is more than satisfactory. Mothers must also learn that stiff soled shoes sufficiently large are the greatest aid they can give nature in encouraging their offspring to walk."

G. G. Odom, J. F. Currie and John Currie Odom spent Monday at the Chadbourne Ranch looking after business matters.

Pinchot also asserted that he had heard reports of false registration and fraud.

LUTHERANS HIT AT MODERNISM

(By Associated Press)

LOUIS, June 9.—Decrying so-called modernistic tendencies and proclaiming aggressively their acceptance of the old Bible notes, Lutherans from all parts of the world gathered here today for the opening day of the ten-day triennial convention of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri, Ohio and other states.

Leaders of the faith said the convention probably would affirm the synod's unwavering stand as to the inspiration of the Bible and the dependability of the scriptural accounts of the creation, and the deity of Christ.

The regular annual meeting of the Ballinger Country Club will be held next Tuesday, June 15th, at which time directors will be elected and such other business transacted as may properly come before the meeting. The meeting is called for 8:30 p. m.

On this date also fishing will become permissible on the club lake and it is expected that many members will immediately avail themselves of this opportunity, as fishing has not been of the very best in other waters this spring.

E. E. Dillingham, of Dallas, formerly a resident of Ballinger, was here Wednesday, shaking hands with old friends.

NIX ACQUITTED AT SAN ANGELO

(San Angelo Standard)
Roy Nix, local cafe cook, formerly owner of a restaurant at Ballinger, was found not guilty of receiving and concealing stolen property, by a jury in Fifty-First District Court for Tom Green County late Monday. The jury was out about an hour.

The indictment charged that Nix received from Clyde Bowman and concealed ten cases of cigarettes, worth $64, which, it is alleged, were stolen on the night of June 1, 1925, from the James McCord Company's wholesale grocery establishment here. Nix was represented by Anderson & Mobley, the prosecution being in charge of Oscar Frink, District Attorney.

The case of the State vs. John J. Howington, charged with burglarizing of the James McCord grocery, was on call in District Court at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon. Next on the docket was the case of the State vs. Sam Bates, charged with possessing property for the purpose of manufacturing intoxicating liquor.

PITCHER, Okla., June 9.—Lee Flournoy and Charles Mayes, two notorious police characters, were killed, and Grover McCleary, a patrolman, was critically wounded in a gun fight here early today, in which two other officers participated.

Flournoy and Mayes were shot down almost instantly and killed by William Schmootch-Bach, a policeman, and Deputy Sheriff M. L. Woolsey.

Patrolman McCleary was accidentally shot by the other policemen while he was attempting to go to their assistance.

The police said the shooting came as a climax to "a night of drunkenness and revelry" in which the gunmen attempted to "shoot up" the town.

There are approximately fifty owners of the clips, and when the sale is consummated that many families will have benefited thereby. Wool is one commodity that is produced in Rannels county which is steadily increasing in volume each year, and the growers have been finding it one of the most profitable products that they can handle.

There will be some ten or twelve buyers here on the 15th and places of concentration to be represented are Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia.

C. W. Johnson, of Wichita Falls, is here on a visit to his wife.

GETTING BY

A man, broken in body, in mind and in spirit, has just been in with a cigar box containing shoestrings and hard lead pencils, which he offers for sale. As he held them out he said, "It's the only way I can get by."

The sad part of it is that he is just one of the 80 out of every hundred of us who reach, or will reach the age of 65. The other 79 in his hundred are not selling shoestrings, but they are living off their children—other relatives or are public charges.

It is a wonderful thing when a child can take care of its parents and do it cheerfully and as a matter of personal pleasure. But too often this service is rendered in a non-too-welcome style. Then it is hard. Then old age is bitter. Then something must cry out inside a man to live his life over—a chance that never comes.

Somewhere between the ages of 30 and 65 we all write our story. Most of us turn success into failure—just twenty turn failure into success. Looking about us today we can almost always spot those who will be among the twenty in the years to come. We can see now their idea of what is important in life—of the things by which they lay the most store. And the chances are that the statistics of the present generation will show the same percentage of dependents. There are not more than one out of every five young men you see who you can bank on being independent at 65 or any other time in their life.

The world's great story is that one about saving for the rainy day. It has been preached for centuries—and it is no true today as when grandfather was a boy.

But we go on buying automobiles before we own a home—putting our saving account on our back, spending the difference between stability and dependence. Saving nothing for the rainy day.

It's a sure way of making a harrowing old age—of creating the 1960 supply of shoestring peddlers.—San Angelo Standard.

Forty-Nine Years Ago Today Killing Frost Struck

There has been much ado made over rumors, predictions and the like this year of "the year without a summer." That there really have been years in which the summer approached a frigid zone temperature is borne out by statistical records and the following by Rev. B. W. Higham tells of a summer, forty-nine years ago, when a killing frost hit Texas:

A killing frost visited various portions of North Texas on the night morning of June, 1877.

I was farming in Llano county, where, what was then called Phillips Ranch—now Valley Springs.

My corn was from about waist high to shoulder high and was slightly damaged by the frost—a small portion of it entirely killed.

In Hamilton and some adjoining counties, I was told that the corn crop was almost entirely destroyed, and that the people of that section had to go to counties South of them to get their supply of corn for the following year.

I see that one writer places the date of said frost on June 10, and another on June 6. One man tells me that it occurred on the morning of June 8, but was in 1878.

The reason that I am so sure my dates are correct, is that I moved in the summer of 1870, from Bosque county to Llano county. The following year (1877) I farmed as above stated.

I have at various times, and to different people, spoken of that frost occurring on the 8th night and 9th morning of June.

I did not farm in 1878—hence had no crop that year.

So, according to my record, the frost was on the morning of the 9th, of June 1877.

CLOTHES TONIC FOR WOMEN

(By Associated Press)
COLLEGE STATION, Texas, June 8.—The doctrine that a new hat is more invigorating than a box of pills is being officially preached here by the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, whose board of regents is appointed by the woman governor, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.
Whether there is any connection between the presence of a woman in the governor's chair and the new gospel of clothes is not divulged, but Mrs. Dora Russell Barnes, clothing specialist of the college, is telling the women of the state that when they feel in need of a bottle of iron to buy a new dress instead.

"One is as old as she thinks she is; in order to keep young, try some new clothes instead of a bottle of medicine," declares Mrs. Barnes in her lectures.
This idea in raiment is sent broadcast over the state through the extension department of A. & M., and farm women especially are being urged to look to their garments for the renewed life which they may need. Mrs. Barnes is urging the country women to "perk up," and tells them it is not so much a problem of having the money to spend as knowing how to spend what they do have.

"One of the best tonics for the home-maker and the mother of the family is new clothes," she said. "Much of the self-consciousness and awkwardness of some of our women comes from ill fitting and ill designed clothes. The person who is well dressed will wear things suited to themselves. They will keep themselves well groomed and clean and dress with modesty and sincerity and not beyond their means."
The classes in the college clothing department and the correspondence courses are being taught along these lines, and Mrs. Barnes declares the result is seen in happier, more self-respecting, and more independent women.

Not only the disposition but the countenance are benefitted by the joy of "knowing that you are well dressed," she said.

FIRST HOME OF MAN IS CONTEST

(By Associated Press)
BELOIT, Wis., June 8.—A friendly contest between teacher and pupil is being waged by Roy Chapman Andrews, noted explorer, and Dean George L. Collie, of Beloit College, to establish the home of the first man.
Collie, head of the anthropological department, believes that Africa was the habitat of the first man on earth. His former pupil Andrews seeks to prove man first lived in Asia.

The contest, which has been carried on for several years, with Andrews the most active of the two, has disclosed considerable evidence supporting the contentions of both, but man's first home still is a mooted question.

"I do not hope in my life time to prove that Africa was the home of the first man," declared Dean Collie, "but I do hope to take some steps which may help others to decide the question."
"Andrews is certain that man originated in Asia and has the backing of many good scientists. As I told him a few months ago, 'Let's each one of us go to it, and see which is the best guesser.'"

Twenty years ago Andrews was a student at Beloit and his earliest lessons in anthropology and archaeology were gleaned from lectures by Dean Collie. Andrews was graduated in 1906 and became a naturalist and explorer. During the last ten years he has led three expeditions to Asia. Excavations in Mongolia and other Asiatic countries have unearthed specimens which Andrews thinks substantiate his contentions.

Dean Collie will renew his studies this fall when he goes abroad to continue the explorations commenced by Alonzo S. Pond and others working under his direction.

In the Saf-Saf region, in Eastern Algeria, he hopes to find tools that will aid him in following out his theory that man first lived in Africa. Tools found there in previous explorations indicate to him that man was in Africa at a very early date, even if he did not originate there.

"The nearest relatives of man of various categories of manual in the animal world are the large apes," he said. "Man has not descended through these apes but they are a relatively close collateral branch of the primates. It is well known that the highest apes, the gorilla and chimpanzee, dwelt in Africa. If Africa was favorable for the development of the higher collateral branch of the human family there are possibilities that it would favor a closely related human family."

Finds Singers and Scrub
Woman's Work About Equal

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN, June 9.—Singers and scrub women work about equally hard. A pianist uses up ten times as much energy as a tailor, and a violinist or cellist three times as much as a typist.

These are some of the conclusions arrived at by Professor Loewy of Davos, Switzerland, and Dr. Schroetter of Vienna, who tried to find out how much energy the musical career requires.

The process adopted was that of measuring the expenditure of energy of a musician at rest and while singing or playing. Similarly, measurements were taken of the nearest relatives of man of various categories of manual workers while at rest and while engaged on their jobs.

It was found that a scrub woman expends eighty per cent more energy while scrubbing than when resting. The singers rating was eighty-three per cent.

Though the red face and puffed up cheeks of a trombone player may seem to indicate that he works much harder than does a piano player, yet his rating by the two investigators was only sixty-three per cent compared with that of the pianist's 270 per cent.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Simpson left Wednesday morning for San Antonio, where they went to attend the annual meeting of the State Press Association. They left the baby with Mrs. Simpson's mother at Abilene. Leaving at 4:00 o'clock Wednesday morning Mr. and Mrs. Simpson planned to take breakfast with the band boys and Ballinger campers at Junction.

As New York Sees It

(By Associated Press)
 NEW YORK, June 8.—Broadway may be the gay, "white way" to a lot of humans but it has a "homing" aspect to a pair of pigeons which have built their nest in an electric theatre sign in the heart of Times Square. The nest is only twenty feet over the heads of the throngs that pass day and night.

Jack Tar, with the wide pants of the Navy and the little hat cocked over one eye, has returned from the tropics, to demonstrate once more what the lure of a uniform can do. While the naval vessels are being reconditioned in the Hudson, hundreds of young tars, strumming ukeleles mastered on the cruise, are the magnets that attract enough girls to give each Jack his girl, or two or three.

William T. Tilden II, also plays a good game of bridge. One afternoon he staged an exhibition tennis match at Pelham Country Club, playing single-handed against four local racket wielders. Later he took a hand in a bridge game. An hour after ward one of the Pelham bridge experts confided to a friend in the locker room: "That fellow Tilden can certainly play bridge. I know when I've met my master." In the evening Bill brought joy to the hearts of Pelham debutantes by participating in the club dance.

The "Merry Widow Hat," unseen on the boulevards for two decades, has returned this Spring in more subdued form, but quite wide enough to obviate the need of a parasol. The profuse flowers of yesteryear are missing—usually the hat is a black straw trimmed only with a black silk band—but the rim varies from eighteen to twenty-four inches. Worn above the feather-weight ensemble on a "slinkering" form, it gives the promenades much the appearance of a lane of black flowers atop colorful stems.

The influence of Greenwich Village has spread to Jefferson Market prison. The austere red brick bastille has a storm door which has been painted a flaming orange color. It looks quite "arty," and accords with the heliotrope shutters, vermilion lincts and verise stoops of the studios, shops and domiciles of the Village.

Actors will be the class most affected by the new law closing barber shops on Sunday, say the owners of Rialto shops. It has been the actors' wont to spend no small portion of the Sabbath in a barber chair. At one shop, at whose ceiling Edwin Booth, Joe Jefferson and many another famous Thespian has stared in bored silence, complaining actors already are greasing "bootleg" shaves and "blind tiger" shops, where work would be done on Sunday.

As if they didn't have enough to do with rum rings, dope rings, and robber rings, New York police now find themselves confronted with a new duty—breaking up "Charleston rings" that reform as quickly as they are broken. The Charleston ring is formed by pedestrians gathered about dusky urchins along Broadway and side streets who give sidewalk interpretations of the dance to "music" furnished by palm patting and foot slapping. Accomplices are ever alert for flipped nickels and for the approach of exasperated police.

Some thousands of young Babe Ruth's are swatting hits of amazing length in ball games played in New York's crowded tenement streets this spring. The home runs sometimes fly over six-story buildings and travel as much as two blocks.

The balls are rubber, and the bats are sawed off broom handles. The playing fields are sometimes more than a full city block long, depending on the size of the boys, but only curb to curb in width. City manholes furnish home plate, pitching box and second base.

New York dogs lead a real "dog's life," compared with their country cousins. They must wear muzzles while on the street, and are admonished by fashionably dressed mistresses or liveried chauffeurs not to bark at the traffic officers at busy street intersections. An ordinance prevents them from playing on the grass in city parks.

A brass tag licensing their right to existence must be prominently displayed.

EXPERIENCE NEEDED IN INVESTMENT BROKERAGE

(By Associated Press)

TULSA, Okla., June 9.—Experienced and mature men are necessary for the building of a clientele for an investment brokerage house, Benjamin F. Bills, of Chicago, head of a realty company, told members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards here today. He addressed the mortgage and finance division.

Two men with wise business and social contacts are worth four inexperienced men in this specialized business, Bills said.

"A new investment house can not build up a clientele with young salesmen where the new house has no contacts of its own, and it is improbable that an old house, opening a new office in a new city, can build up a clientele with young salesmen.

"Let the executives of your company sell until a foundation is laid and let any salesmen you do employ be mature men of wise business and social contacts.

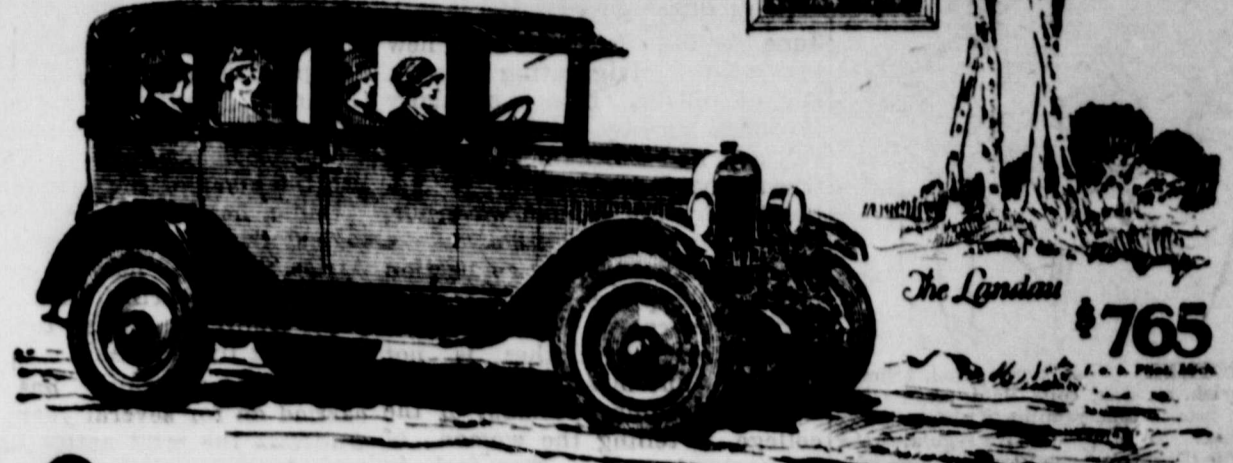

"I am not sufficiently optimistic to believe that a clientele can be built up from scratch on any list of names, no matter how guaranteed and no matter how much or how little canvassed," he said. "Neither am I enough of an advertising genius to believe that a clientele can be built up from advertising copy alone.

Before either of these building up methods can be utilized, there must be a foundation. And that foundation is contacts. And by contacts I mean either personal contacts of the salesmen whom you employ or the business contacts of the house you represent—that is to say—a house with the nucleus of a clientele.

"Advertising in the investment business should be regarded not as a means of creating business, but rather a means of business insurance."

Since the days of Shakespeare and long before, the demonstration of dramatic art has been considered a part of higher education.

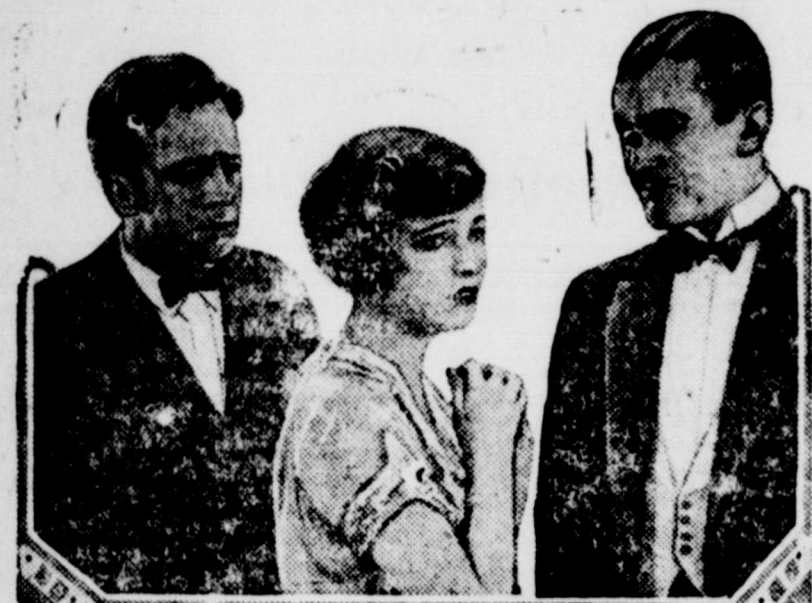

Evidence that it is proving to be a valuable part of education is that it is still being used in almost every school today.

When approaching the graduation period every public school student is looking forward with anticipation, wondering what character he or she will be called upon to portray when taking part in the class play. A real treat is in store for students of all ages when the Hopkins Players, who are professional demonstrators of dramatic art, will appear in Ballinger one week beginning Monday Night, June 14th.

Having an established reputation as being an exceptional company, they carry one solid carload of scenic electrical effects and materials which will be used in their modern tent theatre. This unique construction, seated with individual chairs providing the maximum comfort, will be located on Hutchings Ave.

Those who enjoy vaudeville will not be disappointed, as the Hopkins Players have the reputation of carrying the most of the highest class of this type of entertainment of any organization in the South—acts that have been played in the largest cities in competition with the best in America.

Corinne Griffith in New Screen Hit at Queen Today and Tomorrow

A new Corinne Griffith—an amazingly saucy creature, with pep and impudence fairly exuding from every pore.

The stately and demure and essentially cultivated personality known as Corinne Griffith on the screen has undergone such transformation. And, if wondering admirers who read these lines still doubt, let them go to the Queen Theatre tonight or tomorrow and see for themselves. Which they undoubtedly will do in any case.

Miss Griffith's complete change of personality is accomplished in a new June Mathis adaptation of an Edna Ferber story, "Classified," which came to the Queen's screen today from First National.

In it she portrays a sophisticated yet sentimentally inclined flapper type. She brings to the screen for the first time to our knowledge the want ad girl of the daily newspaper. The realism of Miss Griffith's work in this new direction is a revelation and represents another triumph for one of the screen's most versatile actresses.

Jack Mulhall ably supports Miss Griffith, and others who contribute striking characterizations are Ward Crane, Charles Murray, Edythe Chapman, Carroll Nye, George Sidney, Bernard Randall and Jacqueline Wells.

Alfred A. Santell directed the picture.

Hoot Gibson Coming to Queen in New Western

The directing of a Western feature is the most difficult of any branch of the directorial art. Only a man, bred on the plains and with an intimate knowledge of the outdoor life with which he has to deal, can do a Western feature justice. Hence, there are few capable men in that field. One of the best is Clifford Smith, brought up in Oklahoma and formerly a rancher of considerable prominence. His latest accomplishment is "The Phantom Bullet," coming to the Queen Theatre Friday and Saturday, and hailed as one of the best in its class. It is a Universal, with Hoot Gibson in the starring role and a remarkable cast, including Eileen Percy, Allan Forrest, Pat Harmon, Nelson McDowell, William H. Turner, John T. Prince, Gilbert "Peewee" Holmes, Rosemary Cooper and Robert Milash.

Will teach a class in piano this summer at home. Anyone interested phone 1290 or see me, Eleanor Greer. 31-9d-1w.

HOPKINS PLAYERS OPEN IN CITY NEXT WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hopkins Players, twenty-five people in the organization, are billed to play in Ballinger in their tent theatre, one week starting Monday night, June 14th.

According to the advance man for this attraction, M. E. Axtell, the slogan, "Best Show Ever in Town," has been used in 154 other Texas towns and from all reports they are entitled to the distinction. "Ask any citizen in a town where we have played," said Mr. Axtell, "What is the best show that ever showed here, and he'll say 'Hopkins Players.'"

"The Brat" is the offering for the opening play on next Monday night, with plenty of comedy.

Special vaudeville between the acts is a feature of every program presented by the Hopkins Players. As Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins were headliners on the B. F. Keith and Orpheum circuits several years and hold the honor of having been selected to appear on the same bill with Madame Sarah Bernhardt, "the Divine Sarah," as she was called, on the occasion of her farewell appearance on an American stage, the average person should become convinced that this company is no ordinary tent show, but one of the highest rank.

The famous Fontenelle Orchestra is a Hopkins development, and is in a class to itself. Dancing acts out of the ordinary are also a feature of the programs.

Ladies are free Monday night when accompanied by a paid adult ticket.

No insects are damaging the crops, Mr. Smith said. In districts where the farmers plowed up the fence rows and broke up the breeding places of the hoppers it is reported that the pests are scarce.

GUM-DIPPING

the Extra Process for Extra Miles!

Breaks all Tire Records

The 500 Mile Speed Classic at Indianapolis has always been a Battle of Tires. In 1911, Firestone won with fabric tires at 74.59 miles per hour. In 1920, Firestone won with cord tires at 88.55 miles per hour. In 1925, Firestone won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons at the record breaking average speed of 101.13 miles per hour.

In 1926, Firestone again won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. The ten cars to finish "in the money" were all Firestone-equipped. They went the distance without a single blowout and with but two tire failures—one due to a puncture and the other to a leaky valve.

The Firestone Record in Battle of Tires at Indianapolis

Year	Driver	Car	Tire	Miles Per Hour
1911	Harmon	Marmon	Firestone	74.59
1912	Dawson	National	Michelin	78.70
1913	Gosa	Peugeot	Firestone	78.92
1914	Thomas	Delage	Palmer	82.47
1915	DePalma	Marcello	Goodrich	89.84
1916	Ruta	Peugeot	Goodrich	81.20
1917	No Race
1918	World War
1919	Wilcox	Peugeot	Goodrich	88.06
1920	Chavinet	Moore	Firestone	88.55
1921	Miloon	Firestone	Firestone	89.92
1922	Murphy	Miniby Sp.	Firestone	94.49
1923	Miloon	H.C. Spear	Firestone	90.95
1924	Carson	Duesenberg	Firestone	98.23

1925	DePaolo	Duesenberg	Full-Size Balloons	101.13
1926	Lockhart	Miller Spec.	Full-Size Balloons	93.88

This performance is even more remarkable when you consider the terrific speeds at which the cars traveled over this fifteen-year-old, rough brick track.

Experienced race drivers will not risk their lives or chances of victory on any other tires. And in the commercial field, large trucks, motorbuses and taxicab fleet operators, who keep careful cost records are among the big users of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

The City Transportation Co., of Tacoma, Wash., writes: "One of our 12 buses on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has gone over 40,000 miles and still looks good for many miles of extra service. For all around tire safety and mileage, Firestone cannot be beat."

From Calumet Motor Coach Co., Hammond, Ind., the following: "We operate 40 buses all equipped with Gum-Dipped Tires. The very low cost per mile on which these tires operate is considerably less than that of any other make." Hayes Bus Lines, Columbia, S. C., says: "We operate 19 buses equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. A number of these tires have run over 45,000 miles without ever having been removed from the rim."

The largest taxicab companies in the world standardize on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. W. R. Rothwell, taxicab operator, Detroit, Mich., writes: "Two of my Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have run 76,000 miles."

Hundreds of thousands of car owners voluntarily testify to the safety, comfort and economy of Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. W. H. Peacock, Birmingham, Ala., testifies: "I have had Firestone Balloons for thirteen months and they have delivered in that time 24,469 miles." H. C. Staehle, Minneapolis, Minn., says: "My Firestone Balloons have gone 49,900 miles and are still in good condition."

These records of endurance, speed, safety and mileage could only have been made because of Firestone development of the Gum-Dipping process which insulates and saturates every fiber of every cord with rubber, reducing friction and heat and building greater strength and endurance in the cords—assuring you at all times—

INSTALLS FRIGIDAIRE FOUNTAIN SERVICE

The ever progressive store of John A. Weeks is this week installing a new Liquid Carbonic Frigidaire fountain at a cost of several thousand dollars. Features attending the new and more up-to-date fountain are that the same is more sanitary, will give better carbonation, a more even temperature, also being iceless. The water is kept at a temperature at all times cold enough so ice will not be needed and the ice cream compartments will be kept at and below the freezing point at all times.

There is one old attachment, however, that will continue to be a part of this new fountain, and that is the old brass railing for the drinkers to rest their feet on. This feature, according to R. W. Earnshaw, has long been a drawing card and for the sake of the old timers the railing will continue to serve its purpose.

Mrs. Futch was before her marriage, Miss Margaret Grundy, and besides two sons, Forest, of New Orleans, and John, of Ballinger; and her husband, is survived by eight brothers, J. O. Grundy, of Abilene; John, of Byers; Felix, of Galveston; Roy, Hiram, Ernest and Futeh of Wichita Falls; and Mack, of Jackson, Miss. However, it will be impossible for but four of the brothers to be present, these being J. O. Roy, Ernest and Futeh Grundy.

Others coming here to attend the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Perkins, of Kola; and J. M. Futeh, of the same place; and Mrs. Henry Williams, of Mississippi, the latter being sisters and a brother of Mr. Futeh.

Funeral arrangements have been perfected and will be held at the Ballinger Baptist Church on Thursday morning at 10:00 o'clock, having been postponed until this time in order that the pastor, Dr. Alvin Swindell, might have time to return here from Waco, where he had gone to attend the graduation exercises in which his son, Edwin, completes his course at Baylor University.

Mrs. Futeh was a consistent member of the Baptist church, and her father, who passed away about two years ago, served this denomination as pastor of several churches during his lifetime.

This good Christian woman had many friends in Ballinger and elsewhere and was appreciated and loved by all who knew her, and her demise will be keenly felt by her large circle of friends and her service in the church will also be sadly missed.

Mrs. Futeh was about 51 years of age at the time of her death.

Funeral arrangements are under the direction of the funeral department of the King-Holt Co.
