Condition of Jones Is Declared Serious

(By Associated Press)
EASTLAND, Nov. 19.—The condition of T. A. Jones, county peace officer, shot three times last night by Marshall Ratliff, whose use of Santa Claus costume as a disguise in a Cisco bank robber two years ago made it one of the most spectacular in Texas history, was said by physicians today to be very grave. Jones was shot when Ratliff, after feigning insanity, and apparently in a paralytic condition for three weeks, suddenly turned on the officer in an effort to escape from the Eastland county jail. Ratliff was brought here from the Huntsville penitentiary where he was awaiting execution for his connection with the Cisco robber and after a sanity plea had been filed by his mother.

Plans Perfected For Union Service

There will be no church service held in Ballinger on Thanksgiving Day according to an announcement by the City Pastors' Association. The regular union Thanksgiving service will be held the night before the holiday at the Baptist Church, with Rev. G. T. Reeves, pastor of the First Christian Church, delivering the sermon.

So many attractions away from Ballinger on Thanksgiving Day would make it difficult to secure a crowd on the holiday so the date of the union service was set for Wednesday evening. This plan was tried last year and proved so successful that it was adopted by the pastors' association for all these services in the future.

The music for the program is being arranged by R. E. White, who is asking the co-operation of all other choir directors of the city. A choir of forty voices will render special selections for the occasion. Singers who are chosen will be notified this week and a rehearsal will be called at the Baptist Church Monday night at 7:30 at which time anthems will be learned and the complete musical program prepared. There are seats for forty choirists at the Baptist Church, and Mr. White desires to have every chair taken by singers.

Pastors of the city will be included on the program, presenting the invocation, scripture lesson, prayer and benediction.

The local charity board will make a brief report of its activities for the past year, including the total of monies collected and expended. One member of the board will hold over, and two new members will be elected for the ensuing year. A nominating committee will be named by the chairman at the beginning of the business session who will report the two persons recommended for selection. The personnel of the present board is Harry Lynn, Willie Stephens, and Mrs. Troy Simpson.

HUNTERS BAG FOUR BIG DEER MONDAY

J. H. Hodge, manager of the Hodge Theatres in Winters and Homer Hodge of Abilene, passed through Ballinger Tuesday morning enroute to their homes after a deer hunt in Kimble county. As evidence of their hunt, they had four large bucks on their car.

Frank Krc, Delbert Davenport, Albert Hofman and Rudolph Neighman returned Monday from 40 miles below Eagle Pass where they had been on a deer hunt. The hunters were successful in bagging three deer. Two of the bucks were large twelve pointers and one four point. Mr. Krc stated that his deer dressed out 150 pounds and was one of the largest he ever saw.

Nation Mourns Loss Of Secretary Good

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The head of the nation was bowed in sorrow today at the death of one who stood high in the councils of its government, James William Good, secretary of war.

Official and diplomatic Washington joined in an unstinted tribute to the fallen cabinet officer, passing him as an able public servant, mourning his loss as a loyal, much loved friend.

Good's death came last night at the end of a week's struggle against blood poisoning which set in after an operation for appendicitis.

A state funeral will be held tomorrow in the east room of the White House, attended by President Hoover and his Cabinet and other high public officials. Flags on the Government buildings are to be at half-mast and Washington Government offices will be closed until one o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Brady Charged With Murder by Grand Jury

(By Associated Press)
BRADY, Nov. 19.—When R. C. Turner, 21-year-old alleged bank robber, goes to trial here Jan. 20, he will be a "changed man" his friends assert.

Turner is charged with robbing the Farmers and Merchants Bank at Brady at noon on March 21, and is alleged to have obtained $2,000 while four girls companions waited in a parked automobile just outside the bank.

Soon after his release on $8,000 bond, he married a McCulloch county school teacher and has been working at various jobs on the farm near Brady since then.

Approximately 75 witnesses have been subpoenaed to testify during the robbery with firearms trial.

After Turner's trial, the case of Miss Lucille Await, 24, charged with being one of Turner's accomplices in the daring daylight holdup, will be called.

No indictments have been returned against the three other girls.

Coy Nigh, 16, another alleged accomplice in the holdup, was tried before County Judge W. N. Ellis in the Brady Juvenile court several days after the robbery and has been sent to the Reformatory at Gatesville.

The six young persons were apprehended by McCulloch county officers a few hours after the holdup.

Special Venire is Called in Slaying

(By Associated Press)
LLANO, Nov. 19.—A special venire of 110 has been summoned for the trial here tomorrow of D. K. Ellison and his son, B. F. charged with murder in the slaying of L. C. Callaway here Sept. 17.

After the killing the Ellisons were pursued for three days and nights before they were arrested. After an examining trial they were held under $10,000 bond.

Callaway was a plumber and electrician, employed by the Ellisons, at the time of his death. Witnesses said he quarreled with the elder Ellison several hours before he was slain.

Lindy's Shoulder Reset Tuesday

(By Associated Press)
ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Nov. 19.—Hospital authorities today said that X-ray photographs revealed that the dislocation of the shoulder received by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in Mexico last winter had "snapped out again." His shoulder was reset yesterday and the famous flier suffered no ill effects.

Brady Charged With Murder by Grand Jury

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Nov. 19.—The Travis county grand jury today returned a murder indictment against John Brady, former judge of court of civil appeals here. Brady was indicted for the fatal stabbing of Lehlia Highsmith, a capital stenographer November 9. The indictment was returned after more than four days of deliberation. Defense attorneys are expected to institute a habeas corpus hearing in an effort to procure Brady's release on bond. District Attorney Brooks announced after the indictment was returned that he would oppose granting of bail of any amount.

LEGION PLAYERS TO NORTON THURSDAY

The American Legion play "For Cryin' Out Loud," will be presented at the Norton high school Thursday night under the auspices of the school board. For several years the Ballinger Legion shows have been taken to Norton and each year they are greeted with a full house.

On Monday night, November 25, the show will go to Wingate under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association and Dramatic Club of that town and on the next night to Winters where they will play under the auspices of the Little Theatre and the P-T-A.

The post will continue to book out-of-town engagements, until they make enough money to complete paying its indebtedness if possible. Receipts at Ballinger netted around $300 clear, but the post still owes slightly more than $200 which it is hoped to make before the show is closed for the season.

Drury Hathaway went to Abilene Tuesday morning to attend to business for a short time.

Stars in River Death Case

Ione Orde, held in connection with the death of Jack Kraft, has mystified all who have interviewed her at the jail in Pointe a la Hache, La. Also held in the case is John McGouldrick (lower left), ship's officer.

(By Associated Press)
POINTE A LA HACHE, La., Nov. 19.—A mystery novel in herself—that is Ione Orde.

Of women who lately have risen from obscurity to pique the public curiosity, none has kept herself within a shroud of secrecy with more success than this ultra-modern product, central figure in the investigation of Jack Kraft's death.

This black-haired, green-eyed girl has baffled experts on feminine psychology, shrewd detectives and even her own mother.

She landed here October 11, a riddle-woman. A month later she still was that, as the curtain slowly lifted on her past, the enigma deepened.

District Judge E. J. Miller made it very clear in his opening remarks on the first day of court in Brownwood that he wants the town cleaned up. He talked about bank robberies there during the past year, the number of well-dressed men on the street who never work and the number of thefts that had been reported. Judge Miller stated that he was not criticizing any peace officer but declared that evidence should be secured against many law violations that are common every day in Brownwood.

Every citizen of Runnels county should consider it a privilege to buy a few Red Cross Seals which will be placed on sale on Thanksgiving Day. This money is responsible in a large way for the health program carried on in this county. The county has had a health nurse for one year and the work has just been well started. Results will be seen plainly as the years go by and if the sale goes over good this year it will be no trouble to make progress in this work next year. When you receive your stamps, don't lay them aside to attend to the matter at a later date, but mail a check right back to the chairman for the amount of the seals allotted you. Other counties have been highly successful with the mail selling campaign and if Runnels people will act as soon as they receive their letter the campaign here will be successful.

The West Texas Utilities Company's little illustrated booklet entitled "The Land of Opportunity—West Texas" is being distributed in Ballinger and is one of the nicest pieces of printed matter we have seen in several years. The book tells of every industry in West Texas and each branch is illustrated with photographs. The last section in the book is devoted to scenes of their properties in different sections of this state.

Friday will be Winters Day in Ballinger. In the afternoon the Winters football team will contest the Ballinger team in a game that will determine the district champions. At night the Winters Little Theatre group will present a play at the Legion hall. Ballinger people should make a special effort to attend both attractions. Let's beat them playing football and then give them such a big crowd at night that they'll go home feeling good for their visit here. Friendly co-operation between neighboring towns is a fine thing and something that should be encouraged every possible time.

Mexico's election day was not so quiet after all. Reports show that nineteen were killed and fifty wounded in rioting over election affairs. Despite this the day was called comparatively quiet.

President Firm Praises Sargon

"At the age of 79, I'm still active in business, and I attribute my splendid energy and vitality to Sargon. I believe it added years to my life."

DAVID S. BEEKMAN

"Before I took Sargon my health had been falling steadily for five years. What I ate soured almost as soon as it reached my stomach. My nerves were all to pieces and I hardly ever got a good night's sleep. I was continually bothered with constipation and biliousness. I tried many medicines but kept losing weight and getting weaker every day. I thought I would have to give up my business, which would have cost me thousands of dollars."

"Six bottles of Sargon made me like a different man. If I have an ailment left I don't know it. My appetite is keen, all traces of stomach trouble is gone, and I sleep like a top. I've gained seven pounds and feel as well and strong as I did 25 years ago. I go to my office every morning ready for a real day's work. It's a pleasure to endorse this remarkable treatment."—David S. Beekman, President Beekman Steel Fence Co., San Francisco.

BALLINGER GUEL MAKES GOOD IN SCHOOL MUSIC

Word has been received in Ballinger that Miss Carmen Demmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Demmer, of Ballinger, has been receiving honors at C. I. A. Denton, where she is a first year student. The following notice of her achievements has been published in the school paper and re-leaked for general news.

"The outstanding achievements during her first year in college of Miss Carmen Demmer of Ballinger, have placed her among the most highly honored freshmen in the College of Industrial Arts at Denton, it was learned here Saturday.

Miss Demmer was a pupil of Verne B. Leonard, San Angelo violin teacher, for four years before leaving this fall for C. I. A. Soon after her arrival there she was appointed assistant concertmeister of the school's large symphony orchestra, and was recently accorded the place of second violin in the violin ensemble, a group of five of the most proficient students of that instrument.

"She is attending C. I. A. as a scholarship student from the Ballinger high school, having graduated with highest honors from there. The medal for the musical division of the interscholastic meet in 1928 was awarded Miss Demmer."

Miss Joe Demmer has also made an enviable record at C. I. A. and is playing first tenor saxophone in the college orchestra. Both girls are graduates of the Ballinger high school.

Modern Casey Jones Says 'Hello' And 'Mique' Gives Him Orders

By Howard W. Blakeslee (Science Editor, Associated Press Feature Service)

ANN HARBOR, Mich., Nov. 19.—When "Casey," who drives one of the electric locomotives of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, wishes dispatch orders, he stops his cab alongside a box set on a tall pole beside the track.

"Turning his face toward the box, he remarks in a conversational tone:

"Hello. This is Casey on 32." Straightaway a voice answers loudly enough to be heard across several tracks:

"All right, Casey. Set 'er in the shops for inspection."

"Okeh," replies Casey. "S'long Jim."

The booming voice comes from the train dispatcher in the control tower which is neither within sight nor shouting distance.

When the dispatcher happened to give "Casey" these orders, his hands were busy for the moment with switch levers. But he did not leave the controls, or even turn his head toward a phone. He merely spoke, in an ordinary tone, the orders which "Casey" heard.

A large box on the other side of the room picked up the words, amplified and transmitted them by radio to the engineer.

In this manner has the microphone entered railroading. Its largest scale use is in the Broad Street yards in Philadelphia, where it now has been tried out satisfactorily for months. The box on the pole is the yard "Mique," and there are 22 of him, besides as many different tracks.

A motorman of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company speaking into the microphone which carries word of his arrival to the dispatcher. When the dispatcher replies his voice comes booming out of the same device.

"Mique" has a mouth and an ear, each represented by a round opening covered with copper screen. One is his receiving apparatus, that transmits "Casey's" words to the dispatcher's tower, and the other is a loud speaker over which comes the orders.

To get "Mique's" attention, "Casey" simply pushes a button in the face of the box.

The dispatcher then receives the message in an ear phone which is worn continuously. A red light on his board shows him which track is calling, and if more than one call comes simultaneously, he can hold them all on the board, and talk to them one at a time, in the order he desires.

BROWN IS FASHIONABLE FOR BRIDESMAIDS NOW

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Capital brides this season to be a success, must have background of beauty as well as of family.

It's quite the thing now to have six bridesmaids dressed in the subdued cool weather tones of brown and beige instead of gay blues, pinks or yellows.

One bride had an outdoor wedding. She was resplendent in shining white with long train and shimmering veil that swirled about her feet like foam. Her six bridesmaids were modestly garbed in plain brown tailored dresses with small brown felt hats to match.

The matron of honor and bridesmaids at another wedding wore brown turbans and their flowers were tied with brown ribbons.

Vatican City Is Quiet Zone Amid Noisy Roman Din

(By Associated Press)
VATICAN CITY, Nov. 19.—The City of the Vatican is a City of Silence.

All around it roars the throb and beat of Rome, noisiest city perhaps of Europe. Taxi horns make a maddening hash of sound streetcars scream around curves that are never greased, metal-tired horsedrawn carriages rattle and clatter. But within the Vatican all is quiet. It is like another life, an existence apart.

You go to the Courtyard of San Damaso. From here you can climb the stairs to the reception rooms of the pope and to the rooms of the Secretary of State, Cardinal Gasparri, and of the Governor of the new state, Scerifini. It is the center of life of Vatican City.

But there is scarcely a sound, only the tinkling of a fountain the passing steps of two Swiss guards, the unsuccessful invasion of a distant taxi horn. Automobiles roll up silently with dignified men of the Church or the State within.

It is almost noon. Across the courtyard marches a guard to fire the Papal cannon. You go up the broad stairs. Here pass Cardinals and ambassadors, illustrious Visitors and "just people" come to see the Pope.

But all talk in whispers. In the halls there are heavy carpets. You walk without proclaiming it. You can breathe in the quiet as if it were fresh air.

It is noon. The cannon booms, the bells ring out the half day. And then silence again, deeper than ever. A woman nearby mumbles her Angelus. There is no other sound.

In leaving you pass the Vatican telegraph office. It is almost empty of noise. You pass the central telephone exchange. A subdued ringing of bells, that is all.

And then you step again into Rome and your ears, rested by the visit to the Pope's domain, are routed by the assault of a thousand clashing sounds.

Associated Press Feature Service Girdles
Globe to Secure Unusual and Interesting Stories for Readers of The Daily Ledger

The business of producing daily newspapers has always been replete with romance, but the cooperative efforts of American publishers have added a new movement to the fast-rolling symphony of service for readers.

Gathering together brilliant individual achievement in a world-wide organization for gathering the day's news long has been an accomplished fact. In the last few years, however, that same enterprise has been extended to the equally important class of material known as features—human-interest stories, "columns," serialized fiction, crossword puzzles, departments for women, children, sportsmen, business men and the like.

In The Associated Press Evening Paper Feature Service, of which The Daily Ledger is a member, this new development has taken form. Staff writers and representatives on all parts of the globe are constantly gathering interesting features. Experts and technical specialists in home economics, fashion, child-training, science, aviation, motoring, agriculture, finance and other fields are included in the organization. Photographers, artists and technicians play important roles.

Reaches Around the Globe
Anticipating public interest, the Feature Service editors and reporters prepare in advance many interesting features in connection with outstanding news events. Personality stories, historical sketches, interviews, pictures, in fact, all possible angles of importance, are given advance coverage so the complete story may be presented to readers of member newspapers. Before presidential inaugurations, national elections, political conventions, the world series and similar events, a large volume of such material is prepared by this organization. Only through systematic planning weeks and even months ahead, can complete and thorough coverage be provided.

Although the feature service is a distinct unit, the close cooperation of The Associated Press news-gathering forces and more than 1250 member newspapers provides a network of world-wide extent. Feature Service experts also cover "spot" news events in their various fields for the wire service. General offices of the Feature Service are at New York, with other offices in charge of feature editors at Washington, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Paris and London.

Enhancing the interest of its features is the large volume of illustrations which the organization provides. The extensive picture resources at the command of The Associated Press have aided in this development. The work of preparing drawings and photographs for reproduction is handled by a large staff of artists. To insure rapid distribution of feature material, including matrices of illustrations to newspapers, the entire organization is synchronized to a schedule of speed and every means of fast transportation is employed.

Outstanding Newspaper Writers
Experienced reporters and writers of unusual and specialized ability make up the Feature Service. Some of the daily features through which millions of newspaper readers know their authors are: "A Washington Daybook" by Herbert Plummer, "About New York" by Richard Massock, "Hollywood Sights and Sounds" by Robbin Coons, "Sport Slants," by Alan Gould, "Sundown Stories" by Alexander George.

Included in the group of specialists who write regularly for member papers are Howard W. Blakeslee and Oscar Leiding, science editors; Frank I. Weller, agricultural editor; C. E. Butterfield, radio editor; Allen Quinn, aviation and automobile editor; Jay R. Vessels, sports editor and William R. Kuhns, fiscal editor.
Cooperation of member newspapers has brought The Associated Press Feature Service to a position of development which is unique for its broad scope of coverage, worldwide organization, and wide variety of material. Through its membership in this service, The Daily Ledger brings to its readers outstanding features of interest and service in many fields.

American Movie

PARIS, Nov. 19.—The French movie industry intends to profit by the terms of the Young Plan for reparations payments by building its own "Hollywood" and pursuing a policy of "magnificent isolation" in regard to American films, according to persistent rumors.

In the category of payments in kind Germany can liquidate her debt to France with almost anything from darning needles to docks, so an installation in the form of up-to-date studios with apparatus to produce talkies would not be considered a strange form of reimbursement for war damages.

American film companies suspended all business in France six months ago when their French competitors demanded that they buy seven domestic pictures for the right to sell one Hollywood production in France.

The situation is still in a deadlock and as a result, it is reported, American pictures in France are becoming scarcer and scarcer. Logically, therefore, the domestic supply of films must be greatly increased to meet the demand. Some experts say it can be done only by construction of a movie colony that can make big pictures in a big way.

The idea of a French "Hollywood" has been in the dream stage for some time. French producers admit they lacked sufficient capital, otherwise they would have established large studios at Istres, near Marseilles, which is still considered as the most advantageous site.

Rumors that the government will be asked to turn some payments in kind to the movie industry are based on the belief that hope of this aid is the only reason that French producers, after six months, refused to modify the seven-to-one quota.

Clothes may make the woman on a smart French beach, but it's the body curves that count on the American one. This is the opinion of the French writer, Titayna, well-known aviatrix, who has recently returned from a trip around the world and has just written up her tale of it.

"What strikes a person most on an American beach," says Titayna, "is the utter absence of what might be called make-up coquetry, which has been replaced by a coquetry sportive."

"At Deauville a woman's proud of the way her eyes are set off by carefully applied mascara, proud of her bathing creation turned out by a chic French couturier, and proud of her little slippers which she does not risk in too much sand.

"On the other hand, I have been on American beaches where the sole regality was gauged by the curve of a shoulder or a limb, by the special tint of sunburn or by the manner in which a person swam the crawl. On the American side of the water, the woman on the bathing-beach is much prouder of her body than her wearing apparel, while in Europe, alas, the clothes are often worth a great deal more than the body."

Mademoiselle Titayna also comments on the differences between the children of the Orient and the Occident, finding that those of the latter do not know how to play. Dressed like adults, they live like their elders and concern themselves with grown-up manners. On the contrary, she could find no grown-ups.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—French people are learning to eat standing up. They turned down the armchair luncheon and cafeteria long ago and nobody has been able to make self served meals pay in the gourmet's capital.

But the snack bars where a glass of port, sandwiches, a hot dish or so, pastry and desserts are served are increasing in number and clientele.

One of the big food shops and catering specialists has established a hot table and cold counters in its Madeleine establishment.

Begun as an stand up lunch to crowd out the and has been experimental times its start.

"MY little son, Jackie, was troubled a lot with constipation," says Mrs. Claude Tom, 1722 South Olive St., San Antonio. "He got very weak, run-down and underweight. I gave him California Fig Syrup; and in just a little while he was eating heartily and gaining. Now I'm proud as can be; he's so robust, bright and active."

Temporary relief should be far from the first consideration when a child shows by bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness, or a listless, weak condition, that he's constipated. Of course, the child's system needs a prompt cleansing. But the youngster's bowels also need toning and strengthening.

That's where California Fig Syrup does its best work. It helps strengthen the bowel muscles; gives tone to a weak stomach. That's why faulty digestion improves with its use; bowel movements become regular and remain so.

Every child loves its flavor; its cleansing action is prompt but gentle. A pure vegetable product; no danger of causing the laxative habit. It has full medical endorsement. There are many imitations; but the word California marks the genuine.

MIRRORS OF YESTERDAY

By Alexander George

HEAVILY mustached members of the "first families" who promanaded the avenues of the national capital in the golden autumn of '99 were beginning to lose some of the chivalry for which their fathers were famed.

The Washington newspapers noted with considerable apprehension that "more men are smoking while on parade with women friends of their wives. Pretty solid chaps by no means of the rakish class—were ob-capital reported that pajamas or Oriental sleeping suits, were growing in favor despite strong masculine disinclination to abandon the time-tried nightshirt.

Jugal caps, wristlets, ear warmers and bicycle moccasins held conspicuous places in cloisters' display windows. In neckwear, one had a choice assortment of the massive Ascot, vulgarly termed a "gray catcher," the back puff or fourth-hand.

August Holmsie, 39 years old, was the Napoleon of the great copper belt in Montana. Janice Meredith served to be smoking cigars as they strolled in the F Street parade in company with young women friends.

A few exhibited sufficient abandonment to puff at a cigaret while thus in performance of convey duty. There was a time in Washington when a man would no more think of walking on the street with a young woman and a rolled weed projecting from the corner of his face than he would think of taking an airing on Connecticut Avenue in his shirt sleeves.

Pete McDonald, back from the Klondike with a great pile of gold, wore a $300 diamond in the bosom of his nightshirt while surgeons amputated his leg in a Seattle hospital. During his convalescence Pete amused himself building little structures with his gold pieces and refused to go to bed without the diamond blazing in his nightgown.

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

The spiciness of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly, relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is expelled, all sourness is soon gone, the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant for them to take.

MICROPHONES FIND USE IN FOX FARM KENNELS

EISENBERG, Nov. 19.—At the silver fox farm in Tonschutz, near this city, the first established in Europe, small microphones have been placed in all the kennels. This enables the manager of the farm to hear any unusual noise.

The less the animals are disturbed by humans, the better they flourish, and this is especially true during the breeding period. By the use of the radio such disturbing factors are reduced to a minimum.

Radio Growth Opens Big Field for Youth

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Rapid growth of radio communication is enlarging a comparatively new field of employment for young men with many opportunities, says the radio division of the department of commerce.

There is a shortage of trained radio operators which threatens to become acute within the next few years, J. H. Barron, in charge of commercial operators for the department, says. Of 7,000 licensed commercial operators in the United States, practically all are employed and the demand is increasing steadily.

The projected establishment of radio message systems in the United States competing with wire lines and development of television and other forms of visual broadcasting will open up new fields for operators and technicians, Mr. Barron says. Use of additional frequencies such as those above the 23,000 kilocycle band will provide new opportunities for experienced radio men.

The radio division itself, as well as other governmental departments, has had considerable difficulty in obtaining qualified men as inspectors. There are 63 inspectorships in the country and half a dozen vacancies exist. Government radio operators often leave the service for more lucrative positions with commercial concerns.

Radio operators at broadcasting stations and shore radio telegraph stations get a minimum salary of about $50 a week, Mr. Barron says. The salaries of operators on ships range from $95 to $150 a month, with room and board.

FRENCH REDUCE FIELD FOR WOMEN WORKERS

(By Associated Press)

PARIS, Nov. 19.—The women have done their work so well they have worked themselves out of their jobs.

Just as they felt the gray-bearded senators would soon vote the often rejected suffrage bill, men in public service have hit them in the bread-and-butter department.

Three branches of the government have blocked women's progress toward conquest of male jobs. The prefecture of the Seine, where three of four employees are women, has barred women from future service examinations. The senate recently did likewise. The post, telephone and telegraph service has set up a new barrier to prevent women getting "equal pay for equal work" with the men.

Admittedly, women have had better grades than men in the civil service tests. It is said, by some of the women, that the prefecture examiners this year gave the women much stiffer examinations than they did the men, hoping to flunk them out of competition.

In any case, women again had most of the higher grades and had to be certified on the eligibility list. Now the men, to make the working world safe for the male, have barred women "until the balance is restored," which is taken to mean that women can't have more than half the jobs.

Be wise and advertise.

Mississippi Lady Tells How She Suffered Until She Had Taken Cardui on a Friend's Advice.

Greenville, Miss.—In describing how she suffered several years ago, Mrs. Mattie Dalton, of 112 Pecan Street, this city, recently wrote:

"I would cramp, and my hands and feet would draw, so I came near having convulsions. I would have to stay in bed, sometimes a week, and when I would get up, I just dragged around, and did not feel like doing my work. I suffered a great deal with my back.

"A friend came to see me and saw how I suffered. She told me to try taking Cardui, which I did. I seemed to have more strength, after my first bottle. After I had taken about four bottles of Cardui, I saw a great improvement.

"I quit having such bad spells, and was stronger and better than in a long time. I gained in weight, I took a few more bottles of Cardui, and felt so well that I quit taking it.

"I certainly can recommend Cardui, for I know what it is to suffer, and I know that Cardui helped me." Thousands of women have written to tell of the benefit Cardui has been to them, in helping them to build up their health.

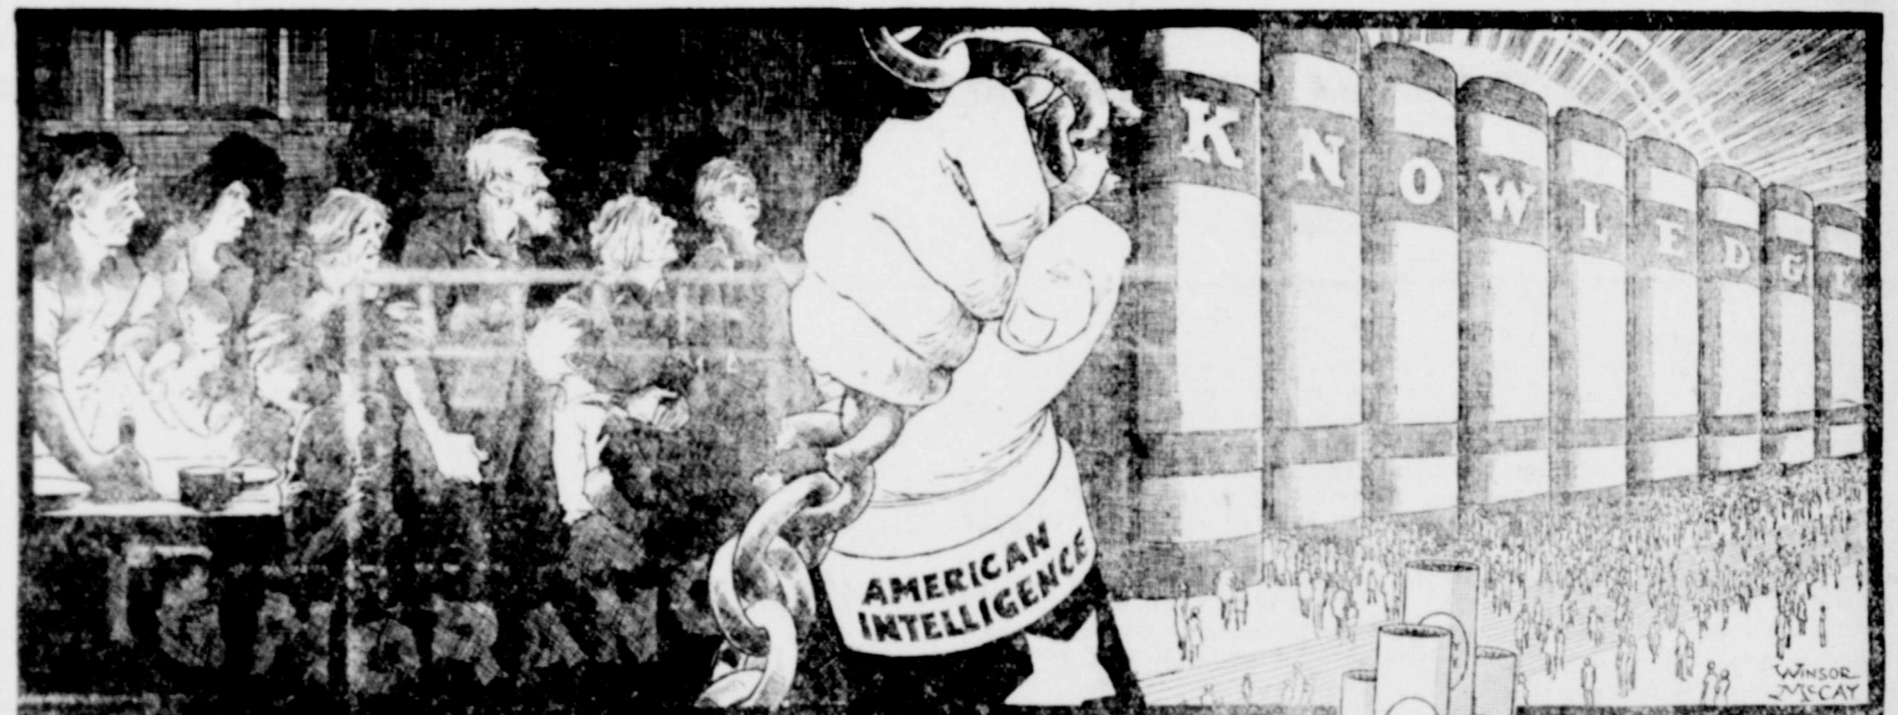

Having helped so many others, Cardui should help you, too. Take CARDUI 30 YEARS OF USE BY WOMEN

Prejudice Thrives Where Ignorance Hives! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE beckons all to cultivate knowledge. Tyranny, intolerance and poverty wither as schools grow in this great land of opportunity.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

Pinch Passers Get Call Over Pinch Kickers

By Fielding H. Yost
VATICAN CITY, Nov. 19.—The (AP)—The lad who specializes in drop kicks has yielded his place in the football picture to the one who can pitch forward passes that click in the pinches.

A few years ago game after game would be scoreless outside of a single deciding dropkick. But the age of forward passing has changed all that.

I checked over the score of 321 college games played during the first half of this season and found but one score listed as 3 to 0. That was for the Miami-Wittenberg game which the former won.

Other games where there was more scoring probably were decided by dropkicks, but there certainly weren't very many. Yet there were many in which these forward pass performers figure prominently.

This development doubtless is responsible for the steady increase in total scores. Obviously scoring plays involving pinch forward passes produce greater totals than scoring plays involving mere drop-kicks.

Comparing the scores of 321 games in which the same teams met in 1928 and 1929, I found the added scores of both teams was higher in 178 games and lower in 143. These games included all played by 123 teams in which opponents this year were met at some time last year.

The most marked scoring tendency of the year was revealed by eastern teams, Pennsylvania and West Virginia being included in this territory. There 92 games had a higher total than a year ago while 53 had smaller. The middle west, Ohio to the Rockies, played 39 games with larger scores and 40 with smaller. Teams of this section displayed a distinct tendency to meet few of the teams this year which were played a year ago.

The south, from the Atlantic seaboard to Texas had slightly larger scores than a year ago, the higher marks leading 24 to 29 while the mountains and the coast, included in the far west classification has reduced scoring largely because important games found their place in the October battles. Of these far west games, 23 had larger scores than a year ago while 30 had smaller.

FILIPINOS LIKE SOUND FILMS AFTER BAD START

MANILA, Nov. 19.—The talkies have made up for their poor start here and are going over strong except in one theatre. Two more houses have installed them and a fourth is to follow suit. The two latest theatres to show them are drawing the largest crowds ever attracted to the playhouses in this city.

The musical numbers are highly popular and apparently the matter of language is not such a difficulty as was expected. Either the Filipinos understand English as it is spoken on the films or they do not find it necessary to understand the players, for they are taking in the new entertainment in far greater numbers than they ever went to the silent pictures.

The one exception to the popularity of the talkies is the first theatre to install them. The acoustics are bad and even the owner says that the situation, so far as his house is concerned, is not likely to improve.

Briton To Burn Daytona Sands In Drive On Segrave's Record

Kaye Don (right), English motor racer, will attempt to beat the motor speed mark of 231 miles an hour set by a fellow countryman, Sir Henry Segrave (left). Below is Segrave's famous Golden Arrow as it set the record at Daytona Beach. Capt. Malcolm Campbell (upper center) is said to be considering a racing comeback.

(By Associated Press)
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—(AP)—The crystal sands of the ocean speedway here this winter will see a new and spectacular assault upon the world's automobile speed record of 231 miles an hour.

This time it is to be Kaye Don, well known British driver, who will attempt to wrest the title from his fellow countryman, Sir Henry Segrave.

Segrave set the present record here last March when he exceeded by 23.7 miles an hour the previous mark held by an American, the late Ray Keech of Philadelphia.

Segrave since has announced his retirement from automobile racing and has taken up motorboating as a hobby. His record-holding car, the Golden Arrow, has been placed in a museum in England.

Dates for the forthcoming speed classic, for which no American entries yet have been made, formally have been set for March 1 to 15, although they are subject to change.

Don, who is well known in racing circles on the European continent, will be a newcomer in the American high speed classic. He is a veteran driver.

The American Automobile Association, which has supervised previous automobile trials here, has been advised that Don's machine is under construction. Little is known on this side as to the specifications except that it is to be equipped with two 1,900-horsepower motors in line. It is believed to be of the four-wheel drive type.

Indications that the world's record also might be attacked by another British driver before long is seen in an announcement by the American Automobile Association that Capt. Malcolm Campbell of England, a former record holder, is considering a comeback.

He set a record of 206.95 here in February, 1928, his 12-cylinder Blue Bird, before Keech came along in a giant 36-cylinder machine and boosted the mark up to 207.55.

Whether he will come to Daytona Beach in the event he decides to try again is not known here.

At any rate, regardless whether Don or Campbell succeed in establishing a new record, the title is doomed to remain abroad for another year at least, unless America can produce a machine and driver capable of bettering Segrave's mark of nearly four miles a minute.

It has been rumored that several Americans are interested in the construction of a record-contending machine, but so far they have made no public announcement.

J. M. White, of Philadelphia, who owned the three-motored iron steed in which Keech set his record, temporarily has dropped out of the high speed racing picture since Lee Bible, a Daytona Beach mechanic, crashed to his death in it in attempting to re-

IN THE REALM OF SPORTS

Season tickets were sold at the beginning of the season good for five games at home. The Winters game will be the seventh game to be played here this year and most of the tickets have been used up. The officials of the football team requests that if you have attended five games on your ticket that you do not present it Friday at the Winters game. In the rush a number of tickets have gone by the gate keeper without being punched and it will be left up to the honesty of the holder to determine if they have used the ticket up. No ticket is good for more than five games.

The team is in fair shape for Friday Chastain will likely be out. His nose which was broken in the Coleman game has been giving trouble and will likely keep him away from practice this week and out of the Winters game.

Several others have minor injuries that will not keep them from playing however. Jones has an infected finger that is being treated daily. Reese has a bad sore on his hand but all other players are in tip-top shape and rearing to go.

Underwood will get the chance Friday to flash against his old team mates. He is drafted by the Winters team this season and will be watched closely on his famous end runs that has netted so much ground this year for the Bearcats.

The team after a weeks layoff is getting back to hard work. A few new plays and a few changes to others will be ironed out this week and the team in perfect physical condition they should be rearing to go when the whistle blows.

There has been a lot of talk about the town closing for the game Friday but no concerted action has been taken regarding this action. It would swell the crowd greatly in case it is done and by closing from three to five everyone could see the game.

Comanche now looms as the team that Ballinger will be thrown against in case they win the district championship. Comanche has played a wonderful season, winning all their games and has one of the fastest rated teams in Class B football. Gurman, the district favorite was eliminated by Comanche last week end.

Announcement has been made that there will be no pep rally before the Winters game as in past years. Judging from last year's experience, the rallies are not good for players or fans, and the game will be played and if we win, the celebration can be held afterwards.

TOKYO FOSTERS BIRTH CONTROL AMONG POOR

(By Associated Press)
TOKYO, Nov. 19.—The capital of Japan is making official preparations to furnish birth control information to its poor in an effort to relieve the suffering that comes from large families in poverty stricken homes.

This sociological experiment, especially startling in the Orient where ancestors worship has placed a premium on large families, is hailed by proponents of birth control as opening the way for application of this remedy on a national scale to Japan's overpopulation problem.

Yukichi Shirakami, deputy mayor of Tokyo, said it was the purpose to give information only to couples that already have four children and can show that they are too poor to care for more. Information will be denied to young newly married couples and to persons of wealth.

Mr. Shirakami said that the municipality hoped birth control would help to lower the high infant mortality rate and eventually reduce the number of families dependent on official charity.

"I am certainly pleased with Orgatone, for what it has done for me," said Mr. Leroy Eplen, of 2703 Simons Ave., Abilene, Texas, while talking with the Orgatone representative recently.

"I just simply couldn't feel like my natural self for a whole year. I was so bothered with stomach trouble. My food would sour on my stomach just as soon as I ate anything, gas would form and I felt full and puffed up from one meal until the next. The food I ate did not taste good and I didn't want to eat it. Some days I felt tired and worn out and not fit for work. The pains in my stomach would be rather sharp and cramping at times. I was never too sick to keep on my job, but didn't have any energy or pep to go about. I was getting completely down. I was getting worse all the time and needed something to build me up and give me the much needed pep, energy and strength."

"I had heard so many people talking about Orgatone and after several of my friends recommended it to me I bought a bottle."

"Well, oh, I have certainly improved. After I had taken the first bottle I could notice a big difference. I can do my work and never get tired, and eat anything I want and never suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion afterward. I enjoy eating now because I know it will help me instead of making me feel miserable afterward. I am getting better every day. I don't dread to go to work any longer for I have more strength and pep than I did. I am gaining in weight right along and don't hesitate to recommend to any one suffering as I did. It has helped me in such a way that it was so perfectly and easily. It was a pleasure to take Orgatone."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Ballinger at the Weeks Drug Store.

CARL HENSLEE as "Dad"

ROY MACK as "The Butler"

The reserved seat sale for the attraction at the American Legion auditorium on Friday night of this week took off with speed and indications point to a sell-out. The offering is the Winters Little Theatre play, "New Brooms." A large number of Ballinger people saw this performance in Winters last week and were eager to bring the play here for local presentation.

"New Brooms" is a father and son story with a wonderful plot. Comedy lines are excellent and are said to cause roars of delight from start to close. The main comedy role is depicted by Carl Henslee, as the father. His work in the part is as good as is seen on any local stage, amateur or professional, and he also is said to be capable of portraying characterizations that deal with heart interest. Roy Mack, a former Ballinger citizen, is another outstanding performer, furnishing his quota of plot and laughs.

The Pat Williams Post of the American Legion, under whose auspices the play is being brought to Ballinger, is staging the advance sale of tickets this week. The Legionnaires personally guarantee the performance from every standpoint. Seats can be reserved now at Weeks Drug Store. The center section of the Legion hall will be reserved and the sections on the right and left sides of the auditorium will be sold to children and adults at 25 and 35 cents.

with the skill of a trained actress. She withstood, immovable, the rigors of a third degree, the pleadings of a priest of her church and of her distraught mother, and not once did she falter in those lines. Her prosecutors, who tried to break down her story, she drove to exasperation by boldly enacting her role on the witness stand with a threat of perjury dangling before her.

From the witness stand she openly smiled at John McGouldrick, ship's officer, man-about-town type, indicted on a murder charge in connection with the death of young Kraft in what the prosecution contends was a fight over the girl. She was determined to defend him, then, she said, to marry him.

That might well be the picture of a woman of the world, but in her antics out of court she has presented herself in quite another light.

She has been viewed romping in glee at "tag" with youngsters in the jailyard and chasing baby chicks to the disgust of a raffish hen.

"What is your name?" bellowed the district attorney, in court. "Ione Marie Gloria Gay Powell-Rouzer Orde," she replied sweetly. She explained her maiden name was Marie Gloria Rouzer; that she became Gay Powell on her marriage to a British actor in France, and used Ione Orde on sketches she made.

Twenty-one years old now, Ione was reared in France.

She left New York early in October with Jack Kraft, a press-room employe with other ambitions and a bent for travel. Aboard the steamship Creole they found their total capital was less than $25.

They planned to tarry a while in New Orleans, then hitch-hike to the Pacific Coast, sketching and writing. It was an idea they had.

Aboard the ship the girl met John McGouldrick, suave second officer. The night of October 11, a drama, full details of which have not been established, was enacted on the boat. The climax came when the lookout called: "Man overboard."

Rescue failed. When the Creole reached New Orleans the log told of Jack Kraft committing suicide. The story was accepted by authorities. A few days later Kraft's body was washed ashore. A bullet hole through his heart was found.

The girl was arrested with Sammy Epstein, second steward. Epstein entered the jail here as its first occupant since last spring. Both he and the girl maintained Kraft had jumped overboard. Then, the day the Creole started on the return voyage, the girl scribbled a note to McGouldrick, expressing her love for him.

McGouldrick was arrested when the boat reached New York and taken to the Pointe a la Hache jail. He said he had no intention of marrying the girl.

For weeks Ione's identity was sought. She insisted her true name was Ione Orde. Then someone found an athletic medal among her effects with "Gloria" scratched on it.

Finally her mother, Mrs. Gloria M. Rouzer, recognized her daughter from newspaper photographs.

Mrs. Rouzer hurried to Louisiana with Miss Dorothy Fooks, a lawyer. Even after Mrs. Rouzer arrived, the girl denied she was her mother. Finally, though, she rushed to her mother's arms, weeping.

She explained she wished to protect the family name. "This is the first time my daughter has deceived me," she said. "I cannot understand her." And neither can others.

"What do You Mean . . . Penetrates Metal Surfaces?"

A Plain Answer to a Reasonable Question

THE Germ Essence, imparted to highly refined paraffin base crude under a patented process exclusively owned by the Continental Oil Company for North America, actually penetrates and combines with metal surfaces, forming a permanent, protective film.

No matter how long a motor stands idle or how cold it gets, this film is present and immediately lubricates the moving parts when the engine turns over.

It takes five to ten minutes—often longer—for the oil in the crankcase to fully flood the bearings in the starting operation. During this period, automotive engineers agree, from 40% to 60% of motor wear occurs. This wear is reduced to a minimum by the ready-and-waiting lubrication which the Germ Essence imparts to CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oils, retaining it on and in the surface pores.

CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil stands up under every condition of stress and strain. It will not break down or burn nor will it evaporate to any appreciable degree.

No other oil possesses these qualities.

So positive are we in our convictions, so positive have been our tests of this remarkable lubricant, that we are perfectly willing for you to select any operating condition—no matter how extreme—and we will meet it with CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil so satisfactorily that you will never consider using any other oil.

Go now to stations and dealers displaying the CONOCO Red Triangle—have your crankcase drained and begin immediately to profit through the use of this remarkable oil.
