Little League All- Stars Defeated by Knox City

Knox City's All-Stars defeated the Crowell All-Stars by a 9-2 score last Thursday night on the Knox County Little League field. The game was much closer than the score would indicate, as the local youngsters matched their opponent base hit for base hit and walk for walk but only plated a pair of runs.

The story of the game is told in the number of base runners left stranded for Crowell. Two men died on base in the first inning, three in the second, and two each in the third, fourth and fifth, as only Barry Branch and Bill Lynch managed for hits to drive runs across.

Branch had a fine night, scoring both Crowell runs and had a perfect night at bat with a double and a home run in two official trips to the plate. Bill Lynch and Mike Matus hit one-for-two. Jessie Barrera hit one-for-three, and Junior Urquizo hit one-for-four.

Wayne Bufkin, Knox pitcher, allowed six hits while walking six and striking out eight. His one hit, a three-run home run in their big third inning, was the big blow of the game. Shortstop Rogers Lankford hit two-for-three for the Knox County entry. Jessie Barrera pitched shut-out ball in his two innings on the mound. This defeat eliminated Crowell from the play-offs, thus ringing down the curtain on another Little League season.

Foard County and all of West Texas continue in the grip of hot dry weather. The temperature recorder at the Crowell State Bank climbed to 112 degrees last Saturday afternoon. The temperature has risen past the 100 degree mark every day for the past several weeks.

The last general rains over this area fell on June 11 and 12, and the total for the two days was 2.13 inches. No rain of any consequence has fallen since that time.

Reports are that the cotton is continuing to hold up fairly well, but pasture grass is suffering a great deal.

Due to the long time since heavy fast-falling rains over this area, tanks over the county are drying up at a rapid rate.

Clouds which began building up Tuesday afternoon to the north of Crowell gave promise of some rain, but only a very light sprinkle fell in Crowell.

State Biologists Make Survey of Fish in City Lake

Biologists from the Slaton office of the Parks and Wildlife Commission, were in Crowell last Tuesday and Wednesday and ran tests on the City Lake, seeking to determine why no channel catfish have been taken from the lake this year. The tests involved leaving 350 feet of variable size mesh gill nets in the lake overnight Tuesday and seining the edges with a minnow seine.

Game Warden Charles Talbert said that only one channel cat was caught in the nets, and although a number of small bass were caught by seining, no baby channel catfish was caught.

Talbert said that for the second year, bass fishing has been reported as good, and from the numerous spawns of young bass seen in shallow water and taken by seine, suggests that the bass population in the lake is adequate.

However, catching only one channel cat in the nets and seeing no spawns, caused the biologists and Mr. Talbert to place an order with the state fish hatchery for small channel cat to restock the lake with that species.

Temperature tests conducted by the biologists in the lake showed that the water temperature in the deepest part of the lake—which, incidentally, was not over a man's head—was 86 degrees, while the water in the shallow parts along the edges was as high as 106 degrees.

Mr. Talbert said from the tests made, there was no indication of rough fish being in the lake.

The game warden stated that a great deal of bass fishing in the lake during the past two years points out the fact stressed by the Game and Wildlife Department that heavy fishing in a lake does not appreciably deplete the supply of fish in the lake.

ed without a conventional can opener.

The introduction was described by Mr. Wilson as "another example of the Coca-Cola industry's continued efforts to improve all packages wherever possible. The can is a convenience package and we believe this new end further enhances its attraction as a convenience container."

Mr. Wilson stated that the can as a container for soft drinks has shown strong growth tendencies. "In fact," he said, "the U. S. Department of Commerce reports that during the first two months of this year, shipments of cans for soft drinks have increased 80 per cent over a similar period last year. The Lift-Top Can is another in a long line of packaging innovations introduced by The Coca-Cola Company, among which are the distinctive bottle, the carton, dispenser, coin cooler and Pre-Mix."

The 12 oz. cans with the new top were developed in cooperation with the American Can Company and Continental Can Company. They will be available for use by Coca-Cola bottlers in most areas of the country. Introduction of the new can in Crowell is being supported by extensive advertising and promotion in newspapers

Vernon Eagle Scout Tells More About National Jamboree

by Ross Serold

Valley Forge, Pa. — George Washington and the Revolutionary War soldiers who made Valley Forge an honored locale in American history couldn't have been busier than the 53,000 Boy Scouts gathered in the 2,000 acre state park for the National Jamboree.

The twelve boys from Wilbarger, Hardeman and Foard Counties—all part of two troops from the Northwest Texas Council — are doing their part to make the Jamboree a memorable event.

On hand for the event from the three-county area are Scoutmaster Ray Shirley of Crowell, Assistant Scoutmaster F. A. Jones of Vernon, Boyd Clement, James Golden Jr., Dennis Hackler and Ross Serold of Vernon; Paul Stapp, Stephen Kralicko, Bob Shirley, Ernest Magee, Billy Hord, Steve Bell and Larry Hughton of Crowell and John Jeffery of Quanah.

Steve Kralicko has kept his patrol of Quanah and Crowell busy with the daily jobs of the Jamboree. Every boy has to be a fireman one day, a cook the next, then a waterboy, then the most dreaded job of the Jamboree—camp-site cleaner. James Golden and Boyd Clement have also kept busy with the different jobs around camp.

Although every one is just a little homesick, even if some of the boys won't admit it, they are cheered when they are able to send letters home.

Mr. Shirley requires that every boy send home some type of correspondence every two days.

Mr. Jones has kept the camps very clean, although the boys have the quartermaster's job and leave food every meal under Mr. Jones' direction.

A typical day in the life of a Jamboree scout is action-packed. Besides having to do his chores around camp, the Scout must work on his Adventure Award. To get an award the Scout must meet the requirements set up by professional instructors in one of the field sports areas—marksmanship, archery or angling.

The U. S. Weather Bureau has set up a station for this city of 10,000. Forecasts are made daily, but so far they have failed to make an accurate forecast.

They have predicted rain every day, but no rain is in sight.

A main part of the adventure award is a friendship exchange. A boy from the troop must eat with someone from another region. Region 5, our region, covers Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

Steve Kralicko led the boys on a trail through the Jamboree past the spot where George Washington maintained his Revolutionary headquarters.

This five-mile hike was perhaps hardest on John Jeffery, because he is the shortest member of the patrol—only 4-11.

Mr. Shirley always brings up the rear in an expedition of this sort.

Another requirement of the award is an obstacle course. The boys felt the hardest part was the wall climb. Bob Shirley had some trouble with the 12-foot wall, but got over with a boost from his patrol.

On Saturday night, an American Heritage campfire was held to honor the soldiers of the Revolution. Each Scout received a replica of a Continental Dollar. After the ceremony, each patrol presented a "re-enactment" skit. The "Pack-a-deck" patrol led by Steve Kralicko presented the assassination of President McKinley. The patrol members, Bob Shirley, John Jeffery, Larry Hughton, Paul Stapp, Billy Hord, Ernest Magee and Steve Bell, played roles in the street. Boyd Clement assisted the Jackrabbit Patrol with "PT 109." James Golden help with the assassination of President Lincoln done by the Thunderbird Patrol.

The boys keep in contact with home not only by letter. They may call by pay telephone any time they wish. Most everyone has called at least once.

The boys have the opportunity to go to a religious service daily. On Sunday, there were 13 religions represented. Every boy in Troop 56 attended one of the religious services. All of the Protestant religions worshiped together.

The Jamboree experience has been wonderful for everyone so far. With the six hours of sleep nightly, everyone is fine. Mr. Shirley reports that everyone will be home on schedule, Thursday, July 30.

The several hundred guests that Station Supt. Dr. Joe P. Wells will host Aug. 7 will inspect current research in grain sorghums, guar-cotton rotation, wheat and cotton.

Said the county agent: "Where once the sorghum improvement efforts consisted of introducing such new crops as Sudangrass and Hegari from other countries, these same countries now are introducing greatly improved varieties and hybrids originating at the Chillicothe station."

First session of the field day will begin at 8:30 a. m., will feature addresses by four scientists known throughout the Rolling Plains—indeed, throughout the Southwest—for their knowledge.

After a lunch served at the station by the Medicine Mound Home Demonstration Club, those attending will tour the research facilities.

Beef supplies are still running far above average. So use beef to make your sandwich meals to celebrate August Sandwich Month. Also, turkey makes delicious sandwich fillings—and is so refreshing.

Seasonally heavy marketings of turkeys are expected this month. The 10 to 20 per cent rise over last year is due in part to high hatchability rates.

The June 1 forecast of 112,000 tons of California plums is a 6,000-ton increase over last year's record high crop. Recent cool weather has delayed harvesting, so supplies are expected to be heavy in August.

In addition to these plentiful, heavy supplies from both nearby and distant commercial gardens continue to provide such summer vegetables as carrots, cabbage, lettuce, peas and tomatoes, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Marketing Service.

Edible vegetable oils remain at high levels with crude oil prices near their all-time low.

Field Day for Chillicothe Station to Be Held Aug. 7

"Farmers and ranchers in Forard County are urged to take part Friday, August 7, in the annual field day of the Rolling Plains Soil and Crop Research Station near Chillicothe," says Joe Burnett, County Agent.

The several hundred guests that Station Supt. Dr. Joe P. Wells will host Aug. 7 will inspect current research in grain sorghums, guar-cotton rotation, wheat and cotton.

Said the county agent: "Where once the sorghum improvement efforts consisted of introducing such new crops as Sudangrass and Hegari from other countries, these same countries now are introducing greatly improved varieties and hybrids originating at the Chillicothe station."

Speakers at the program will be P. T. Marion, long-time superintendent of the Rolling Plains Livestock Research Station near Spur, who will discuss "Small Herd Beef Cattle Operations."

L. E. Brooks, veteran superintendent of the Wichita Valley Experiment Station near Iowa Park, whose subject will be "Gair—A Crop for the Rolling Plains."

Dr. James W. Graves, Texas A&M University professor of agricultural economics and sociology, whose topic will embrace "Locating or Establishing New Markets for Agricultural Products."

Dr. H. O. Kunkel, associate director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, who will talk of "Agricultural Research of the Future."

The Chillicothe station, established cooperatively in 1905 by the USDA and TAES to test sorghum introductions, serves the agriculture of the Rolling Plains, an area comprising 24 million acres.

The station is engaged in a wheat variety testing program, along with other Texas stations. Among varieties produced earlier from this kind of research and increased for distribution as foundation seed stocks here were Comanches, Comoros, Westar and Wichita. Seed of the improved Crockett and Tascosa varieties are being increased and are available in certified growers.

Evaluation of cotton varieties at the Chillicothe station has been constant since 1917, and has helped farmers in Forard County to determine those varieties best suited to their needs and which likely will show a profit, said the county agent.

LITTLE LEAGUE NEWS

by Marion Crowell

Last week's Knox City game will furnish fuel for the hot-stove league for many a day. The game started out like our kids would "blow 'em out of the tub," but, after two innings, the Knox kids seemed to be living charmed lives. We got the men on bases, but just couldn't buy a base hit when it meant runs.

What if Ken Sellers had been playing with the team? He batted over .400 during the regular season. What if this? What if that? Defeat of our All-Stars at the hands of Knox City was a bitter pill for all of us to take, but the sting of defeat was lessened somewhat by the nice trophies Knox City gave each Little Leaguer. Have you seen one? They are real nice. Much larger than you would imagine. Billy Hollenbaugh dropped by and showed his, next day after the tournament.

Well, it's all over for another season except for the swimming party and the ice cream. That will be next Tuesday night, August 3.

Official scorer Bill Nichols furnishes the following final statistics on batting. Did you realize that this was a "pitcher's year?" Official statistics show that only nine of the top ten hitters hit above the .300 mark:

SCS Urges Mowing of Grass Waterways

by Soil Conservation Service

In keeping your waterway mowed this time of the year the grass grows more dense and covers the ground better. Mowing helps keep tall weeds from shading and choking out the grasses.

A well maintained waterway is cheaper to keep maintained or mowed than letting a waterway grow up in tall grass and weeds. If a waterway is not mowed, it may later become clogged in places, silted, or cause washed out pot holes along in the channel. Large fast rains require the full capacity of waterways but if the waterway is grown up in weeds it may require some additional room and repair bill. A shredder-type mower connected to your farm tractor makes a quick easy way of maintaining your waterway.

Corse to Attend National Conference

Graham, Tex.—George Corse Jr., GOP nominee for Congress, will leave for Washington, D. C., on Saturday, Aug. 1, to attend the Republican Congressional Conference. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Corse and their son, William Clair.

Republican Congressmen and nominees from all over the U. S. are attending the conference to map strategy and campaign plans and to coordinate efforts.

Those attending the conference will also hear addresses to be given by such notables as Presidential Nominee Barry Goldwater, Vice Presidential Nominee William Miller, along with Charles Halleck, Thruston Morton, Walter Judd and Dean Burch, the new national committee chairman. The program will be under the direction of Bob Wilson, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

The Corses expect to be back in their home district (13th) by Wed., Aug. 16, ready to continue a vigorous campaign.

Orville Freeman to Speak in Vernon Saturday, August 1

Vernon—Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman will be the principal speaker for an appreciation dinner here at 7 p. m. Aug. 1, honoring U. S. Rep. Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls for his role in development of a stop-gap wheat program after marketing quotas were rejected by the nation's growers last year.

Rep. Purcell is chairman of the wheat sub-committee of the House Agriculture Committee.

The event is sponsored by the 10-county Rolling Plains Wheat Growers Association, with the national. Texas and Oklahoma wheat growers associations also participating.

Mr. Freeman will stage a press conference at 5 p. m. at Wilbarger auditorium, in which Texas and Oklahoma news media representatives will be invited to ask questions relative to agriculture and the nation's farm program. The newsmen will be guests of the wheat growers at the press conference and at a dinner which will precede the appreciation banquet.

David Williams, president of the Rolling Plains Wheat Growers' Association, says the banquet is already a near sell-out. Some 500 are expected to attend.

Among the speakers to pay tribute to Rep. Purcell, in addition to Sec. Freeman, are Anson Horning of Larned, Kansas, president of the National Association of Wheat Growers; Bob Kerr of Altus, Okla., vice president of the Oklahoma Wheat Growers' Association, and Leo Witkowski of Hereford, president of the Texas Wheat Growers Association.

No Simple Solution to Our Balance of Payments Problems

President Funston of the New York Stock Exchange says: "... there is no simple solution to our balance of payments problems. The international flow of funds area is replete with complex relationships and involved technical considerations. Any country, be it the Netherlands or Nigeria, attempting to master its international payments situation is faced by difficult questions. These issues, however, are compounded when we come to the United States, for we serve as the world's banker and our dollars represent a great part of other countries' financial reserves. Thus, the U. S. must constantly keep in mind its special responsibilities when designing corrective actions in the payments area."

From the News . . .

THIRTY YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the Thursday, August 2, 1934, issue of The Foard County News:

To J. R. Beverly, presiding officer of the the No. 2 Northeast Crowell voting box, and his staff of election clerks goes the honor of being the first to bring complete returns to the election result board operated by Reeder's Drug Store Saturday night. Within four minutes after the closing of the polls at 7 o'clock, the complete returns from No. 2 were being posted on the blackboard.

A telegram was received in Crowell last Saturday afternoon from Senator Tom Connally stating that Foard County had been designated for Emergency Drouth Relief under the Jones-Connally Cattle Relief Act.

Would Be Advanced Further by Sound Fiscal Measures

In the view of the Council of State Chambers of Commerce, the war on poverty drive would be advanced further by sound fiscal measures rather than by the Administration's program. It cites figures showing that, allowing for price adjustments, the proportion of families with cash incomes under $3,000 was reduced from 32 per cent of all families in 1950 to 25 per cent in 1955, 21 per cent in 1960, and 20 per cent in 1962. It adds that this was accomplished primarily through the growth of the economy.

Two Minutes With the Bible

The Water of Life
For almost twenty-four hours, recently, Chicagoans had to boil their drinking water! Millions of small fish had jammed the water intakes far out in Lake Michigan, and had died there. It was, of course, a major operation to clear them all away and make sure that Chicago's drinking water was uncontaminated.
It is of the utmost importance, always, that the water we drink is pure and fresh, and this is no less so where spiritual matters are concerned. The Bible has much to say about stagnant water, and foul water, and poisoned water, but the spiritual life of those who trust in Christ for salvation is called "the pure water of life," doubtless because it is so wholesome and refreshing.
Perhaps the reader will recall the picture our Lord drew for that sinful Samaritan woman at the well of Sychar. John 4:10-14 tells how He and the Samaritan woman discussed Jacob's well. Somehow she seemed to sense that He was contrasting her vain pursuit of pleasure with eternal life, when He said:
"Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again, but whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst but the water that I shall give him shall be in him, a fountain of water, springing up into everlasting life" (vers. 13, 14).
How true this is! The pleasures of this world do not satisfy. Men keep pursuing them to keep from being bored, but the everlasting life that God gives to those who trust in Christ is a never-ending source of refreshment and joy. And it provides the greatest incentive to serve Him.
Those who possess the joy of sins forgiven and of peace with God naturally long to serve and please Him, and God desires no service except that which springs from genuine gratitude and love. "We love Him because He first loved us" (1 John 4:19).
Child Discipline is Training for Living
In a release on child care, the American Medical Association observes that discipline is training for living. It must start early, be constant and consistent, and guide the child in what to do as well as what not to do. Children need a discipline that sets limits for them. They must learn to accept authority, but it should be firm, reasonable, kind authority that deserves respect.

Food Is Still a Bargain

America's agricultural producers, unmatched for their production skills, continue to give consumers a bountiful supply of good things to eat. And at continuing bargain prices, reports Mrs. Gwen Clyatt, consumer marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.
Beef, in good supply at all meat counters, though showing some increase in price still offers many choice buys. Special steak sales offer real bargains while chuck and rib roasts and ground beef also continue as good buys, says the specialist.
Pork steaks, hams and picnic are listed as among the most economical of the pork selections. Franks and luncheon meats remain at their usual economical level.
While fresh fish supplies are relatively scarce, the specialist suggests serving frozen fish fillets, steaks and portions in a number of interesting ways. For example, have you tried fish sandwiches or fishburgers?
Produce counters are supplying snap beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, sweet corn, okra, cucumbers, green and dry onions, peppers, summer squash, southern peas and tomatoes at reasonable prices. Celery, lettuce and other salad items are other attractive offerings.
Heavy production of plums, especially in California, have placed this fruit on the August list of plentiful. Other fruits available include peaches, sweet cherries, grapes, limes, lemons, avocados and bananas.
And, reminds the specialist, one of the pleasures of summertime eating is the refreshing enjoyment of a cool, sweet melon. She offers these suggestions for determining quality in melons. In cantaloupes, she says to look for well-defined netting and a light grey or yellow background color. A depressed scar at the stem end showing the melon was ripe when harvested, and a fragrant aroma indicates the melon is right for immediate eating. For watermelons, look for one with a symmetrical shape with rounded ends, a velvety appearance and avoid those with a white or pale green color on the lower side for such often indicates immaturity.

Food Is Still a Bargain

A veteran newspaper photographer, noted for his strange hobby of collecting poisonous snakes, is written up in the August issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine.
The man is Hal Swiggett, of the San Antonio Express-News, who shares his family food budget with his assorted reptiles. This sometimes comes to a tidy sum since the serpents prefer white mice which are available at so much per copy.
Swiggett, who is secretary of the Texas Outdoor Writers' Association, made news recently when he demonstrated to scribes attending the Outdoor Writers' Association of America convention at McAllen how a journalist herpetologist performs.
Editor Curtis Carpenter of the magazine, himself the daring type, described Swiggett's first encounter with a rattler on a night foray:
"The rattler beside the tank evidently was asleep, or it was trying to be hospitable, too. Not one rattle did it make as Hal pinned its head to the ground with the hook and reached down with its hand. He slid his fingers under the snake's lower jaw and clamped down on its upper right between the eyes with his finger. With an instant motion, Hal dropped the stick with the hook on it and grabbed the snake by the tail.
"With a worried smile, he said: 'Now shoot your pictures but hurry it up, this guy may wake up any time, and believe me he's plenty strong.' About this time the snake decided outdoor writers are just like all the rest, and flexed its muscles. Hal held on, finally bringing the snake up against his chest and bear hugging it to keep it from working free."
A trio of Swiggett, Carpenter and Jim Thomas, outdoor editor of the Amarillo Globe-News, captured three more rattlers that night. All of which probably helped hasten Hal's mightiest triumph — when he expects to pick up one of his poisonous pets with his bare hands.

"The Legislature shall have the authority to accept from the Government of the United States, such financial aid in the form of medical assistance on behalf of the needy individuals sixty-five (65) years of age or over who are not recipients of Old Age Assistance, and who are unable to pay for needed medical services, as such Government may offer not inconsistent with restrictions herein set forth."
Section 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this state at the General Election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1964, at which election all ballots shall have printed thereon the following:

Section 3. The Governor of the State of Texas is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published and held as required by the Constitution and the laws of the State of Texas.

Newspaperman Shows Snake System

A cattle futures market. Ridiculous, you say? Maybe not, according to Ed Uvacek, Extension livestock marketing specialist at Texas A&M University.
The Chicago Mercantile Exchange has hired a private consulting firm to study the possibility of such a market. Although most segments of the livestock industry feel there is a need for a futures market on livestock, they do not fully understand how it can best be used, says Uvacek.
There are many problems in establishing a livestock futures market because of the nature of the product. In live cattle trading, there is difficulty in establishing specifications, carcass beef contracting isn't very appealing to either producers or buyers and boneless beef normally doesn't have the price variation needed for attractive speculation.
Early investigations show that live cattle contracts, combining carcass specifications might be the best solution.
Another problem with establishing a futures market is the large amount of educational work that must be done to insure a full understanding of the program by cattlemen.
However, eventually the difficulties will be worked out and the thing that couldn't work, a futures trading market on live cattle and beef, will be a reality, says Uvacek.
