COUNTY GETS RAIN LAST FRIDAY

The first general rain over this area since the early part of June fell last Friday night and Saturday morning, bringing much-needed moisture to cotton, feed and pasture land, and also welcome relief from the extremely hot weather. Official reading in Crowell was .8 inch. The Good Creek and Foard City areas generally received about 1/2 inch, and areas in the east part of the county reported from 1 to 1 1/2 inches. Other sections of the county reported about the same as received in Crowell.

It was the most rainfall registered in a 24-hour period since the first of June when over 3 inches fell.

Most of the moisture fell in the early night hours of Friday, with a light mist falling Saturday morning. Sunday morning, also, a light mist fell in Crowell for a short time.

Most of the rain came down gently. It was no problem at all for the powdered, cracked drought-stricken ranges and farms to soak up virtually every drop of it.

In addition to being a boon to farmers and ranchers, the cool temperatures resulting from the moisture was appreciated by Foard Countyans, who have been used to 100-degree-plus temperatures each day for the past several weeks.

Last Rites for H. H. Hopkins to Be Held at Thalia

Army Justified in Using Force in Panama Rioting

"The investigating committee of the International Commission of Jurists came up with the only reasonable conclusion to be derived from the facts when it held that the U. S. Army was justified in using force to put down rioting in Panama last January . . . It also noted that U. S. forces did not retaliate until after several of the G.I.s had been wounded. As to Panama's charge that its right of assembly had been violated, the committee found it invalid because the crowds constituted a threat to public safety."—Salamanca, N. Y., Inquirer.

Freedom Wasn't He Expected It to

"I converted an empty jar into a miniature aquarium in February. The little four inch bowl was complete with plants and last a single . . . I unscrewed the jar the first time in the five and put the little fish back in community aquarium. He his tail, swam about six and a big angel fish caught Freedom wasn't he expected it to be . . . Freedom only that you have left the city of your place in society are willing to work for a place—or to fall into a lower. It means simply that you are pared to face the world and accept the rewards brought bought by the sweat of your and the ability of your mind.—Pemberville, Ohio, Leader

Need Only to Compare Farm Production Figures with Commies

"The nondemocratic nations of the world can talk all they want to about collectivism, agrarian reform and the like, there is no substitute for individual initiative and motivation. We need only to compare the farm production figures . . . of the nation with those of Cuba, of Red China and of Russia, to prove this fact."—Alma, Mich., Record.

Fulfilled All Hopes

"The world's first and only nuclear-powered merchant ship, the U. S. S. Savannah, docked in New York after a 42 days' journey of 10,000 miles, having used two pounds of uranium oxide for fuel. A comparable vessel, conventionally powered, would have used an estimated two million pounds of fuel. Beseet by union jurisdictional squabbles for several years after its completion, the Savannah was tied up for many months at Galveston. It may prove to be merely an $80 million status symbol, although it has already fulfilled all hopes."—Norwalk, Conn., Hour.

Crowell to Receive Two Historical Marker Signs

The Texas State Historical Survey Committee has announced that two "Historical Markers in City" signs will soon be erected in Crowell.

Crowell is one of 125 Texas cities in which these new reflectorized signs will be placed. They are authorized by the State Building Commission, which recently signed the contract for their manufacture.

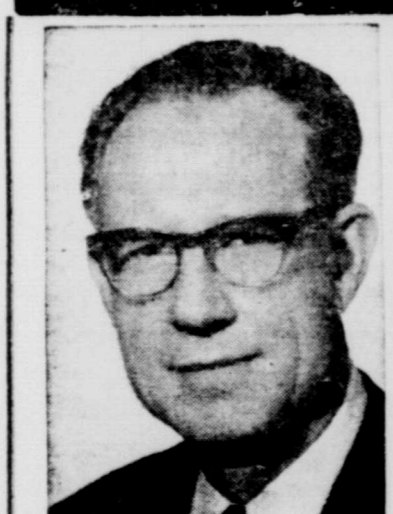

These markers, designed to inform tourists of historical sites in Crowell, will be placed on the city limit sign posts on the U. S. 70 east and U. S. 70 west by the Texas Highway Department. They measure 24 by 24 inches and are made of steel with white reflective letters reading "Historical Markers in City" on a black background.

Town selection was determined by the Texas State Historical Survey Committee according to official Texas Historical Markers previously erected there.

The program also calls for the erection of 260 official Texas Historical Markers in three sizes to relate the history of Texas in the Confederacy. These markers will be made of cast aluminum with Swedish steel effect.

The Texas State Historical Survey Committee recommended the marker topics, determined locations, researched and wrote the inscriptions.

The erection of these four types of state markers is part of a five-year plan of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee and its affiliate, the Texas Historical Foundation, to record, appreciate, mark, preserve, and survey Texas history. "RAMPS," as the plan is called, plans to place 5,000 official Texas Historical Markers over the state in this period. The markers are to be sponsored through joint efforts of the state, counties, local groups and individuals.

"LET'S GO!" ... to scenic Arkansas in General Telephone Country

Prescott-Vacation Headquarters
Situated in Southwest Arkansas, the bustling city of Prescott is the center of many scenic attractions. Eight miles away is ARKLA VILLAGE, an authentic re-creation of a typical frontier town of the mid-1880's, where there's fun for all the family. In another direction you take a ride on the Possum Trot Line of the READER RAILROAD driven by an old-fashioned steam engine. Go another way to a real DIAMOND MINE where, for a small fee, you can dig for your own diamonds (one woman found a $15,000 stone). Then there's OLD WASHINGTON, a famous roadside inn, which around 1830 was the last outpost before reaching the wilderness of the West. To these attractions add NARROWS and WHITE OAK lakes, and you have a wonderful vacation spot — another of the many places to go and things to see in General Telephone Country.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—All available money and manpower of the Texas Water Commission is being dedicated to a long-range state water master plan.

Gov. John Connally authorized the agency to transfer money already appropriated by the Legislature for other purposes. Existing state plans, in Connally's opinion, "fall short of satisfying the water needs for all of Texas."

In 1961, the Commission produced a plan for meeting Texas water needs to the year 1980.

Both the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation and the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, are coming up with their own long-range plans covering parts of Texas. They propose diversion of water from surplus areas like the Sabine to water-sky areas like the Nueces.

Connally said the federal government is considering a water pollution control bill which would supplant state authority in the field.

He urged the Commission to explore "all reasonable alternatives," including those contained in preliminary reports of U. S. agencies.

The Governor indicated he will authorize other state agencies to cooperate in the crash program. He also pledged his help in any way possible and to recommend to the Legislature "necessary funds to fulfill this important responsibility."

STIFF GUN LAW URGED

Pressure from prosecuting attorneys is beginning to sift through legislative candidates who are being urged to pass a gun registration law during the 1965 session in an attempt to reduce the crime rate and help police solve crimes.

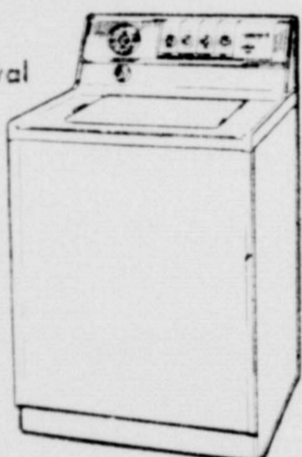

Latest of the recommendations along this line comes from Dallas District Attorney Henry Wade. Gun registration is on the list of the most-controversial issues a legislature can tackle and proposals on the subject frequently are

TEXTBOOK PROTESTS PILE UP

About 500 individual letters and 39 petitions bearing some 3,398 signatures concerning three high school biology books have been received by Governor Connally, Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar, and the State Board of Education.

And more are arriving every day.

Most protestors claim three of the eight biology books being considered for public school adoption by the State Textbooks Committee have "an excessive amount of evolution in them."

All letters and petitions are being filed for the State Textbooks Committee to review, since Connally, Edgar and the State Board have no say on textbooks selection.

The 15-member committee has the task of picking five books each in 18 subjects from the 226 books under consideration. Public then will have an opportunity to make formal complaints about the biology texts, as well as any others which are considered "objectionable," before the committee's selection list is submitted to individual school districts.

SALES TAX RAISE SUGGESTED

A Texas State Teachers Association spokesman last week suggested the Legislature raise additional funds for education through increasing the sales tax rate or removing present exemptions.

L. P. Sturgeon, TSTA public relations director, said a half cent increase would raise $50,000,000 a year and an across-the-board amendment another $61,000,000. TSTA is driving for a $45 a month increase in teachers' pay.

If Texans paid the same amount of taxes as citizens of neighboring states, argued Sturgeon, Texas would have enough money for public school and higher education improvements.

NEW RANGER NAMED

Toliver H. Dawson of Del Rio was named a Texas Ranger by Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison Jr.

Dawson, who first served as a highway patrolman at Alpine, will be stationed in the Carrizo Springs area. He succeeds the late Wiley Williamson of Gonzales on the 62-man force.

Outlook Bright for Start of Water Project This Fall

The first stage of the water program for the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority is scheduled to get underway this fall with Quannah and Childress virtually assured on an adequate water supply by next summer, according to an article in the Quannah Tribune-Chief.

The report came out of a meeting of the Authority's board of directors Tuesday night of last week in Childress.

In three-pronged action, the board voted to approve a new proposed site for the Greenbelt reservoir on the Salt Fork of the Red River near Clarendon, proceeded to cap the base flow of water in Lelia Lake Creek and advertise for bids for pipeline from the creek to Childress and Quannah.

Jim Nichols of the engineering firm of Freeze, Nichols and Endress, supplied area newspapers with a legal notice calling for opening of bids on Sept. 3. He estimated that the pipeline construction could begin around the first of the year and be completed in time to put water in mains in Quannah and Childress by June or not later than July of next year.

The interim water program is contingent on official approval of a two-part financing program by the Texas Water Development Board which met on August 17 to consider the request by the Greenbelt Authority.

The Authority engineers and Dr. S. N. Townsend of Childress, chairman of the board, appeared before the state board in Austin last week to request two project financing calls for an initial loan of $4.1 million for tapping the water at Lelia Lake Creek and building pipelines to Childress and Quannah.

In the meantime the water rights to the Lelia Lake site were assured when the 120-day appeal period closed on August 4.

With the emergency water needs taken care of, the board approved an application to the State Water Board to amend their water rights to re-locate the proposed reservoir site to a location upstream at the crossing of U. S. Highway 70 just north of Clarendon.

The move of the reservoir site was approved at the request of the engineers who reported that additional tests showed that the dam site approved last February was not feasible.

He explained that subsequent tests showed a strata of porous clay 7 to 12 to 30 feet deep under the dam site that would not have held water. He said his firm thought they could design the dam to overcome this but after consulting with foundation engineers decided they could not.

The new site will impound some 60,000 acre feet of water compared with 90,000 at the downstream site. However, engineers pointed out that the evaporation will be less and the cost less, thereby effecting a savings of water and expenditure to area cities.

The present plan calls for a total cost of $10,750,000 with $8,950,000 to be spent in the present two programs. The first stage involving part of the pipeline to tap underground water at Lelia Lake Creek will cost $1,100,000. The second stage including the reservoir on the Salt Fork at the Highway 70 site, the filtration plant and the remainder of the pipelines, will cost $4,200,000. The state will buy $650,000 in "storage water" leaving $1,800,000 for impounding water at Lelia Lake Creek at a much later date when the water becomes needed.

The application for the new site will require another 120-day appeal period, but will not in any way delay the emergency program taking water from Lelia Lake Creek this fall. Final approval has already been received for taking the base and underflow of Lelia Lake Creek water.

Meanwhile a suit filed in federal district court in Austin by the Lewis Estate contesting the previous permit that sought to build a reservoir on Lewis property will become null and void when the board approved the new site.

The Lelia Lake project scheduled to be ready by next summer will provide some 4.5 million gallons of water a day. The quality of the water, according to recent tests, is around 160 parts of gypsum salts per million parts of water, far below the requirements for approval by the State Health Department.

The total of the two proposed reservoirs, the first one to be built on the Salt Fork with 60,000 acre feet, and the subsequent one on Lelia Lake Creek at date in the future with 20,000 acre feet, would give the district a total of 80,000 acre feet of water.

them a heritage such as was inherited from our forefathers? The humble opinion, a "back to God" movement can do more good for our nation than a thousand dollars in a political platform. It is so easy, it will work—if we store the belief in almighty in our country."—Smithsonian, as, Times.

From the News . . .
THIRTY YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the Thursday, Aug. 23, 1934, issue of The Foard County News:

Foard County's first bale of 1934 cotton was ginned in Crowell Saturday afternoon at the Crowell Gin. It was brought by M. B. Oldham, who farms on the O. B. Davis place north of Crowell along Pease River. This makes the third consecutive year that the first Foard bale has been ginned on August 18.

L. V. Robertson, local photographer, has moved his studio from the Dockins Hotel building to his residence three blocks north and one block west of the square.

Declaring that an emergency exists, the city council of Crowell unanimously passed an order last Tuesday prohibiting the use of water from the city supply for sprinkling lawns, watering trees, flowers and shrubbery, washing cars, sidewalks and driveways, and hauling water from the city mains.

A rodeo of two days, Sept. 7 and 8, Friday and Saturday, will take place at the Shultz park south of Thalia.

Mrs. Hartley Easley and Mrs. W. B. Tysinger and daughter, Joyzelle, left Tuesday morning for Wichita Falls to visit relatives.

Miss Faye Callaway was hostess to a number of friends last Thursday night with a slumber party at her home.

Joe Roberts returned to Crowell last week from Randolph Field, San Antonio, where he had been since June 30.

Misses Mary Lou Fudge and Mozelle Lemons have returned from an extended stay in Hamlin, Breckenridge and Carlsbad, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Zeibig and children returned Saturday afternoon from a ten-day vacation trip to Corpus Christi and the Rio Grande Valley.

Betty Lou Stinebaugh of Good Creek spent Saturday night with Betty Jean Owens of Claytonville.

Guy Crews' pasture was destroyed by fire Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Orr and little son are taking a vacation in New Mexico and Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Odell and a friend left Sunday night for South Texas to pull bolls.

Quite a number of cows and calves were killed in the Margaret community by government officials the past week.

Rev. O. L. Savage, pastor, will do the preaching for a 2-week revival at the First Baptist Church beginning Sunday.

Crowell's tax rate was set at $1.50 on the $100 valuation at the city council meeting Tuesday night. The city valuations this year are $792,000 compared with $882,000 last year, a drop of $90,000, all of which is on real estate.

Few Seem to Think About Destination of All These "Free Rides"

"This whole spectacle of federal encroachment on the liberties of the individual pinpoints the fact that Washington is not solely responsible for the growing centralization of federal authority. States, cities and individuals as well must share part of the blame. The really worrisome thing about it too, is that so few people these days even seem to think about the likely destination of all those supposedly free rides on the 'gravy train'."—Resholt, S. D., Review.

Trimester Plan Being Used by Some Colleges

"In recent years many colleges have become disturbed about the fact that their facilities for the most part are idle during the summer months and have set about to remedy the condition. The result, in some instances, has been the adoption of the trimester plans where students can go to school year round and finish their studies a year earlier."—Barnesboro, Pa., Star.

Carcass Contests Are Meat Show Windows of Future

Livestock shows are taking on a new look, with carcass classes being as important as show ring judging.

A hoof-carcass class is one of the most practical ways of comparing meat animals and showing producers the type of meat that consumers are demanding, says Frank A. Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A&M University.

To be a blue ribbon winner in a carcass show, an animal should have a carcass weight of 1.25 pounds per day of age, with an abundance of muscling and lean meat and just enough fat to make the meat flavorful and juicy. Carcasses should grade USDA choice and yield at least 48 per cent of their weight in boneless, closely trimmed round, loin, rib and chuck.

Hoof-carcass classes have caused hogs to change quite a bit from their cousins of a few years back, and in time, carcass shows will do the same for cattle and sheep, Orts says.

Carcass contests are held at many Texas livestock shows so breeders can compare their meat animals. Among shows with carcass contests are the State Fair of Texas, Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, the San Antonio Stock Show and several regional shows.

Agriculture Boosts Texas' Economy in a Big Way

The value of Texas' farm and range production is exceeded by only one other raw material, oil. The state's total yearly agricultural production value exceeds the payroll for manufacturing, the total of construction awards, or the payroll for retail trades, says John G. McHaney, Extension economist, Texas A&M University.

Farm and ranch production each year has a total value of $2.4 billion. However, explains McHaney, agriculture adds much more to our total economy than just income from the sale of products. Of the $2.4 billion received by farmers and ranchers, $1.8 billion is paid to suppliers for items used in the production of agricultural commodities. About 12 per cent of all Texans are engaged in supplying these production items.

Business firms which assemble, process, distribute, transport, wholesale, and retail the products of Texas' farms and ranches employ about 20 per cent of the labor force of the state and add about $3.9 billion to the agricultural economy. Their primary concern, says McHaney, is to get the agricultural products to the final consumer in the desired form and at the right time and place.

The sale of agricultural products plus the costs of processing and distributing them annually adds about $6.3 billion to the state's economy, notes the economist. The economic destiny of most Texas counties hinges primarily in the agribusiness economy, he adds.

The future of the Texas agricultural industry will belong to those who work to keep their agricultural economy competitive with other areas of the nation and world, McHaney emphasizes. Agriculture, he adds, is no longer a way of life but rather a big competitive business.

Ways to Reach Limited Income Families Are Studied

Hundreds of millions of dollars are spent in educating young people to earn money, yet very little is spent in teaching them how to use it for the benefit of themselves and their families.

These remarks, made by Mrs. Esther Peterson, special assistant to the President for Consumer Affairs, set the stage for the first meeting of the new Panel on Consumer Education for Persons with Limited Income, according to Mrs. Florence W. Low of Texas A&M University. The panel met recently in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Low, Extension service assistant director for home economics of the American Home Economics Association, represented Texas on the 33-member panel. Members reviewed present programs and resources, and considered subjects on which consumer information is most needed, Mrs. Low said this week.

"More effective ways for reaching limited income families are being explored," Mrs. Low said.

Mrs. Peterson, in her address, said that the panel's mission "is to find ways to teach and reach consumers who have little money to spend, and who need to make every dollar count."

"Among other things, we are going to search for answers to this incredible paradox—the poor pay more for almost everything, including credit, food and household goods," Mrs. Peterson said.

She said the panel was established to find ways of bringing consumer information to the nation's poor—in urban and rural areas. Members will also pull together information now available for consumers from government agencies and private organizations for use as a guide by people with limited incomes.

Popular Park Lures Out-of-State Tourists

California and Florida, considered the strong tourist competitors with Texas, led all other states in the number of visitors registered at the Kerrville State Park last month. There were 90 from California and 76 from Florida. Thirty states were represented among the monthly visitations. But the largest family camping group was the Henry G. Diaz family of six from Geneva, Italy. A. B. Taylor, park supervisor, said that of the 1,506 patrons for the month, 566 were from out of the state.

Young Men Warned About Registering Under Draft Law

Lagging registration under the draft law in Foard, Hardeman and Wilbarger counties this week prompted J. F. Gregory, board chairman of the three-county area to warn every 18-year-old male that the law requires him to register within five days after his 18th birthday.

Failure to register, like failure to comply with other provisions of the law, may subject men to prosecution, or induction into the Army out of turn and ahead of other men, Mr. Gregory said.

Maximum penalty for failure to comply with any provision of the law, upon prosecution and conviction, is five years in prison, fine of $10,000.00 or both.

Young men may register at the board office at the court house in Vernon, or with the following officially-appointed board registrars: Walter M. Barbee, Quanah;

PUBLIC NOTICE

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER THREE ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 3, 1964.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 10 proposing an Amendment to Section 51a of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas by adding a new Subsection to be known as 51a-2; giving the Legislature the power to provide, under such limitations and restrictions as may be deemed by the Legislature expedient, for direct or vendor payments for medical care on behalf of individuals sixty-five (65) years of age or over who are not recipients of Old Age Assistance and who are unable to pay for needed medical services; providing for the acceptance of financial aid from the Government of the United States for such medical payments; providing that the amounts paid out of state funds for such purposes shall never exceed the amount that is matchable out of Federal funds for such purposes; providing that certain means relating to the correction or remedying of abnormalities of vision shall be included within such medical care service or assistance; providing for the necessary election, form of ballot, proclamation, and publication.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 51a of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new Subsection to be known as Subsection 51a-2, which shall read as follows:

"Subsection 51a-2. The Legislature shall have the power to provide by General Laws and to make payment for same, under such limitations and restrictions as may be deemed by the Legislature expedient, for direct or vendor payments for medical care on behalf of needy individuals sixty-five (65) years of age or over who are not recipients of Old Age Assistance, and who are unable to pay for needed medical services; providing for the acceptance of funds from the Federal Government for the purpose of paying such medical assistance; and pro-

Many Texans Get Licenses for Free

Generosity of Texas regulations is reflected in statistics showing that almost one of every three residents has obtained buying a license, according to J. Weldon Watson, executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

The last complete year shows that 740,000 Texans officially licensed to hunt, that 230,000 of these got licenses without cost to them.

In other words, said Watson, approximately three quarters a million dollars a year in fees "is put on the cuff" regular hunting license $3.15.

The exempt list includes 65 years of age and older persons who can show that they are hunting on their land or they maintain their residence.

Coon Hits Jackpot

W. F. Horton, supervisor at Meridian State Park, scored another conquest for the mischievous rascal. One of the pestiferous marauders took a three-pound sack of fresh sausage from a park camper, but was discovered later trying to make off with a loaf of bread. The bread was recovered. Horton reported laconically, "The campers had bread for breakfast. The coon had sausage."
