Prairie Flower, Sister of Quanah Parker, to Be Re-Interred at Fort Sill

Prairie Flower, Comanche princess and sister of famous Indian chieftain Quanah Parker, soon will lie again beside her famous mother, the white queen of the Comanches, Cynthia Ann Parker, and her brother after a separation of more than a century.

The little girl's body will be moved next Oct. 1 from a remote cemetery in Van Zandt County and will be laid to rest two days later beside the bodies of Cynthia Ann and Quanah Parker in the military post cemetery at Fort Sill, Okla.

Prairie Flower's return to Oklahoma will be with escort of Texas Rangers, the police force which played such important parts in their lives.

Although the bodies of the mother and daughter have been stilled by death all these years now, their reunion will be the latest turn in an epic of love and tragedy—and so this final passage will be a happy one.

The planned removal of Prairie Flower's body from Asbury Cemetery, four miles southwest of the Van Zandt community of Edom, was told Tuesday by Eugene O'Quinn of Tyler, great grandnephew of Cynthia Ann Parker.

To know the story of this famous family of the Southwestern prairies is to know a tale of happiness and heartbreak.

Cynthia Ann Parker was herself only a child when she was captured at the Fort Parker massacre of May 19, 1836. Her father, Silas Parker, was in command of the First Corps of Texas Rangers at the fort and was slain in the massacre.

Cynthia Ann was carried away to live with Comanches. She grew up and became the wife of Comanche Chief Noconne. They had two sons, Quanah and Pecos, and daughter, Totsein — translated Prairie Flower.

Only a few months shy of a quarter century after the massacre, Cynthia Ann and her children were at a Comanche camp on the Pease River near Crowell in West Texas. Her husband, Chief Noconne, was on a buffalo hunt in Oklahoma.

On Dec. 18, 1860, Texas Rangers, commanded by Capt. Sul Ross, attacked the camp and killed most of the Indians there. The two sons of Cynthia Ann escaped on horseback, the mother and 2-year-old daughter, Prairie Flower, were captured.

Noticing the mother to be blond and blue-eyed, they suspected, and eventually identified her to be the long-captured daughter of the slain Texas Ranger director. Cynthia Ann and Prairie Flower were sent to live with Silas Parker Jr., her younger brother, in Van Zandt County. But, according to the account of O'Quinn, she was grief-stricken by not knowing the fate of her two sons and husband, and she lived in fear of her white "enemies."

"As far as she was concerned, she had lost her identity as she considered herself a full-blooded Comanche and a prisoner among her white brother and sister," explained O'Quinn.

Three winters after the Rangers' recapture of Cynthia Ann, her little Prairie Flower became ill and died on Dec. 15, 1863. The child was laid to rest in Asbury Cemetery next to the grave of Phoebe Parker Anglin, a sister of Cynthia Ann's father, and at the foot of the grave of another kinsman, Margaret E. O'Quinn.

This death took away Cynthia Ann's last love contact with her Indians. Less than a year later, in October, 1864, Cynthia Ann died at age 37 at the home of her sister, Orlena Parker, in Anderson County.

She was buried in the old Foster Cemetery, south of Poyner, Henderson County.

Her son, Quanah, who had escaped on horseback, became chief of the Comanches and established himself as an illustrious Indian.

On Dec. 3, 1910, Chief Quanah had the remains of his mother removed from the Foster Cemetery and reinterred in their Oklahoma homeland. Later he was buried in the plot beside his mother.

On Friday, Oct. 1, with descendants in attendance, remains of the Indian Chief's little sister will be disinterred at the Asbury Cemetery by Lloyd James Funeral Home in Tyler, and will be overnight at repose in the funeral home chapel, where East Texans may pay their respects.

On the next day, with a Texas Highway Patrol and Texas Ranger escort, the body will be taken through Nocona, named for father, and then will continue to Fort Sill.

Ratamacues and Paradiddles at 1965 State Fair of Texas

Ruff, Ratamacue, Paradiddle, Flam and Double Drag are not some wild new teen-age dances. They're the Rudiments of Drumming as practiced by the Deep River Fife and Drum Corps which will return, by popular demand, to the 1965 State Fair of Texas in Dallas.

This group from Connecticut first visited the State Fair in 1963, when the theme was Exposition of Our American Heritage. They will return for nine days this year, October 16 through 24.

Overall dates of the 1965 Exposition of the Americas are October 9 through 24.

"They were like red-coated Pied Pipers," comments James H. Stewart, the fair's executive vice president and general manager.

"Wherever they marched, producing that spine-tingling drum beat and fife music, crowds of fairgoers fell into step behind them. This was one of the most popular special attractions we've had at the State Fair."

The colorful group dresses in uniforms copied from those worn by army musicians in the War of 1776—red weskits, blue trousers, black leggings, white shirts and tri-corner hats.

The Deep River Fife and Drum Corps will play a daily concert on the Mobil outdoor stage, participate in the retreat ceremony each afternoon, and take a featured part in the Parade of the Americas around the fairgrounds each day. They also will be featured in the Military Tattoo in the Cotton Bowl Saturday, Oct. 16.

On Sunday, Oct. 3, Prairie Flower, age 5, daughter of Cynthia Ann and Noconne, chief of the Comanches, and brother of Quanah Parker, chief of the Comanches, will be again, at last, beside her loved ones.

Two Minutes With the Bible

What is a Church?

Do you know that most people, even the great majority of religious people, do not even know what a church is? Ask the average man on the street what a church is and he'll probably reply: "A church? Well anybody knows that! A church is a building where people go to worship!" But this is not correct.

The word translated "church" in our Bibles, simply means assembly, so a church is not a building, but the assembly of people who meet in the building. And a church is not necessarily a gathering of worshippers. The riotous mob that had gathered at Ephesus in Paul's day is called a "church" (Gr. ekklesia) in Acts 19:32, and this passage states that this assembly, or church, was "confused, and most of them did not know wherefore they were come together." So a church is simply an assembly, not a building.

The church of which the Bible has most to say is "the Church of God, which He hath purchased with His own blood" (Acts 20:28). St. Paul calls this church, again and again, "the Body of Christ," or "the Church which is His Body."

We do not join this Church by water baptism or any other religious rite; we join it by faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. Referring to believers in Christ, Paul declares: "By one Spirit are we all baptized into one Body" (I Cor. 12:13), and in Rom. 12:5 he says "Ye being many are one Body in Christ."

Many sincere people have had their names on the rolls of religious organizations for years before learning this great truth, that the true Church, the Church of God, the Body of Christ, is not a building, but the company of those who have come to trust in Christ as their Savior.

We sincerely hope the reader belongs to this one true Bible Church—and also attends a local church, an assembly of believers in Christ who love and study the Word of God, so as to "grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ" (II Pet. 3:18).

Attitudes Important in Retirement

Attitudes affect the change from employment to retirement, but early planning can provide for both money income and satisfactory emotional attitudes, suggests Mrs. Elsie P. Short, Texas A&M University Extension Service home management specialist.

It is just as important for retired people to plan some way to use their time as it is to plan for a comfortable place to live and money for the necessities of life. Hobbies enjoyed before retirement may still be enjoyed afterwards.

Those who like to work with others and have developed an interest in helping family, friends, neighbors and the community will find plenty to do, Mrs. Short says.

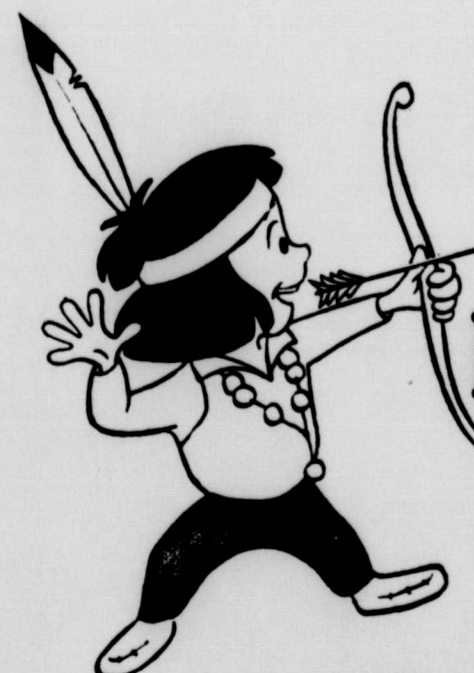

Right now is not too early to plan for a retirement containing financial independence, social, mental and physical satisfactions, according to Mrs. Short. Then it will be easier to make the transition from an active business life to a life of satisfactory retirement.

were washed and gullies cut in them. Richard Vecera, who operates an aerial spraying service here, surveyed the county by air Monday. He said the damage to fields was very evident from the air, as were the many miles of fences which were washed out.

Although the rains did extensive damage in some ways, they were also a blessing in soaking the parched Foard County land. Most of the stock tanks had been either dry or contained only a small amount of water before this. Grassland was also in poor condition, and the county's wheat land was too dry to sow wheat. Plenty of moisture is available for planting small winter grains now. The rain unfortunately came too late to be of very much benefit to the cotton crop, which had suffered all summer from the drouth, especially during the past two or three weeks when the mercury rose to over 100 degrees every day.

Fish in the Spring Lake Country Club were removed last Wednesday as the lake was about dry and the fish were beginning to die. The lake practically filled up Saturday night. The City lake, which had been about dry, was running over the spillway early Sunday morning.

Although most of the county reported about as much rain as received here, Ted Reeder said that over three inches fell at his place south of Thalia. Willard Traweek of th Foard City community reported Sunday that he had received 10.70 inches.

This was the most water ever seen here by Foard County residents and almost everyone took a drive into the coun- try to see it Sunday.

Panhandle Deer Increase in '65

Both white-tailed and mule deer, in brushy canyons and river bottoms traversing the Texas Panhandle, will be more plentiful this year than in 1964, according to Biologist Richard DeArment of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department staff.

Panhandle deer densities have never been high in comparison to Hill Country herds, but what Panhandle deer lack in numbers is made up for in size, noted DeArment. White-tailed bucks weighing 150-200 pounds on the hoof are not uncommon on the Washita and Canadian Rivers in eastern Panhandle counties.

The Palo Duro Canyon, south-east of Amarillo, and the Canadian River area south of Dalhart, supports stable mule deer herds from which most Panhandle mule deer are harvested each year, said the biologist.

In 1964, 246 mule deer and 299 white-tailed deer were harvested by sportsmen.

LIBRARY NEWS

Several paperback books have been added to the permanent book collection at the Foard County Library.

This is the first time new paperbacks have been added, although an informal exchange of old paperback novels has been carried on through library facilities. These new books are non-fiction. The experiment with paperback books is in line with recent recommendations by library authorities as one way in which a small library may increase title purchases without increasing expenditures.

Patrons are urged to treat these paperback books with the same care they give a hardback library book. The replacement cost of the books will be charged for books which are lost or too badly damaged to return to the shelf.

Patrons are reminded that all overdue fines and other charges must be paid before more books can be checked out.

New paperback titles in the Teen section include: "The Soviet Union," "Rim of Asia," "The Two Chinas," "What You Should Know About Communism," "What You Should Know About Democracy," "The U. S. in World War II," "The U. S. in the Korean War," and "Beasts, Brains and Behavior."

These titles were selected from book lists for high school students to fill many requests for books on these themes during the past year.

Teen-agers, and adults who help plan club programs for teen-agers, may also wish to read "The Art of Dating" and "When You Marry," by Evelyn Duval.

The first book answers hundreds of questions asked by teen-agers about dating and boy-girl relationships. The latter book would be especially helpful for the older teen-ager who might be engaged to marry or thinking of becoming engaged.

"When You Marry" has been used as a textbook in many college family relations courses.

It introduces the young reader to the practical and emotional aspects involved in marriage in a manner calculated to help him or her take a second look at a prospective marriage partner.

In the appendix are two tests, one for the reader and one by which to rate the prospective bride or groom, with the totals of the two tests being used as a success predictor for a marriage. Older teens will benefit from reading the book, and enjoy rating themselves and their friends on the tests.

These books are all available to members of the Foard County Library, in the court house. Membership is only $1.00 per year for all the family. Why don't you join?

National 4-H Club Week Set for Sept. 25-Oct. 2

Texas' 87,000 4-H Club members will join other 4-H'ers throughout the nation in the observance of National 4-H Week, Sept. 25-Oct. 2, reports R. L. Hunt Jr., assistant state 4-H leader, Texas A&M University.

Hunt notes that some 2,250,000 boys and girls in the 50 states and Puerto Rico are 4-H members; that they range in age from 10 to 19 years of age; that they live in both rural and urban areas and that each conducts one or more projects involving personal responsibilities and "learning to do by doing." Along with their project or demonstration work, 4-H training also emphasizes the development of leadership and citizenship talents.

Theme for the upcoming week will be "Learning for Living." The 4-H members will be joined in the observance by their junior and adult 4-H leaders, their friends and Extension workers. The "head-heart-hands-health" organization is supervised in the counties by the county Extension agents and is the junior phase of the Cooperative Extension Service's educational programs.

Objectives of the week are to influence more young people to join or form 4-H clubs; to acquaint more parents with 4-H and seek their cooperation; to encourage a larger number of capable men and women to become volunteer 4-H leaders; to increase public understanding of 4-H programs and activities; and to recognize and express appreciation for the contributions made to 4-H by friends and those who give support to the organization.

In his greetings to all 4-H Club members, President Johnson said, "Your aims are directly in line with our Nation's goals to achieve fuller and better living for all. You will surely benefit, as will others, from your efforts to express the values of 4-H to the young people of our country."

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS IN COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Industrial development . . . successful achievement

PLANNING ASSISTANCE

W.T.U. area development representatives are available to assist growth-conscious communities in planning economic development programs

Not long ago WTU published an ad about the $1,300,000 improvement program in the West Texas community of Stamford. As we stated then, it was done for the purpose of "improving the chances of continued economic growth and attraction of new industry." And . . . industry responded! Today a well-known maker of women's and girls' apparel and sportswear is thriving in Stamford, with an annual payroll approaching $300,000. Selling its products all over the Nation, Stamford's new industry has almost tripled its employment in 18 months. In actual fact, here is a PATTERN FOR PROGRESS . . . a picture of successful achievement. Growth-conscious towns are invited to contact their local WTU manager for assistance from our area development representatives.

From the News... THIRTY YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the Thursday, Sept. 19, 1935, issue of The Foard County News:

Two of Clint White's motor freight trucks were damaged to the extent of over three hundred dollars about noon Monday in an accident near Scotland in Archer County. One of the trucks driven by Bill Sellers was sideswiped by a truck from Graham loaded with beer. Both trucks were badly damaged and a fairly large area along the highway was soaked with beer and broken bottles.

The Crowell High School pep squad and band will make their first appearance of the season at the Matador-Crowell game tomorrow night. Marion Crowell is director of the band, Peggy Cooper and Lois Evelyn Norris are leaders of the pep squad.

The largest crowd that has ever attended an athletic event in Crowell is expected tomorrow night, Friday, when the Crowell High School Wildcats clash with Matador High in the opening football contest of the 1935 season and the first game ever played at night on local soil. The game will also put into use for the first time Crowell's new stadium which is capable of comfortably seating over two thousand people.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

Most of us don't have any problems with our exemptions, because our children live with us and naturally we provide full support for the child. However, when you provide partial support for your child or for children who have reached the earning stage and are providing partial support for themselves, you may have a problem. It pays to keep records to make sure that you can prove that you provided bed and board while Junior engaged in the song and dance type of activity with his earnings. If you are not sure, talk it over with the good tax folks.

Farmers Union Has Annual Meeting of the nominating committee, read the committee's recommendations for new officers. Other members of the committee were Charles J. Drabek and Oran Ford.

The convention approved a number of county resolutions which were read by Monroe Karcher, chairman of the resolutions committee. They are:

- Narrowing of the margin between prices paid for goods and what they are sold for by farmers.
- Re-instatement of the Mexican bracero program.
- Tightening of beef import curbs.
- Extension of the state's farm to market road program and 100 per cent support of REA.
- Opposition to vertical integration of livestock.
- Continued government sale of grain and cotton abroad.
- Re-affirmation of support of the local co-op gin and elevators.
- Support of requirements for food stores to label meat sold, according to national origin.

Mr. Haynie introduced Jay Naman, president of the Texas Farmers Union, who in his remarks praised the administration's farm bill.

Claude Callaway introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Congressman Jim Wright of Fort Worth. Mr. Callaway and Mr.

Wright were colleagues in the Texas House of Representatives a number of years ago.

Although Mr. Wright declined to elaborate on reports that he will be a candidate for U. S. Senator next year, Mr. Callaway in his introduction, said that Rep. Wright was invited to Crowell because "we want him to know that West Texas is interested in seeing him running for the U. S. Senate."

Rep. Wright, praising President Johnson as perhaps the greatest leader in U. S. history in his ability to get things done, reviewed accomplishments of the present Congress, pointing out that no other period since the opening days of the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt could match it.

He said the Congress, in addition to many other actions, had approved: the Appalachian bill to help a poverty stricken section of the nation "pull itself by its own bootstraps into the 20th century;" medical care for the elderly that had been debated for 30 years while writing in "ironclad" guarantees to provide the patient the right to choose his own doctor; a broad general education bill to assure even those in backward communities an adequate education while guaranteeing against federal control; excise tax cuts after an $11 billion tax cut last year; a broad water pollution control bill that could possibly be among the most important actions of the session.

He said the House had passed a farm bill, and joint action with the Senate is expected soon to work out a final draft.

Rep. Wright said that he does not worry about farm surpluses, although this is the first civilization in history that produced too much food and fiber. He said that as rapidly as U. S. population is growing, authorities say that within 15 years the nation is going to need production of the equivalent of 116 million additional acres if it is going to feed its own people.

"We've got a good country. We're heading in the right direction," Rep. Wright said. "We've made mistakes, and we'll make some more . . . but they are mistakes of the head, not of the heart.

"I have nothing in common with the people who find the only way they can prove that they love their country is by demonstrating that they hate their government," he said.

He defended this country's ef-

Highway Patrol Investigates Two Accidents Here

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated two rural traffic accidents in Foard County during the month of August, according to Sgt. D. R. Dowdy, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for two persons injured and an estimated property damage of $2,800.

The rural traffic accident summary in Foard County for the first eight months of 1965 shows a total of 18 crashes resulting in no persons killed, 18 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $23,590.00.

September 1, 1965, marked the beginning of the new motor vehicle inspection period for all Texas motorists. "With the hard summer driving coming to an end, fall is an excellent time to have vehicles safety inspected for the winter months ahead," the sergeant said.

The patrol supervisor called attention to the fact that since the beginning of the inspection program, vehicles having a defect that was a causative factor in fatal accidents decreased from 13 per cent to 3 per cent. "The purpose of the Motor Vehicle Inspection program is to discover any maladjustment which might become a link in a cycle of events leading to an accident and, by removing the link, prevent the accident," he pointed out.

yard line. The Matador line held off the extra points try and the Wildcats led 22-0 at halftime.

The two teams battled scoreless throughout the third quarter, but the Wildcats broke loose for two touchdowns in the fourth.

Looney broke through the middle of the Matador line for a 71-yard gallop, to be pulled down at the three. Payne plunged over for the score. Ronnie Eavenson switched from end to halfback late in the game, and crossed the goal for the final TD with a 35-yard end run. Looney scored the two extra points following Payne's last touchdown.

Wildkittens Win 42-6 Over Knox City Monday

The Crowell Wildkittens opened their 1965 season Monday night at Knox City with a 42-6 win over the Knox City Junior High Team. This was a district game.

The scoring was divided among the entire backfield composed of Gary Eddy, Barry Branch, Jim Tom Smith and Gary Cates. These backs had plenty of help from some good blocking by the line made up of Buz Rasberry, Kenneth Benton, Mike Matus, Riekey Diggs, Hughie Hollenbaugh, Robert Walker, Ismael Santos and Harvey Hamby.

Other players who made the trip and saw action were Danny Naylor, Mike Clifton, Kenneth Sellers, Jackie Thomas, John Sillemo, Steve Black, Junior Urquizo, Marvin Sillemo, David Myers, Marvin Machac, Buff Nelson, Michael Weathered, Jimmy Glover, and Pat Halsell.

The next game is with the Paducah Junior High team on Sept. 27 at Paducah.

Lions Club Meeting

Mrs. Moody Bursley, local speech teacher in Crowell High School, gave an interesting and informative talk on her trip this summer to Ecuador, South America, to visit her daughter, Mrs. John Wiss, and husband who are with the Peace Corps. Her talk was at the Tuesday luncheon of the Lions Club. Mrs. Bursley said the working class earn about 40 cents a week. She showed a number of products that were made in Ecuador—baskets, hats, purses, bed spreads, carvings of wood. Mrs. Bursley showed a straw basket that would sell for about 5c in American money. She said a law there stated that cattle and other meat animals must be 8 years old before being killed for food.

Supt. Henry Black informed the club of the school lunch program and the need of help to feed about 20 to 25 children each month. Mr. Black stated it cost about $7.00 a month to feed a child in grade school and $8.00 for a high school student.

Visitors included Mrs. Bursley, Mr. Black and Jesse Whitfield.
