Booklet Gives History of Texas Oil, Gas Industry

The development of the gas industry in Texas is an illustration of a century published by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association. The 40-page souvenir booklet "The First 100 Years of Oil & Gas," was written by Gardner, author, retired Dallas Morning News editorial writer, vice president of the Texas Historical Association. The history traces the gas industry in decade-by-decade steps since the state's first oil well in September, 1866, near Woodstock, relating it with the significant worldwide events of the last century. Photographs of the oil fields of the decade are used to illustrate the publication. It is dedicated to Charles Warner of Houston, historian, author and author of "Texas Oil & Gas Since 1843," published in 1939, which is regarded as a classic history of the state's petroleum industry. Limited copies of the booklet are available to the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, 2929 Southland, Dallas, Texas, 75201.

Gasoline for Small Engines Should Not Be Stored Too Long

While it is convenient to have a can of gasoline for lawn mowers and other small engines around the home and farm, the fuel should not be stored more than 2 months.

County Agent Joe Burkett points out that gasoline is made of a blend of several parts. The parts that provide engines with easy starting is volatile and evaporates rapidly. Most of this can be lost in about 60 days.

"Soon after the volatile part evaporates, the heavier parts of the gasoline begin to settle and create 'gasoline gum.' This gum can foul up an engine, even when used in small amounts of fresh gasoline."

The agent recommends planning gasoline storage so that it will be used in about 3 weeks. Another consideration is the kind of storage and the place where tanks are kept.

A dark-colored storage tank in bright sunlight can lose 10 per cent of its capacity in 3 months. By painting the tank with white or aluminum paint, the loss can be reduced by one-third.

Large tanks kept under shade and equipped with pressure vents will reduce losses to about 1 per cent in the summertime, says Burkett.

1966 Social Security Retirement Test

Many people between 62 and 72 could draw at least part of their social security benefits if they filed a claim for these benefits now, according to Edwin Draughon, social security manager in Vernon.

This is because of the liberalized retirement test which became effective January 1, 1966.

"Many people of retirement age believe that if they continue to work at all that no benefits are payable to them until they fully retire, but this is not correct under the liberalized retirement test," Mr. Draughon said.

For example, a worker of 65 who has always paid on the maximum amount taxed under social security would be entitled to a monthly benefit of $135.90 if he files a claim for monthly benefits in 1966. The first $1,500 of his earnings would not count under the new retirement test; he would lose $1.00 of each $2.00 from $1500 to $2700, and dollar for dollar for earnings over $2700. So he could earn up to $3730 in a year before he would receive no social security payments at all.

If he had a wife 65 also entitled to benefits on his record, he could earn $4,546.80 before no benefits would be payable.

Of course, this example is one in which maximum benefits are payable to both husband and wife, and in which neither had elected to take reduced benefits between 62 and 65, but at the present time it might be well worth while to visit the social security office to see if you might be able to draw at least some social security benefits between the ages of 62 and 65.

Another advantage in filing early is that if something unexpected comes up such as illness, loss of job, etc., benefits can start right away since the claim has already been approved.

Popular Decisions Win Over Right

... it is becoming clear now that too many decisions in government, homes, schools and religious circles are being made with more regard for what we know to be popular than for what we know to be right.

A WPA project to construct a low-water bridge over Good Creek on the road to the Texaco Gasoline Plant in the southwest part of the county was begun Tuesday. Two shifts of government laborers consisting of about 15 men each will be employed in the construction of the bridge which is to be completed in approximately three months. The concrete slab will be 182 feet long.

THE BIG WHEEL AT STATE FAIR

The brightest, newest and most exciting thrill ride currently playing the amusement circuit is the Skydiver, a beautiful wheel which will carry visitors high above the Million Dollar Midway at the 1966 State Fair of Texas October 8 through 23 in Dallas.

Grapes Are Tasty Eating

Grapes are colored like a rainbow — ranging from the palest amber and dusty rose to the deepest purple in color. And they are sweet, juicy and a delightful taste treat, says Mrs. Gwen Clyatt of the A&M Extension Service.

The most popular varieties on the market at this time of the year are the white seedless, Tokay and Ribiers. When you choose grapes look for mature berries firmly attached to the stem and a high color for the variety, which is an indication of well-developed sugar content and flavor. Fresh grapes are rightfully called table grapes for they make colorful additions to most any menu.

Apples "by the bag" are offered at some fruit counters. Bananas, Italian prunes, pears and cantaloupes are other good fruit choices.

We are in the transition period in fresh vegetables as summer items disappear and fall varieties take their place. Acorn, buttercup and a few Hubbard are the squash varieties that are readily available. Some summer squash can also be seen. Red and white potatoes have attractive prices. Mustard, collards, blackeye and purple hull peas, eggplant, celery, carrots, green peppers, sweet potatoes and tomatoes are among the moderately priced items. Cauliflower, brussels sprouts, broccoli and cabbage are relatively high in price.

Pork is in larger supply and better values should be available as the fall season advances. Boston butt roast, shoulder steaks, smoked picnics and ham portions are the featured items in most markets. Beef supplies and prices are about the same as a week ago with features on rib roasts and steaks, round steaks and ground beef.

Many markets are offering special prices on whole and cut-up frying chickens.

Foard Residents Can Zip Code Mailing Lists During October

Residents in Crowell and Foard County will be offered an opportunity to Zip code their mailing lists during October. Postmaster Ted Reeder said this week. In rural areas and cities with one Zip code assigned, only an out-of-town card will be delivered since all local addresses will have the same Zip code.

"This is a good time to get the Zip codes missing from your lists," Postmaster Reeder noted. "This Christmas, Zip code will be as important as shopping and mailing early for the efficient and on-time delivery of the record-breaking avalanche of mail expected in the pre-holiday weeks."

After filling in the street number, city and state, the cards are to be mailed back to the postmaster. Post office personnel will add the proper Zip codes and return the cards to the sender.

President Johnson has proclaimed October 10-15, as "Zip Code Week" to promote greater usage of Zip code.

Postmaster General O'Brien announced May 19 that steps were being taken to make Zip codes more accessible to the mailing public. The present program resulted from a search for the most effective method to get the codes in the hands of private mailers. A poll conducted earlier this year found that about half the population is using the Zip code. Of the remaining half who are not, 40 per cent said the reason was that they did not know the Zip codes for the people to whom they write. Previously, the post office department has embarked on an extensive effort to help volume mailers convert their lists to Zip code. "The poll strengthened our conviction that the public generally is ready and willing to cooperate with business mailers who will be pre-sorting their second and third class mail after January 1, 1967," Mr. O'Brien said. "I am convinced that the Zip-a-list project will go a long way toward accomplishing our goal of ready availability of the proper Zip codes in the home.

Addresses which cannot be Zip coded because of insufficient or improper addresses will be forwarded to the city indicated on the card, if legible, and the codes will be added there. Only addresses, not names of correspondents, should be listed on the cards, the postmaster said. Zip codes represent delivery areas for the postal service, not individuals. During the summer, a "dry run" of the Zip-a-list project was conducted in Columbus, Ohio, and Richmond, Va. Information gained from these tests is being incorporated in the national program.

man should boast" (Eph. 2:8,9). God has changed His dealings with men from time to time down through the ages, teaching one lesson at a time. This is why it is so important to note the dispensational distinctions, "rightly dividing the Word of Truth."

Once the works of the law were required for salvation, "but now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested" (Rom. 3:21) and men are saved solely by faith in Christ, "being justified freely by God's grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus" (Rom. 3:24).

Two Minutes With the Bible

The Word of Truth

In Eph. 1:13, the Apostle Paul declares that men are saved and sealed by hearing and believing "the word of truth, the gospel of your salvation." This declaration is substantiated by many other passages of Scripture. Our Lord said: "He that heareth . . . and believeth . . . has everlasting life" (John 5:24). This at a time when sacrifices and baptism were required for the remission of sins. Even then men had to hear and believe to be saved, for "faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God" (Rom. 10:17).

Now, however, salvation is received by hearing and believing alone. Works for salvation are not merely unnecessary; they are forbidden.

Today, salvation is "to him that worketh not, but believeth" (Rom. 4:5). "For by grace are ye saved, through faith, and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God: not of works, lest any Wheat is involved on a world scope. FEED THE WORLD is the current slogan. The price of all small grains should be excellent.

Children Without A Childhood

Children are often the innocent victims of dope addiction. Not addicted themselves, they are sired by addicts, pushers, prostitutes and muggers, and born into a world they hate from their beginning.

Unloved, uncared for, these little ones sit disconsolately on curbs of city streets, or are locked in sparsely furnished tenement rooms. There is a haunting misery; a helpless hopelessness.

The tragic plight of these children without a childhood is dramatically told in a recently published book entitled THE LITTLE PEOPLE (Revell Company, Westwood, N.J. $2.95). Authored by David Wilkerson, of THE CROSS AND THE SWITCHBLADE fame, it is the story of sin's children — who they are, how they exist and what happens to them.
