MISS WOOL OF TEXAS VISITING HERE—Miss Sherrill Reagan, 20, of Fort Worth, is the 15th Miss Wool of Texas. Miss Reagan and her mother, Mrs. J. H. MISS WOOL OF TEXAS VISITING IN CROWELL

Two Crowell residents are enjoying a special visit from Miss Wool of Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Hall of Route 1, Crowell, have their granddaughter, Miss Sherrill Reagan, who arrived here last Wednesday for her special Miss Wool conversion. She is accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. H. Reagan of Fort Worth. Mrs. Reagan is the former Miss Wool of Texas.

Sherrill, as Miss Wool of Texas, has begun her official tour, presenting style shows in the major cities of the state for selected department stores and specialty shops. Her mother is acting as chaperone and will accompany Sherrill during most of her tour. Miss Wool made her first appearance August 1 and 2 with McClure's in Wichita Falls, and is en route to Amarillo where she will appear at White & Kirk on August 3. She will remain in Crowell through Thursday, August 3.

Selected as Miss Wool last May in a unique 3-day pageant in Dallas, Sherrill will be representing two different organizations which have banded together in a "Total Texas" promotion. Prime sponsor is Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association, with Texas Fashion Creators' Association members supplying the official Miss Wool wardrobe.

As Miss Wool, Sherrill is outfitted from tip to toe with dawn-to-dusk and after-five fashions. In addition, her costumes are completely accessorized. Miss Wool travels in a special 1967 Chevrolet Impala convertible bearing Texas VIP tags with the legend, "Wool."

Her suits, dresses, sportswear, lingerie, bags, shoes and hats were all chosen as representative of the very best in Texas fashion. From the best known names in the Texas fashion industry, the 15-line costume wardrobe shows the complete range of colors and textures in wool and mohair fabrics loomed in America and made in Texas.

The complete fall-winter wardrobe becomes Sherrill's personal property at the end of her reign. In addition to the present collection, she will receive a complete new wardrobe of spring-summer Texas-made fashions of wool and mohair.

"My mother and I wear the same size dresses and shoes," Sherrill said. "While I was selecting my wardrobe, I would see her watching carefully. I just know she was visualizing how each style would look on her." Mr. Reagan, a tool engineer for General Dynamics, evidently will be left to "batch it" and keep Austin, Tex.—State Supreme Court has ruled that the constitutional amendment requiring annual voter registration in Texas is valid.

AFL-CIO challenged the amendment. They contended that voters did not get "fair notice" that the amendment provided for annual registration.

State labor officials pledged to take the issue to the highest federal court.

State Supreme Court agreed with ruling of the Third Court of Civil Appeals that the amendment—approved by Texans last year—to abolish the poll tax as a requirement for voting and substitute annual sign-up should stand. There was no opinion. Appellate judges had reversed the trial court finding.

Austin District Judge Herman Jones agreed that the full purpose of the amendment was not adequately described in the proposition on the ballot. It stated only that the poll tax would be knocked out as a voting requirement. Last April, Court of Civil Appeals said it was unlikely any voter, in view of widespread publicity given the issue, failed to understand what he was voting on.

Roy Evans, secretary-treasurer of Texas AFL-CIO, said the State Supreme Court will be asked for a rehearing. If that is rejected, a hearing will be requested before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, Texas election machinery and voter registration for the big 1968 election year will proceed under annual sign-up law as amended this year.

All voters, including those who live in cities under 10,000 population, must register between October and January.

In other cases, the State Supreme Court:

—Left standing lower court decisions refusing cash judgments to two parties to the collapse of Billie Sol Estes' fortunes. Case originated in Pecos District Court.

—Reversed Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals and sustaining district court in holding that 49 strikers against the Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation in 1964 could draw unemployment benefits due to circumstances of their joblessness. (Strikers had offered to return to work.)

—Upheld Third Court of Civil Appeals' ruling that State Savings and Loan Commissioner was justified in denying a branch office application for downtown Houston of the Gibraltar Savings Association.

—Oil and gas produced on federal land at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station are subject to state production and pipeline taxes (except for 16 and 2-3 per cent payable as royalty to the U. S.), Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other opinions, Martin has concluded that:

—A $1,500,000 appropriation to construct protective devices at railroad grade crossings is constitutional.

—If a county commissioner is a director and stockholder in a bank desiring to receive bond issue funds, the county commissioners court does not have authority to designate that bank as a county depository.

HIGHWAYS — As July began, the State Highway Department had $618,899,810 worth of highway construction under contract. During June, contractors were paid $35,802,146 for work completed.

In 1919, only $273,000 was spent for road construction.

WELFARE — An audit of the State Department of Public Welfare reveals that $461,000,000 in federal and state money was used in Texas during the two years ending last August 31 on welfare programs.

Rate was $120,000,000 last year, of which $168,620,302 was in direct grants to the needy aged, blind, children and disabled, plus $41,431,797 for medical care for the needy aged. While aid to dependent children and those who are permanently disabled continues to rise, training programs are reducing the amount of aid needed by blind persons.

Distribution of surplus commodities also is handled by this department. In two years, 45,000,000 pounds of flour, 19,090,000 pounds of corn meal and 17,000,000 pounds of dry milk were distributed to needy families from federal surpluses. However, the amount distributed is declining as the government stockpiles are used up and high employment is reducing the number of needy families.

Payroll and other administrative costs for giving away $215,000,000 came to $12,798,278.

SCREWORM REPORT — Between May 28 and July 1, some 19 cases of screwworms were confirmed in Texas.

To prevent spread of the disease, Screwworm Eradication Program planes recently released 757,780,000 sterile screwworm flies in Texas. Some 106,144,000 were dropped over Trans-Pecos and the Valley portions of Texas.

HIGHER RATES AUTHORIZED — Texas Railroad Commission has authorized higher rates for shipments of household goods by specialized carriers. No increase was allowed in packing charges, which had been requested by the van lines.

Rate changes, based on averages of 7,600 shipments, come to 17.3 per cent higher than present rates.

However, larger shipments are actually less and smaller shipments are more.

New rates will take effect on August 5.

COLEMAN PARK GRANT APPROVED — City of Coleman will receive a $124,810 federal grant to help develop a 139-acre park site at Coleman Lake, 14 miles north of the city.

Grant is under the federal land and water conservation fund program.

City will put up an equal amount to landscape the area and provide boat ramps, picnic units, camping sites, trailer units, playground, swimming beach, fishing piers, concession building, bath house, restroom and necessary utilities.

Short Snorts
Secretary of State John L. Hill, who becomes chief election officer of Texas under a new law effective August 28, has called a statewide conference on recent election law changes for October 27.

State Water Pollution Control Board approved application for Orange for a permit to replace Simmons Drive Sewage treatment plant with another and increase amount of treated sewage discharged into the Sabine River.

Texas Banking Commissioner announced applications for Dunbarville (Dallas County) State Bank and Valley Bank of El Paso charters.

Construction men, landscape architects, and State Board of Control gardeners have started the big job of tearing up the lawn and parking pavilion of the Governor's Mansion to transform it into a $150,000 formal garden—a real coup for Mrs. John Connally and the 38,000 members of Texas Garden Clubs who are making the Mansion Garden their major project.

Value of building permits issued in Texas during June fell four per cent, according to the UT's Bureau of Business Research.

Texas Water Development Board and Texas Water Rights Commission authorized the Sabine River Authority of Texas to issue an additional $4,000,000 in revenue bonds to help pay for the Texas half of the Toledo Bend Reservoir.

Texas is the 33rd state to ratify an agreement with Interstate Commerce Commission to help each other enforce state and federal highway transportation laws.

Traveling Checks

BUY LESS

Do you habitually take a 25 or 30 per cent discount on the personal checks you write?

Many people do... without realizing it. It's the hidden penalty they pay for the privilege of taking their trade to some other city or town.

Take a moment to consider the facts: Only about 70 cents of each dollar we spend goes to pay for the actual goods or service that we get. About 30 cents of that dollar has to cover the expenses of the community where the sale is made... to pay the people who work there... to return something on the capital invested... to help support the civic facilities such as churches, schools, fire and police protection, road and street maintenance, etc.

Of course, when we spend our money away from home we get no personal benefit whatever from the 30 per cent of it which goes for community business and social improvement.

Doesn't it follow, then, that when we give checks or money for out-of-town purchases, nearly one-third of the amount goes for something we don't get? Isn't that very much the same as discounting our checks or money?

Greenbelt Water Supply Is Now Over Billion Gallons

The supply of water in the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority Reservoir north of Clarendon has passed the one billion gallon mark, it was announced Saturday by Dr. S. H. Townsend, Authority president.

"Jimmy (Jimmy Kuhn, general manager of the authority) called and said that Friday night's rains increased water in the reservoir more than a foot," Dr. Townsend said.

Most of the water in the reservoir has come from springs. Rains have provided slight increases in the amount of water only twice since the valve was closed until Friday night.

Kuhn estimated the acre feet of water in the lake at 3,285 or a total of 1,169,321,000 gallons. Childress and Quannah are now receiving water from the reservoir. Clarendon, Hedley and Crowell are expected to be cut in during October.

It Takes 20 Years Per Foot

Leading foot doctors and members of the National Foot Health Council say it takes twenty years to grow a foot.

Most babies are born with perfect feet, but by the time they reach their first birthday, 8 per cent of them have foot defects. The percentage rises as children advance in age, says Miss Fannie Brown Eaton, Extension clothing specialist at Texas A&M.

Permitting children to walk too soon, or develop poor walking habits starts them on their way to a lifetime of foot trouble. Buying the wrong size and kind of shoes or letting a child wear outgrown or ill-fitting shoes further increases the possibility of permanently injuring a developing foot.

A child first needs shoes when he begins to stand. High laced shoes are best, because they provide ample toe room and have flat pliable soles made of leather.

The material from which children's shoes are made should be porous enough to allow perspiration to evaporate, and flexible enough to allow the foot to bend easily.

Summer shoes or play shoes should provide the same support as shoes worn to school or for dress wear. Sneakers and canvas shoes, which do not give as much support as other shoes, can be worn for short periods of time.

As every parent knows, young feet grow rapidly. The National Foot Health Council recommends that new shoes should be provided for youngsters often.

To insure a correct fit, have both feet measured for length and width, with each foot bearing weight, each time a pair of shoes is purchased. Straighten the child's toes and socks. The correct size should fit the larger foot. Allow 1/2 to 3/4 inch between end of the toe and end of the shoe.

The widest part of the foot should fit into the widest part of the shoes. The arch of the shoe should fit well up under the arch of the foot. The heel counter should hug the heel. It should not slip up and down when the child walks.

The toe boxing should be high enough to clear the toes, and the toe of the shoe should be rounded. Take your time selecting a child's shoe. Consider fit before style and appearance. A good fitting shoe does not have to be "broken in."

Youth Looks at Adulthood

What is adulthood, anyway? When this question was put to a roomful of 18-year-olds recently by a sociologist at San Jose State College, their answers revealed mixed emotions relating to adulthood. Disdain and fear of becoming an adult were revealed by the young people, says Mrs. Patsy Yates, Texas A&M Extension specialist.

Dr. Mervyn Cadwallader, a sociologist at the California college, said answers he received after hours of discussion may explain the disdain and even fear that many young people display for adulthood.

The young people he questioned thought "an adult is someone who no longer plays, who is no longer playful." While the teenagers didn't want to remain children, they would like to remain youthful, playful, free of authority, and also free of responsibility, the study revealed.

"These young people viewed adulthood as a very narrow, meaningless world where nothing really happens. It's small wonder that many young people view adulthood as an evil day to be postponed as long as possible," says Mrs. Yates.

Adults can help relieve this conflict and struggle by introducing the youth they know to the realistic adult world rather than segregating them into their own world with little exposure to the adult world, says Mrs. Yates.

Let Cattle Be Choosy in Grazing

Let your cattle be choosy. It pays, says Marvin Riewe, researcher at Texas A&M's Gulf Coast Pasture-Beef Cattle Experiment Station at Angleton.

Riewe says some cattlemen think it's wasteful to allow cattle to graze selectively. "It's not wasteful at all," he says, "in fact, the animals will perform much better if they're allowed to graze selectively."

Given the chance, cattle will eat the leaves of forages in preference to the stems. And this is fine, says the A&M researcher, since leafy material is much higher in digestible energy than stemmy material.

In some cases the stems of forage are so low in digestible energy that they serve no useful production function on cattle.

Pastures which look to be uniformly grazed are generally grazed too short for maximum production, says Riewe. If cattle are given the chance to graze selectively, the pasture will have an uneven, ragged look. In fact, he says, a properly grazed pasture always has a good deal of what appears to be lightly grazed or ungrazed forage. This is one way to judge the proper stocking rate.

According to the A&M researcher, about 30 to 40 per cent of a pasture should look ungrazed or lightly grazed.

When forage quality is high, as in the spring, it may be grazed heavier without loss in animal performance. But in the summer, particularly on perennial pastures, high stocking rates mean less selectivity and poorer performance.

Bull Beef: Not So Tough After All

Agricultural scientists are finding young bull beef is just as "eatable" as meat from steers or heifers.

And what's more, say researchers at Texas A&M University, bull beef is leaner and has less fat trim—both qualities demanded by consumers.

An article by G. T. King and Z. L. Carpenter in A&M's Agricultural Progress magazine, elaborates on the increasing acceptance of bull beef.

The article says with beef consumption at an all-time high, cattlemen are looking for more efficient beef production practices to meet the predicted 25 per cent increase needed by 1980.

Researchers at A&M did mechanical tenderness tests on bull, steer and heifer beef. The machine scored steers slightly over bulls and heifers in tenderness. But all three were above average and entirely satisfactory, the article points out.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station has done several tests comparing the feeding of bulls, steers and heifers. In all tests, bull calves were superior to steer and heifer calves in weaning weights; bulls gained more economically and faster than steers or heifers; bulls had larger ribeyes; and little difference was noted in tenderness.

A six-member taste panel gave bull beef the final test. They rated it acceptable in all categories; tenderness, juiciness, flavor and overall satisfaction.

Prompt Filing for Social Security Claims Is Very Important

"Filing social security claims promptly has never been more important than it is now," Edwin Draughon, social security manager in Vernon, said this week.

"While benefit claims may be retroactive for a year or more, the enrollment period for medical insurance is greatly restricted," he said. "Protection under the 'doctor bill' part of medicare can start on the first day of the month you attain age 65 only if you apply for it in one of the three months before the month you reach 65."

"This restriction, incidentally, does not apply to hospital insurance, it applies only to medical insurance," he added.

The first enrollment period set by law covers seven months: the three months immediately before the month of attaining age 65, that month, and the three months immediately thereafter. However, if the application is filed in the month of attainment or later, the effective date is postponed one to three months.

If application for medical insurance is not filed during the first enrollment period, protection cannot be obtained until the next general enrollment period, which will be the last three months of odd-numbered years. Premiums for these delayed enrollments will be higher, and coverage is not effective until July 1 of the following year.

Even though the applicant is still working, a claim for hospital and medical insurance can be approved whether or not any retirement benefits can be paid. Moreover, with the increase in allowable earnings, many applicants will receive some cash benefits as soon as a claim is filed.

Information and help in preparing the necessary application forms may be had from the social security office at 1728 Fannin Street in Vernon or from the social security representative who comes to this area.

Penitentiary Money in Two Denominations

Printing money in various denominations is no problem for inmate printers at the Huntsville Unit, Texas Department of Corrections.

In 1966, they printed $525,000 worth of $7 bills designed to promote the annual Texas Prison Rodeo held in Huntsville each Sunday in October.

This currency proved so popular that rodeo officials decided to carry the theme a step further for the coming 1967 rodeo series. Now inmate printers are busy producing two bills. One is a $3 "Rodeo Wampum" bill; the other, a $4 bill labeled "Convict Loot."

Both bills inform the holder that "This note and $2.40 will get you into the Prison Rodeo Stadium."

Although the money printing business is strictly legal, prison officials point out that this cleverly-designed currency cannot be exchanged for cash.

However, persons who still have the $7 bills have this alternative. They can exchange them for this year's $3 and $4 denominations by writing Prison Rodeo Office, Box 32, Huntsville, Texas 77340.

Education Is Top Family Expense

The home may be taking second place to college education for the children as the biggest family investment, according to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The National Association of Home Builders has reported that the average new home last year cost in the neighborhood of $20,000, not counting interest on the mortgage.

But consider the investment facing the average family with three teenagers to educate, suggests Wanda Meyer, extension home management specialist at Texas A&M University. Just the basic fees alone can rival a family's housing investment.

Basic fees and charges at a publicly supported four-year college or university average a little more than $1,000 a year in 1967, according to HEW. Those same basic fees and charges at a private institution averaged about $2,100. Thus, four years at a public or private university or college will cost a family $4,000 to $8,000 for one youngster alone.

For the average three-child household, the basic higher education bill could range from $12,000 to $25,000, depending upon whether the family chooses a public or private institution.

But that's not the end of it. Education costs are rising. Furthermore, there are other expenses besides the basic charges. Books and supplies cost the average family $160 a year for each student. Transportation costs range from $150 to $250 a year. Personal and miscellaneous expenses average $400. Including all these expenses, it now might cost a family up to $3,200 a year to keep a youngster in a private school, and up to $1,800 in a public one.

This means that the total investment for a family with three children would range up to $38,400 if they chose a private school, and up to $21,600 if they chose a publicly supported college.

Miss Eleanor Wehba and Jimmie Cates Wed Sunday

In a double ring ceremony at 4 p. m. Sunday in the First Methodist Church, Miss Eleanor Tamm Wehba became the bride of Jimmie Frank Cates of Carrollton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wehba, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Cates, all of Crowell.

Officiating at the impressive rites was Roy Joe Cates, Christian Church minister of Fort Worth, and uncle of the groom.

The vows were repeated before a nuptial setting centered by a large fan shaped arrangement of yellow gladioli flanked by palms and spiral candelabra. The chancel railing was covered with emerald greenery interspersed with yellow gladioli. Pews were marked with satin ribbon and the church aisles were laid with white bridal runners.

Traditional wedding music was played by the organist, Miss Jon Ann Carter, who also accompanied Carl Frederick Wehba, brother of the bride, as he sang "Because"

and "The Lord's Prayer." Candlelighters were R. L. Thomas of St. Louis, Mo., brother-in-law of the bride, and John P. Wehba of Tulsa, Okla., the bride's brother. Flower girl was Miss Cecilia Thomas of St. Louis, niece of the bride, and the ring bearer was John David Coffey, nephew of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white peau de soie fashioned with a yoke and wrist length sleeves of rose point lace encrusted with tiny seed pearls. The A-line princess style skirt fell to the floor in an abbreviated train. A Cleopatra style tiara of aurora borealis held a chapel length veil of imported silk illusion. Her only jewelry was pearls and matching earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses centered with white orchids.

Mrs. Bob Laird of Olney, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her zown of pale green peau de soie was styled with a yoke and bell sleeves atop a formal length A-line skirt. She wore a matching headpiece of tiny peau de soie bands covered with imported illusion and she carried a single long-stemmed yellow rose.

Maid of honor was Miss Jo Wynn Ekern, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. R. L. Thomas of St. Louis and Mrs. R. C. Cravens of Quannah, sisters of the bride; Mrs. Pat Smith of Dawn, Mrs. Guy Todd Jr. of Denton, Mrs. Harold Zeiwacher of Enid, Okla., Mrs. John P. Wehba of Tulsa, Okla., and Mrs. Bob Barker of Crowell. They were attired in yellow peau de soie formal gowns and headpieces style identically to that of the matron of honor. Each carried a single long-stemmed yellow rose.

SAGA OF THE SHIRT—What's newer than a mini-skirt? It's the maxi-shirt . . . a shirt that grew into a dress to become the leading style for casual summer wear. Two versions cropping up here are a floral-printed crinkle cotton with white pique Bermuda collar and placket, and a striped cotton with button-down collar, placket front closing. Both sleeveless A-line designs from Lady Arrow.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Gordon Cates of Norman, Okla. Groomsman and ushers were Mike Coats of Fort Sill, Okla., Frank Jefferson of Abilene, Jerry Setliff of Austin, Guy Todd Jr. of Denton, Ronnie Bradford of Vernon; and Taylor Johnson, Bob Barker and Jon Coffey, all of Crowell.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wehba chose a rose beige Italian silk shift dress with matching lace coat and beige accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore an ice-blue linen suit-dress with silk embroidered trim. Her accessories were bone colored. Each wore a corsage of split carnations.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents immediately following the wedding. The dining table was covered with a white taffeta bridal cloth designed with a full, floor length skirt. It was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and topped with a traditional bridal couple figurines. A crystal punch bowl on a gold stand accented one end of the table and an arrangement of yellow roses fronted by a large white satin bow with streamers engraved "Ellie and Jimmie" complemented the other. Crystal candelabra with white tapers and appointments of crystal completed the table decor. The groom's table featured chocolate cake and coffee.

Serving in the house party were Miss Sherry Sewalt of Denton, Miss Monte Henderson of Fort Worth, Miss Jamie Canadian of Weatherford and Miss Jo Lene Dollison of San Francisco, Calif.

For their wedding trip to Galveston, the bride chose a pale green silk broadcloth suit with matching accessories. Upon their return, the couple will make their home in Carrollton.

The bride is a graduate of Crowell High School and will receive her B. A. degree in elementary education from North Texas State University in Denton in August. In high school, she was a cheerleader, class favorite and officer. She was elected "Miss Crowell High" her senior year. She has been employed as a teacher in the Carrollton Public Schools this fall.

The bridegroom graduated from Crowell High School, attended Tarleton State College in Stephenville, and is currently enrolled at North Texas State University in Denton working toward a degree in Aeronautical Design and Engineering. He is employed as a draftsman at Collins Radio in Richardson.

T. E. L. Class

The T. E. L. Sunday School class met in the home of Mrs. Mae Solomon July 27. Program opened by singing "Sweet Hour of Prayer," and prayer by Mrs. Albert Damagan. Refreshments were served to ten members and three visitors, Mrs. John Gillispie, Mrs. Jewel Sallis and Mrs. Inez Spencer. Devotion was brought by Mrs. Sallis. Business was led by Mrs. Charlie Cavin. Social hour was led by Mrs. Solomon.

Some Kind of Citation

There ought to be some kind of a citation or a prize for a town or a state that can turn down a federal handout. According to news dispatches from Baton Rouge, Louisiana is still the only state which refuses to allow cities to accept federal money to redevelop downtown areas.

PROVINCIAL THEME—Cotton in an authentic copy of an 18th Century toile establishes the French country mood in this modern bed-sitting room. The three-dimensional charcoal print on natural-colored cotton is laminated to room-darkening window shades and used for matching curtains. It also covers the walnut-framed daybed.

Miss Marolyn Denton and Lloyd Harbison Wed in Garland

The First Assembly of God Church of Garland was the setting for the July 21st wedding of Miss Marolyn Denton to Lloyd Harbison. Rev. Leonard Wood, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Denton of Crowell. She is a graduate of Crowell High School and Southwestern Assemblies of God College of Waxahatchie. She is presently employed at Texas Instruments in Dallas.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harbison of Garland. He is a graduate of Garland High School and attended the University of Texas at Arlington. He is presently employed by the Air National Guard.

Branched candelabra in basket arrangements of gladioli and greenery decorated the altar.

Traditional wedding music was played by the organist, Mrs. George Carter, who also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Lindy Watkins, who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and the "Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal empire gown of white satin, styled with long sleeves and a deep front pleat, while the skirt draped softly into a chapel train. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was anchored with a crown of petals and seed pearls. Her bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid was carried atop a white Bible.

Attending their sister as maid of honor and junior bridesmaid were Miss Carolyn Denton, student at North Texas State University, and Miss Kathy Denton of Crowell. Mrs. Al Peters, the former Miss Patricia Brown of Crowell, served as matron of honor, and Miss Eileen Thrasher of Garland was a bridesmaid. All of the bride's attendants wore street length dresses of blue lace over satin featuring a blue satin cummerbund from which fell two softly draped back panels. Their headpieces were blue satin bands softened by circular net veils and they carried bouquets of split carnations with streamers of blue ribbon.

Renee Ferguson and Bill Ferguson, niece and nephew of the groom, served as flower girl and ring bearer.

Larry Hutson of Garland was best man while Jim Smalley, Jim Dowdy and David Fuller were groomsmen.

Following the reception at the community center, the couple left for a wedding trip to Lake Texoma. They are making their home at 2500 South Garland in Garland.

175th Anniversary

Wall Street was named after the old Dutch wall erected along its northern boundary in the middle of the 17th Century. Ditched and built with sharpened palisades, the wall kept the cattle in, and the Indians, and any stray English colonials, out. The New York Stock Exchange, celebrating its 175th anniversary this year, is the most famous resident of this noted street.

Two Minutes With the Bible

The Bible Church

Many people have truly come to know Christ as Savior after having been sincere, religious "church members" for years. Though faithful supporters of some early church organization they had never experienced the truth of II Cor. 5:7: "If any man be in Christ he is a new creation." It is possible to be a member in good standing of some church organization, yet be outside of the one true Church of which the Bible speaks.

This is because the true Bible Church is not an organization but a living organism, a spiritual body, with a living Head and living members. Again and again St. Paul, by divine inspiration, calls the Church the Body of Christ. He says: "We being many, are one Body in Christ . . ." (Rom. 13:5). "Ye are the Body of Christ and members in particular" (I Cor. 12:27). "We are members of His Body" (Eph. 5:30).

How do we become members of this true Bible Church, the Body of Christ? First, we must acknowledge ourselves to be sinners in God's sight, for Ephesians 2 relates how Christ died for sinful men that He might "reconcile" them to God "in one Body" by the cross (verse 16). Thus, when believing sinners are reconciled to God by faith in Christ, they are regenerated, given a new life, by the Spirit, and by the Spirit are baptized into the Church, the Body of Christ.

Titus 3:5: "Not by works of righteousness which we have done, but according to His mercy He saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Spirit."

I Cor. 12:13: "For by one Spirit we are all baptized into one body."

Everyone of us should ask himself: "Have I been baptized by the Spirit into the Body of Christ?" If not, trust in your Savior and become a member of the one true Bible Church, associate yourself with some assembly where Christ is the Lord and the Bible taught.

Last Calf of Famous Herd Donated to Crippled Children

The last calf of a famous Texas Hereford herd has been donated to the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children by Mrs. Georgia Stroud Dallman of Alpine.

The calf will be only one of hundreds offered during the annual sale, whose proceeds go to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center, in September.

Mrs. Dallman's father, the late A. L. Stroud, first founded the herd on his 21-section ranch 20 miles northeast of Alpine.

In May, the land, cattle and the LS brand, established in 1836 by Mrs. Dallman's grandfather, were sold to W. B. Blakemore II of Midland.

But before the cattle were sold, Mrs. Dallman designated that one calf be held from the sale to go to the Cattlemen's sale.

"I'm still very interested in the Center," Mrs. Dallman said, "they do such wonderful work—I had to give them one more calf."

Senator Byrd and Morris Higley Comment on Riots

(Editor's note: The following article was taken from the Sunday edition of The Childress Index. The article appeared as a column, "Indexing," written by the publisher, Morris Higley.)

U. S. Senator Robert Byrd, Democrat of West Virginia, says that poverty is a phony excuse for riots and he does a pretty good job of proving his point.

Quotes from a recent speech: "We hear the usual excuses for the riots. They are the same excuses that were trotted out in the wake of the Watts riot. The ghettos are blamed yet, people of all races have lived in ghettos in the past, but they have not rioted.

"Poverty is blamed for the riots; yet poverty-stricken whites outnumber poverty-stricken Negroes in America, but they are not rioting. Moreover, there are millions of poor but outstanding Negro citizens who deplore violence and disorder and who do not subscribe to riots.

"If living in poverty reposes in one a duty or a right to riot, then Abraham Lincoln would have been the Stokely Carmichael of his day."

Sen. Byrd continues: "Discrimination, we hear, is back of the riots; yet millions of lowly immigrants have come to this country, immigrants who could not even speak the English language and who were thus placed at an additional great disadvantage. The Lebanese, the Germans, the Italians, the Poles, the Greeks, the Jews, and others, they were discriminated against but they did not react with violence in the streets.

"They also lived in ghettos, but they kept their ghettos clean. Their ghettos did not become slums.

"Eradicate the slums, we are told, and this will prevent riots. Yet, Watts was not a slum. Slums are not built. They develop as a result of the careless living of people who throw their trash in the hallways and on the stairways, into the yards and onto the streets.

Senator Byrd told of his youth in West Virginia in the 1930s where "poverty was everywhere." Yet, West Virginians, whether white or Negro, did not riot. That was before the days of collective bargaining. Social Security and welfare check, or even unemployment compensation.

"We cannot stand idly by and tolerate the shameful rape of democracy in our republic. Those who choose to step outside the law must be punished. And those who insist upon force must be met with a greater force. Mobs must not be permitted to prevail."

To that: Amen.

Hal Woodward New Chairman of Texas Highway Commission

Hal Woodward of Coleman was sworn in Monday as chairman of the Texas Highway Commission. Herbert C. Petry Jr. of Carrizo Springs took the oath marking the beginning of an unprecedented third six-year term on the Commission.

During the ceremonies, State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer received a 40-year service award. The oaths of office were administered by Judge Joe R. Greenhill, associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court. Also participating in the ceremonies was Rev. Reginald King, pastor of the Tarrytown Baptist Church in Austin, who delivered the invocation.

Greer, top administrative officer of the Texas Highway Department for the past 27 years, joined the department as an assistant resident engineer in the Tyler District in 1927.

Woodward, the new chairman, is a practicing attorney in Coleman. He first was appointed to the Highway Commission in 1959. He was appointed to a second term in 1965 and was designated chairman of the Commission by Governor Connally on July 18.

Woodward succeeds Petry as chairman of the three-member policy making body for the activities of the Highway Department. Petry first was appointed to the Commission in 1955. He was named chairman in 1959. He was reappointed in 1961 and this year, Governor Connally reappointed him to a third term as a member of the Commission.

J. H. Kultgen of Waco is the third member of the Commission. He was appointed in 1963.

Tips Count as Income for Social Security

Do you depend on tips to boost your earnings? These cash tips can also mean higher social security benefits for you and your family, but only if you report them.

Since social security benefits to you and your family are based on your earnings, the higher your reported earnings, the higher your future benefits. For some workers, the amount of their social security benefits could be almost doubled if social security credit can be given for the amount of their tips.

If you receive cash tips of $20 or more in a month while working for one employer, these tips can be counted with your other earnings for social security. The procedure is simple: just give your employer a written record of your cash tips by the 10th of the month following the month when you received them. And make this report to your employer on time; a late report can mean that you will be liable for the delinquent taxes as well as penalties and interest that may be assessed by the Internal Revenue Service.

If wages due you will not cover the amount of the social security tax on those tips, give your employer the tax money along with the report of your tips. Your employer will include the tips on

Beavers Get Off Season Spot Light

Less than a Mexican musket shot away from the seat of Anglo-American colonies in Texas, in what is now the Stephen F. Austin State Park, a new colony is being established. It's a colony of beavers.

For reasons known only to these buck-toothed, flat-tailed rodents—they are busily setting up housekeeping in the Brazos River bank, right below the park camping area.

Building efforts to date might be architecturally described as split-level Castorite, as the main residence appears to be a cross between a traditional beaver lodge (an igloo constructed of tree limbs and mud) and a regular Texas-type beaver den (a hole in the river bank with a subterranean entrance). There is now an automobile-sized pile of chewed limbs covering what is thought to be the entrance to a burrow.

Park Ranger Edgar Boehm thinks there are at least four beavers in the colony as he has heard that many separate beavers' alarm systems (tail slapping the water) when he visited the diggings (or more properly, the cuttings or swimmings) at night.

The unsolicited consensus among the humans of the area is that the colony is doomed to failure; that it will be flooded out with the first flood of the Brazos. Boehm states beavers have the reputation for sagacity in the field of engineering, and perhaps they know something that mere humans don't know. To date, all efforts have been toward home building. At the last report, they have not begun to dam the Brazos.

Park visitors probably would miss seeing a beaver because they work at night. But evidence of their activity is visible. Besides the beaver house (and how many have seen a beaver house) one can see numerous cut willow twigs, limbs with bark eaten off (beaver equivalent of corn on the cob), plus some real beaver tracks. All less than 70 miles from Houston.

Th best way to keep track of your tips is to write them down daily, and your social security office has a special booklet No. 5635, especially for this purpose. The social security office is located at 1728 Fannin in Vernon. Telephone LI2-9346.

The field of behavioral sciences and image making has long been a favorite research area for Nelson. His findings have been printed and widely read.

In 1962, he wrote "Seven Principles in Image Formation" for the Journal of Marketing. This same material was the basis for a chapter on imagery and symbolism in a book titled "Consumer Behavior and the Behavioral Sciences."

Nelson said many ways have been suggested through the years for market development, but most of the progress and major achievements have come from borrowing ideas from their sciences.

Social Security Provides Disability Protection

"Some people still have the idea that social security offers protection only for the 'old folks,'" says Edwin Draughon, manager of the Vernon social security office. "Actually, insurance for the young working man and his family has been a very important part of the social security program for many years."

One type of protection under social security, according to Mr. Draughon, is in the form of monthly benefits for a person who becomes unable to work because of a physical or mental impairment. The disability does not have to be permanent. If the condition has lasted or is expected to last for 12 months or longer, the worker may qualify for payments. Benefits may be paid each month not only to the disabled person, but also to other members of his family, such as his wife and children.

"In addition to meeting the disability requirement," Mr. Draughon said, "the disabled person must have worked under social security not less than five years out of the ten year period ending with the date he became disabled."

"For old folks only?" "Not at all," emphasized Mr. Draughon, "if the two requirements are met, benefits can be paid regardless of age."

"Any person interested in further information about disability benefits, may call or write the social security office located at 1728 Fannin Street, Vernon, for the booklet, "If You Became Disabled."

Marketing Research Gets Involved

The subtle and often intangible art of marketing is reaching out and borrowing from the sciences these days to better understand consumer behavior.

Marketeers, says Dr. Bardin Nelson of the Texas A&M University Agricultural Economics and Sociology Department, are tapping the thinking of psychologists, sociologists and even anthropologists. These people deal in what is called the behavioral sciences.

Researchers in marketing are enamored with such ideas as attitudes, motivation, learning theory and a consumer reaction known as equilibrium.

"For example, grocery chains spend thousands of dollars in socio-psychological research to determine what item as a 'loss leader' would be most likely to disturb the equilibrium of the household and bring her into their store," Nelson said.

To disturb a housewife's equilibrium means to peak her curiosity. An example of a loss leader are the coupons often handed out or mailed, offering price cuts on certain items. They are useful in getting people into the store or in announcing new products.

Nelson said many of the grocery chain loss leader offerings center on breakfast foods. Price deals on bacon have proven to be especially good equilibrium upsetters.

Medicare Film Is Available

"You and Medicare," a 27-minute film about health insurance under social security, is now available for showing to groups in the Foard County area. The film is introduced by Vice President Hubert Humphrey and is narrated by E. G. Marshall. This is a story about a medicare beneficiary and his family—an event which will happen more than once in most families.

Request for a brochure or the film showing should be sent to the Social Security Administration, Box 1417, Vernon, Texas 76384.

Texas Farms and Ranches Increase in Size and Value

Texas farms and ranches continue to grow in size, value, and products sold, according to Tom E. Prater, extension farm management specialist at Texas A&M University.

Farm and ranch value (buildings and land) reached $79,625 per farm or ranch in 1964 compared to $51,707 per unit in 1959. The value of buildings and land has increased from $82.11 per acre in 1959 to $115.20 per acre in 1964.

Prater said the 1964 U. S. Census showed investment per farm or ranch in buildings and land alone exceeded $100,000 in 117 Texas counties. An investment of $200,000 was exceeded by 46 counties, and 14 counties exceeded an investment of $300,000 per farm or ranch for land and buildings.

The average size of the Texas farm or ranch increased 60 acres from 630.7 in 1959 to 690.9 in 1964.

Farm products sold in 1959 amounted to $2,108,880,646 as compared to $2,227,339,392 in 1964. The average per farm or ranch for 1959 was $9,306 and in 1964, $10,859.

Hale County sold $61,815,031 in farm and ranch products in 1964 to lead the state in total value of products sold. Other counties close to the top in farm and ranch products sold were Lubbock, Hidalgo, Lamb, Parmer, Castro, Deaf Smith, El Paso, Floyd, Wharton, Cameron and Swisher, Prater said.

Keeping Records on Dependents

Taxpayers' failure to keep good records on the support provided to dependents who do not live in the household with the taxpayer continues to be a leading factor causing tax audits. District Director Ellis Campbell, Jr. points out that when you support a dependent that lives with someone else, you should keep careful records on the amount of support you provide if you plan to claim the dependent on your income tax return. Only one taxpayer can claim the $600 exemption on his tax return, even though several persons together may have contributed more than half the support.

On the other hand, if someone else provides support for one of your dependents but you plan on claiming the dependency, you must keep a record of the amount of support you provided in rent, clothing, food, medical expenses, educational expenses, and other normal support expenses.

Cases requiring careful records on the support of dependents are: 1) children receiving support from both of their divorced parents; 2) support of mother and father by several children; and 3) support of a grandchild or other relative living with someone else.

IRS Document No. 5013 gives detailed information on claiming dependents and the records required to support the claim. This document may be obtained from the Internal Revenue Service office in Vernon, or by writing Internal Revenue Service, Box 1798, Dallas, Texas 75221.

Tax Man Sam Sez

If you are worried about your heirs owing an estate tax on your property when you die, here are the rules: An estate tax return must be filed if the fair market value of your property is more than $60,000 on the date of your death. However, the community property laws usually allow the estate to be worth $120,000 in community property since each spouse is entitled to a $60,000 exemption. Remember these rules apply only to Federal estate tax and not to Texas State inheritance taxes.
