Mrs. Carolyn Bradford of Wichita Falls will bring a March of Dimes program at this Thursday's meeting.

Sheriff Apprehends Two Runaway Girls Here Monday

Sheriff Dan Callaway reported this week that he picked up two runaway girls—ages 12 and 14—at the City Hotel Monday.

The girls were from Seymour and Wichita Falls and their parents came for them Monday.

Prospects brightened this week for the area with the discovery of oil in a wildcat southwest of Crowell.

The well is known as the No. 1 G. C. Owens, 780 feet from the north and 2,350 feet from the east lines of the J. Garrett survey, four miles northwest of Foard City.

According to reports given the News by John Wishon, in a three-hour drill stem test Thursday morning of last week, gas surfaced in 15 minutes, and 2,550 feet of free oil with no water rose in the well. Depth of the test is 5,327 feet and the discovery is in the Strawn formation.

Casing has been set and the well cemented. The rig was moved from over the hole Tuesday to allow further testing.

Tom B. Medders of Wichita Falls is drilling the well which is six and one-fourth miles south of the Raspberry Caddo Field in the west part of the county.

Births and Deaths During 1968 Equal at 28 Each

The number of births as compared to deaths in Foard County were equal during 1968, a compilation of figures made last week by the county and district clerk, Mrs. Cornelia McDaniel, reveal.

There were 28 deaths recorded in the county during 1968 and 28 births.

Marriages took a heavy lead over divorces in the county last year; there were 23 marriage licenses issued and two divorces were granted.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the Thursday, January 12, 1939, issue of The Foard County News:
 R. D. Oswalt, attorney-at-law in Crowell for a long number of years, moved his office equipment to Vernon Monday and will start practice there as a partner with his son, R. D. Oswalt, Jr., who has been practicing law there for about a year.

Soil and Water Conservation Week, which has been proclaimed by the Extension Service in Texas, is being observed in Foard County this week, and soil and water demonstrations in the county are being featured, according to John Nagy, County Agent.

The S. J. Boman & Company mercantile store in Margaret was entered last Thursday night and about $75 in merchandise was reported to have been stolen.

A campaign against motor vehicles without two head lights and a tail light and trucks without the proper clearance lights was launched in Foard County last week by Sheriff A. W. Lilly as an aftermath of the accidents which have occurred in this county during the past few months, and to which the blame was laid to lack of head lights.

The best rain to be received in Foard County since April, 1938, fell Saturday and Sunday and was heralded as a "life-saver" to wheat farmers, ranchers and businessmen. The rain was general over the county, varying from two inches in various sections to 2.26 inches in Crowell.

Stockholders of the Spring Lake Country Club voted to erect a club house on the premises one and one-half miles north of Crowell and set aside $3,000.00 for that purpose at a meeting held in the court house Tuesday night at which time officers for the coming year were elected.

One hundred and eleven births and 25 deaths were recorded in Foard County during 1938.

Fifty marriage licenses were issued from the office of the county clerk during 1938. Records also reveal that only 10 divorces were granted in the county in 1938.

Mrs. Lewis Painter and little daughter, Marketta, left Thursday for Tulsa, Okla., where they went to join their husband and father, who is employed there.

Organization Formed for Pasture Brush Control

A new organization has been formed to provide funds for increased research on range improvement and brush invasion of pasture lands, one of the state's major agricultural problems, according to County Agent Joe Burkett.
 The organization, called the Brush Control and Range Improvement Foundation, hopes to obtain 1 cent per acre from each cooperating landowner each year for five years. Money collected will permit more basic research and education on brush control. Foundation funds will support basic experiments and field trials on the various methods of control. There also will be follow-up studies on range improvement. All such activities will supplement intensive studies already underway at Texas A&M University, Texas Technological College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.
 John Matthews, prominent Abilene area rancher, is foundation chairman. Bill Donnell of Marathon is vice chairman and Robb Brown of Throckmorton is secretary. The group already is selecting district chairmen and county leaders eventually will be named to organize local efforts.

Summary of Work Given by Agent

County Agent Joe Burkett has given the following summary of his work for 1968.
 "This end-of-year report was taken from monthly reports submitted throughout the year. Following are a few of the educational activities: evaluations and studies made, 14; result demonstrations established to demonstrate or prove a practice 72; consultations covering over 70 subject matter areas, 1937; program building committee meetings, 18; leader training meetings, 22; meetings attended where information was given in planning or information provided, 51; news stories released, 77; publications distributed to the public, 1490; number of different letters mailed out providing various information, 546; number copies of these letters distributed, 2268; drove 17,460 miles on official business and worked a total of 263 days in carrying out the above work."

Burkett said that the program already has the enthusiastic support of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, Texas Farm Bureau and Texas Farmers Union. Until now, no organized effort among stockmen has been developed to help in the attack on brush.

Tops Texas in 4-H Home Improvement Program

A Texas teenager whose home improvement efforts were so successful they became the subject of community tours has received top honors in state 4-H Club competition.

Marilyn Brown

Marilyn Ann Brown, 18, of Troup, an eight-year veteran of 4-H activities, will attend the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Dec. 1-5.

Miss Brown, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Brown, will be the guest of The S&H Foundation, Inc., which sponsors the home improvement project for more than 185,000 4-H members in the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Miss Brown, who said she acquired proficiency in carpentry, electricity, upholstery and interior decorating through her project work, said many of her decorating ideas came during tours of fabric shops and department stores.

The Brown home was selected last year by community agencies as an example of how attractive home improvements can be made at a low cost.

The enterprising young woman will join more than 1,600 other state award winners in Chicago for a five-day whirl of receptions and tours that will include visits to the Art Institute, Museum of Science and Industry and the Shedd Aquarium.

Other activities planned by sponsoring companies include a pop concert in Orchestra Hall and a farewell party in the grand ballroom of the Conrad can be made at a low cost.

Winners are selected by the Texas A&M University Cooperative Extension Service.

VESTED INTEREST—A handsome glen plaid cotton sets the sportive mood for this ensemble. The pant skirt, slightly flared for easy fit, is topped by a double-breasted vest with three-quarter belt and back vents. Underneath, a cotton voile blouse tied at the neck Western style. Highway Patrol Safety Officer Answers Questions

(Editor's Note: The following column of commonly-asked questions pertaining to Texas highway laws and the answers are prepared by High Patrol Safety Officer Chester Fant of Quanah. The column will appear regularly in The News.)

Q—When is a vehicle required to be equipped with mechanical turn signals?

A—When the body of a vehicle or the body and load of any vehicle or in a combination of vehicles projects 24 inches or more to the left of the center of the steering wheel, or under any condition when a hand and arm signal would not be visible both to the front and rear of such vehicle or vehicles.

Q—How far in advance of a turn must you give a turn signal?

A—A turn signal when required shall be given at least 100 feet before making such turn. Safe driving procedure requires longer distances on highways where traffic travels at high speeds.

Q—When does the law require headlights to be turned on?

A—Headlights shall be turned on from a half hour after sunset until a half hour before sunrise and at any other time when there is not sufficient light to clearly see vehicles or persons for a distance of 500 feet-ahead.

Q—Can a spot light be legally used in Texas?

A—It can be legally used except when another vehicle approaching from the front is in sight and it can be legally used in case of headlight failure providing it does not strike the roadway more than 50 feet in front of the vehicle upon which it is being used.

Q—What is the law in regard to mufflers?

A—Every motor vehicle shall at all times be equipped with a muffler in good working order and in constant operation to prevent excessive or unusual noise or annoying smoke and no person shall use a muffler cut-out, by-pass, or similar device upon a motor vehicle on a highway.

Crowell 8th Graders Win Two Games with Knox City

The Crowell eighth grade basketball teams won two games over Knox City here Monday night. The eighth grade girls defeated the Knox City girls 17-13. Rhonda Vecera scored nine points for the winners, with Trudy Bird next with six. Sandra Whitfield scored 2 points.

The eighth grade boys won their game 21-18, with Rex Driver scoring 16 of these points. Philip Bell was next with four, while Rocky Bachman scored one. Both of these games were very close and the Crowell teams had to "freeze" the ball for over 3 minutes in each game. This was the first conference game of the season for each team.

Go to Chillicothe Monday

Crowell Junior High's next conference game will be next Monday night at Chillicothe. The girls game starts at 6:30; the boys' game follows.

Mrs. Clarence Garrett was hostess for the Gambleville Home Demonstration Club Christmas party Dec. 17 in the home of Mrs. Willie Garrett, which was decorated for the yule season. She gave a reading, "Bank House Christmas."

Miss Mayme Lee Collins, a guest, gave a most interesting and impressive Christmas story entitled, "Mystery Christmas at Derick, Texas."

Games were directed by Mrs. Milton Hunter and Mrs. Sue Ann Smith. Gifts were exchanged from the lighted tree and secret pals were revealed.

Refreshments were served to the members and three guests: Miss Collins, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Marcia Lockwood.

Gambleville H. D. Club

The Gambleville Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Charlie Bartley Tuesday, January 3. Mrs. Bartley had the program and gave a reading on "Keeping the Christmas Spirit Throughout the Year."

The new yearbooks were presented and a business meeting was held. After the meeting was adjourned, refreshments were served to 12 members and one guest.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Andy Calvin January 17.

Alton R. Griffin Enters Private Law Practice

(Editor's note: The following article about a former Foard County resident was written by Dave Knapp and appeared in the Dec. 31 edition of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.)

When Alton R. Griffin walks out of the Lubbock County court house today he'll wind up more than 12½ years of service as a prosecutor, seven of them as a district attorney who believes "there's nothing worse than losing a case."

Thursday, he'll start looking at the law from another side of the fence.

Griffin doesn't have a shiny, five-pointed badge or a notched gun to hang up to mark the end of his career in public service, but he does have an enviable record to usher him into private practice.

Personally taking an estimated 400 felony cases before juries during his tenure, Griffin has lost only once. That was a circumstantial evidence case that was shaky from the beginning.

Not one to mince words either in or out of the court room, Griffin has earned the reputation of being "a man of his word" and one who thinks that everyone accused of a crime is "entitled to a fair shake."

"I have never prosecuted anyone I didn't think was guilty," he said between telephone calls that interrupted an interview and kept him from clearing personal belongings out of his desk and filing cabinets.

He also had been reviewing a file of old criminal cases. An assistant rapped on the door of his inner office and relieved Griffin of the burden.

Anticipating an obvious question, Griffin said, "We've been going through the files and I plan to dismiss any cases that I think ought to be dismissed. You build up a few over the years... some witnesses die, complaining witnesses move away or just get lost and we can't find them..."

Phones Jangle Again
Two phones jangled again and Griffin paused before answering. "I don't think I'm ever going to get out of here before the end of the year."

The DA figures he has prosecuted from 2,500 to 3,000 cases during his seven-year tenure. He handled almost 1,500 in 18 months as county attorney.

The lone loss he suffered in jury trials was a murder case. The opposing counsel was Griffin's predecessor in office, attorney George E. Gilkerstein.

"I've had three or four hung juries, and a few cases were reversed," Griffin added modestly.

Ironically, three murder cases that are still in the spotlight are Griffin's "biggest cases," although he declined to list them 1-2-3 in order of importance.

Satisfying Verdict
"I wouldn't actually classify any one case as the most noteworthy because every one had different problems that made each one unique... the punishment that you get on cases is really not a criterion in winning or losing a case."

The district attorney said the most satisfying verdict was a five-year prison term assessed against a defendant for burglary. Griffin was sure the defendant was guilty of murder, but the proof wasn't there.

The murder cases gaining the most attention were those involving Dolphus Jack Brown, Benjamin Lach and James Lee Warren. The Warren case happened in Midland County, but was transferred here on a change of venue and later developed into Griffin's case for all practical purposes.

Warren's death sentence was the only one Griffin ever got. "I've had three or four other capital cases," he added, "but never asked the death penalty."

Favors Death Penalty
Is he in favor of the death penalty?
"Yes, because of the state the law is in today and I have no apologies to make because I do favor it. I might feel differently if there was some way a person could be taken out of society for the rest of his life."

Brown also had been convicted of murder, and Griffin took a personal hand in the Lach case early this year in cooperation with The Avalanche-Journal. A judge in state at the present time by a jury, Lach is now awaiting commitment to the Bush State Hospital.

After 12½ years, Griffin has developed his own theories about what makes a good prosecutor.

"You have to look at a case and realize in your own mind the defendant's defense," he explained. He said this would be a help to him from the "other side of the fence..." and I can also see the prosecutor's viewpoint."

"The experience has given me an opportunity to develop some techniques that are not confined to criminal cases or prosecution.

They will help too... A prosecutor must teach himself self-discipline, because he has no appeal. It will seem very unusual for me to have some recourse."

Relies on Memory

"It's very hard sometimes to make indirect allusions to the fact that a defendant didn't testify... or to allude to the fact that no testimony was offered in a particular aspect when only the defendant could offer that information."

Unlike many attorneys, Griffin is not a prolific note-taker in the court room. He relies on memory and a thorough knowledge of his case.

And he never refers to what few notes he does jot down in closing arguments. "I'm more effective not doing it," he said. Although he mentally reviews a case, Griffin says he "never makes any previous preparation of arguments other than when the judge is reading the charge. I rely on memory."

"One of the secrets," he added, "is to thoroughly know your case, your lawyers and your witnesses... you can get to know people in a very short time."

"I have no regrets... I recognize the fact that to be in public office such as this you have to give up a number of things. Pay is one of them. But I made the choice and I did feel like it was something worthwhile..."

First Year Biggest

In seven years, Griffin's office has collected and paid back to merchants and others almost $420,000 in bad checks, restitution for destroyed property, money recovered in burglaries, etc. This is in addition to restitution made by defendants through the probation office. He is personally responsible for the money.

"It averages out to about $60,000 a year... and we have about 600 cases a year, with 70 to 75 per cent convictions."

Griffin feels his first year in office was the biggest insofar as prosecuting cases is concerned. However, Lubbock has ranked high (usually about fifth) in the number of actual jury trials. Only Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio consistently outrank Griffin's office.

Griffin's district also includes Crosby County, and he has had only four assistants to handle the big workload. When he started he had three, but the case load has grown immensely since then. Most of the time, even four isn't enough.

"Has he ever been threatened?"
"I don't think there's ever been a district attorney who hasn't been," was the reply.

Re-Elected Three Times
Griffin started as an assistant district attorney May 15, 1956, shortly after he got his law degree at the University of Texas. He also graduated from Texas Tech in 1951 following a two-year stint (1948-50) in the Army.

He became assistant county attorney Jan. 1, 1957, was named to the post June 30, 1960, and later was elected. He was appointed district attorney on Jan. 1, 1962, and was re-elected three times without opposition.

This year he ran for the office of judge of 14th District Court here but lost in a close race to Robert H. Bean, veteran incumbent.

Born in Crowell, Griffin has resided in Lubbock since 1956. He and his wife, Jo Ann, have two daughters and one son.

Taught and Coached
In 1954, he taught school at Anton. He was sort of a jack of all trades there, teaching high school English, eighth grade mathematics and was assistant coach in all sports.

He also is active in civic and church work. He was president of Lubbock Lions in 1961-64, served as district governor in 1965-66, and has held numerous other district offices.

He is a member of the Lubbock and state bar associations, was a member of the Civic Lubbock and Audium-Goldseum board, the Lubbock Symphony board and supporter of the United Fund. In 1962-63 he served as president of the Texas District and County Attorneys' Association and was secretary for two years prior to that.

Griffin also is a member of the vestry of St. Christopher's Church and is president of the St. Christopher's school board, and is second vice president of the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children, which operates a summer camp for crippled children and winter camp for the blind at Kemville.

Law Firm Formed
Griffin has formed a partnership with James O. Cade and Kenneth Bowlin. The law firm will be known as Cade, Bowlin and Griffin.

Griffin, who doesn't plan to specialize in any particular aspect of the law practice, plans to be in his new office "bright and early Thursday morning," but he admitted that he might have to drop in at the court house to "clear up some odds and ends."

Farmers Have January Deadline to File Social Security Reports

Farmers have until January 31 to file reports on the social security taxes withheld from their employee wages. Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue for Northern Texas, said this week.

The reports should be filed on Form 943, Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employees.

Mr. Campbell said that any farmer who pays an employee cash wages of $150 or more a year must withhold social security taxes. Taxes must also be withheld on wages under $150 for any person hired 20 days or more a year.

For tax purposes, a farm employer includes anyone who furnishes and pays workers to perform agricultural labor on his behalf or for someone else. Mr. Campbell said a "crew leader" is an employer under this definition.

The 1968 tax rate is 8.5 per cent of the first $7,600 of taxable wages paid a farm employee. Half the tax is paid by the farmer and the other half by the employee.

Farmers should remember to give a W-2 wage and tax statement to every worker they employ less than $600 should receive a statement covering their social security taxes. Mr. Campbell said.

Household Drugs May Cause Defects, March of Dimes Physician Warns

LSD and thalidomide come to mind immediately when we think of drugs which may cause birth defects. But more and more scientists are equally suspicious of the commonplace medications found in the family medicine chest.

Even simple remedies such as aspirin are under investigation. So are vitamins in excessive doses, nose drops and many other over-the-counter medicines.

Some experts fear that over-emphasis on the dramatically dangerous drugs overshadows a far more important fact—until scientists understand more clearly how chemicals affect the child in the womb, all drugs are suspect.

A "terminology gap" in the popular definition of drugs has clouded this important point, according to Dr. Virginia Appgar, vice president for medical affairs of The National Foundation-March of Dimes.

"The word 'drugs' has come to mean only the addicting narcotics and barbiturates, or the mind-expanding marijuana, LSD and 'speed.' But the truth is that drugs include the whole range of chemicals human beings may take in the form of pills, powders, capsules, injections, inhalants or by absorption through the skin," Dr. Appgar says.

One reason for increased suspicion of all drugs is the relatively recent medical awareness that the womb is not a perfectly safe haven. Physicians once thought it to be completely protected by the placenta, preventing harmful agents from being passed by the mother to the unborn child. Today, doctors who used to speak confidently of the "placental barrier" as an impenetrable, natural protective agent, know that the theory and the barrier are full of holes.

In its prenatal care literature, The National Foundation-March of Dimes, which entered the field of birth defects after the conquest of polio, warns all women of childbearing age against self-medication, home remedies, and "borrowing" pills from friends and relatives.

Even prescription drugs normally taken without ill effect should be re-evaluated by a physician when pregnancy is a possibility. No woman, of course, should refuse to take medicine which her doctor considers essential to her overall health. Indeed, failure to take needed medication may be as dangerous to a developing fetus as random self-medication.

If an expectant mother is under the care of more than one specialist, each doctor should know what has been prescribed by the other since some chemicals of relatively low risk by themselves may be hazardous in combination with other drugs. Taking exactly the prescribed amount is also important—twice what the doctor orders does not do twice as much good.

Many people are surprised that such things as vitamins are considered drugs. But vitamins are chemicals. Too much vitamin K, for example, sometimes causes jaundice which can damage an unborn child's central nervous system.

Using nose drops is not generally recognized as "taking drugs." Yet nose drops which are powerful enough to contract the blood vessels of the nose may also be strong enough to contract the blood vessels of the placenta and placental bed, reducing the oxygen and nutrition the fetus receives.

Many drugs, whether they have been available for a long time or are new developments, have great merit as aids to human health and comfort, Dr. Appgar admits.

"But before we take or freely prescribe any chemical, new or old, it behooves all of us—doctors, laymen and, especially potential parents—to consider first what the ultimate cost might be to future generations."

MALFORMED ARMS AND LEGS of a patient at a March of Dimes Birth Defects Center resemble those of thalidomide victims. Scientists suspect that other drugs found in the average medicine cabinet may cause other birth defects.

Too much vitamin D during pregnancy can cause excess calcium in the baby, a condition which may be related to defects of the heart and bones as well as to mental retardation.

Tax Man Sam Sez

The Statistics of Income indicate that many taxpayers who are over 65 years of age do not claim the extra exemption allowed them for age. Occasionally you hear of the little lady who didn't want the computer to know that she was that old—but this can't be the real answer. A good "guesstimate" would be most of us feel so young (except when we want to fuss about feeling so old) that we forget all about being over 65, especially when we are in a rush to file our income tax return. In case you forgot about having slipped past the 65 year mark last year, the Internal Revenue Service will still give you credit, adjust your tax bill, and send you a refund, if you tell them about it. (Simply send IRS a 1040X). On that 1968 tax return, take a memory pill and remember your age and go ahead and fill out your return.

Dick Todd Inducted into Texas Sports Hall of Fame

tions to society which typify the type of person she is."

Miss Jameson, who grew up in Dallas, now resides in Del Ray Beach, Fla., where she is a professional artist.

One of Texas A&M's all time great running backs, Todd noted that "this day probably means a little more to me than any other of the honorees because Homer Norton is also being recognized."

After a fabulous schoolboy career at Crowell High School, Todd played under Norton for three seasons, '36, '37 and '38 at Aggie land and then performed in the pro ranks with Washington, where he was a teammate of Sammy Baugh.

"When someone mentions Dick Todd to me, I don't think about his football ability but instead that he's the finest man I've ever known," Baugh said. "In my family, I just hope that one boy out of my four becomes as good a man as Dick Todd is."

Homer Norton's most famous protege, Jarrin John Kimbrough, called it "one of the greatest honors of his life to be able to speak in behalf of Coach Norton on this occasion. I don't think any coach deserves this award any more than Homer Norton."

Many members of Norton's famed 1939 football team, regarded by some observers as the Southwest Conference's best team in history, were in the audience.

Goldman, who grew up with Guldahl on the public links courses of Dallas, described his first meeting with the Woodrow Wilson High School product as "wondering what that skinny sophomore thought he was doing, taking on me, a senior. But I found out in a hurry," added Goldman.

Guldahl, now the successful owner of a suburban Los Angeles country club, said his induction "was one of the greatest thrills of his life. I have many fond memories of Texas but this is one of the best."

Special guests at the luncheon were members of the Texas and Tennessee football squads and the coaching staffs.
