Gets Committee's Okay

Rural Development Bill Would Be of Great Assistance to Four Winds Area

A multimillion-dollar Rural Development bill that could pump new life blood into rural areas such as this got a nod of approval last week from Senate-House conference committee.

The bill, which has received support from both area Congressmen, Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls and Bob Price of Amarillo, is designed to "rebuild rural America and thus lure people out of the crowded cities."

Called "a godsend to the plans of the Four Winds Industrial Foundation" by the Quannah Tribune-Chief, the bill contains $50 million a year earmarked for aid to public groups for developing industrial parks and other community facilities.

The bill also gives the Farmers Home Administration, for the first time, authority to make loans for small business and industrial loans in these programs of building industrial parks to spur creation of jobs.

Loans also would go for such things as building firehouses and community centers in rural areas and authorization would be given to a pilot program of rural fire protection.

The legislation covers rural communities of up to 10,000 persons with industrial loans available for cities of up to 50,000.

The congressional conference committee settled on terms of a compromise that would authorize about $500 million a year in grant funds and extensively extend loan authority for intensive rural-development activities.

Grants would be provided to improve conditions through such programs as pollution abatement and setting up industrial centers providing jobs for the unemployed.

The Four Winds Industrial Foundation, made up of Hardeeman, Foard, Cottle and Childress Counties is one of the very few regional organizations in the nation already well established to take advantage of this type of new legislation.

The recent tour of the Four Winds counties by state and federal officials pointed out the needs of rural areas for such a program as will be covered by the Rural Development bill.

Double-Cropped Soybeans Provide Opportunities To Double-Up On Profits

With prices above $3.00 a bushel and demand ahead of planting intentions, farmers alert to profit opportunities are seeing 1972 as the year for double-cropping soybeans. "Don't miss the opportunity to double-up cash returns this year," advises Robert Judd, director of the National Soybean Crop Improvement Council. Judd points out that more intensive use of land and more efficient use of equipment are the economic basis for double-cropping soybeans in Southern states behind wheat, barley and oats.

In straight dollar terms, adding a crop of $3.00 plus soybeans on top of a first crop of small grains can be very appealing. If the fixed costs of land and machinery have already been covered by the grain crop, most of the cash from the soybeans will be straight profit.

"With a 35 bushel soybean crop, you should be able to net an extra $35-40 per acre, over and above wheat returns," says Jim Herbeck, crop extension specialist at the West Kentucky Experiment Station.

Dr. Haskell Harris, extension agronomist at the University of Georgia, is another farm authority who speaks highly of the profit potential in double-cropped soybeans this year. Harris figures 15 bushels per acre to be a realistic break-even yield for double-cropped beans, with anything above that yield going to profit.

How do the most experienced farmers get their yields on double-cropped beans? Procedures vary from one part of the country to another. But the key factors seem to be quick seeding—often the same additional days of in-service training.

In the past many small school districts set aside two days each year for an orientation on school policies and to prepare for the first day of school. But in 1969 the Texas Legislature passed House Bill 240 which amended the Foundation School Program Act and provided for 10 days of in-service training. In Paducah we now set aside five days at the beginning of each school year for teacher training—which means more planning on the part of school administrators.

Some school districts located near a college campus had college personnel who were familiar with public schools conduct the in-service training on their campus. Paducah, being distant from any adjoining school district and much further from colleges, undertook its own form of in-service training conducted by its own teachers. Meeting daily from 8:30 to 3:30 for five days was a helpful experience in getting school off to a good start.

On Monday the first meeting consisted of welcomes, introductions, outline of state and local school board policies, and a short discussion of "What Would You Like To Learn More About During In-Service Training?"

Teachers also were asked to indicate which of the following topics they would like to discuss: treatment of minority groups, how to evaluate children, relationship of teacher to student, educational goals, use of audiovisual materials, discipline, how to teach a student who has no desire to learn, homework, and relevant teaching. During the noon hour, the superintendent considered the assignments with five to seven people per topic. Five teachers' aides also took part in the discussions. The new teachers were scattered around so they might have an opportunity to get better acquainted in smaller groups.

The group discussions were particularly stimulating because many of the teachers had attended summer school and brought back ideas which they shared with the entire faculty.

Teachers and principals met separately in the afternoon. The purpose of their discussions was to bring to the whole group a report on "What Principals Require of Teachers" and "What Teachers Require of Principals." Each group appointed a chairman to present its views. Rebuttals were permitted after each report.

At the end of the session, assignments were made for visits to homes on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings.

These visits were made to homes where the students had improper meals, poor clothing, and poor attendance the year before. Teachers took information about the Title I program, which would help to provide the needed services, and encourage the parents to see that their child had better attendance in the coming year. The visits were of great value in helping the new teachers to become acquainted with the community.

The kindergarten teacher and teacher's aide visited all prospective kindergarten students in the non-English speaking homes and the low income areas as provided for in the Minimum Foundation Bill. This was actually the only method we had of getting information to this group of people.

While the teachers were visiting on Tuesday morning, six teachers met at the school to give reading tests to about 40 students from all grades. These teachers were to interpret the results of the tests and give a report to all teachers that afternoon as to how these tests could be used in working with students. All students were to be given this diagnostic reading test the second week of school.

With the topic committees assigned, the teachers met for work in their groups for the first time Tuesday afternoon. The group work continued on Wednesday until 2 p. m., when each group made its report to the faculty. The reports were about 45 minutes each, followed by a short rebuttal period. This was probably the highlight of the meeting.

On Friday students were registered and building principals met with their teachers.

Another in-service day was used at the beginning of the second term for the preparation of a short semester lesson plan to be mailed to parents. The plan explained what the student would be doing in the coming semester and what was expected of him, when tests would be given, and how grades would be determined. Teachers indicated whether they would use lecture or discussion methods, films, tests, and homework assignments. All of the information was on one sheet of paper.

The parents of junior high and high school students received five or six lesson plans in one envelope. The elementary student parents received a lesson plan which was less detailed, but contained enough information for the parent to be more informed of what was going on in the classroom.

From a public relations standpoint, this in-service day was well spent because parents became more familiar with the aims and objectives of the courses being taught.

Two Minutes With the Bible

The Faith of Jesus Christ
". . . the righteousness of God . . . by the faith of Jesus Christ, unto all and upon all them that believe" (Rom. 3:22).

Note, the Apostle Paul here does not refer to faith in Christ, but the faith of Christ. Nor does he refer to what Christ believed, but rather to His worthiness to be believed, His fidelity.

We must not forget that faith is a reciprocal matter; it is two-sided. One is objective; it believes in another. The other subjective; it is a trustworthy character. One refers to what a person does; the other to what he is. If I have faith in you (objectively) you should keep faith with me (be trustworthy, subjectively).

Seven times in St. Paul's epistles he refers to "the faith of Christ" and each time His purpose is to emphasize our Lord's worthiness of our complete confidence. That he does not refer to our faith in Christ is evident on the surface. In the passage above he declares that the righteousness of God, which is "by the faith of Christ," is conferred "upon all them that believe" (Here's your faith in Him).

Similarly, in Gal. 3:22 he states that "the Scripture hath concluded all under sin, that the promise, by the faith of Jesus Christ, might be given to them that believe." Here again, we believe, because He is worthy of our confidence.

Again in Phil. 3:9, the apostle expresses his desire for a righteousness not of his own, "but that which is through the faith of Christ"—and then adds: "the righteousness which is of God by faith." Here's man's faith again! He has faith in Christ because Christ is completely faithful, completely worthy to be believed in. He paid the full penalty for our sins and is now in heaven dispensing the merits of Calvary—riches of grace, mercy and forgiveness.

But remember, "the faith of Christ" always precedes our faith in Christ. What good would it do to believe in Him for salvation if He were not wholly to be relied upon for this? But He can be trusted "to save unto the uttermost all who come unto God by Him" (Heb. 7:25). This is why Paul could say to the terrified jailor at Philippi: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved" (Acts 16:31).

F. H. A. Rural Housing Eligibility Is Expanded

Many additional families in Texas are now eligible for rural housing loans from the Farmers Home Administration, FHA State Director J. Lynn Futch announced Tuesday.

"In families where both husband and wife are employed," he explained, "the new policy permits half of the wife's gross income to be excluded in determining whether the total family income is within the maximum limit for loan eligibility."

For example, the husband is the principal source of income with $6,000. His wife earns $4,000. His entire income, plus half of his wife's, or $2,000, total $8,000. This is within Texas' moderate income level of $8,000 so the family may be eligible for a Farmers Home Administration loan.

James V. Smith, national administrator of Farmers Home Administration, emphasized that newly-eligible families must demonstrate that they otherwise merit FHA financing, and that credit is of grace, mercy and forgiveness.

SOME QUESTIONS TO ASK THE PRINTING AND OFFICE SUPPLIES PEDDLER

When the person selling printing, office supplies and advertising solicits your business, here are some questions he should be willing to answer to YOUR SATISFACTION:

1. Is he a taxpayer in your community or county?
2. Does he donate space in the newspaper to local and county projects and enterprises?
3. Does he pay wages to employees who live and do business in your community?
4. Does he grant favors that you would ask of your local newspaper?
5. Does he donate newspaper space to promote you and your neighbor's business?
6. Does his price include freight, postage and insurance?
7. Does he support your civic organizations, schools and churches with free publicity?

We sincerely believe that these questions should be considered when you purchase printing and office supplies—a question of whether you should support those who help support you!

He drives the Texas way

What do Ed McMahon, Bob Lilly, Bob Hayes, Phyllis Diller, The Carpenters, The Letterman and Charley Pride have in common? They all "Drive Friendly."

And they're telling Texans of their own personal ways of driving friendly on a new series of radio public service announcements now being distributed to more than 400 stations by the Texas Office of Traffic Safety Administration.

In one of the announcements, Ed McMahon, Johnny Carson's food-and-drink-loving sidekick on the "Tonight" show, admits that he does "enjoy a nip every once in a while. "But," he says, "I never drink when I'm going to have to do the driving home. If you plan to drink, let someone else drive. That's just one more way to 'Drive Friendly'—the Texas way."

The entertainers and athletes on this new record, which is third in the series, join a long list of state and national personalities who support the Governor's traffic safety program.

... note: A number of newspapermen and columnists were invited to Mexico City for briefings on the visit to the United States by President Luis Echeverria. Echeverria dedicated the Mexican Cultural Institute in Mexico City on June 19, also in San Antonio, Texas.

... answer to that question lies in the personality, leadership and vision of Mexico's President Luis Echeverria. The new direction of Mexico is being set by this week of discussions of major problem areas between Mexico and this country. If his track record here comes close to his achievements in Mexico since his inauguration Dec. 1, 1970, he will go back home with some commitments about the Mexican laborers in California and the salinity problems of the Mexicali Valley caused by the Colorado River water.

His visit to Texas gave this state a clue to his major goals in Mexico. He dedicated the San Antonio Mexican Cultural Institute—located in Hemisfair's Mexico pavilion. It is symbolic of the principal changes Echeverria is attempting in Mexico's way of life.

His enthusiasm and determination to solve Mexico's problems has become contagious among all government leaders in his country. His common workday is 12 to 14 hours—with no complaints from Mexico's government leaders and their staffs.

There is no "siesta" in Mexican governmental circles these days. The new leadership in Mexico is determined also to get rid of the "manana" image—and turn it to today and tomorrow.

They recognize internal problems—and have programs to do something about them.

Most of Mexico's problems can be solved by education," Echeverria believes.

His program for educational reform in Mexico points out the fact that he means what he says.

Echeverria anticipated the country's education problems before he started his six-year term as president (a president may not succeed himself in that country).

President Echeverria studied the country's population statistics and discovered that 500,000 children per year will be entering the elementary education program," states Mexico's Secretary of Education Victor Bravo Ahuja.

"Mexico has a population of 50,000,000—half of which is in the rural areas. One-fourth of the population is between six and 14 years of age. There were no schools for 150,000 students wanting to enter elementary school.

"More than 12,000 new teachers must be trained each year to educate these new students," the Secretary of Education continued.

Mexico will have 11,000,000 or one-fifth of its entire population in elementary school this year. Only 57 per cent of the elementary school students finish grade school—and this is up from 45 per cent two years ago. Echeverria's goal is to get 75 per cent of the grade school students into high school.

He does not believe all high school graduates should go to college. There are 133,000 students attending the University of Mexico this year.

Echeverria has more than doubled the budget for technical institutes. Although the cost of college is only $12 to $15 a year tuition in Mexico, the Mexico

President is trying to direct high school graduates into technical and trade institutes.

"We believe that it is a mistake to send everyone to a university. The President's education policy has three principal points," the Secretary of Education relates, "giving students a chance to accept every educational opportunity, get into their working lives without frustration, and the economic opportunity for everyone to be educated."

Here are some other facts and figures given to newsmen by Mexico's Secretary of Education Victor Bravo Ahuja:

*27 per cent of the national budget (up 23 per cent from last year) goes into education.

*66 per cent of the people on Mexico's federal government payroll work in education.

*88 per cent of education in Mexico is financed now by the federal government.

With all of this interest on education—it is easy to see why President Echeverria wanted to open a Mexican educational institution in San Antonio.

More buildings will be added later, classrooms, labs and a library. Operated by the Secretary of Foreign Affairs Emilio O. Rabasa, the Institute will feature classes in Spanish for four levels, and anthropology, literature and Mexican history. Exhibits of Mexican arts and crafts, Mexican paintings and excavations of ancient temples will be featured also.

...AUSTIN, TEXAS — Legislative leaders are predicting a quick end to their long-dreaded special session which began last Wednesday.

Gov. Preston Smith caught nearly everybody by surprise when he announced he has discovered an additional $125 million in federal funds which can be applied to welfare.

The federal windfall for social services to the needy was Smith's secret weapon to finance 1973 state operations without need for any new taxes.

Most lawmakers had concluded he would recommend an eight months' budget for welfare to make it possible to avoid another tax bill before he leaves office.

The governor proposed a $4.1 billion budget for 1973 ($818 million from general revenue).

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Rayford Price say they are optimistic about chances of finishing the budget-writing job in two to three weeks.

Submission of other matters would keep the special session going longer, although Smith has indicated he is reluctant to broaden the call. A proposed new code of ethics has been drafted, and there will be pressure on the governor to submit it.

Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowell told the joint finance committee he fully expects to get written confirmation from Health, Education and Welfare officials next week that the additional welfare funds will be available.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, who must certify foreseeable revenue before it can be obligated by the legislature, wants firm evidence the $125 million will be available if he permits it to be counted in 1973 budget-writing.

If Calvert declines to certify it, lawmakers almost certainly will turn again to the eight-months' welfare budget idea.

DEMOCRATS CONVENE — George Wallace and George McGovern were high-point winners in Texas delegate strength for presidential nomination at last week's stormy, marathon state Democratic convention.

Democrats milled around for more than 15 hours before they could agree on the slate of 130 Texas delegates who will attend the party's national presidential nominating convention.

Wallace got 42 of the delegates, McGovern 34, Hubert Humphrey 21, and 33 are uncommitted.

Main fireworks at the long-drawn-out convention came on the election of the largely-ceremonial vice-chairman. State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Roy Orr of DeSoto was defeated 2,125 votes to 1,795 by Mrs. Eddie Bernice Johnson of Dallas, a black nominee for state Representative.

Gubernatorial nominee Dolph Briscoe had his way with other convention officers and nomination of Democratic national committeeman and committeewoman. Jess Hay of Dallas will be the new committeeman and Mrs. Roland (Jane) Blumberg of Seguin, the new committeewoman. Calvin Guest of Bryan served as convention chairman.

GOPS CLASH — Republicans, who had anticipated a quiet, uneventful convention, ended up with some excitement of their own.

GOP gubernatorial nominee Henry Grover of Houston demanded the convention instruct the state Republican executive committee to meet and oust the party's state chairman and vice chairman, Dr. George Willeford and Mrs. Malcolm Milburn of Austin. Grover claimed the leaders are doing nothing to help him get elected. His proposal was shouted down.

Party leaders deny there is any

Watermelon crop estimated at 630 million pounds . . .
1971-72 Texas citrus crop down 8 per cent . . .

Crop prospects for most of the state are now rated as fair by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. The coastal bend areas and south Texas sections as well as a portion of the Panhandle have good prospects.

Pasture condition over the state is rated at 77 per cent of normal, compared with 52 per cent last year.

TEXAS WHEAT production is now estimated at 40,700,000 bushels. This is 30 per cent above the 1971 production of 31,417,000 bushels. Yield now is expected to average 22 bushels per acre, up one bushel from last year's average.

Wheat harvest is now more than 25 per cent complete; in the major wheat producing area of the northern high plains, main harvest is now underway.

Cotton is making good progress in most sections of the state, but heavy fleahopper and boll weevil infestation is reported from the Blacklands to the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Grain sorghum is heading out as far north as the Blacklands. Early stands of soybeans are making good progress on the High Plains.

A MEETING will be held June 27 in Austin on the newly created Rural Development Commission of Texas. A staff has been appointed and offices are located in the Texas Department of Agriculture.

The commission is composed of 25 members plus about 80 "resource people" to assist in rural development.

Primary thrust of the commission will be in these areas: economic development, rural natural resources, human resources, general government, transportation, health, housing and education.

Roy Davis of Lubbock is commission chairman. Ray Prewitt, formerly with Texas A&M University, is director. Jim McAlister is assistant director.

WATERMELON forecast for the state is now set at 630,000,000 pounds. This is 21 per cent above the 1971 crop. Harvesting will be underway soon in Central Texas and in East Texas in early July.

The 1971-72 citrus crop is estimated at 15 million boxes. This is eight per cent below the 16.3 million boxes produced during the 1970-71 season. Grapefruit production at 9.2 million boxes is nine per cent below the 10.1 million boxes of the previous season.

Early and midseason oranges totaled 3.8 million boxes, five per cent below 1970-71 while Valencia oranges at two million boxes were down 9 per cent.

Harvest of the 1971-72 grapefruit and Valencia orange crop in the Lower Rio Grande Valley is complete.

Most growers report fruit set deep rift, claim they are backing Grover.

Rep. Fred Agnich of Dallas and Mrs. Tobin Armstrong of Armstrong were re-elected GOP national committeeman and committeewoman.

for the 1972-73 crop is good to excellent.

THE HIGHEST cotton acreage since 1965 was planted on the High Plains in 1971. The 177,300 acres planted but not harvested represented an abandonment of slightly more than seven per cent, which is near normal but above the 4.5 per cent abandoned in 1970.

Production was from 2,322,000 harvested acres for an average yield of only 264.4 pounds per acre; average per-acre production on the Plains for a 13-year period since 1958 is 453.6 pounds.

Three members of the Foard County unit of the American Cancer Society attended the District 13 annual meeting in Wichita Falls last Thursday. Present for the event at the Trade Winds Motor Hotel were Mmes. Henry Borchart, Monroe Karcher and Cecil Carroll.

"Cancer—The Disease," a panel presentation moderated by Charles Wilson, MD, was one of the highlights of the day. Dr. Wilson discussed surgery; Eleanor Irvine, M. D., chemotherapy, and Joe Steed, M. D., radiation. Dr. Wilson pointed out that the group always worked as a team.

Prior to lunch, delegates divided into public education, public information, crusade, and service group sessions. Following the meal break, district concepts were reviewed by Mrs. Ron Rosignol.

Lefty Ben of Quanah presented Golden Achievement Awards to Archer, Hardeman, Jack and Throckmorton counties. Special awards for public education went to Jack and Hardeman counties.

The election of three district directors concluded the program for the 15-county area.

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
Attorney General of Texas

"Congratulations! You have just been selected the lucky winner of . . . Lucky you! You're now eligible for a high-powered advertising pitch designed to separate you from your money."

Exciting and alluring sweepstakes greetings are generally pitched to the innocent opener of his daily mail. And each year thousands of consumers take the bait and are subsequently gulled into buying goods or services they don't want or don't need.

The "free prize" type of false advertising has many ingenious variations, but the basic principle is always the same. It caters to people's hopes that somehow, somehow, they can beat the system and get something for nothing.

The whole purpose behind these phoney contests or "surveys" is

Esther Ribble Dickerson Died In California

Mrs. Esther Dickerson, a former Foard County resident, died Thursday, June 8, in Inglewood, Calif. Services were held at 2 p. m., Monday, June 12, from the Chapel of the Chimes, Inglewood Mortuary and Cemetery.

Officiating was Rev. James M. Schultz. Interment was in Inglewood Cemetery.

Mrs. Dickerson, daughter of the late J. N. Ribble of Crowell, was born June 16, 1893, in Wise County, Texas. She was the former wife of the late Roy O. Dickerson of Foard and Hardeman Counties.

She is survived by one son, Roy Dickerson of Hawthorne, Calif.; three grandchildren, Denise Aronson of Kealakekua, Hi., Richard O. Dickerson of Hawthorne, Calif., and Leslie W. Dickerson; four sisters, Ola Hudson of Fullerton, Calif., Pearl Wright of Red Bluff, Calif., Mrs. Wiley Finley of Decatur, Texas, and Eula Ferreira of Dallas; and one brother, Oran Ribble of Shawnee, Okla.

For the past 15 years, she had resided in Inglewood, Calif., near her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dickerson.

Ricky Lopez Honored at Eastern New Mexico University

The faculty of the High School Equivalency Program, Eastern New Mexico University—Roswell Campus, Roswell, N. M., has honored Ricky Lopez, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vick Lopez of Crowell, as May H. E. P. Student of the Month at the Roswell campus. Ricky achieved this honor in competition with fifty students of the Roswell campus. He was referred to the High School Equivalency Program by Bob Harrison, director of Operation Mainstream in Crowell.

The High School Equivalency Program is a government financed program conducted by the University and is designed to give students a chance to obtain their high school equivalency diploma.

to trick consumers into making purchases they usually regret later on. After all, the consumer didn't really even want the items in the first place . . . it was just that he "won" the chance for a good deal.

Often after a consumer claims the "free" prize or gift, he finds he must make some other purchase in order to be eligible. The resulting cost covers both items.

In other cases, a "free prize" is sold with expensive companion items—such as yearbooks with "free encyclopedias," service policies or cabinets with "free sewing machines" or cost-of-postage only with "free" magazines.

Another scheme is to offer consumers a "free gift" or sample supply of a product. When the consumer accepts the gift offer, he is asked to sign a contract which, often without his knowledge, obligates him to purchase a certain amount of goods or services in the future.

Next time you win a free gift, remember—no one is in the business to give things away. If you have to buy something to get your gift, look at the offer with suspicion. Be a smart consumer.

James Hammonds on Dean's Honor List at Texas Tech

James R. Hammonds of Thalia is one of 359 students in the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University qualified for the dean's honor list for the 1972 spring semester, according to Dean Anson R. Bertrand.

To qualify for the honor list, a student must be enrolled in 12 semester hours of courses, excluding pass-fail courses, and have at least a 3.0 grade point average. Texas Tech uses a 4.0 grading system.

Hammonds, an animal science major at Tech, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hammonds of Thalia.

Gary Knox Named High Point Senior Boy at King County Show

Dr. Stapp is Rotary Club's Speaker Last Wednesday

Dr. Walter Stapp was speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Wednesday of last week and the local doctor covered several topics in his talk.

His first subject was relative to his inviting another doctor to come to Crowell. His second subject was the MAST program operated by the Army at Fort Sill, Okla., whereby an Army helicopter would be dispatched to various areas to transport critically wounded or ill persons to larger medical facilities at either Wichita Falls or Oklahoma City. Crowell and Foard County are planning on becoming members of the MAST program within the near future.

Dr. Stapp's third subject was a brief discussion of prolonging life of a patient in which there is no hope for cure. He referred to it as the question of "dignified death."

He told of proposed legislation in Florida which would deal, if passed, in one of three ways:

1. The patient would realize he could not get well, so he requested that no further life-sustaining efforts be made.

2. The family, in the case that the patient was unconscious, could decide whether or not they wanted life-prolonging treatment; or

3. if the patient was unconscious and there was no family present, the doctors would make this decision.

Dr. Stapp frankly admitted he did not know the correct answer to the question of "dignified death."

Visitors in addition to Dr. Stapp were Morris Taylor and Bob Knowles of Quannah.

Bledsoe Family Has Reunion Sunday

Buster Bledsoe reported Monday that there were 17 Bledsoes who visited him at his home in Thalia on Father's Day. They came from Oklahoma and surprised him by waking him at 4:00 o'clock Sunday morning. Following breakfast, they left for Lake Lugert, north of Altus. Buster reported they had plenty of fish to eat and he added, "I didn't know that many Bledsoes in one family still existed."

In Only a Few Years, the Young Will Be Elderly
The ESCO Ladle, a company house organ, quoted the Research Institute of America which stated: "Tax payments and payroll deductions from the affluent, the young, the healthy and the employed are now being very effectively redistributed to the poor, the elderly, the disabled and the jobless." The publication went on to say, "That's great! And with all that dough taxed away from them, in a few years today's young, affluent and healthy people become the elderly, jobless and poor who have to turn to the new generation to do what they were not permitted to do for themselves."

Plans for New Year Made at Eastern Star Meeting

Annual reports and plans for a new year were made at the stated meeting of Crowell Chapter No. 916, Order of the Eastern Star, on Tuesday, June 13, in the Masonic hall.

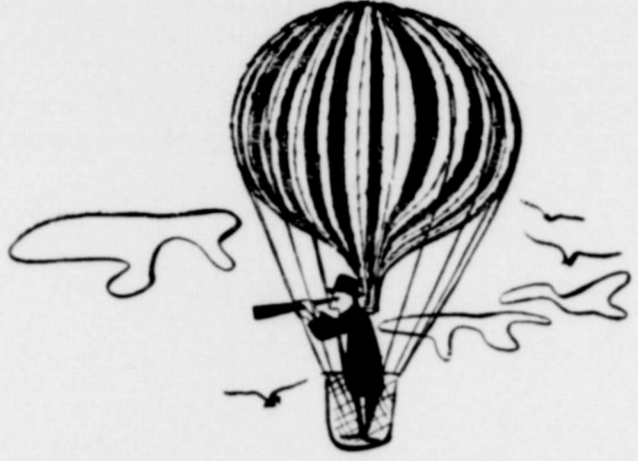

After reviewing the audit committee's report, the chapter voted to make individual contributions in lieu of a money making project. In addition to the annual dues, additional funds are needed in order to cooperate with the Masons in the purchase of a new air conditioner for the banquet room, pay a three-year insurance premium on the building and hopefully finance the chapter's silver anniversary celebration in the fall.

Mrs. Pat Pittillo, worthy matron, made and donated the new yearbooks and an altar cloth. Mmes. Bob Thomas and M. N. Kenner expressed appreciation of Mrs. Pittillo's talent and work. The chapter gave her a standing vote of thanks.

Mrs. Homer Black was installed as Ruth to complete the slate of new officers. Prior to the ritualistic closing, Mmes. Elton Carroll and Thomas, under the direction of Mrs. Pittillo draped the altar in memory of Mrs. Margery P. Wofford, a past grand matron. W. R. Moore led in prayer.

Mmes. Roy Cooper and Pittillo were hostesses for the social hour.

There Is No Age Limit for Payment of Social Security Taxes

There is no age limit for payment of social security taxes but all workers, regardless of age, pay the tax on their earnings. This reminder comes from Henry N. Chutz, manager of the Vernon office of the security administration.

"It makes no difference if a worker may be over age 72, or receiving Social Security insurance payment," Chutz explained. "Social security taxes are payable if a worker paid covered wages of any amount or has covered income of more from his own labor in a year."

Wages paid to the spouse of a child under age 21, by an employer, are not covered by social security, and should be reported, he pointed out. However, the wages of a parent working in the business of his or her daughter are covered if the parent works in his own home.
