Three New Vehicles

Three new vehicles were registered here last week, as follows: June 4, B. R. Moore, 1973 Oldsmobile coupe; June 6, Marjorie Ferguson, 1973 Chevrolet 4-door; June 7, Loyd Black, 1973 Chevrolet pickup.

After a later-than-usual start harvesting of Foard County's 1973 wheat crop had four big days beginning Tuesday, June 5 and continuing through Friday, June 8, during which time most of the county's crop was delivered to the elevators.

The pace of harvest began to slack off some Saturday, but the harvest is still continuing, with windup slated this week.

A Monday afternoon check of the county's three elevators showed that up to that time, 1,255,000 bushels of wheat had been brought to the elevators.

The elevators also reported a total of about 30,000 bushels of oats and 2,000 bushels of barley.

These figures do not include the wheat or other small grains which farmers have placed in storage on their farms.

An estimated 66,247 acres were planted to wheat in this county and the average yield on bushels delivered to the elevators is almost 19 bushels per acre.

The 1973 Foard County wheat received an abundance of moisture all during the growing season, and was unusually tall this year, causing lots of straw; however, wheat field fires were held to a minimum in spite of the heavy straw.

Most sections of the county received some damaging hail this year, with the Vivian community being wiped out several weeks ago. Then again on Saturday June 2, more hail damaged additional acres.

There was a fear that there would not be enough box cars to ship the grain, but the elevators received more than they expected, and that did not prove to be nearly as much of a problem as had been feared.

Wheat was selling for $2.37 per bushel Monday afternoon, but was $2.70 back early when harvest started. Some farmers contracted their wheat, others sold at the prevailing market price while others are holding their crop.

Prices of wheat this year are much improved over the past few years.

Although the fuel situation is still "nip-and-tuck," the News did not hear of any fields being left uncut because of the unavailability of fuel for the combines.

Most of the wheat was testing about 60 pounds, with some of the hail-damaged wheat testing lighter.

Most of the out-of-town and out-of-state combine crews have already moved on north.

STATE CAPITAL
Highlights
AND Sidelights
by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—While the 1973 Legislature managed to avoid a tax bill, outlook for 1975 is "bleak," with new revenue needs ranging up to $700 million, according to Texas Research League.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby earlier came up with a similar gloomy estimate of a $533 million tax boost during the next regular legislative session, but Gov. Dolph Briscoe declined to agree.

According to Texas Research League, state spending from key funds is expected to increase by $550 million in 1976-77, and the increase could run as high as $850 million to $1 billion.

Revenues, meanwhile, are due to rise $550 million to $621 million over the present biennium.

However, TRL cautions these factors must also be considered:

- * Federal revenue sharing funds (which accounted for $316 million of 1972-73 income) will drop by at least $100 million, because Texas received a three-year allocation to spend in a two-year period for the current budget.
- * An estimated $156 million surplus at the beginning of the next biennium will decrease from $75 million-to-$100 million depending on bills signed by Governor Briscoe.

"With the highest projected spending increase ($1.050 billion) the 1975 Legislature apparently would find itself faced with the need to find $600-$700 million in additional biennial revenues," said a new TRL report. "Even an $850 million spending hike, means projecting a biennial revenue need of $400-$500 million."

If the next legislature decides to overhaul school finance formulas, a biennial cost increase of perhaps another $300 million can be anticipated, TRL concluded.

Briscoe, at the national governors conference in Nevada, refused to be pessimistic and promised budgeting innovations and other economy moves which he feels can check a tax boost.

DIM VIEW OF CONSTITUTION CHANGE — County officials are getting together to fight any constitutional change which would drastically alter county government, according to Judge Robert W. Calvert, chairman of the Texas Constitutional Revision Commission.

Following hearings in Corpus Christi, Calvert said he sees "an incipient opposition to any suggested changes in county government."

He cited three letters from county officials expressing a dim view toward tampering with their jobs. Calvert said the Commission is committed to no course on the subject.

The 37-member body is concluding its hearings over the state and will make recommendations to the legislature next November. Lawmakers will sit as a constitutional convention next year. Calvert urged legislators to attend the hearings in eight cities this month. Committees will begin drafts on conclusion of the public discussions.

Department Employees Listed

ROADWAY MAINTENANCE EMPLOYEES ARE RAISED FOR WORK DURING WINTER STORMS

More than nine thousand highway maintenance employees of the Texas Highway Department last week celebrated their work during the worst winter and early spring in recent history.

Letter of commendation from Texas Highway Commission to the heads of some 250 maintenance sections in Texas.

Mr. M. Glover is head of Foard County maintenance and other local employees are Baylor Weathermon, Whitley, Billy Danforth, Winters and Gerald.

These few months serve to remind us of the skill, courage and dedication of you and your crews in emergency situations," the letter said.

Highway Department maintenance crews are based in almost every one of Texas' 254 counties. Primarily, their job is to keep the highways in good condition, patching pavements, making minor repairs on structures, picking up litter and carrying for natural vegetation and landscaping along the roadside, upkeep of Texas' 1,100 safety rest areas, roadside parks and turnouts and other tasks involved in good highway housekeeping.

In the process, maintenance crews often act as Good Samaritans, coming to the aid of stalled or stranded motorists.

But in times of natural disaster, the crews put in long hours clearing snow and ice off the highways, sanding bridges and putting out warning signs and flares.

The winter tested the mettle of the maintenance men, especially in the Panhandle. Amarillo had subfreezing temperatures recorded every day for 36 days prior to Christmas and 17 more days after New Year's.

Overnight freezing followed by rapid thaws produces immediate and extensive damage to highway surfaces. In some areas maintenance crews worked long hours during the holiday season, some of them working straight through with only Christmas off.

In most West Texas counties, the snow storms meant that the crews went on round-the-clock schedules until the highways were clear. Even ordinarily balmy Houston caught part of the icy blast. Two inches of snow fell starting on January 9. From the time the first flakes started until four days later, 275 maintenance men worked continuously on 12-hour shifts. One freeway had to be sanded six times in one night.

When the weather—usually high water—forces the closing of a highway, maintenance men put out barricades and pass the word so that the Austin office can notify the press, law enforcement agencies and the travel information services of the Department and private industry.

After great disasters, highway maintenance crews often initiate the cleanup. Since highway crews are based nearby and have the necessary heavy equipment handy they often turn to assisting communities with clearing away debris just as soon as highways are returned to service.

The recent Burnet tornado was an example. The twister struck shortly after 4 a. m. An incredible amount of debris blocked the highways serving Burnet. But by noon, a Highway Department crew including 14 men, four trucks and two loaders had the highway open and started clearing city streets.

In all, they were on duty 22 hours that week end. Most of them also helped friends and neighbors clean up the remains of their homes and possessions when they went off duty.

Highway maintenance forces do not wait for something to happen. Before the arrival of hurricanes along the Texas coast, crews are standing by and ready. Often, Highway Department tank trucks are pressed into service, the tanks cleaned thoroughly and filled with fresh water in anticipation of drinking water shortages.

The Highway Commission's letter of commendation said: "Maintenance crews and other Highway Department people who work so unselfishly during crisis periods deserve the appreciation of all Texans."

Letter to Editor

June 10, 1973.

Dear Bill:

After reading this week's Foard County News, particularly the item Rev. W. O. Rucker, Jr. is quoted on giving his impression of town and county. I thought you just might be interested in another "outsider's" opinion.

First, let me say I respect anyone's right to express his opinion as long as they in turn extend the same courtesy to the other fellow.

I do not disagree with everything Rev. Rucker is quoted as saying, but there are some things I do have to disagree.

Just from the sidelines, I would have to say not everyone in Crowell has been sitting on their hands. For example, the water supply that you have is a great improvement over the past, the plastic fishing worm plant, the improved sewage and waste disposal plant, the low rent housing development, the cap factory and possibly others I am sure I know nothing about. These are things that have happened in Crowell in very recent months and years.

I feel that this is not the end of things to come for Crowell.

Of course it looks small against say Wichita Falls, but their industrial foundation is now collecting one million dollars to hunt new industry. Percentage-wise, Crowell doesn't look too bad to me.

As you know, we transferred our daughter to the Crowell schools after losing our school here at Lockett and we are still amazed at the warm reception and welcome she received at Crowell. That was three years ago. She will be a senior this coming year. Nothing for non-athletic students? Our daughter does not engage in sports, she wouldn't have time, she is so involved with extra-curricular activities, all school sponsored. If she gets any more involved, I won't be able to pay my gasoline bill.

Over one hundred students are involved in band and chorus, a large group in drama and in literary events, several clubs, FFA and FHA, in other words, most doors either have to be pushed or pulled before they will open.

I haven't seen any evidence of pressure to win in athletics, but this I do know: it also takes guts to win and there is nothing wrong with winning, in fact, it can also be a lot of fun.

I believe the best way to appreciate the Crowell schools is to become involved as a parent with the school.

My wife and I do not agree that the Crowell people are selfish. When we come to Crowell we feel that we are at home away from home.

We do not know everyone in Crowell, but judging from the people that we do know, we feel that it is our loss not knowing the rest of them.

We all know that difference of opinion and constructive criticism promotes progress.

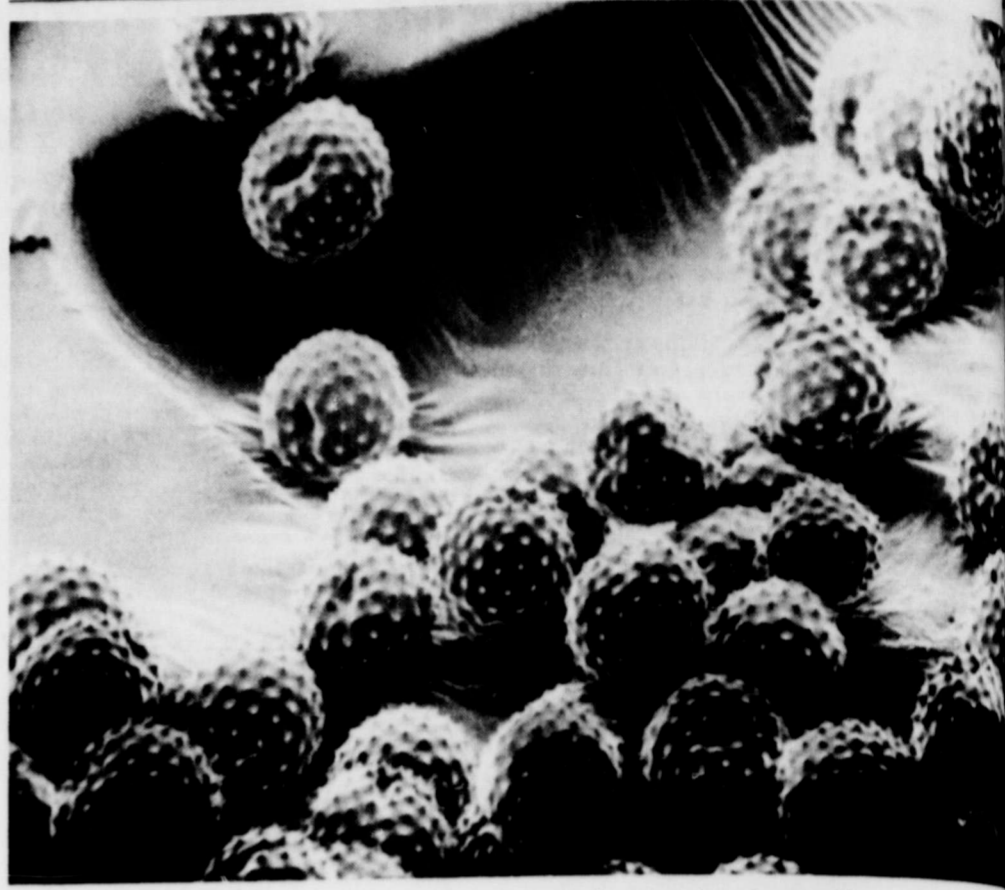

In view of what has happened in Crowell, I firmly believe you will strive and will make it better!

I could say more, but perhaps I have said too much.

Sincerely,
Clois Cobb.

Doing just enough to get by seldom carries one very far.

NOW YOU CAN SEE IT—Public enemy number one for many hay fever sufferers is ragweed pollen. Here, scientists at the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratory have used a scanning electron microscope to enlarge a sample of ragweed pollen more than 1200 times its natural size. First Thing to Learn . . .

The very first thing for a man to realize is that the world does not owe him a living. It owes him nothing except for value received. And his first business in the world is to do something to help the world along, and only in this way can he justify his existence and have a decent excuse for consuming food and oxygen.—Dr. Frank Crane.

Glen Goodwin Is Speaker at Rotary Club Meeting

Rotarian Glen Goodwin told members of the Rotary Club at the regular noon luncheon Wednesday, June 6, about the rotary engine, and said that Chevrolet plans to use the new type power plant in its smaller cars beginning in 1975. He said some of the plus features of the rotary engine are its relatively small size and smooth operation; however, it is no better on amount of emission than the conventional engine and is not as good on gasoline mileage as the present piston-type engines.

Goodwin also mentioned the new emission control laws and said that the device to control emission which is planned for the cars in the next few years will boost the vehicle's cost some $350.
Visitors at the meeting were James Provance of Union City, Mo., Mickey White of Malden, Mo., and Rotarians Bob Knowles of Quanah and Ross Hendricks of Vernon.

Texas Bats .333... Egg Production Below Earlier Levels... Cattle and Calves Marketed Show Declines.

Of nine selected categories of vegetable production,
Texas is first in three of them, giving the state a .333 batting average. Texas is first in the nation in production of cabbage, spinach, and watermelons for the year 1972, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

In production of fresh market vegetables, Texas is third in the nation outranked by California and Florida. In total vegetable production, Texas is in fourth place; California, Wisconsin and Florida are ahead of the state in that category.

Watermelon production in Texas last year totaled 70,000 acres; spinach production totaled 5,500; and cabbage production totaled 19,000 acres.

On a county basis, Hidalgo County is Texas' leading vegetable producer with a total of 60,000 acres. Other counties in the top 10 in total vegetable production are Frio, Zavala, Cameron, Deaf Smith, Starr, Castro, La Salle, Willacy, and Duval.

Hidalgo County is the state's leader in production of cabbage, cantaloupes, carrots, onions. Frio County is the state's leader in production of watermelons.

Other rankings of the state show the importance of Texas to vegetable production for the nation.

Texas is second in cantaloupe production, second in carrot production, fourth in green peppers, second in onions.

Total vegetable acreage in Texas during 1972 amounted to 213,100 acres. Complete details on the vegetable industry in the state are included in the 1972 Texas Vegetable Statistics. A copy may be obtained by writing the Texas Department of Agriculture, Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

SALES of cattle, calves, sheep, goats and hogs showed moderate declines in Texas.

Cattle and calves marketed through auctions numbered 427,000 head, 33 per cent below a month ago.

Sheep sales at 79,000 head were 38 per cent below a year ago. Goat sales at 30,000 were 25 per cent below a year ago.

Hogs sold at 34,000 head were 32 per cent below a year and a month ago.

EGG production in Texas during April showed a 10 per cent reduction from a year ago and one per cent less than the previous month.

Texas hens are still not quite up to the national average on a laying basis. Texas eggs laid daily per 100 hens averaged 62.6 during April. Nationwide, the average was 63.8 eggs laid daily per 100 hens.

Egg-type chicks hatched in Texas during April increased two per cent from last year. The national total was virtually the same as a year ago.

FUEL shortages are being reported from various parts of Texas by agriculture producers. Farmers who run short of fuel are requested to report it to the Texas Department of Agriculture or to their county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

Agricultural industries have first priority in the use of fuel, according to federal guidelines on a voluntary compliance basis. More stringent regulations are to be enforced if necessary.

It is said that a man once went to the Hon. Hamilton Fish of New York, who was a wealthy man, and asked how a young man could make a million dollars. Mr. Fish is quoted as saying to him that he could not tell him how he could make a million dollars, but he could tell him something equally as valuable, and he said, "Always spend a little less than you receive, always pay an obligation on the day you promise to pay it, and tell the truth under all circumstances. This may not make you a millionaire, but nobody will know that you are not one since you meet your obligations promptly, and a millionaire can do no more than that."
