Red Cross Fund Drive Set to Begin Monday, July 23

Mrs. Mattie L. Carroll, campaign fund raising chairman for the American National Red Cross for Foard County, has announced that the annual drive for funds, usually held in March of each year but delayed this year on account of illness and other conflicts, will commence Monday, July 23.

Volunteer workers are now being contacted and it is hoped that the entire quota of $907.00 assigned to the county can be raised on the opening drive.

The blood bank program, one of the most vital programs in the county, is sponsored by the Red Cross, and to continue the blood program, it is imperative that an annual drive for funds be made. Each year, the local chapter is asked to participate in aid to the various nationwide disasters and this year the local chapter has already participated in the Mississippi flood disaster by sending in the quota requested.

"Many worthwhile projects are available to the public through the American Red Cross in an active chapter, and several of these, such as first aid and home nursing courses, are sorely needed in our county," Mrs. Carroll said.

Dick Todd Is Foard Chairman

Crippled Children's Livestock Auction Will Be Held Wednesday, August 1st

Fifth annual Crippled Children's Livestock Auction to benefit the North Texas Rehabilitation Center will be held August 1, according to Dick Todd, Foard County chairman. Todd is pictured above holding one of the small patients at the center.

Todd has been named to serve on the cattle auction committee which recruits contributions for the annual fund-raising sale.

Personal contact of possible donors was stressed during a meeting of the auction committee.

Joe Parker, general chairman for this year's auction, said last year's sale total passed $37,000 mainly due to personal contacts of county chairmen and committee members with donors in their counties. Parker urged the county chairmen and assistants to follow this plan.

Parker said he hopes the August 1 sale will double the amount raised last year. "Wheat and grain sales have been good, cattle sales have been good," he said. "Now is a good time for us to count our blessings and to share with those who need our help," he added.

Todd urged prospective donors to contact him or one of his committee members and give "four good legs so two can walk."

The rehabilitation center provides physical, occupational and speech therapy for physically handicapped children and adults, those who have speech and/or hearing difficulties, or children who have learning disabilities. The services are provided for people who live within a 100-mile radius of Wichita Falls.

Several people from Foard County have been seen at the rehabilitation center in Wichita Falls.

Youths "Speak Out" in 4-H Public Speaking

Youth today have strong opinions on many different subjects. And they aren't afraid to express their feelings. Through the national 4-H public speaking program, sponsored by Union Oil Company of California, 4-H boys and girls are encouraged to "speak out" on topics important to them.

Public speaking skills are stressed in the Cooperative Extension Service conducted program. 4-H'ers also are encouraged to use their talents in their everyday communications.

Besides the satisfaction of improving communicating ideas and thoughts to others, 4-H'ers in the program are eligible for other recognition. Up to four medals of honor are awarded to outstanding 4-H public speakers in each county. The top 4-H boy and girl public speaker in each state receives a $50 U.S. Savings Bond from Union Oil and a chance to be one of 18 sectional winners in the 4-H public speaking program. These youths receive expense-paid trips to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 25-29.

At that event, six national winners are announced. Each receives a $700 educational scholarship provided by the company.

One of the 1972 national winners says, "Old and young alike will listen if I have something worthwhile to say and present it to the best of my ability." She is Jill Hopper, of Pueblo, Colo., an active 4-H public speaker who makes some 50 speeches a year.

In addition to appearing before local audiences, Miss Hopper has narrated local 4-H Dress Revues, made radio appearances promoting 4-H, assisted younger members in their public speaking work, and won many awards for her oratorical ability.

To hear these young speakers and to get further information on the 4-H public speaking program, contact the county extension office.

PLAIN TALK ABOUT ALCOHOL

by Rusty Jones, NTRCAA
Taken from "Texas Talks Alcoholism" published by the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

The Texas State Plan (1971) estimated that 425,000 persons in Texas were alcohol abusers or alcoholics—3.8 per cent of the population. The Governor's Office of Information Service has just estimated that Texas' population has increased to 11,734,173. On that basis, the Commission estimates that there are more than 445,000 alcohol abusers or alcoholic persons in Texas, and that alcohol-related problems, directly or indirectly affect more than 2,250,000 in the state.

As the population increases, so does the caseload. The 1971 Texas State Plan estimated that 20,000 persons entered the alcoholism services delivery system in 1970 and projected an annual caseload of 40,000 by 1975. It is probable that this caseload was reached by 1972. Data collected for the 1973 update indicate that 25,795 admissions were recorded by publicly funded alcohol abuse and alcoholism services during 1972. An additional 15,000 persons probably sought assistance from private sources.

What is alcoholism?—A public health problem. Medical authorities recognize alcoholism as the fourth major public health problem. It is outranked only by cancer, heart disease and mental illness. A progressive illness—alcoholism is a progressive illness characterized by the compulsive drinking of beverage alcohol. A treatable illness—medical, psychological, and sociological research has proven that alcoholism is an illness that responds to treatment.

Who is an alcoholic?—A compulsive drinker. An alcoholic is one whose compulsive drinking behavior causes serious problems in the management of his life. This uncontrollable compulsion prevents solution of everyday life problems. It also causes more devastating and complex problems to develop. A person who needs treatment—alcoholic is a person who needs assistance in order to arrest the progress of this illness.

Where are the alcoholics?—In any profession, among the educated and the illiterate, among the skilled and the unskilled, among the men and women in any profession we can find alcoholics. Most of them are still contributing members of the working public. In any neighborhood—the common misconception that alcoholics are found "down on Skid row" has been exposed. Less than three per cent of the more than 8,000,000 alcoholics in the U. S. are found there. In any family—perhaps the family can give the most accurate answer to the question. Where?—It is the family that may be the first to notice the early symptoms of alcoholism.

Next I will run the test questions that are used by Johns Hopkins University Hospital, Baltimore, Md., in deciding whether or not a patient is an alcoholic. Call me 492-3612 Paducah, or write Box 142, for any questions on above or if this office can be of any help in any way.

Two Minutes With the Bible

Buy the Truth and Sell the Truth

Every true Christian should understand that the truth you don't think so, make your own, value it, defend it for it, and see if it does. Before you are through, you cost you far more than you thought—hours of ease, care, friends and money. The truth costs. Salvation is free but the truth cost is if you want it for you. Many who know the truth buy it. They won't pay the cost to say: "This is what I believe. This is my conviction. Truth isn't worth that much to them."

But God's Word urges us to "sell the truth." Not, "Buy it, can get it at a bargain, price is not too great." No, "the truth!" Buy it at any price. It's far more valuable than anything you can give in return for it.

And when you have bought "sell it not." How many have bought the truth only to get it again. For awhile they defended some God-given truth from His Word, but something sold it again for something seemed more valuable. Peace was peace with others, or popularity, or some temporal gain. They still mental assent that it was true but it formed no part of their lives. It was no longer a conviction. Such should read again the counsel: "Buy the truth, sell it not." He does not say "Don't sell it unless you get a very good price for it." Says: "Sell it not." Sell it at any price. Buy it, no matter the cost and when it is yours, sell it for any price or other consideration.

It is because the truth is little valued in this age, that many of God's people have become so spiritually less. They hold opinions of convictions, because the Bible, unchangeable Word of God, is given little place in their lives. But God uses those who "buy the truth and sell it not."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Tex.—The State Insurance Board, as predicted, last week will order auto insurance reductions averaging 4.3 per cent for private cars and to at least $25 million. Further savings may be under new competitive effective September 1, as new companies to deviate below standard rates are Board.

Insurance industry men warned, other new rates into effect may be up substantially next year.

Rates cited by the board do not include, for example, effect of new optional additional coverage for medical expenses and wage losses (up to $2500 for driver and passenger.) Actually, the coverage is added automatically unless the car owner rejects it in writing.

Industry officials estimated the $2500 additional "personal injury protection" will cost from $8 to $23 a year, which would exceed the cost of savings on other coverage in the same territories.

Changes in the "guest statute"—which will allow passengers other than members of the driver's family to sue in event of accidental injury—will add at least another five per cent to premiums, according to a top industry source.

The new comparative negligence statute will increase property damage liability costs at least 10 per cent, estimates the Texas Automobile Insurance Office, which represents companies writing 98 per cent of Texas auto coverage.

The guest statute and comparative negligence law changes will not be reflected in premiums ordered into effect August 27, since there is no experience to base calculations on.

Rates vary substantially among 40 rating territories. An average statewide cut of 11.2 per cent was ordered last year.

AG OPINIONS—Plucking of pigeons' tail feathers to make their flight erratic and then tossing them up to be shot in marksmanship contests might support convictions for torturing, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- Public junior colleges can charge higher tuitions for non-residents, but disqualify themselves from state funds if they do.
- Positions of local hospital board member and city commissioner are incompatible, and a person shouldn't hold both.
- A negative vote on a county-wide local option election for sale of alcoholic beverages would not affect areas of a county already wet.

Democracy Can Be a Pain

The Diboll Free Press had the following comments on Watergate in a recent column:

"The Watergate scandal and the resulting cover up seems to have occurred, at least partially, because of a President and aides who did not trust the American people with certain facts. For a long time now, all we can hear is that information is classified and is withheld 'because of national security reasons.'

"Then, of course, when the questions became tougher, the administration simply refused to answer.

"This reminds us that all too often men of good intentions suddenly set themselves up as elite rulers once they attain public office. This occurs on city councils, school boards and county commissioners courts. Men who pledge in their campaigns to be open in their dealings almost without exception later find it expedient to keep the whole truth from the electorate.

"This isn't to go out of this room . . . I want to say this but the reporters must agree not to print it . . . The press can stay if they agree not to print what we say . . ."

"These are only a few of the comments often heard by the news media as they cover meetings which are supposed to be open to the public. Officeholders often think they are being ugly only to a press which may have misquoted them, when in reality they are saying, 'The public be damned.'"

"Sen. Howard Baker, vice-chairman of the Senate committee investigating Watergate and shady campaign financing, said it most appropriately the other night on TV: 'Democracy, we must remember, is not a comfortable form of government. It is a painful process at best . . .'

"He is so right. Democracy is a difficult form of government and it works only when our elected officials have faith that the people can make up their own minds when given all the facts, both good and bad. And the bad news usually isn't so bad after all when elected officials honestly admit them.

"We do not believe that all politicians are corrupt. We do believe that most do the best they can. The few who attempt to fool the people and to foster their own beliefs over those of the electorate usually are eventually recognized by the electorate for what they are.

"In sum, Americans are able to make intelligent decisions most of the time when they have all the facts and they get the facts only when they demand that their officials conduct the public's business in public—and not behind closed doors."

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Schaefer and children, Treva and Koan Bice, of Azle spent several days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Rummel, en route home after a vacation to eight states. They stated that they toured several museums, but that there were none in comparison to the McAdams museum west of Crowell and those who have not visited it don't know what they are missing.

We all express our sympathy to Mrs. Monroe Karcher, whose mother, Mrs. Karl Haseloff of Lockett, was killed in a one-car accident in Vernon Friday. Her father, driver of the car which hit a tree, was seriously injured.

There is a youth revival at the United Pentecostal Church in Vernon at 2227 Pearl Street. Rev. and Mrs. Bob McCullom are the evangelists from Houston Apostolic Bible College. Everyone is welcome. "Healings and miracles performed nightly," Mrs. L. B. Robertson said.

Mrs. L. B. Robertson visited Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bowland and Rev. and Mrs. Mike Flannigan in Fort Worth from Tuesday until Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lanny Parker have a new baby son, Anthony Lane, born July 12 in Vernon. The baby is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Robertson, Lanny's foster parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Robertson and daughter, Kris, have moved into their new home, the former Baptist parsonage in Margaret. They visited the Lanny Parker family in Vernon Monday.

Texas Hog Producers Join In . . . Cattle and Calves Marketed Show Increase . . . Above Normal Grazing.

Texas, which is currently 14th in the nation in hog production, is showing a 19 per cent decline in numbers of hogs on farms as of June 1. Nationwide, the number is also down, but by only one per cent.

Hogs kept for breeding purposes on Texas farms totaled 150,000 head, down 18 per cent from a year ago. Market hogs and pigs totaled 810,000 head, down 19 per cent from last year.

Hog farmers in Texas intend to farrow 102,000 sows from now through November; this will be 11 per cent less than farrowings for this period last year. Reasons for the decline include the increased costs of feed and the fact that retail prices are frozen.

The December-May pig crop totaled 729,000 in Texas. This is 18 per cent below the 1972 December-May pig crop. Pigs per litter averaged 7.29 compared to 7.50 last year.

Nationwide, hogs and pigs on farms as of June 1 is down one per cent from a year ago. The December-May 1973 pig crop is estimated at two per cent less than the same period in 1972. Pigs per litter averaged 7.16 compared with 7.32 last year.

Hogs producers intend to farrow 6,000,000 sows now through November, which is virtually unchanged. If intentions are realized and projected pigs per litter are reached, the pig crop will be 43,600,000 head, up one per cent from 1972.

SALES of cattle and calves as well as sheep and goats at auction markets in Texas show an increase compared to a year ago. Hog sales are down from year ago levels, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

Cattle and calves marketed through auctions during May numbered 731,000 head, 26 per cent above a year ago, and 70 per cent above a month ago.

Sheep sales at livestock auctions during May at 230,000 head were 37 per cent above a year ago and 191 per cent above a month ago. Goats sold during May at 36,000 head were 24 per cent above last year and 20 per cent above last month.

Hogs sold during May at 41,000 head were 25 per cent below a year ago, but 21 per cent above a month ago.

EXCELLENT moisture conditions over most of Texas are maintaining ranges and pastures in above normal grazing conditions. Livestock condition is good to excellent. Horn flies and ticks have been bothering livestock but weight losses have not been severe. Rains have ruined some curing hay in East Texas but prospects for third and fourth cuttings are outstanding.

Screwworm outbreaks over the state are minimal compared to a year ago when the screwworm situation was completely out of control. Livestock producers are reminded to continue to submit suspected screwworm samples to the fly laboratory at Mission.

VEGETABLE crops are making good progress in the Hereford-High Plains-Panhandle areas.

Moderate shipments of potatoes and onions are now underway with heavier supplies expected during the latter half of July.

A market news office has been opened in Hereford.

MANUFACTURED dairy products utilized 23 per cent of the 1972 Texas milk production; nationwide, manufacturer dairy products utilized 52 per cent of the 1972 milk production.

Frozen dessert production in Texas totaled 62,656,000 gallons in 1972. This is one per cent below the 1971 production. Ice cream production was three per cent above the 1971 production in Texas.

Oilman-Ecologist Donates "Most Beautiful Spot"

Washington—"It was—and is, the most beautiful spot in Texas." Thus does Wallace E. Pratt, 86-year-old retired oil executive, describe the McKittrick Canyon area of the Guadalupe Mountains in West Texas.

Because of Pratt's love for this wild Guadalupe country, one of the nation's newest national parks is now coming into being. An article in the current issue of Petroleum Today, the magazine of the American Petroleum Institute, relates how Pratt came to donate 5,632 acres plus his McKittrick Canyon home as the keystone of the new 82,000-acre Guadalupe Mountain National Park.

As a geologist in the early days of this century, Pratt was largely responsible for the discovery and development of one of the nation's major oil fields, at Mexia, Texas. So accurate were his geological readings that 175 of the first 180 wells drilled in this field were producers. He pioneered in the development of geophysics as a finding technique, which led to the discoveries at Sugarland, Texas, first major oil field found by seismic surveying.

In 1921, while looking into some oil leases, Pratt ran across McKittrick Canyon. "I was thrilled with it, and I loved it," he says. "With the help of friends he bought some of the land, later built a stone cabin on it, and he and his family spent summers there, driving 700 miles from Houston.

Now the Guadalupe Mountain National Park is well on its way, scheduled to open within a few years. But its fragile beauty, its herds of deer and elk, its 200 species of birds, and 70 kinds of reptiles and amphibians, will be protected under strict limited access rules. Says Pratt of this ecological wonderland: "We must compromise between ruining the ecology and keeping ourselves alive. We can only live at the expense of the ecology, for the moment we began to plow the first field or took the first dog into domesticity, we began to interfere with the ecology.

"We must strike a happy medium between ruining the ecology and survival, but we don't realize how much it is going to cost us. And we are part of the ecology too. We have just as much right to live as the seals and whales have—but no more!"

Crime Is Not Somebody Else's Problem

Don't kid yourself that crime is somebody else's problem. It could happen to you. Be careful when you buy good merchandise from an unauthorized dealer for a price you know is too cheap. It may be stolen. You could lose your money. Don't be a willing victim of organized crime and contribute money to organized crime's pocketbook. Cooperate with your local law enforcement officials. Today's Minister

What is happening to the image of the modern-day preacher? He is viewed in a different light than his predecessor of a generation ago. To the world-at-large he is no longer characterized as a sad-sack in blue serge, but, rather, an ecclesiastical business man in gray flannel. . . . In drawing up a psychological test for seminaries for the Rockefeller Brothers program, the Educational Testing Service sent a questionnaire to 1,000 lay leaders in various denominations, asking them to mention adjectives and to give profiles that represented their own concept of "an outstanding minister." This data was then turned over to another group of psychological testers, who were not told who was being described. These testers were asked, "Who do you think is being described?" Their answer: "A Junior vice president of Sears-Roebuck."—Jack Gullede.

Illinois Students "Drill" for Oil in Their Classrooms

Washington—Drilling for oil can be exciting and profitable—or you can go flat broke. That is the lesson geology students are learning in an Illinois classroom which has been converted into a miniature oil field.

Normally, their course of instruction would be called "geology." But at the Norris L. Brooks Junior High School in Urbana, Illinois, it is something much more. It is the entire world of oil production: geology, oil exploration, oil drilling, buying and selling of oil leases, financing of drilling, paying taxes, and picking yourself off the floor if you drill dry holes.

All this is being simulated by the pupils in the classes of the school's Earth Science teacher, Ronald W. Prescott.

The story of the pupils and their "wildcatting" for oil is told in the current edition of Petroleum Today, the magazine of the American Petroleum Institute.

Prescott, who has spent the last five summers working for the Illinois State Geophysical Survey, explains: "Originally, I thought if the kids just completed their contour maps, that would be sufficient. However, it seemed to me that the map by itself was a rather cold, detached thing. I thought it would be far more exciting if we could demonstrate—in the classroom—the actual worth and use of such maps. All the children knew of oil. Here was a chance to let them experience first-hand what a scientific industry was all about. In short, each class has formed and is managing its own highly specialized version of the petroleum exploration and production business. I have given them the basic operating rules——That most of the students in each class be divided into two groups: the buyers and the landowners. Both groups are given land maps which are to be contoured and which will form the basis for their wildcatting.

—At the beginning of the game, the buyers are supplied with a base working capital of $30,000 each. The landowners each possess 12 acres of the work map, valued at $15,000 per 12-acre block.

—The value of the land either increases or decreases according to the daily drilling reports furnished by the teacher.

—Each class has a certain number of bankers, who deliver balance sheets on their clients at the end of each semester. There are also legal officers, who record land deeds.

—At the end of the semester, each student is graded on the quality of his geological map work, the degree to which he has been able to increase his net worth from his original financial base, and the overall manner in which he played the game.

Darrell Helf, principal of the school, is delighted with the new-style geology course. "Where children once shuffled in to endure another hour of geology, they now run to class full of inquisitive anticipation," reports Helf.

The Weekly Newspaper

Perhaps the following words, penned by Duane Dewel of the Algona (Iowa) Advance, give as good a picture of the weekly newspaper as anything we could find. Titled: "This is a weekly newspaper. . . ."

"It's a yellow clipping in a Bible telling the birth of a baby who smiled but a little while, otherwise remembered only by the parents and God.

"It's your joys and sorrows and those of your neighbors, recorded by the only news medium that cares about you. It's your life history, and the life history of those you know.

"It's your conscience joined with the others to form a guard against injustice.

"It's the difference between your being an uninformed animal or a human being, knowing and forming judgement based on facts made available to you, easily and truthfully.

"It's the support from which you ask and get the strength of many in furthering the welfare of your own world—your community.

"It's the only medium that shows the future that your footprints were made on the shifting sands of time.

"It's the bell ringer at your birth, your marriage, and the birth of your children; and tells the bell for you as you begin the long journey.

"It's your servant, waiting for your pleasure to be read—today, tomorrow or next week.

"It's a record for you to read, to keep to read again, or to discard; not a voice or a picture for an instant and then gone forever.

"It's the bringing of news tidings, not merely moments of glory descended on your house for all to remember and those who come after to know.

"It's the handful of clippings that brings tears and fond smiles of remembrance to your children, and children's children, when on that eventful day they must share what once was you and yours.

"It's you on your first day of school and at your graduation.

"It's you as a little boy, a bridegroom and a father.

"It's you as a little girl, a bride and a radiant mother."

Not Only Worship

Prayer is not only worship; it is also an invisible emanation of man's worshipping spirit — the most powerful form of energy that one can generate. The influence of prayer on the human mind and body is as demonstrable as that of secreting glands. Its results can be measured in terms of increased physical buoyancy, greater intellectual vigor, moral stamina, and a deeper understanding of the realities underlying human relationships.

If you make a habit of sincere prayer, your life will be very noticeably and profoundly altered. Prayer stamps with its indelible mark our actions and demeanor. A tranquility of bearing, a facial and bodily repose, are observed in those whose inner lives are thus enriched. Within the depths of consciousness a flame kindles. And man sees himself. He discovers his selfishness, his silly pride, his fears, his greeds, his moral obligation, intellectual humility. Thus begins a journey of the soul towards the realm of grace. — Dr. Alexis Carrel.

Sales, Leasing and Mining Division of General Land Office

The Sales, Leasing and Mining Division of the Land Office handles leases on state-owned lands and issues prospect permits for mineral exploration. The state leases its lands for oil and mineral production; for grazing and agricultural purposes; and for right-of-way easements for pipe lines, powerlines, telephone and telegraph lines. The oil, gas and sulphur leases on state fee lands are sold to the highest bidder at scheduled sales in the General Land Office.

H. E. White, director of the division, also serves as secretary of the School Land Board and other boards for lease of state lands. Oil companies or individuals pay the state a bonus in competitive bidding for the right to lease state lands for a five-year period. If oil and gas production actually results, the state receives an additional one-sixth royalty payment on production. Bonus payments reached a total of $8,192,301 during 1971. Income from the lands under the jurisdiction of the School Land Board goes into the Permanent School Fund.

More than 650 active grazing and agricultural leases and over 1400 easements fall under the jurisdiction of this division. Total state-owned acreage covered by current rentals is in excess of 520,000 acres.

In recent months, the interest in prospecting and mining the state's 9,000,000 upland mineral acres has grown. The recent amendment of statutes covering uranium has been partly responsible. The "owner of the soil" under the Relinquishment Act now participates by becoming the agent for the state to lease for uranium. He shares 40 per cent of bonus, rentals and royalties. The minimum royalty to the state has been reduced to one-sixteenth.

Continued demand for ceramic and high grade talc has stimulated new operations in the Allamore talc district of Hudspeth County. Other minerals drawing attention west of the Pecos are fluorite (fluospar), barite, asbestos, and ores of copper, lead, zinc, silver and mercury.

Advice

There is a lot of difference between giving advice and offering counsel. The best we have been able to do is to tell you, come out at the same place. But instead of just telling someone in a few words what to do, you take a little more time and help him to what, in view of the circumstances he faces, he better do. That way he thinks it's his decision. And that's a lot better.—Erwin L. McDonald.

Gun Control Law Doesn't Keep Guns from New York Thugs

"According to recent statistics, New York City, which is under the Sullivan gun control law, has had more murders in recent years than the combined total of 10 European nations with a combin- ed population of 16 times that of the city. And, the Sullivan law is one of the strictest gun control measures in the country. As long as there is a demand for murder guns or other weapons, there will be a supply. The question of legality matters not to a man who is interested in murder, or robbery. Whenever gun controls are passed, criminals still get guns and other weapons. And then the criminals would be the only ones with guns."—Clifton Forge, Va., Review.

How About Some Cut-Rate Bicarbonate of Soda?

"A $16.05 meal for $1.51 may be a bargain on the menu, but not out in the kitchen. Senator Margaret Chase Smith gave this example from the Transportation Department's executive luncheonroom to show how federal bureaus are using tax funds to subsidize meals served at cut-rate prices. While American housewives are paring their grocery lists to cope with inflation, executives at the Treas- ury Department are paying $2.45 for a meal which costs $14.31 to prepare. Lawyers at the Justice Department pay $1.66 for a $7.10 lunch. Mrs. Smith hopes to blow the whistle on this extravagance with some legislation. Meanwhile, how about offering the taxpayer some cut-rate bicarbonate of soda?"—Punxsutawney, Pa., Spir- it.

Organized Crime Made a Big Profit in Texas Last Year

Crime is somebody else's prob- lem . . . until it touches you. Or- ganized crime made a big profit in Texas last year—$98 million on football betting . . . over $50 million on auto theft . . . and untold millions from narcotics. AND the criminals who made that profit didn't pay your state any taxes on those millions. When organized crime wins—Texans lose. Help fight crime — support new laws that will crack down on organized crime. This message from the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council, DPS Director Wilson E. Speir and Attorney General John Hill co-chairmen—A division of the Texas Criminal Justice Council.

Let 'Em Stay Where They Went . . .

"Come home—all is forgiven" may have been all right for the prodigal son, but—grant amnesty (Webster says it means full pardon) to those who escaped mili- tary service by taking up resi- dence in another country? No way! . . . how must the boys feel who harkened to the call of duty and went to serve their country in a war in which no one actually believed, when those who escap- ed via the over-the-border route are welcomed home with open arms? It may seem a little un- charitable, but we simply cannot see amnesty for draft dodgers. If they chose to abandon the United States, let 'em stay where they went."—Glasgow, Mo., Missour- ian.

"Every home town is 'Our Town' . . . good or bad . . . clean or stinking . . . growing or going to pot . . . because we are a part of it and responsible for its suc- cess or failure . . . PLAIN TALK . . .

There is a story to the effect that one of the greatest financiers of France got his start by picking up a pin. The boy had applied at a bank for a position, and had been refused. As he was about to leave the room, he saw a pin, and stopped to pick it up.

The banker saw the lad pick up the pin, and decided that he had the faculty of being careful about details; and so he called back the lad and employed him.

This is a lesson every one must learn. It is so often that the small things are of more importance than the greater ones. Most any- one is careful about big things, but the man of character looks also after the little things.

Once there was a young man who applied for a position in a store. He came highly recommend- ed, and seemed to have all the qualifications needed. He had oc- casion to write a letter to the firm, and in that letter he mis- spelled the word Tuesday. That little error lost him the job, be- cause it indicated to the employer that he was not accurate about little things.—James E. Wilson.

Crime Is Everybody's Problem . . .

Crime is somebody else's prob- lem . . . until it touches you. Will your new TV set be repossessed by the law because it's hot? Stolen merchandise? Don't be a willing victim of organized crime. Buy from reputable dealers . . . trade with well-known, honest, mer- chants. Don't contribute money to organized crime's pocketbook. This message from the Texas Or- ganized Crime Prevention Coun- cil, DPS Director Wilson E. Speir and Attorney General John Hill co-chairmen—A division of the Texas Criminal Justice Council.

Miss Carol Pitt Becomes Bride of Jerome E. Matus

Miss Carol Pitt of Colleyville became the bride of Jerome E. Matus of Fort Worth recently as vows were repeated in the St. John the Apostle Catholic Church of Richland Hills. Double ring rites were conducted by Rev. Philip Johnson, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Tillie Blackwell of Houston. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Matus Jr. of Crowell.

The altar was decorated with two large baskets of pink gladioli accented with white chrysanthemums. Bouquets of carnations marked the pews. The church organist provided music for the ceremony.

The bride, presented in marriage by her stepfather, Dean Hollis of Fort Worth, chose a floor length gown of beige imported silk over organza with lace trim. Her headpiece was beige silk attached to off-white roses. She carried a bouquet of split carnations touched with green. For the traditional "something borrowed" she wore her grandmother's pearl necklace and earrings.

Mrs. Bill Boswell of Hurst attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a gown of lime crepe with a matching headpiece, and carried a bouquet of carnations. Cindy and Yvette Pitt as flower girls wore floral gowns of lime and white with ribbons in their hair. They carried baskets filled with flowers. Jimmy Boswell of Hurst was ring bearer.

Mike Matus of Crowell served his brother as best man, and usher were Bill Boswell of Hurst and John Matus III of Crowell, the bridegroom's brother.

Mrs. Blackwell chose a floor length blue dress with matching jacket and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. She and the bridegroom's mother, who selected a champagne dress with a matching sleeveless coat and beige accessories, wore orchid corsages.

Reception
The parish hall of the church was the setting for a reception following the marriage ceremony.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth, and centered with an arrangement of gladioli and chrysanthemums. The white three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and lime leaves. Two white doves adorned the top of the cake.

Miss Patricia Matus, the bridegroom's sister, and Mrs. John Matus III of Crowell presided at the serving table. Miss Tracy Pitt and Miss Pamela Boswell of Hurst registered the guests.

A wedding supper was held at the bride's home, and a wedding dance was held at Nine Acres Country Club.

As the couple left on a wedding trip to Acapulco, the bride was attired in a blue pantsuit. They will reside in Colleyville.

A graduate of Central High School in Fort Worth, the bride attended Barbara Lund Modeling School in Fort Worth where she was a model. She also attended a beauty school in Dallas and now owns Debonair Beauty Shop in Richland Hills.

Mr. Matus was graduated from Crowell High School and from Technical School of Automotives in Fort Worth. He is presently the vice president of Colley Transmission, Inc., of Fort Worth.

Remelle Marlow Attends National FHA Convention

Miss Remelle Marlow has returned from Dallas where she attended the national meeting of Future Homemakers of America July 9-12 at the Fairmont Hotel. Fifteen hundred youth delegates were present representing a national membership of a half-million.

She reports that it was an exciting week packed with "pact sessions," action labs, outstanding speakers, fun time, and a Texas style barbecue and rodeo which really caught the fancy of out-of-state youths.

The meeting theme was "Impact '73." "Program Action Impact" is the new FHA multimedia kit that outlines the process of discovering self and a procedure for carrying out positive action based on individual interests and abilities.

Remelle pointed out that there were so many interesting sessions at the meeting it was difficult to decide which had the most meaning.

Mrs. Julie Nixon Eisenhower came unexpectedly to one session and spoke to the group.

"One of the best things," Remelle added, "was the opportunity to make a lot of new friends from all across the country, and of course the election and installation of the 12 new FHA national officers was exciting. Being selected to attend the national meeting was a wonderful experience and a great honor for me and I am grateful to all the local clubs and groups that helped me to attend."

Remelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Marlow and will be president of the local FHA chapter and historian for Area IV for the coming year.

Texas Hunters Bag 7.1 Million Doves in 72

Texas bird hunters harvested an estimated 7.1 million mourning doves during the 1972-73 season.

Last year's season was a split one, that is, it was divided into a fall segment and a January winter segment.

According to Ken Gamble, Parks and Wildlife Department biologist in charge of statewide dove research, some 91 per cent of the total harvest—6.5 million birds—were killed in the fall segment of the season. Only 671,248 mourning doves were killed in the statewide Jan. 6-21 portion.

Work Underway on Recovering 16th Century Shipwrecks

The second summer of underwater surveying and recovery of the 16th century Spanish shipwrecks which lie off Padre Island began June 10 under the sponsorship of the Texas Antiquities Committee, it was announced by Dr. Fred Wendorf, chairman of the committee.

The effort is a continuation of the first scientifically conducted investigation of these wrecks, which are believed to have foundered in a storm off the Gulf Coast about 1554. They are of particular scientific importance in that they represent the earliest verified shipwrecks discovered to date in the Western Hemisphere.

Fleahoppers and Thrips Reported in Foard County Cotton

In the Rolling Plains Insect Report No. 7 issued July 16 by Emory P. Boring, III, area entomologist, it was reported that thrips continue to cause light to moderate damage in fields of younger cotton in Foard County. It was also stated that fleahoppers in numbers ranging from 20 to 80 per 100 terminals are present in Foard County.

Remove the Door . . .

If an old refrigerator or freezer is left in the yard or garage, remove its door completely. This takes only a moment using a screwdriver and may save a child's life, the extension service says.

Behavior Improves . . .

Usually when a parent shows patience with children, their behavior improves. Children can sense when a parent is tense and irritable—then act worse than ever, the extension service says.
