Two-a-day workouts are underway next Monday, August 12.

Gidney is hoping for a turnout of football prospects today. He and the other members of the coaching staff returned home from the school held last week in Quanah.

Considerable change in the district 7-A lineup is on the tap today. Holliday and Archer are long-time rivals of Crowell in the district, have been moved to class A district to the east. The district has picked up Bell and Aspermont. Haskell has been an AA school for years, lacks only a very few points of being in the AA district this year. Most of the players in this district are much smaller than Haskell, which has done very well in the AA football was the past years.

Dave Campbell's Texas Football magazine says that with Holliday moved out of the district, Crowell "appears most likely to take command with 9 offensive and 11 defensive regulars returning from a 6-5 runner-up."

Shinn, a 1958 graduate of East Texas State University, has worked with SCS since 1962. He worked at Cooper and Palestine prior to moving to Crowell last October.

Grain Stocks Lower... Cotton Popping... Screwworms Multiply... Auction Sales Down.

TEXAS' STOCKS of corn, sorghum, oats and barley were four million bushels less than at the same time last year, down to 91 million bushels, and the stock of wheat on hand is estimated at 17.6 million bushels compared to 20.2 million bushels at the same time in 1973. Texas has just completed harvest of a wheat crop that was about a third less than in 1973, a loss caused by hot dry weather in North and West Texas. Sorghum stocks in the State were estimated at 60.2 million bushels and at 79 million bushels at the same time last year. Corn stocks were up from 10.1 million bushels on hand last year and 22.7 million bushels on hand this year. The oat carryover also is up, from 5.3 million bushels a year ago to 8.7 million bushels this year. Barley stocks were down from 338 thousand bushels a year ago to 135 thousand bushels this year. Commissioner John C. White has estimated that income this year from all agricultural sources will be $2 billion less than in 1973 because of drought effects.

HOT, DRY weather in the Rio Grande Valley has helped the cotton harvest where USDA reported 8,000 cotton samples were classed at Harlingen before July 19. Only one sample had been classed on the same date last year. USDA has announced that the 1974 loan rates for upland cotton is 25.26 cents a pound for middling one-inch cotton, the same as the preliminary loan rates. The national average loan rate for extra long staple cotton is 49.72 cents a pound.

THE SOUTHWEST Screwworm Eradication Program headquartered at Mission has announced that Texas had 628 screwworm cases in June, the third most cases for June since the program began. June, 1972 was the worst with 15,889 cases and June, 1962 was next with 8,300. There were only 145 cases reported in June, 1973. The Mission lab said that it dropped 920 million sterile flies over screwworm areas in the United States and Mexico. About 546 million of the flies were dropped over Texas and 107 million over Sonora and the remainder over other areas of Mexico. Bee County's 55 cases were the most for any county during June, and Kenedy County was second with 51. Kenedy had only 14 cases in May.

TEXAS' AUCTION markets sold 349,000 head of cattle and calves during June, which was 46 per cent fewer than a year ago and five per cent fewer than in May, 1974, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Cattle prices continued down, which may account for the fewer sales, but drought conditions in many pastures may force more sales in August. Sheep sales were 151,000 head in June, one per cent below a year ago and five per cent above the previous month. Hog sales totaled 36,000 head during June, three per cent above a year ago and 10 per cent below the previous month. Texas shipped 225,184 head of cattle and calves out of the State and 53,378 head were shipped into the State from other states during June.

THERE WAS a parallel story for cattle and calves being fed for slaughter. Texas Crop and Livestock Service reported 1,777,000 head being fed for slaughter markets on July 1, a decline of 24 per cent from a year earlier and eight per cent below the number on June 1. "The July 1 estimate is the lowest since October 1, 1971 when it was 1,608,000," says TGLS. Among the 220 large feedlots in Texas (with capacity of 1,000 or more head), 180 reported they had 1,739,000 cattle on feed for slaughter, and the other 40 reported they were empty.

Santa Fe CROP REPORT

AND OTHER AGRICULTURAL DATA

Published monthly to cover states served by Santa Fe Railway, Gulf Central Pipeline and Santa Fe Trail Transportation Co. Edited by Agricultural Development Staff, Santa Fe Bldg., Amarillo, Texas 79171, and Santa Fe Station, Fresno, California 93718.

AUGUST, 1974

WINTER WHEAT: After starting out in fall of 1973 with very favorable conditions, it seemed everything that could happen to the 1974 hard red winter wheat crop in the states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and New Mexico, included severe flooding in parts of Texas and Oklahoma; no effective moisture in parts of all five states from late September until early May of 1974; light to moderate damage from insects and diseases in some communities; other extreme weather losses from dust storms, heavy rains and hail time together with what seemed more than usual hail damage. These have all combined to reduce the tally of the 1974 winter wheat crop in five states to somewhere in the range of 5-600 million bushels, considerably less than some earlier estimates, but still the second largest crop ever harvested in the five states on the crop indicate. The early harvested areas have slightly less protein content than last year with later harvested fields about the same as in 1973. Test weight per bushel is usually higher in the northern part of the five states than average of last year but slightly below in the more southern parts of the five states. Preparation of land for the 1975 crop is under way, although some delays have been reported because of lack of adequate moisture to operate certain farm equipment and sprout the 'volunteer wheat' which must be destroyed before the new crop can be planted. Where adequate moisture is available and land is ready, especially in areas where winter pasture is expected for livestock, seeding of the 1975 hard red winter wheat acreage will get under way in late August.

COTTON: Because of lack of moisture, together with high winds and hot temperatures there may well be a million less acres of standing cotton in the Texas High Plains and adjacent areas of Oklahoma and New Mexico than was earlier estimated would be produced in 1974. On the other hand in the Texas Lower Rio Grande Valley and throughout much of Texas except the High Plains and the Rolling Plains cotton prospects remain excellent, with harvest under way in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Insects generally have been kept under control where infestations have become sufficiently heavy for economic justification of control measures. While earlier reports indicated the three states of New Mexico, Texas and Oklahoma would plant about 6.3 million acres to cotton in 1974 it appears the three states may do well to harvest a total of five million acres this year, with much of this acreage now expected to produce less than an average per acre yield. The three states produced about 5.25 million bales in 1973, but the 1974 crop may drop below 4 million bales. Hot temperatures during June which caused plant stress and some fruit drop is expected to reduce per acre yields this season in Arizona cotton fields; however, the acres planted this year is some 28 percent more than in 1973. The San Joaquin Valley cotton crop is progressing normally with no unusual insect problems. Seeded acreage for this year's California crop is estimated to be 24 percent above last year and the largest crop since 1953. Earlier estimates indicated the total U. S. upland cotton crop this year could total about 14 million bales, but dry, hot weather in Texas, Oklahoma and Arizona together with flooding last spring in the Northern Mississippi Delta will probably reduce the production to less than 13 million bales and perhaps as low as 12.5 million bales unless very favorable weather conditions prevail for the remainder of the growing season coupled with a later than average killing frost.

Parks Available Under RC&D

By Von Kleibrink
Project Coordinator,
Four Winds RC&D Project

The towns of Quanah, Chillicothe, Childress, Crowell, Paducah, and Vernon can be assisted in city or county park development through the RC&D Project. As Project Coordinator, assistance may be provided in site selection, lay out of the park area and application for assistance. A complete park plan for a city is needed prior to application. Portions of the complete plan can be installed during separate years if financial status is a problem. Design and specification sheets are available or can be obtained through the RC&D office for assistance in layout of the park area. Applications for park development can be prepared through the RC&D office for matching funds on a 50-50 basis through the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (BOR) a part of the Texas State Parks and Wildlife Department. Cost-share assistance through BOR is available for land acquisition and park development for items such as restrooms, tables, playground equipment and other recreation facilities. The appraised value of land donated to a city or county, after the construction contract has been signed, can be counted as part of the local 50 percent cost for park development. The City of Crowell has been assisted in making application through BOR for their city park within the last few months. The city of Vernon has layout and designs prepared for presentation to BOR within the near future. Childress is considering additional development of their existing park. Chillicothe has presented a proposal to the RC&D Executive Board for additional development of their park facilities.

Tomato is a versatile and low cost food, that adds flavor, color and nutrients to an endless number of dishes? That's right—Tomatoes! Tomatoes are a good source of vitamins A, C, and a cupful has only 10 calories. Choose a tomato that's firm, but not over-ripe, well formed, of good color, smooth and free of blemishes. The importance of size and variety according to the use those to be used in cooking, as wedges or as juice, needn't be perfect in appearance. Tomatoes are a tropical fruit used as a vegetable, so storage temperature is important. Try to keep them above 50 degrees F. Don't refrigerate green-pink tomatoes, but leave them at room temperature away from direct sunlight. Refrigeration stops the ripening process and if ripened after chilling, the inner structure is watery. To determine the ripeness of tomatoes, here's a quick and simple way. Pour tomatoes into a large container partially filled with water. The ripest tomatoes sink to the bottom and the less ripe float at various levels. The degree of ripeness affects the specific gravity of the tomato. Here's a different way to serve tomatoes on a hot summer day. 1 tomato, cut into 4 slices; 1 can sliced pineapple, drained; lettuce leaves; green pepper strips; bottled sweet and sour salad dressing. Place pineapple slice on each of four lettuce-lined salad plates. Top each with tomato slice and pepper strip. Spoon dressing over each salad for 4 servings. Economical rice makes an excellent meat extender. The blandness of rice is ideal to absorb the flavors of meat sauces, gravies or natural juices and helps make full use of all the nutrients in the meat or seafood main dish.

MRS. LEMONS IS WSL SPEAKER

Mrs. Thelma Lemons told of her recent attendance at the Gloria Baptist Assembly near Santa Fe, New Mexico at last Thursday's meeting of the Women's Service League. Mrs. Lemons registered for the music week at the assembly. Located in the mountains, the facilities are open year-round.

Accommodations are on the American plan with a choice of cabins or modern motel-type rooms. Meals are served in a central dining room. Mrs. Lemons found the training outstanding with reasonable prices. The climate was cool and restful. Beautiful flower gardens were evident.

The speaker showed several pictures of the surroundings and concluded the program by reading misprints from church bulletins—which proved very amusing. The program was arranged by Mrs. Marjorie Oliphant.

PUBLIC EDUCATION SERIES BEGINS ON ORGANIZED CRIME IN TEXAS

BY DOLPH BRISCOE
 Governor of Texas
 (Editor's Note: This signature story by Governor Dolph Briscoe introduces a 12-part public education series on organized crime in Texas. The program, developed by the Texas Department of Public Safety, shows the significance of syndicate interests in Texas crime and emphasizes the immediate need for public involvement in crime-fighting and crime-prevention programs. Subsequent stories describe the Texas network of organized rackets—bookmaking, auto theft, prostitution, pornography and drug traffic. The stories are based on interviews with state law enforcement officials and representatives from the ten Texas Organized Crime Task Forces. The Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council, co-chaired by DPS Director Colonel Wilson E. Speir and Attorney General John Hill, sponsored the series in conjunction with the Governor's Criminal Justice Council, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, the Texas Department of Public Safety, the office of the Attorney General of Texas, and local law enforcement agencies.) Organized crime flourishes on dark street corners, in backroom bookie joints and pornography parlors, and in dingy warehouses stacked with stolen goods. Its brain center, however, more likely is in a high-rise apartment or office building in a major city, where the men who benefit most from the narcotics traffic, organized gambling, and other illegal enterprises can enjoy their dirty business without soiling their hands—relatively safe from the criminal justice system.

This so-called "syndicate" crime in Texas today—not as glamorous as the Mafia but just as deadly in terms of human suffering, economic loss, and heavy taxpayer expense in law enforcement and prosecution. Many Americans, especially in large Eastern cities, have learned the hard way that the greed of power-hungry racketeers has no limits. Their greed can involve nearly every part of the daily life of a community—jobs, government services, politics, police work, union activity, business and finance.

Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas, chairman of the Criminal Law Subcommittee, pointed out that "at various times, organized crime has been the dominant political force in such metropolitan centers as New York, Chicago, Miami, and New Orleans." He added: "Only fortuitous circumstances prevented its takeover of Portland, Oregon and Kansas City, Missouri. Smaller communities such as Cicero, Illinois, and Reading, Pennsylvania, have been virtual baronies of organized crime."

While no Texas cities are on that list, this state is not immune from the organized rackets and it will require vigilant law enforcement backed by citizen support to prevent the spread of crime.

The drug culture, of course, has been a bonanza for organized crime. The smuggling and pushing of illegal drugs is virtually impossible without a network of criminals from source to final sale.

I recommended reform of our drug laws to the Legislature in 1973. The bill which was passed brings our laws into line with national standards and provides stiffer penalties for those who deal in hard drugs. The Legislature also approved my recommendation for a law making it easier to convict those who deal in stolen goods, and for the first time in a century the Texas Penal Code was revised to meet modern conditions.

But stronger laws work only in a climate of public concern. Many people have a tolerant view of "victimless" crimes—bookmaking, pornography, prostitution. Yet all of us are victimized by these crimes, because of the rakeoff to the racketeers enables them to expand their illegal operation and infiltrate legitimate businesses and labor activities as well.

The Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council, a division of the Governor's Criminal Justice Council, was established by executive order to coordinate state and local anti-crime programs. As in other government responsibilities, there must be planning and new

Light Out of Darkness

"For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ."

"But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God and not of us" (II Cor. 4:6,7).

Any instructed Christian reading this passage from the pen of the Apostle Paul naturally goes back, in his mind, to the time when God first said: "Let there be light" and dispelled the darkness of the primeval world.

He might also recall the incident related in the book of Judges, when Gideon's army went to battle against the Midianites, each man with a sword in one hand and a lamp, hidden in a pitcher in the other hand. At Gideon's command, Gideon's soldiers broke the earthen vessels and the lights shone out to strike terror into the hearts of the enemy, who could not account for the crash and the blaze of light at that midnight hour.

For every believer God has caused light, wonderful light, to shine out of the darkness and fill the heart, just as once He said to the dark and chaotic earth: "Let there be light—and there was light."

But we believers have come into "the light of the knowledge of the glory of God" by coming to know Christ. Our Lord rightly said: "No man cometh unto the Father but by Me" (John 14:6). God is unknown and unknowable apart from Christ, who is God manifested in the flesh. It was He who lived a perfect life and then died a sinner's death in order to bring us into relationship and fellowship with God. And we come to know God through relationship with Christ Himself—God manifested in the flesh.

It is wonderful to have the light of God's truth shine into our hearts—and it is more wonderful still to use that light to win spiritual victories for God. "Thanks be unto God" who has "made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light." (Col. 1:12).
