Shower Henders Lyntegar Annual Meeting

The feast is served each year to people from 13 counties at the Tahoka Bulldog Football field. The crowd could not be determined since the clouds kept people coming in and out, but as usual the crowd was tremendous.

After the big meal the business meeting started at 8:30 p.m. Right after several prizes were given to Lyntegar patrons. The meeting was called to order by President Howard Moore with Harold Green, Tahoka Attorney holding the reins as Master of Ceremonies of the event.

LEAH SHORT
Leah Short To Receive Degree

April Leah Short of Tahoka is among the 401 candidates for a degree at West Texas State University this summer. Miss Short, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Short, is seeking a Bachelor of Science degree. Her major is English education. Summer Convocation is at 10 p.m. August 12 in the Marillo Civic Center Coliseum.

Texas now has a new law that requires certain immunizations for all students enrolled in the public schools beginning with the 1971-72 school year. The immunizations required are Polio, Diphtheria-Tetanus, Measles (Rubeola), Rubella (3-day or German Measles), and Smallpox. The Tahoka Schools previously have required only the smallpox immunization while recommending and encouraging the others.

All immunizations should be completed by the time school is entered. However, if this is not possible, students will be allowed to enter the fall term with the provision that their immunization against at least one of the above mentioned diseases will have been started by January 1, 1972 and all completed as soon as medically feasible.

Any document listing each immunization received by year will be acceptable during the 1971-72 school year for either initiating or updating school immunization records.

Signature or rubber stamp validation of personal records by Physicians or public health clinics is recommended but not required until the 1972-73 school year, after which validation of new records is required.

Parents with any questions concerning the new immunizations requirements should contact their family physician or the superintendent's office.

Rains Greatly Improve Crops

Rain and showers in the past three weeks have greatly improved Lynn county's crop prospects, although some farmers in the south third of the county never received sufficient rain to plant.

Although most dryland crops are late, they never looked better.

However, the farmer is always faced with worries. Many farmers are now wanting hot, dry weather whereas three weeks ago they were praying for rain. Unprecedented cool and damp weather the last of July and to date in August is delaying crop maturity.

Small boll worms have been reported, but County Agent Bill Griffin says advisability of poisoning now is questionable as beneficial insects would be destroyed.

Tahoka received .03 in a shower Sunday, .28 Monday, and a trace Tuesday. Heavy showers Tuesday covered a large strip east and north of Tahoka ranging up to two inches. Hail did a little damage east of town in the vicinity of Six Mile Store.

Rains last week end were of great benefit in dry areas of Wells, T-Bar, New Moore and West Point.

With favorable weather and a normal freeze date, Lynn county as a whole can still produce a good crop.

SPSC Celebrates Golden Anniversary

How does a company decide it is going to celebrate its 50th anniversary year? In the case of Southwestern Public Service Company, the decision was made late last year by the simple expedient of impressing the corporate board with a piece of plain white paper.

The resulting impression was read, "Incorporated, 1921," and departed. Mr. Dwight L. Smith, the company's golden anniversary year.

Until that decision making moment, five different companies could make some kind of claim for being the birth of the electric power industry in the region, with one of them going back to 1894, another to 1904, 1925 and the winner 1921.

It was the battle because, according to being the year came up on the seal, it was the year of organization of the company which, 49 years later, took on the name Southwestern Public Service Company.

The 1921 company which became today's Southwestern, the Roswell Public Service Company. Among its incorporators was H. I. Dow, well-known New Mexico pioneer and general counsel for Southwestern Public Service Company until his death in 1969.

The name changed to Southwestern Public Service Company in 1925, which was the year that expansion was begun with the purchase of electric systems in Artesia and Carlsbad.

1925 was also the year the company first began operating in Texas, with the purchase of the electric systems in Pampa and Amarillo.

The 1920's are the most interesting years in the electric development of this region was then, basically a cluster of small towns, each with its own independent, and usually antiquated electric system.

There were, if any interconnections, with other communities electric systems. Most of these were only large enough to be served by a single line, and if something went wrong the whole town was without power until it was repaired.

There was an era which also saw some communities electric service for the first time. In late 1926, for example, Southwestern built a transmission line from Amarillo to Pampa and brought electric service to White Deer, for the first time - on Christmas Eve.

There was still considerable competition insofar as electric service was concerned. One of them a subsidiary of one of the holding companies, serving throughout the region.

It was apparent, then, that electric service needs of the area could be met even more efficiently and economically if it were served by a single, independent, operating company, devoid of holding company ties, locally managed and immediately responsive to area needs.

Southwestern is working to retain the fresh water resources of the region, and at two of its power plants, Nichols Station, near Amarillo, and Jones Station, Southeast of Lubbock, uses reclaimed sewage effluent as cooling water. This conservation practice saves 6,000,000 gallons of fresh water a day and that's enough to meet the needs of a city in the 20,000 range population bracket.

The oceans of the world will provide the fuel source for electric generation in the future, if research in which Southwestern is participating comes to fruition.

This would be the fusion of light atoms into heavier elements, and a child's pall of seawater would provide enough fuel to generate the electricity for the average home for a year.

This is, incidentally, more energy available from the hydrogen atoms in 7 1/2 square miles of seawater than from all the fossil fuel reserves in the world, and that, in itself, makes the research exciting.

But the excitement of thermonuclear research goes far beyond its potential as a source of electric power. The fusion process for making electricity will require ionized gases at temperatures of millions of degrees. These ionized gases - they're known as plasma - may be used as a fusion torch to vaporize waste materials of all kinds, turning them into electrified particles of their constituent elements, and making possible the recovery of basic raw materials for recycle into new products.

Southwestern's share of that load is still an unknown quantity but on their record in the past, we can be confident they'll meet it - with power in reserve.

Meanwhile, getting back down to earth and the electric power business - for today and tomorrow. The crystal ball gazers are saying that the American people are going to demand as much electric energy in the next ten years as they have used in the last 90. That would be 18-trillion kilowatt-hours, and it looks like this when you put all the zeros on it - 18,000,000,000,000.

Southwestern's share of that load is still an unknown quantity but on their record in the past, we can be confident they'll meet it - with power in reserve.

Southwestern's share of that load is still an unknown quantity but on their record in the past, we can be confident they'll meet it - with power in reserve.

The joint estimate of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. and the Lubbock Cotton Exchange projects 1971 cotton production from 25 High Plains counties at 1,801,000 bales, slightly above last year's final total of 1,762,350 bales. But officials of both organizations point out a number of factors that may require revisions in the estimate as the season progresses, "and the revisions could go in either direction," they say.

According to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of PCG, one of the most perplexing problems in compiling the August 1 estimate is the absence of any firm criteria on which to base standing acreage figures. In past years farmers were restricted to planting acreage within fixed allotments, but beginning this year they are free to plant as many acres as they please.

This program change, Johnson says, "changes the estimate of cotton acres from an estimate to a 'guesstimate,'" and leaves much more room for error.

On the plus side for cotton production in the area this year is a considerable, but untabulated increase in cotton planted to "skip-row" patterns. Current law requires producers to "set-aside" an acreage equivalent to 20 percent of their base allotment, and this can be accomplished by leaving two or more blank rows between rows of cotton. Thus more producers than normal have "skip-rowed" their cotton, and other things being equal this can often increase production per planted acre by 30 percent or more.

Good indications of a strong market this Fall is another factor which could influence per - acre yields this year. Farmers over the area, generally, are trying harder to make maximum yields, with better weed and insect control, additional fertilizers and irrigation water.

As usual, however, weather conditions from now through harvest will have by far the biggest influence on Plains production. The crop is from two to three weeks later than "normal" this year, which makes the size of crop dependent on warm temperatures from now until harvest, a dry September and a frost date no earlier than the first week of November and preferably later.

Johnson said the 1.8 million bale estimate is not based on seldom-seen "optimum" weather conditions, leaving room for some improvement in total production prospects. "But by the same token if cool temperatures, a wet Fall and an early freeze should all work against our production could drop well below the current estimate," he added.

Should the estimate of production prove essentially correct, value of the crop to High Plains farmers would come to around $370 million, including lint, seed and federal support payments.

Jerry Boothe, Chairman of the Lubbock Cotton Exchange Committee on Statistics, agrees there is room for error in the estimate and a likelihood that changes will be necessary as better acreage figures and weather effects become known. But he states that "Based on the information now available and assuming a reasonably average weather, we think the estimate is quite realistic."

Disable Vets To Receive Free License Plates

Little noticed during the 62nd Legislature was the passage and signing into law on May 19, 1971, by Governor Preston Smith of House Bill 615, which amends the TEXAS MOTOR VEHICLE REGISTRATION LAW to provide free license plates for certain disabled veterans according to Gil Moody, Commander, The American Legion, Department of Texas.

To qualify for the free plates, an applicant must:

1. Be a Texas resident
2. Be a veteran of the Armed Forces of the United States
3. Have a disability rating of 70 per cent or more
4. Be drawing compensation from the federal government as a result of a service-connected disability

Passage of the bill had the full backing of The American Legion, who noticed that many other states had such special laws for their native veterans.

State Representative Lindon Williams of Galena Park who also serves as Legislative Chairman for the Texas Legion wrote and sponsored the bill through the House. It was sponsored through the Senate by Senator James P. Wallace of Houston.

"Under this new law, a qualified veteran is entitled to register, for his own personal use, one passenger car or light commercial vehicle having a manufacturer's rated carrying capacity of one (1) ton or less, without payment of the prescribed annual registration fee. Specially designed license plates will be issued, with the letters "DV" appearing as either a prefix or suffix to the license number. The words "Disabled Vet" will appear on the plates, also, Commander Moody added.

Vehicles displaying the "Disabled Vet" plates will, also, be exempt from the payment of parking fees, including those collected through parking meters, charged by any governmental authority other than a branch of the federal government.

Although this law became effective when signed by the Governor, the free license plates will not be available until the 1972 Registration Year, since the bill provides that the disabled veteran must make application for such plates by October 1st preceding the Registration Year for which requested.

All of the "Disabled Vet" plates will be issued directly from the Motor Vehicle Division of the Texas Highway Department, in Austin. Each application must be accompanied by the statutory fee of One Dollar ($1.00). As a prerequisite to the issuance of the plates, the applicant's disability rating must be verified by the Veterans Administration or the branch of the armed forces through which the veteran draws his disability compensation. A space for this verification will be provided on the application form. Also, Texas title to the vehicle must be issued in the name of the veteran before the application for "Disabled Vet" plates will be approved.

Commander Moody indicated that application forms and instructions may be secured by writing to the Texas Highway Department, Motor Vehicle Division, 40th and Jackson Avenue, Austin, Texas 78703. The forms will, also, be available from the following sources:

1. Motor Vehicle Division District Offices located in Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Port Arthur, El Paso, Fort Worth, Dallas, Lubbock, Amarillo and Longview.
2. The County Tax Offices
3. The County Veterans Service Officers
4. American Legion Headquarters, Austin
5. Department Service Offices of The American Legion at the VA Regional Offices in Houston and Waco.

A totally independent accessory. That's the role sunglasses now play in the wardrobe. And as evidence, over 134 million pairs of sunglasses are purchased annually.

Sunglasses, an "instant" cosmetic, can create an illusion to change the shape of the face, accent or diminish a feature, highlight make-up or alter the total outlook.

Since the sunglasses are "fixed elements", face shape and features should be the final consideration in the style of glasses selected.

As an example, round or full faces look prettiest in squares, rectangulars and even sweeping wrap-arounds. On the other hand, square-shaped faces should never wear sunglasses with squared-off lines, but those with rounded lines.

Pear-shaped faces require sunglasses with emphasis on the top, as in certain wrap-around oval styles. Frames should slant upward slightly.

Frames wider at the top than at the bottom flatter diamond-shaped faces. If the chin ends a bit narrow, select glasses with broad straight lines.

Oblong-shaped faces gain width from sunglasses with soft, upturned lines extending beyond the broadest part of the face.

Small faces need delicate frames tailored to their size. Glasses featuring oval lines at both top and bottom are best for heart-shaped looks.

Since it's important to choose the right frames for your face shape, let the mirror be your guide. But remember the basic rule: contrast the shape of the lens to the shape of your face, as opposites tend to neutralize and give the illusion of a perfect oval.

Sunglasses do more than frame a face, so you may want to consider other points.

Glass lenses are cooler in plastic in hot weather, but plastic lenses allow for greater safety in case of breakage and offer greater versatility in shape and size.

As for color of the lenses, experts consider neutral smoke gray best. It gives comfort from glare without affecting color perception or definition. However, a light green is most efficient at filtering out the sun's ultra violet rays.

In choosing your lens color, lightly pigmented blue eyes people require greater protection from the sun than heavily pigmented dark-eyed persons.

nant. The same heat stress during the 102nd to 110th day of gestation resulted in 4.4 fewer pigs per litter than controls.

Heat not only lowers the reproductive efficiency of gilts, but affects sows and boars, also. Furthermore, heat reduces gains and feed efficiency in finishing hogs. Research data from numerous stations support these ideas; so, we must keep the pigs cool. Summer comfort for hogs may be provided by fogging nozzles, shades, clean fresh water and evaporative air conditioners. Whatever the method or combination of methods, now is the time to fully implement plans and procedures for "cooling all hogs".

Used Clothes Requested

With school opening only a few days off, the Community Action group wishes to help families with a need for clothing. It is requested that used clothing be donated to the Community Action group so they can sort and distribute clothing where it is needed. It is requested that only clothing in good repair and wearable condition be donated as the Community Action Agency has no facilities for repairing clothing and most needy families are not in a position to handle this task. Of particular need is children's shoes and clothing.

Those who have clothes to donate may leave them at the Community Action office on the south side of the square in Tahoka or at the school in New Home.

There is a real need for this service and in addition, items donated to this cause may be counted as a tax exemption.

SOIL LAB:

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service's Soil Testing Laboratory at the A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock has begun testing for "trace elements" or micronutrients - zinc, iron, manganese and copper, reports Jim Valentine, Extension area soil chemist.

Matching funds from the Texas Plant Food Institute have permitted the installation of a high performance atomic absorption unit that is one of the best available for this type of work. Acquisition of the unit makes the Lubbock facility one of the best equipped in the Southwest for soil testing.

Cottonweed or starweed is a relatively new weed that looks like wild cotton. It belongs to the same family as cotton but has elongated leaves. This warm-season annual weed is fairly common in New Mexico and portions of the Trans-Pecos area. The weed was first observed in the Big Spring Snyder area and more recently found in Bailey and Lubbock County. The seeds are hard and therefore have the ability to remain in the soil for several years. Its method of movement to the South Plains is not known at this time. This could become a serious weed in our area since preplant herbicides are not effective and it apparently is a prolific seed producer.

Swine producers who expect to maintain reproductive efficiency in their swine herds through the hot days of summer must keep their breeding stock cool. Recent research indicates that gilts are especially vulnerable to heat stress during early and late gestation. Gilts subjected to high temperatures (98 degrees F.) from the 8th to 16th day of gestation had 5.9 fewer viable embryos than did controls. One-third of the gilts receiving this 98 degree F. treatment returned to estrus but all controls remains preg-

reinforced from fan to flywheel with 11 years of engineering developments and the longest warranty in the industry

You're hearing a lot about new tractor engines these days. Engines with replaceable wet-sleeve cylinder liners... with counterbalanced crankshaft and seven main bearings... with valve rotators... and other advanced features. They're good features. John Deere engines have had them for years. And over the years, we've reinforced and refined those features—giving you a reliability bonus "newcomer" engines don't offer.

Reinforced with specially-cast ring carrier. A non-flexing, iron-alloy carrier for piston rings is cast within each aluminum-alloy piston. It provides a solid foundation for both top and middle rings—not just the top ring as in other engines.

Reinforced with double keystone rings. Wedge-shaped design prevents ring sticking better than the square-cornered rings others use.

Reinforced with specially-coated rings. An exclusive process electroplates the top ring with a super-hard space-age alloy. These coated rings have twice the working life of commonly-used chrome-plated rings.

Hundreds of such reinforcements make John Deere engines the most reliable in the business... backed by the longest warranty in the business. Good reason to make your next tractor a 95-h.p. 4000 or 4020, 116-h.p. 4320, or 135-h.p. 4620.

Farm Bureau News

For the interest of the people of this area, the directors of the Lynn County Farm Bureau would like to inform the public what is taking place with the labor unions which could affect farmers.

Considerable time has been spent in trying to determine just what it is that labor unions are seeking. There are two primary unions involved in these strikes: (1) The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) operated on the West Coast, (independent) headed by Harry Bridges and (2) International Longshoremen Association (ILA) operating in the Gulf Coast, South Atlantic, Great Lakes and Atlantic Coast districts (AFL - CIO). The present West Coast contract expired on June 30 and this group of some 15,000 workers is now on strike. The Gulf Coast area contract will expire on September 30, 1971 and this group is expected to strike at that time.

The International Longshoremen and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) on the West Coast is demanding a 2-year contract with an 85c an hour increase for the first year, 75c for the second over the current rate of $4.23, extension of the current containerization agreement, subject to its review after 1 year, a guarantee of 40 hours work weekly for the "A" workers and 32 hours for the "B" workers, pensions of $500 monthly at 62 after 25 years service; also improvements in the union's welfare plan, holiday pay, grievance machinery and changes in other section of the contract.

The demands of the International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) operating on the East Coast are so fantastic that they are hard to believe. They are seeking a $7.50 per hour rate from 8:00 to 12:00 and 1:00 to 3:00 with $11.25 per hour for the 3:00 to 5:00 period. $15.00 per hour for all work over 8 hours, $15.00 per hour for Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, 50c per hour extra for all who handle mechanical equipment, 16 paid holidays, 8 weeks vacation, a one-year contract term, a long list of pension increases and benefits, improved welfare benefits and time for bereavement. All utilized and prepacked cargo shall be broken down and loaded at a waterfront facility exclusively by ILA longshore labor, checked by ILA deep sea checkers, maintained by ILA cooper, carpenter and maintenance locals. There are many other demands with regard to re-loading of containers, gangs for all types of shops, safety, training programs, guaranteed weekly wages, but this will suffice to reveal that there is no chance of any reasonable employer agreeing to these proposals.
