Hospital Shows Big Increase

Lynn County Hospital has had a large increase in partonage in recent weeks, Jim Thompson, administrator, stated in a talk before the Rotary Club last Thursday.

He said a time or two every bed has been occupied. Furthermore, the institution's standing with Medicare has been reaffirmed following an inspection by visiting HEW authorities.

Plans are underway for starting a vocational nurse training program if state approval is secured.

Most of his talk was spent in telling of humorous experiences he had encountered while serving as surgical, laboratory and x-ray technician and as hospital administrator.

President Binie White announced the coming visit of the District Rotary Governor August 16 and 17.

"TWO BITS WORTH"

BY JOHNNY VALENTINE

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION just about did everything they could to insure the re-election of President Richard Nixon.

It was obvious from the beginning of the convention that the liberal element was in command. They ran the show from start to finish and had the attitude of "we will get our way or take our little red wagon and go home."

Senator George McGovern said in substance in the beginning that if the convention didn't seat the California delegation he would make no promises about supporting the nominee of the convention. But the McGovern bunch were quick to suggest that convention delegates support the nominee when they got their way.

They also got their way on the platform, which is one that very few in this area could support. It is the most socialistic, liberal platform ever conceived by any party that this writer can remember, and completely unpalatable to most of the people.

McGovern has adopted some of the extremist rhetoric of the discredited campus radicals, and many Americans are unfamiliar of just how far out he has gone. The Dallas Times Herald recently branded the platform "the most profoundly radical program of action that America has ever been asked to swallow."

They couldn't be more right.

McGovern would push forced busing of school children, while all polls taken has shown that a vast majority of the people of this nation do not favor busing for the purpose of attaining a balance of races. The fight has just begun to be won by those opposing busing. Surely they wouldn't support such a candidate as McGovern.

McGovern would make drastic cuts in defense spending, and granted, some could be made. But with his suggested cuts this nation could become a second rate power in a hurry.

McGovern would pull American troops out of Viet Nam immediately and completely, even though our prisoners of war are still in northern prison camps. He makes the rash statement that he will bring the prisoners home, but he don't say how, and it is obvious to all that he is making a promise that he can't keep. Once our troops are taken out of South Viet Nam the Reds would have no reason to negotiate with us. They still have French prisoners of war captured in the 1950's and refuse to make an accounting of them.

McGovern favors amnesty for deserters and draft dodgers, ignoring the sacrifices of thousands of Americans who have fought to uphold their nation's honor and commitments.

McGovern goes overboard on welfare. Even though he did not agree to the Welfare Rights group to go for a $6,500 minimum wage guarantee, he supports a big give-away program that caters to the non-workers, and professional loafers and there is no doubt that they will support him all the way. We just wonder who will do the work when everyone gets on this guaranteed annual wage for not working.

Even though, we may not agree with everything John Connally stands for, we must admire his refusal to support this radical platform. Our hope is that others in Texas and the country will not submit to the pressure of so-called party unity and support a cause they cannot accept in reality.

UPTIGHT

The doctor tells you your blood pressure is up. Slow down, he says. Relax. Let's face it. If you're "uptight" there ARE things to do about it. Follow your doctor's orders, yes. Take a deep breath, and look at the beauty of the world around you. Help other people with their problems. But add one extra little prescription. Go to church. Just sit there and let God's peace engulf your anxiety. Chances are that when you walk out the door something new will have been added to your dimension in living.

Mr. Arthur Dial has been having visitors from Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Key. And if you saw the big smiles on our faces, it was caused by those nice tomatoes brought to us by Mr. Hines, when he made his daily trip to take Mr. Dial to play dominoes.

Dora Carpenter was able to come see Carrie Dillard Monday after spending some time in the hospital. It was real good to see her up and about.

Mrs. Cunningham has had a lot of visitors, including some from out of the state, a grandson from Calif. I believe.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Pennington and her father, J. H. Wilson of Lubbock, and Mr. Pennington's nephew, Winfred Rowe of Tahoka, recently returned from a visit to their old home community near Arkadelphia, Arkansas.

Mr. Pennington says that while there they attended an old-time Methodist camp meeting at the Davidson Camp Grounds, which has been in use as a camp meeting site continuously for 51 years, and that he has an aunt living near there who has not missed one of the annual camp meetings in all this length of time.

One hundred tents were on the grounds, occupied by 176 families, consisting of 780 individuals, Mr. Pennington says. The big tabernacle had a seating capacity of 2,000 and this was filled to capacity at night and on Sundays.

Rev. Roscoe Walsh of Ratio, Arkansas, was the minister who conducted the services this year.

Mr. Pennington left Arkansas and came to Texas 30 years ago, but he was back at the old camp ground in his tent 9 years ago. He says it was a great trip.

The School Board upon realizing the need of a band in the school, selected Mr. Babb to organize and carry on this feature of our school work. Mr. Babb has had four years of experience in the Abilene High School Eagle Band and four years in the McMurry Indian Band which qualifies him for this work.

This is a splendid opportunity for training in band work without any cost to the pupil.

Copied from Sept. 13, 1935. George Mahon, Representative of the nineteenth district in Congress, was here Saturday morning shaking hands with his constituents.

As a young man serving his first term Mr. Mahon has made a most favorable impression on his colleagues. He has engaged in no pyrotechnics; he has pulled no theatrical stunts; he has not sought notoriety. He has gone along the even tenor of his way, doing all he could for his constituents, learning the ropes in Congress, studying and working hard, forming valuable friendships, and preparing for a career of great usefulness.

Following the adjournment of Congress, he came back to his home recently and is now visiting the people of his district, rubbing elbows with the man on the street, in the shops, and stores and offices, and on the farm so as to keep in touch with his constituency, keep acquainted with their problems and find out their needs and desires.

If George Mahon is allowed to remain in Congress, as we believe he will, we predict that he will constantly grow in influence, power, and usefulness in that great body.

Last week we gave a very incomplete report of the Sunshine Show given to Mrs. A. L. Smith in the hospitable home of Mrs. W. H. Thornhill, with Mrs. Thornhill, Mrs. W. C. Darby, and Mrs. M. F. Pemberton acting as joint hostesses. The home had been beautifully and elaborately decorated for the occasion.

A most interesting program of readings, vocal numbers, and tap dancing was given by Le-Volve Richardson, Baby Tom Weisel, and Helen Belle Pemberton, and an appropriate reading by Mrs. Rake Richardson. Mrs. Smith was the recipient of many lovely and valuable gifts. Refreshments of pink and blue sandwiches, punch and angel food cake were served to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Wes Jolly visited their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dewayne Jolly and girls in Silverton, Sunday.

Brad Billman of Dallas visited Mrs. F. M. Billman last week.

Carol Smith of Stanton visited in the Jerry Ford home.

Shannon Carter visited Mrs. Buelah Pridmore over the weekend.

'Welded West' Sculpture Saves Past For Future

THINGS OLD from today and yesterday that will be gone completely tomorrow are the things Bill Craig of Tahoka is saving for future generations in his "welded West" sculpture.

Old vehicles from the buggy to the Model T and the characters — cowboys, horses, roadrunners, etc. — that indicated the time he sculpted from steel with a torch and are much the same as he once whittled them from wood with a pocketknife.

Saving Parts of Era
Craig — "born and raised at Grassland" — grew up when the era he wants to save parts of was vanishing. He "saw some of it" enough to realize the change from then to now, the romance of it all, and he wants "kids growing up now and later" to see it.

"Our children will get the most good out of what I'm doing," Craig said of the buggies, wagons, backs, surreys, windmills, and characters he is putting together from steel.

"A lot of man hours and a lot of blueprint time" goes into each piece that is made to scale of remnants of the past he finds — anything that grabs at memory of things he has seen, heard or read about the history of this area.

Likes Roadrunner
The audacious roadrunner is a favorite with Craig and his fans. He has pictured it running full tilt, shaking a rattler in its beak, frustrated trying to escape the prongs of the devil's claw while attempting to get at the seed and in other poses.

The roadrunner at full speed is the mark he makes under his signature on paintings that have been winning ribbons around the area since he began that artistic effort three years ago.

"I have known the roadrunner all my life," he said. "I used to try to catch them and that is hard work. They are out there hiding and ready for another chase when you give out."

Fans Like Windmills
His Eclipse windmills that work in the smallest detail are the latest rage among his fans. One is creating quite a stir in Austin where Tahoka State Rep. E. L. Short has it in the hall of the capitol. Short reports that he has "never seen the public respond to anything the way they do to it."

Another "Craig" windmill has been getting a lot of attention at the Lubbock Municipal Garden and Arts Center.

He patterns his mills after the Eclipse he grew up with on a farm near Grassland, a windmill he had to help repair when he got big enough to go up without scaring his parents to death.

Watched Wind
"If the wind shifted when you were on the platform, you had to really watch out for the big wooden wheel," he recalled.

"We used to wet rawhide strips and wrap it around where the leather joints were splitting. When it dried it pulled the splits together."

His miniature mills are complete in all operating parts, even to the bar that cut off the mill and the governing fan that went into operation in a high wind to do the same thing, feathering the big wheel to the wind so it wouldn't turn.

Other bits of the past show up in other ways.

Courted In Buggy
He found this old buggy in an antique shop and set to measuring it. His folks "courted" in a buggy as did many pioneer couples, so the buggy will be part of his history — saving to recall that custom.

Then, there was the surrey in another shop that really grabbed him. He found the top to be a real challenge in workmanship, but he managed to get the metal to drape over the frame like real fabric.

He's working on a freight wagon now like the long ones that carried farm freight and sometimes made the trip up the Caprock with freight from railheads. There is one — "so good you could almost hitch horses to it" in a friend's pasture. He has measured it a couple of times and "will probably make another trip or two to look at it" before he is satisfied with his miniature of it.

Likes Detail In Works
Plans are in the works for other things — like the Model T he "was raised in." Going to town meant going down the Caprock to Post and then walking up, sometimes pushing, as the Model T was backed up the Caprock so the gravity-flow fuel system could operate.

He builds up a work as it is naturally. A roadrunner's tail has layers of feathers, so layers of steel go into his roadrunner. A horse is saddled in layers of blanket, stirrup, cinch, etc., so his metal horse — the body cut from solid metal and then chiseled to shape with legs welded on later — gets saddled the same way, one thing at a time. An Eclipse windmill has each feather notched into the wheel so, his metal is notched individually into a metal frame.

Arc Welder Used
Each thing he makes is created as a shop man would assemble the full size item only with steel, using steel-working tools.

He tops it all off with a finish he achieves by "wiping across" each inch of surface with an arc welder.

The hobby, which he hopes will grow into a fulltime one, is a natural for Craig who has "welded for 25 years" and "been an electrical contractor for 17."

He will have his first "welded West" show in Hobbs the week of Aug. 7 and one in Las Cruces next week.

Started At Seven
His first touch of fame with art came at the age of seven when the Garza County school superintendent took his crayon drawing of three kittens to Post and displayed it in the court house.

Magnolia, just inside Garza County, was his first school though he lived in Lynn County. The next year that was closed and he went to Garlynn on the Garza-Lynn county line. Then, the two schoolhouses were moved to a midpoint between and joined to become Garmlina.

Though he kept his pencil and crayons busy, he never had any lessons except the ones he took a while by mail when he was 15. He "was drafted for the Korean thing" before he completed it and just never had the time to try again.

Hobby Growing
Three years ago, with his children both teenagers, he decided that he was old enough that, if he was ever going to do anything with art, he had better get busy and do it.

He took the West and its people, what he knew best, for subjects, studying history as it applied to this area. With his camera he has amassed a collection of pictures of roundups and regular ranch scenes from around the South Plains. There have gone into paintings, other wait only the opportunity for him to get to them.

His business is seasonal as his off-season hours are well-filled with his growing avocation.

Anxious About Show
The West, even a few Indian scenes, is what he puts down as it was and still is in some parts. Not only does he sell, but he satisfies art judges, too.

He was doing well with his painting, and his work was going into collections all over the South Plains when he decided to branch into "something besides painting" and took up his shop tools to try something there.

His metal roadrunners go almost as fast as his painted shotgun shells, which sell as fast as he can frame them. There is just something about his shotgun shell still life that attracts the eye. And it's there in other still life of pocket pears lying on a table or a shiveled ear of corn on a window sill.

This touch of realism carries over into his welded west art.
He is a bit anxious about his first metal showing, eager to hear how folks like this new approach to the old art of whittling.

Texas leads the nation in all major categories of the beef cattle industry, Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reports.

Texas is number one in totals of cattle and calves, number one in beef cows that have calved, and number one in cattle on feed.

"Thus, Texas has a tremendous influence on the nation in relation to beef for the consumer," White said.
The livestock industry in Texas is a $2 billion enterprise. Almost half of the total agricultural income in the state comes from livestock.

Divide up the cattle population among the human population in the state and you'll have slightly more than one beef animal per person. As of January 1, all cattle and calves in Texas totaled 12,828,000.

That's more than five million head of cattle above second-ranked Iowa. In other areas of the livestock industry, Texas also is either at the top or in the top 10, with the exception of hogs.

Texas ranks number one in all sheep and lambs with 5,534,000 head; this is almost twice the number in second place Wyoming.

Texas ranks ninth in the nation in milk cows that have calved (Wisconsin is first in first place). In hog production, Texas, although increasing its number in recent years, is in 14th position in the nation in total hog numbers. Iowa is first.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

Gov. Preston Smith is threatening a special legislative session on insurance reform.

In a statewide, televised speech, he announced he will ask the Legislature to abolish the paid, three-member State Insurance Board, which he charges is company dominated.

Angered by Senate rejection July 7 of his longtime friend, Larry Teaver, to the Board, Smith blamed the defeat on the "powerful insurance lobby."

His recommendations to "completely reorganize and reform the regulation of the insurance industry" will be delivered to a special session this year or to the next regular session in January.

Reaction to his speech, the Governor said, will determine whether he goes through with the special session call. He feels reorganization of the Board can be achieved only in a limited special session, but he isn't sure whether the public yet supports reform strongly enough to insure action.

Dallas Sen. Oscar Mauzy, a leader in the move to reject Teaver, challenged Smith to follow through and call the session immediately. He said he opposed Teaver, not because he was a consumer advocate on the Board, but for "lack of character and ability."

Smith in his TV speech announced 19 vetoes of items totalling $6.35 million from the 1973 appropriations bill.

Among the vetoed items; funds to acquire facilities for an A & I University center at Corpus Christi; a legislative scheme to thwart construction of a new highway building near the capitol by forcing creation of a state "garden park" on the site; $1 million for a Fort Worth state school and $1.22 million for new branch junior college in Coleman, Lubbock, Haskell and Palestine.

$200 MILLION TAX NEED SEEN -- the House Revenue and Taxation Committee received advice the Legislature may be looking at a $200 million money shortage for the next biennium when it reports next year.

James McGrew, Texas Research League director, told the Committee spending from general revenue and other key state funds will jump $700 million over the present level next biennium. But he figured an additional $375 to $400 million in revenue is anticipated from present "growth" taxes, and a $100 million federal welfare windfall is foreseeable.

The Committee also was reminded repeatedly of the likely effect of a federal court decision (now on appeal) holding the present method of financing public schools by a dual-rent tax unconstitutional. And a University of Texas official suggested property, income and sales taxes are all necessary to get "maximum equity" in the tax system.

Governor Smith strongly disagreed with McGrew's forecast and said there is a strong possibility no new taxes at all will be needed next year.

COURTS SPEAK -- The Supreme Court reconsidered and agreed to hear arguments next October in a controversy in which the wife of a Wichita Falls doctor was granted a divorce settlement which included a $40,000 community property right in his medical practice.

In other cases, the High Court concluded:

A city can cut off water service for failure of residents to pay a garbage collection fee.

Lower court rulings should be left standing which assessed a Houston doctor $124,150 in damages for failure to exercise proper diligence in treating a child for a broken leg. The boy lost his leg.

Child support payments should be lowered for a once-wealthy father who lost his money on the stock market.

The Court of Criminal Appeals said criminal trials should be interrupted when it becomes apparent a defendant is mentally incompetent. The same Court said prosecutors have a right to question defendants about alleged threats to witnesses.

INSURANCE CUT URGED -- An 11 percent average statewide cut in private passenger car insurance has been recommended to the State Insurance Board.

Board member Ned Price said the rate reduction -- which could save more than $68 million -- probably will be made by the Board by mid-August, effective September 1.

Proposed reductions amount to an average 8.2 percent on liability coverage and 14.5 percent on collision and comprehensive coverage.

Industry spokesmen said the reduction -- credited to lower accident claims -- is amazing in view of rising medical and repair costs.

Dallas Sen. Mike McKool claimed the reduction could have been greater -- "at least 20 percent."

Board members also reviewed a modified no-fault auto insurance plan known as the "personal injury protection plan" which would add to policies additional coverage for medical bills and lost income due to accidents. Benefits would be paid without regard to who was at fault in an accident.

AG OPINIONS -- Grand juries can only investigate alleged criminal offenses and report as to indictments returned, Attorney Gen. Crawford Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

House of Representatives personnel records can be disclosed "within sound discretion," although there is no law making them public records.

A county judge (or his bondsmen) who signs a minor's application for a driver's license is not liable for any subsequent negligence or misconduct of the minor in operating a car.

Travel expenses of employees of the Texas Credit Union Department are no subject to provisions of the travel regulations act of 1959.

State contributions for social security and employees' retirement for State Law Library workers may be transferred into the State Law Library Fund.

School districts cannot prohibit teachers from participating in political activities.

No vacancy exists in a justice of the peace precinct where part of land is detached and transferred to another precinct by commissioners court action. Commissioners have authority to reduce JP salaries during their term.

Commissioners precincts may be redistricted on the basis of either total registered voters or total population as long as the count remains substantially the same in each.

APPOINTMENTS -- Clayton Garrison succeeded James U. Cross as executive director of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Arnold V. Fletcher of Austin has been elevated from administrative assistant in the Bureau of Labor Statistics to Commissioner of the Bureau.

The Governor also named Paul A. Najvar of Hallettsville to the board of directors of Lavaca County Flood Control District.

Howard L. Sublett was named director of the Vernon Center project for drug dependent youth.

ALIENS SMUGGLED IN -- About 412,000 illegal immigrants were deported from the U. S. last year, according to a Texas Good Neighbor Commission report.

Most of the group were Mexican citizens. The Commission said smuggling of the aliens into the country has become big business and that tougher criminal laws are needed to deal with exploitation of Mexican labor.

SHORT SNORTS

Joe P. Teller is resigning as deputy director of Texas Water Quality Board to go to work for Gulf Coast Waste Disposal Authority in the Houston-Galveston area.

Houston may be a prime area for industrial expansion from Europe and Japan, according to Texas Industrial Commission.

Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena will serve as governor for a day August 12.

University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports a big swell in non-residential construction.

Condition of the High Plains cotton crop early in the last week of July ranged from "poor" to "excellent" and averaged out overall to about halfway between "fair" and "good," according to a survey of area ginners and producers conducted by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. during the week of July 23.

Sagging acreage in the 25 counties in PCG territory at the first of July was estimated to be 2,602,000 by the joint PCG-Lubbock Cotton Exchange Estimates Committee, and information from the recent PCG survey generally supports that figure. However the PCG Exchange Committee will meet again August 2 for a re-evaluation of county-by-county acreage figures and to compile the season's first projection of prospective production volume. The committee's findings will be released on Sunday August 6.

The last week of June and the first two weeks of July brought widespread damage to the area crop from hail, wind and ascochyta (wet weather) blight. But dry, sunny weather followed over most of the area and has continued since about July 15, to the benefit of crops in all except extreme southern counties which are again in need of rain.

Agronomists at the Texas A & M Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock note that blight and wind-damaged cotton now appears to be well on its way to recovery in almost every instance. Dr. Lavon Ray, head of cotton research at the Center, said "Some fields have definitely had stands and potential yields reduced by the excessive wet weather and blowing sand, but most are improving with every day of high temperatures and with continued good weather and a normal frost date stand a good chance of making an acceptable crop."

Generally speaking, moisture conditions in dryland areas are a definite plus factor. Excepting most of Howard and Martin counties and parts of Dawson county, dryland cotton has an excellent chance of producing half a bale per acre without additional rainfall. With more rain, much of the dryland crop could turn out 400 or even 500 pounds per acre. Howard, Martin and the southern end of Dawson county, where much of the cotton wasn't planted until about June 20, will need more rain in the near future and a normal or late frost date if production is not to suffer.

An unusually high incidence of verticillium wilt beginning to show up in many irrigated cotton fields may work against a high yielding year for cotton on the Plains, Dr. Ray stated. Sandy land cotton and fields planted to highly wilt resistant varieties are escaping the "vert" threat, he said, but most other irrigated cotton is being affected.

"Wilt infested cotton badly needs continued lot, dry weather," Ray continued. "With dry weather this cotton will go ahead to make a good crop, but should we have another wet, cool spell within the next week or ten days yields could be severely reduced."

As usual the end of the "cotton story" on the Plains in 1972 will again be written by mother nature.

The $55,000 per crop-per-acre limit on government payments to cotton, feed grain and wheat farmers is now set to apply through 1973, the year of the current farm program.

The Senate on July 27 passed, 46 to 23, a move to limit the limitation level to $20 per acre. The effort was in the form of an amendment to the agricultural appropriations bill, offered by Sen. Birch Bayh (D-Ind.)

The House defeated a similar amendment June 23, 1972, 192 to 198. Had the Senate passed the amendment, settlement of the issue would have been left to a House-Senate Conference Committee.

Both Texas Senators, Republican John Tower and Democrat Lloyd Bentsen, Jr., are against the amendment. Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern of South Dakota and his running mate, Representative of Missouri were present for the vote.

Initial work of the Senate Conference Committee came from Donald J. Evans, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, who was in Washington working with Senators about the amendment.

Drag Strips

To hot rodders, the opening of a new drag strip is a cause for jubilation. But to residents of the neighborhood, the occasion may be less joyful. Do they have legal grounds for complaint?

Unless banned by local statute, a drag strip (or other kind of race track) is a perfectly lawful activity. It may become unlawful, however, because of the way it is run. That is, it may amount to a "nuisance" — subject to abatement by court action.

The noise alone may be offensive enough to justify a stop order. Take this case: Residents living near a suburban drag strip found the noise so unbearable that they had to keep their windows shut. Residents one mile away had to keep their television turned on high. Residents three miles away said the noise ("like a chain saw") could be heard plainly.

Impressed by these tales of woe, a court ordered the track closed down.

Even if the noise itself isn't too bad, other factors may tilt the scales against the track operators. In one case, in issuing an injunction, the court stressed the smell of burning fuel. In another case, the court called attention to the glare of lights, powerful enough to keep the neighbors awake at night. Said the indignant judge:

"To dangle restless sleep before an exhausted mortal and never allow him to taste of his refreshing juices constitutes one of the most torturous experiences of mankind."

Still, if these assorted annoyances are kept within reasonable limits, the mere fact that the track brings some commotion into the neighborhood may be overlooked. Thus:

The main objections to a new midge race track were 1) that traffic in the neighborhood had increased, and 2) that parking spaces had become harder to find. But this time the court denied an injunction, saying that traffic and parking were problems for the city, not for the operators of the track.

The judge said the right to use the public streets belongs to all members of the public—including racing fans.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

BY RICHARD L. CHRISTIE

The Tahoka Office of the Soil Conservation Service has received authorization from the State Office to obligate $50,000.00 in cost-share for the Great Plains Conservation Program. Lynn County was able to secure this money because of the applications we had for participation in the Program. However, we do not have any more application awaiting funds. We need to talk to people interested in conservation on their farm about this Program in order that we would know where we stand in the future.

The Great Plains Conservation Program is a complete conservation program for individual farms. It includes cost-share by the USDA - SAS for conservation to prevent wind and water erosion, recreation, pollution abatement and wildlife conservation. The rate of cost-share varies from 50 percent to 80 percent depending on the practice. The major portion of these funds in Lynn County have been spent for Parallel Terrace which is a practice to prevent water erosion.

The Program covers a operating unit and provides for a complete conservation plan. Any persons interested in their farm or any conservation practices should contact Richard L. Christie at the Soil Conservation Service in Tahoka.

Calf Crop Highest Since 1924... Sheep and Lambs on Feed Down 18 Per Cent... Crops Making Good Progress... Wind Erosion Down From Last Year... Screwworms Continue Out of Control... Vaccinate Horses Now for VEE...

The Texas calf crop this year is expected to be the highest since 1924, the Texas Crop and Livestock Service reports. A calf crop of 5,444,000 head is expected this year, this compares with 5,286,000 head last year.

Sheep and lambs on feed in Texas as of July 1 is down 18 percent from a year ago. Sheep and lambs on feed totaled 150,000. Marketings of fed sheep during March through June at 226,000 head were 1,000 below the same period last year.

Screwworms continue to infest Texas livestock as well as wildlife and domesticated animals such as dogs. Little or no relief is expected from the screwworm infestations until cold weather sets in this fall and winter.

LESS pollution from wind erosion has been noted this year compared to last year. Wind erosion in the Great Plains moved downward from damage totals a year ago.

Crops are continuing to make generally good progress throughout the state. Cotton is reported to be making excellent progress on the High Plains and Low Plains due to recent rains.

VACCINATE now for control of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) authorities recommend. VEE is now about 600 miles from the Texas border.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Drag Strips

To hot rodders, the opening of a new drag strip is a cause for jubilation. But to residents of the neighborhood, the occasion may be less joyful. Do they have legal grounds for complaint?

Unless banned by local statute, a drag strip (or other kind of race track) is a perfectly lawful activity. It may become unlawful, however, because of the way it is run. That is, it may amount to a "nuisance" — subject to abatement by court action.

The noise alone may be offensive enough to justify a stop order. Take this case:

Residents living near a suburban drag strip found the noise so unbearable that they had to keep their windows shut. Residents one mile away had to keep their television turned on high. Residents three miles away said the noise ("like a chain saw") could be heard plainly.

Impressed by these tales of woe, a court ordered the track closed down.

Even if the noise itself isn't too bad, other factors may tilt the scales against the track operators.

In one case, in issuing an injunction, the court stressed the smell of burning fuel. In another case, the court called attention to the glare of lights, powerful enough to keep the neighbors awake at night. Said the indignant judge:

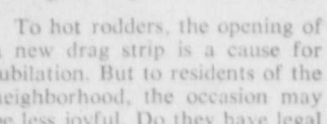

"To drag rental sleep before an exhausted mortal and never allow him to taste of his refreshing juices constitutes one of the most torturous experiences of mankind."

Still, if these assorted annoyances are kept within reasonable limits, the mere fact that the track brings some commotion into the neighborhood may be overlooked.

The main objections to a new midwest race track were 1) that traffic in the neighborhood had increased, and 2) that parking spaces had become harder to find. But this time the court denied an injunction, saying that traffic and parking were problems for the city, not for the operators of the track.

The judge said the right to use the public streets belongs to all members of the public—including racing fans.

Cotton Yield Off On Plains

The 1971 average yield of 318 pounds of cotton per harvested acre (based on the December estimate) was the lowest in recent years for the High Plains.

This is pointed out by the National Cotton Council which is cooperating with state agricultural Extension services and the U. S. Department of Agriculture in a campaign aimed at "Better Yields of Quality Cotton for Profit and Market Growth."

Ray Joe Riley, Rt. 2, Hart, and Dr. John E. Hutchison, director, Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, College Station, are co-chairmen of the effort in Texas.

The average yield of 318 pounds compares with 394 pounds in 1970 and 357 the previous year. It is far below the record of 526 pounds achieved during the 1965 season.

High Plains cotton yield per harvested acre:

Calf Crop Highest Since 1924... Sheep and Lambs on Feed Down 18 Per Cent... Crops Making Good Progress... Wind Erosion Down From Last Year... Screwworms Continue Out of Control... Vaccinate Horses Now for VEE...

The Texas calf crop this year is expected to be the highest since 1924, the Texas Crop and Livestock Service reports. A calf crop of 5,444,000 head is expected this year; this compares with 5,286,000 head last year.

Nationwide, the 1972 calf crop is expected to total 48,445,000. This is three percent more than 46,974,000 head produced in 1971. The 5,444,000 calves expected in Texas this year is more than twice the number expected in second ranking Missouri, Oklahoma is the third leading state in calf production.

SHEEP and lambs on feed in Texas as of July 1 is down 18 percent from a year ago. Sheep and lambs on feed totaled 150,000. Marketings of fed sheep during March through June at 226,000 head were 1,000 below the same period last year.

Sheep and lambs on feed are those intended for slaughter being fed a ration of grain or other concentrates or on succulent pastures and expected within the next three months to produce a carcass that will grade good or better.

SCREWORMS continue to infest Texas livestock as well as wildlife and domesticated animals such as dogs. Little or no relief is expected from the screwworm infestations until cold weather sets in this fall and winter.

Livestock owners are urged to continue to check their livestock regularly and to treat wounds on livestock for screwworm control.

LESS pollution from wind erosion has been noted this year compared to last year. Wind erosion in the Great Plains moved downward from damage totals a year ago.

Texas, with 1,145,150 acres, or about one-half of the total nationwide, reported the most wind erosion damage this season. Nationwide, land in condition to blow is reported at 3,269,060 acres this year compared to 6,693,695 acres for 1971.

Crops are continuing to make generally good progress throughout the state. Cotton is reported to be making excellent progress on the High Plains and Low Plains due to recent rains. The crop is doing nicely in the Blacklands and East Texas except for insect problems. Harvest in the Lower Rio Grande Valley has been delayed by rains.

Corn is making good growth in most areas of the state. Grain sorghum harvest is more than 20 percent complete. Yields have ranged from good to excellent in Blacklands and parts of south and south central Texas.

Soybeans and peanuts are making good to excellent progress. Rice harvest is making fair progress but rain has delayed harvest operations. Harvest for the state is nearing the 20 percent completion mark.

As for commercial fruit, peach harvest continues in most areas with Elberta varieties now in production. This year's pecan crop shows good potential with most trees having moderate to heavy nut set.

VACCINATE now for control of Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) authorities recommend.

VEE is now about 600 miles from the Texas border. Several hundred head of horses have died from VEE in Mexico. VEE appears to be moving northward in a pattern similar to last year when the disease invaded Texas.
