'TWO BITS WORTH'
BY JOHNNY VALENTINE

"A pat on the back will help build character if it is given often enough, hard enough, and low enough."
TBW
We always enjoy reading Irma Bombeck in the Ft. Worth Star Telegram and here is one of her copy that is timely and we think you will enjoy it.
"I don't care how many beer cans are plucked from streams.
Or how many bottles are gathered from our parks. Or how many cars are eliminated from our highways.
"Ecology will never be taken seriously until something is done about "Gym Clothes Pollution."
"My son's gym clothes walked into the utility room last Wednesday and leaned casually against the wall while I watched a pot of ivy shrivel and die before my eyes.
"Blinking back the tears, I yelled to my son, "How long has it been since these clothes have been washed?"
"Since the beginning of the school year," he shouted back.
"What school year?"
"1969-1970," he said.
"I thought so, you know, I don't know how your phys. ed. teacher stands it."
"He said we weren't too bad until yesterday."
"What happened yesterday?"
"It rained and we came inside."
"Don't you have rules about laundering these things?"
"Yeah. We have to have them washed every four months whether they need it or not."
"Carefully, I unfolded the muddy shorts, the brittle T-shirt and the socks that were already in the final stages of rigor mortis.
"As I scraped a french fry entangled in a gym shoestring, I couldn't help but reflect that this was a child who had been reared in an antiseptic world. When he was a baby, I used to boil his toys and sterilize his navel bands. I made the dog wear a mask when he was in the same room. I washed my hands BEFORE I changed his diapers.
"As he grew older, we avoided public drinking fountains, public magazines and public children. I washed and ironed his little sunsuits until the ducks faded.
"Where had I failed?
"Under his bed were dirty clothes that were harboring wild life. In his drawers were soiled underwear so old that some had plastic liners in them. His closet had overalls and jeans that hung suspended without the need of hangers.
"Opening the lid of the washer, I felt around trying to find the gym clothes that I had just washed. I retrieved a shoestring, two labels and a clean french fry.
"What happened to my gym clothes?" asked my son.
"After the sweat and dirt went, this was all that was left!"

"If you think you have troubles pity the poor editor -- if he attends a meeting he's being nosy, if he doesn't he isn't interested. If he writes an in-depth story, it's too long, if he condenses one, it's incomplete. If he takes sides on an issue he is prejudiced, if he doesn't he is a coward. If he asks for advice, he's incompetent, if he doesn't he is a know-it-all. If he makes a mistake he hears about it for weeks, if he doesn't he never hears about it. If he expresses an opinion, he wants to run the show, if he doesn't he lacks guts. If he misspells your name, you never forget

IT'S TAG TIME

Time moves faster than most people think and it's once again time to start thinking about renewing your license plates. Displaying the new tags above which go on sale today are the two attractive tax assessor-collector deputies, Beverly Wright, left; and Dovie Miller, right. The tag on the left is the regular passenger plate and carries a CMN prefix with the starting No. 10. The tag in the middle is a personalized tag and is red and white. The tag reads "Tahoka" and is the tag of J.T. Miller. The tag on the right is the tag of Joe D. Unfred of New Home and reads 2 Takon.

Deposits in Lynn County's three banks are the highest in history, in spite of the low prices of cotton and the fact that probably not more than three-fourths of the 1972 crop has been sold.
Total deposits at close of business in December were $24,434,693.04 at the three banks, and since then the total has grown to an excess of $28 million.
First National Bank of Tahoka set an all-time record of $15,004,772.64 at close of business on Dec. 29, 1972, and since then the total has grown to $16 million plus.
Wilson State Bank reported a record $6,226,118.29 on deposit, and First National Bank of O'Donnell reported $3,233,802.11, also a record.
Loans outstanding at beginning of the new year totaled $10,598,818.34, of which First National of Tahoka reported $7,303,578.16 in loans, Wilson State $2,538,540.99, and O'Donnell First National $856,891.19.
Total capital accounts in the Tahoka bank were $1,433,899.43, Wilson $717,421.03, and O'Donnell $521,689.26.
Previous high in deposits at the First National of Tahoka when a call was made was in 1969 as the deposits reached $13,673,000. A year ago the last of December deposits here were $12,967,000.
Back during the "depression" year of 1931, First National of Tahoka had only $335,000 on deposit, but since then deposits have grown steadily until reaching the current record.
Garland Thornton, executive vice president of the Tahoka bank attributes the record in deposits to improved economic practices of many individuals and increased number of customers, as well as good crops and inflation.

Harvest Delayed

Completion of the 1972 cotton crop has suffered serious delay during January, the wettest first month in many years.
This Monday and Tuesday some farmers who had not already machined their cotton got back into the fields, but Wednesday morning light rain came to further delay operations.
Last Wednesday night and Thursday, Tahoka received 4 1/2 inches of snow which had .44 inch moisture content, and much of the county was too wet the first of this week for cotton harvest.
During this January, the local U.S. Weather Service station recorded a total of 2.12 inches of moisture, most of it from snow and freezing rain. Moisture was recorded on 12 days during the month.
This was the wettest January recorded here since the 3.94 inches recorded in 1949, most of which was from a big snowstorm. Normal moisture in Tahoka over a 44-year span is .59 of an inch.

Bill Griffin Says

The pressure is on for farmers to get preparations under way for spring crop planting. This includes getting soil tests made and arrangements for fertilizer applications finalized.
Late harvests and unusually wet soil have seriously delayed fertilizer applications in most of the West Texas area. This means that when conditions permit, fertilizer dealers will be hardpressed to get applications made before planting time. For this reason, farmers who anticipate soil testing needs should allow a few days for soil analysis before ordering fertilizer applications.
If anyone has reservations about how much and what ratio of fertilizer is needed for a particular crop, soil tests made by the Extension Soil Testing Laboratory at the Texas Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock can help. Tests are made for pH, nitrate nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium calcium magnesium and salts on a routine basis. If desired, tests for the micronutrients iron, zinc and manganese can also be made. Reports stating the amounts of plant nutrients needed for the yield goal by the produc-

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Despite abnormally extended periods of moisture-laden weather on the Plains this Fall and Winter, as yet there is no reason to believe field-stored cotton in the area has suffered any serious deterioration, according to Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.
"Rumors to the contrary notwithstanding," says Johnson, "to our knowledge there are no confirmed reports of rotting or seed sprouting in cotton placed in ricks by rick compactors in accordance with recommendations."
The relatively new (in modern times, at least) practice of storing cotton of field turn-rows until after the rush season at gins spread rapidly in 1972 following research by Cotton Incorporated which led to the development of mechanical rick compactors in 1970. CI research has shown that cotton placed in ricks by these machines retains basic quality characteristics far better than cotton left to weather on the stalk.
Several "someone said" reports of severe deterioration in ricked cotton prompted the PCG staff to survey ginners, producers, cotton technologists and others involved in indicating that the outside layers of cotton are serving as excellent insulation and would tend to prevent seed sprouting even in the unlikely event of exceptionally warm weather for a few days.

A check of weather records reveals that only about 22 out of 76 days between November 10 and January 26 this season were "fit" for harvesting because of excessive rain and snow.
"Such weather naturally has concerned us all," Johnson stated, "but as of now it appears our field-stored cotton is coming through just fine. "And if it turns out there is no loss of quality in cotton ricked on the turnrow under these adverse conditions," he concluded, "the system will have pretty well proved itself."

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

BY RICHARD L. CHRISTIE

The fifth grade teachers of the Tahoka School System deserve a big vote of "Thanks" from the community. They have done an outstanding job of making their students aware of the world around them. Debbie Burnes, Martha Davis, Peggy Atwell and Shirley Holloway presented a Conservation Unit to the fifth graders that emphasized the management of our natural resources for a better tomorrow. Assisting them in this effort were officials of the Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District and employees of the USDA Soil Conservation Service. As a result of the effort of these four dedicated individuals their students will be better citizens, concerned about the world in the future.

Conservation Education will be a part of the lesson plans of each of these teachers in the years to come. They agreed that it has helped the students a great deal, ever the attitude on the playground has improved. The facts concerning proper use of our natural resources were presented in such a way that each student could relate his life to conservation. These principles have carried over into other subjects such as social studies, science and health. Living in a rural community it is easier to show the student ecology in action but because rural people have more control of natural resources it is also more important. If education in the past had done this it might have changed the course of American history.
These teachers have no had any formal Conservation Education work which makes this even more outstanding. They have expressed an interest in attending such work shops on training secessions if possible in the future. The teachers feel that they will include Conservation Education in their plans for the future. They hope to get the student aware of natural resources and there conservation to the extent that they be curious enough to watch and observe them in real life.
Thanks again to these teachers for a job well done.

Weather Delays Cotton Harvest

The South Plains cotton harvest was delayed another week to ten days by the rains and snows over the area, according to W.K. Palmer, in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office of the U.S.D.A. However, farmers were able to harvest some cotton during the past week. Also, some ginning, sampling and classing continued due to accumulated backlogs of cotton harvested before the unfavorable weather.

Samples from 57,000 bales were tested and classed at the South Plains U.S.D.A. cotton classing offices at Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa and Levelland during the week ending Friday, January 26th. This brought the total classed for the season to 1,375,000 bales. Estimates indicate that 75 to 80 percent of this season's crop is now out of the fields.

Grades of cotton at Lubbock were lower than the previous week. Strict Low Middling Light Spotted (42) was the predominant grade, making up 18 percent of all cotton classed. Strict Low Middling (41) made up 13 percent, Strict Low Middling Spotted (43) 13 percent and Strict Low Middling Tinged (44) 12 percent.

Average staple length was also lower than the previous week. Staples were predominantly 30 to 33. Thirty-two percent had a staple length of 30, 21 percent stapled 31, 20 percent was 32 and 12 percent was 33.

Micronaire readings were considerably lower. Only 12 percent of all cotton classed at Lubbock had micronaire readings in the premium range

Legislative Action Halted Last Week

Legislative action halted abruptly in Austin last week with the death of President Johnson. Only one bill of importance to this area was voted on, and action on this measure was delayed, according to State Rep. E.L. Short.

The bill as argued called for stricter rules in regard to meetings of all governmental groups including boards, commissions, departments, committees or agencies within the executive or legislative department of the state. It also included all local school boards, county and city commissions.

The bill as presented to the legislature would make it almost impossible for governmental bodies to function properly. Rep. Short said, but added that amendments would be introduced to modify the more stringent conditions.

"As the bill read, if any two members of such a group met over lunch and even discussed what was to be brought up at a coming meeting, they would be subject to a heavy fine and a 30-day jail sentence," Rep. Short said.

He added that more time would give legislators the chance to study the bill and to hear from their constituents concerning it.

NORWOOD TELLS OF TRIP TO AFRICA

Rev. Hugh Jack Norwood, Baptist minister, told Rotarians last Thursday noon of his trip to the interior of Africa along with a group of mission workers.

He illustrated his talk with color slides of the primitive life of the natives. He thought the trip was a great success since several hundred natives were converted to the Christian religion.

Rev. Hugh Daniel, Local Methodist minister, was in charge of the program and introduced the speaker.

Where you shop by name... not by number

Rush, run and grab a number. Hurry up and wait. Push, shove and push. Outshout noise and grab and go. Numbers are waiting. Clerks couldn't remember your face tomorrow. Isn't it more fun to shop where businessmen and sales people know your name? And you know theirs? When a hometown businessman says "We missed you" don't you sometimes secretly admit "I missed you, too"? It's much more fun to shop where your business is appreciated.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Bill Boykin
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

This city lost a part of its "personality" last week. Most Austin Citizens acted sophisticated about the fact that President Lyndon Baines Johnson was seen frequently at public events . . . but his personality gave the entire area a certain glamor that will be lost with his passing.

He had made frequent appearances recently -- the Cotton Bowl, Civil Rights forum, Governor Briscoe's inauguration, and an economic seminar at San Marcos.

Yes, Austin and Texas will miss LBJ.

He did not try to dominate the show when he appeared publicly, did not make "news" by voicing opinions on everything, but his influence was felt in many important ways.

During last year's political campaigns in Texas, he was on the phone raising money, offering advice -- supporting those who had been loyal to him during his political career.

The Texas Democratic Party will miss LBJ.

Although it will not be listed in his biography, Lyndon Baines Johnson was a journalist.

He wrote a book. He helped write and produce several television news specials. Most of all, he "made" news during his entire lifetime.

His daughter, Mrs. Luci Nugent, likes to point out that her father was "surrounded by journalists."

"My father had to live with journalists all of his life," she said recently. "My mother was a journalism graduate of the University of Texas. My sister wrote for major magazines, and I've enjoyed doing some writing."

Men who influenced him on many major decisions were journalists . . . Bill Moyers, George Christian, Tom Johnson and many more. He confided in many Texas newspaper editors, Art Kowert, Bob Jackson, Bill Hobby and others.

Texas Journalists will miss LBJ.

He refused to let his illness slow him down.

His last public appearance was a tree planting ceremony near his home with Lady Bird. He had spent an active Christmas holiday with his wife, daughters, their husbands and children.

He attended the funeral of the 14 young people who had been killed in the bus-truck accident and the funeral of President Harry S. Truman less than a month ago.

His family will miss LBJ.

President Johnson's political career will continue to be an inspiration to young people interested in government and politics.

He came from a family of public servants, but hundreds of college students in this state look at his career and contemplate the "path to the presidency."

He was first a young school teacher, then youth administrator, aide to a Congressman, Congressman, Senator, Vice-President then President of the most powerful nation in the world.

Yes, Lyndon Baines Johnson made history interesting for Texas.

Texas will miss LBJ.

ABORTION LAW STRUCK DOWN -- The U.S. Supreme Court voted 7-2 to strike down the state's abortion statute, holding that medical abortion in the first six months of pregnancy should be a private matter between a woman and her physician, the high court ended a controversy begun in 1970 when "Jane Roe" a pregnant, unmarried woman from Dallas took the abortion argument to the federal courts.

Ironically Miss Roe, as she was named to protect her identity, won her case, but had the baby.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe asked Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill for an evaluation of the ruling and for alternatives open to Texas in light of the high court decision. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, however, said that "the best solution is one in which the state is neutral on the subject . . . I believe the medical profession of Texas will respond to the decision and will treat abortion as a medical matter in a responsible way."

ENGINEERS OFFER LEGISLATORS PROFESSIONAL ADVICE -- Legislators last week were offered the expertise of a group of engineers on "broadly defined areas of environmental protection", and other areas of public concern.

The Texas Society of Professional Engineers told Texas House and Senate members that 700 members of that association were available for "factual presentations" before committee hearings on air pollution water pollution, liquid and solid wastes, insecticides and pesticides, health, safety and many other categories.

TOO MANY SCHOOLS? -- Texas may be expanding educational facilities to the extent that the quality of education may be diluted, while the taxpayer keeps digging deeper in his pocketbook to pay the bills.

Opinion was expressed here by Wales Madden, an Amarillo attorney, who is a member of the Coordination Board, Texas College and University System. Madden told CB members "educators know that increased funding is dependent upon growing enrollments. With institutions planning independently and on ad hoc basis for enrolling the same students, and with there being fewer students to spread among the colleges, we may endanger the critical mass of students, faculty, facilities, equipment and libraries established at such high cost and hard effort in our existing institutions."

Madden placed part of the blame on local pressure on state legislators, who feel duty bound to try to create by statute a junior or senior college or technical training facility in their communities. Madden urged CB members to moderate the present expansion trend "until we determine fully what the needs are and where we are going."

Nursing Home News

Hello. Once again here we come from the Colonial Nursing Home. Sorry to report the death of one of our residents, Mrs. Lou Willess. She had been so ill, and death was a blessed relief, as God always knows best, but we will all miss her.

Mother Stewart's children have picked up her treasured things. We also miss her.

Corine Izard was in the Lynn County Hospital for four days with a kidney flair up. Sure hope her new medicine helps her, as she has pain enough without another pain.

Also Homer Young spent about 5 days in the local hospital, but is back home and seems to be feeling much better. We are glad to have him back.

Visiting with Dr. Kitchen and Mr. Huffman was Roy E. and Ethel Brown of Post, and Charles and John Huffman, also of Post.

Mrs. Kate Jones visitors were Mrs. Tom Cloe and Brenda and Marla Jones.

Carlice and Ruth Edwards of Denver City have been visiting Mrs. McCord, as well as Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Short.

Monday, Willie Fortenberry of Amherst visited Ather Dial. He had other visitors, but we failed to get their names.

Vera Harston of New Home and Ruth Williams of Slaton visited Mrs. Mahala Harston.

Mrs. Corbin reports she had company from out of town, but again we failed to get the names.

The snow Thursday was beautiful, but the moisture was not really needed by the farmers right now. Maybe they can get the cotton gathered yet.

The Methodist Church brought our Sunday services. The scripture was Exodus chapters 3, all about Moses life and how he took his people out of Egypt. We all enjoy these services.

Earline Cargill, L.V.N. from Brownfield resigned as the driving back and forth was too much as her hours were so mixed up. She was such a lovely person to be around.

We had several visitors to help us sing. We wish some more of you ladies would make the effort to come help us and Mrs. Hammonds, but thanks to the ones who do come.

Thanks to Dora Carpenter for the pot holders. The cooks can sure use them.

We also want to thank Donna Redwine and the second year Brownies for the tray favors. It is wonderful for the young people to remember us in this way.

Mr. Bales took Cora Bennett and Mozell Banks to Post to see their doctor Monday. Both got a good report. Also Mrs. Harter's daughter took her and Mrs. Black to see their doctor. Mrs. Harter was admitted to the Lynn County Hospital for a few days. We will be glad when she can return even if it is just for observation.

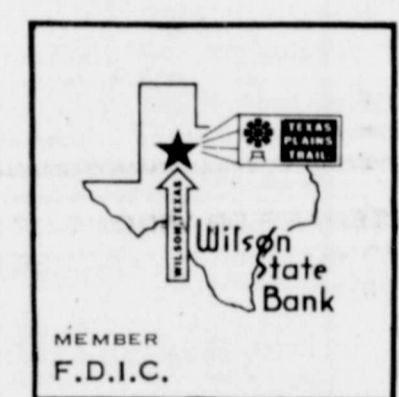

Mrs. Hancock from Gail visited Mrs. Taylor. She is so proud of the improvement she sees in her mother since he moved her here.

Roy Moreman moved back to his home in Brownfield. He says he will be back in a month. I guess gets lonesome. Since I was not here for four days, if I have left out anyone or any news, please excuse me.

Others signing our guest book include Stephanie Corgill, Trula James, Laura Stice, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Luttrell, John and Southern Wells, Lela Wood, and Sireta and Brandie Inklebarger.

As this is our news for this week, we will be looking for you. You are always welcomed at Colonial Nursing Home.

WOULD YOU BE CONTENT TO LIVE IN 3/4 OF YOUR HOME?

If you're underinsured, and disaster should strike, that's exactly what could happen.

Government statistics show that the cost of rebuilding homes in America goes up each year. By as much as 5 to 10%.

That's why Aetna has come up with a simple, effective measurement tool called an AEstimator. It gives us the information we need to estimate the replacement cost of your home at today's prices - so that your home can be insured for its full replacement value. (Remember, there's a difference between the price tag a realtor might place on your home and what it would actually cost to rebuild.)

With an Aetna Homeowner's policy, you'll be protected against fire, burglary, vandalism, personal liability suits and more. And because of our easy-to-use AEstimator, you'll be insured for as much as you'd need to completely rebuild your home in today's construction market.

Would you be content to rebuild only 3/4 of the home you live in now?

If your answer's "No," talk to us today about an Aetna Homeowner's policy.

You get action with Aetna 1656 AVE. J
