National FHA Week

The Texas Association of Future Homemakers of America will observe NATIONAL FHA WEEK, April 1 through 7. Focusing on the theme EXPLORE ROLES - EXTEND GOALS, they join half-a-million other members throughout the country in exploring the multiple roles individuals play in family, community and career life.

The results of their efforts are active involvement in home, civic and school projects, growth in individual leadership, team work experience and vocational orientation.

For more than a quarter of a century, the organization through its FHA and HERO-FHA chapters has provided worthwhile experiences which have helped young men and women prepare for the important responsibilities of their future as parents and adult citizens.

Paula Julian, President of the Texas FHA State Association explained why there is a NATIONAL FHA WEEK. "We observe NATIONAL FHA WEEK," she said, "because we are proud of our organization and wish to develop a public consciousness of some of the values we gain from membership."

"During this week we have an opportunity to express our appreciation to our advisors, parents, school, and community for helping the organization move forward. Because the organization is integrated into the home economics classroom work, it makes learning mean something tangible and affords us many opportunities to make a direct contribution to society. It plays an effective role in the educational system by keeping us involved in activities that benefit us not only as individuals but as family and community members. In other words, the organization of Future Homemakers of America serves as a bridge between the classroom, the home and the community and is the key for developing the potential of each individual member for a productive life in our society."

Future Homemakers of America was founded June 11, 1945, as an incorporated, non-profit organization supported by membership dues. Nationwide in membership and efforts, it is co-sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education and Technical Education and the American Home Economics Association. High school home economics teachers, members of the state home economics education staff and leading home economists serve as advisors to chapter, state, and national youth officers, giving guidance and counseling to the program.

National headquarters are located in Washington, D.C.

The annual state meeting of the Texas Association will be May 3-5, 1973 in the Convention Center, San Antonio. More than 5,000 members and advisors are expected to attend.

The theme of the meeting is "Up, Up, and Away with FHA." Programs are planned to help members have a feeling of accomplishment through FHA activities. FHA is an upward looking, forward moving organization.

Highlights of the meeting include talks by Marilyn Van Derbur, former Miss America and popular youth speaker and Bunny Martin, Belton, Yo-Yo champion and humorist with an inspiring message for young people. Frederick McClure, state Future Farmers of America President, San Augustine, has written and will present an original Ceremony of Allegiance. Members recognized for outstanding achievement will be honored at a reception on Friday evening.

Organized Crime

Organized crime has become a billion-dollar-a-year business in the State of Texas.

Governor Dolph Briscoe, in his first address to the Legislature, said "it is correct to say Texas is in the frontier stage of organized crime, but we still have time to react and do something about it."

Attorney General John Hill and Colonel Wilson E. Speir, Director of the Department of Public Safety, are acutely aware of the problem and both have it high on their priority list.

"We are not about to sit back and let Texans be victimized by mobsters," Hill said recently.

Speir commented, "We have all aspects of the problem under close surveillance and already are making many arrests. It may be however, that new laws will be needed to assist us in cracking down hard on certain elements of organized crime."

Hill and Speir are co-chairmen of the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council which consists of the state's top law enforcement personnel.

The Council has compiled some startling information.

... Gang killings, used effectively to gain promotion up through the ranks, are still occurring in and around the major metropolitan areas.

The majority of the gangland murders are believed tied to narcotics trafficking and underworld power struggles.

... Bookmaking is perhaps the largest money maker for organized crime in the state.

Bookies realized a gross profit of $98 million from both college and professional football games during the 1971 season alone. Bets totaled some $815 million which means about 12 per cent "off the top" went into the pockets of organized crime.

"Bookmaking is the most intricately organized field in all of crime," Colonel Speir commented, "and our investigations have just touched the surface but we are making progress."

... Prostitution is prevalent in many areas, especially those with sizeable populations.

Available information places the average gross weekly income per prostitute in Texas at $1,400 for those working in the more sophisticated operations.

This is usually split on a 60-40 basis with the "House" or the procurer.

Prostitutes, in many instances, are lured into that "profession" to obtain money to support a costly narcotics habit.

... At least eighteen separate narcotics smuggling rings are known to be operating in Texas cities. There are several hundred major traffickers who have been located and identified by various law enforcement agencies.

Vigorous prosecution at all levels of law enforcement has been stepped up on drug pushers. Arrests are increasing statewide.

The "take" in Texas on illicit drug traffic is almost impossible to reduce to dollars and cents, partially because of strong indications that in addition to supplying users in the state, the pushers also supply the markets in at least nine other states.

Texas drug rings are known, for example to supply connections in Chicago, New York and Miami.

This unsavory phase of gangland is highly profitable, however. It also leaves in its wake thousands of broken and shattered lives and death. Violence comes easy in the uneasy world of the drug pusher.

Nuevo Laredo's dope war bloodbaths have attracted national and international attention to that Mexican City just across the Rio Grande from Texas.

A Bexar County grand jury report last spring "isolated" nine criminal organizations connected with narcotics headquartered in San Antonio and the surrounding area. Since then San Antonio police have put several of these out of business and are actively working on the others.

The report said "no indications of a direct connection with the Mafia" was found in San Antonio.

District Attorney Ted Butler says, however, "organized syndicates are directly connected as purchasers and sellers of illegal drugs."

...Poetically, or jokingly, dubbed the "Wheels of Crime," no less than 40 auto theft rings have been uncovered in Texas. Last year in Dallas alone car theft hit near the $7 million mark.

Statewide there were 48,323 autothefts reported in 1971.

Valued at over $50 million, these hot cars were "fenced" in Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, California, Mexico and even Europe.

Not only are cars stolen to be stripped of their valuable parts but also resold after changing the true identification. Texas law enforcement officials state flatly that stolen vehicles figure heavily as transportation for crooks involved in armed robbery, kidnapping and other offenses.

The thieves don't limit themselves to automobiles by any means. Campers, motorcycles, mobile homes, heavy equipment, boats and motors -- just about anything and everything on two or four wheels is fair game.

In the theft area, the problem of the "fence" is a major one. Many of them recruit newcomers, especially youths for a car heist, with the thieves thus launching on criminal careers.

Narcotics, car theft rings, the "fence" (purchaser of stolen goods), and bookmaking are areas in which law enforcement officials feel stronger laws are needed. Specifically, they refer to the political hot potato of electronic surveillance.

Federal court ordered electronic surveillance, which includes but is not limited to wire tapping, is legal under the Federal Omnibus Crime Control Act, but the Texas Legislature has yet to authorize it in this state by statute.

"While not in favor of just opening it up entirely, we badly need such a law. But we must see that proper controls such as a court order based on probable cause, proper supervision and discretion are used," said Colonel Speir.

"Uses of electronic surveillance must be carefully limited and the penalties for abuse of this power must be high. No bill will ever have my support which does not protect law-abiding citizens from the invasion of their privacy," Governor Briscoe told the Legislature.

Attorney General Hill is also cautious about "bugs" and wire taps. He concurs, though, with Governor Briscoe and Colonel Speir that tightly regulated electronic surveillance can be effective in investigating certain conspiratorial, organized criminal rings -- who plot their criminal plans by telephone.

"In seeking this type of limited law to assist our law enforcement personnel, we must be certain to build in adequate penalties for those who would undertake to illegally invade the privacy of law-abiding citizens," Hill pointed out.

But organized crime in Texas is not limited to gambling, prostitution, narcotics or auto theft.

There is evidence the policy rackets have moved into the Gulf Coast area.

"The Numbers" long has been a key part of mob business throughout the United States, but apparently it isn't that big a threat in Texas yet.

Poor people are the major customers for numbers racket operators.

Loan sharking has not found too fertile a field in which to operate in Texas, although there is some evidence it exists.

Organized crime also has quietly moved in legitimate businesses in Texas in recent years.

Symptoms of criminal schemes to take over legitimate business operations surfaced in Texas during 1972.

A major Texas newspaper reported one "text book" example in a coastal city.

The owner of a small company was lured into joining a "mob-controlled conglomerate" by fantastic offers of credit, stability and dizzy promises of rapid financial success.

In the end, the firm's assets were raided (transferred and milked) and the company was left bankrupt.

Lawsuits pending in Texas courts list charges of "fraudulent advertising of assets resulting in an increase in stock prices," "conspiring to gain control," and "attempting to dissipate the assets of both the company and the holding company.

One federal crime fighter recently noted "more and more racketeers are going into securities transactions."

In recent months several Texas banks were defrauded in an illicit securities scheme that began in San Francisco and had ramifications in New Jersey.

"Cities hit in this one scheme included Houston, El Paso and Lubbock," investigators said.

One of the oldest tools of organized crime is the application of pressure to coerce potential victims.

Operators within criminal ranks will resort even to murder if the purpose suits their bosses.

Even office holders are not immune from being the object of criminal conspiracies.

For example, one office holder found himself the target of an alleged plot which resulted in indictment of three South Texas men at the conclusion of a two-month investigation.

"The conspiracy involved the attempt to hire someone to commit murder," said a court spokesman.

Although it may not sound like it from the above facts, Texas organized crime really isn't rampant at this point.

There's no Murder, Inc. as such, and there are no gang lords with overtones of "Godfathers."

Organized crime is not necessarily synonymous with the Mafia.

"In general," said Colonel Speir, "it consists of unlawful activities of the members of a highly organized, disciplined and sophisticated association engaged in supplying illegal goods and services."

The Colonel added, "Home-grown criminal organization frequently employ the same tactics used by those in the more classic organized criminal operations."

Attorney General Hill puts it another way. "We know the problem exists, and all segments of the criminal justice system are working on it. Texans deserve nothing but the best efforts of us all -- they have been and will continue to get nothing less to make sure their lives and property are protected."

Tahoka tennis teams last week participated in the district tournament in Andrews and Seminole.

The girls doubles team, composed of Ruth Roddy and Nancy Weathers won second place, losing only to the crack O'Connell team. The girls singles entry, Wyatt, was ill and could not enter.

Both boys doubles entries, Noah Cromer and Kenneth Weaver, and single Marvin Healy, lost to Littlefield.

At an election held last Saturday New Home Consolidated Independent district voted bonds in the sum of $100,000 for the construction of a new school building. For the convenience of voters, there were two voting places at New Home and the other at Lakeview. The results were as follows: 87 in favor of the bonds at New Home, 29 against the bonds at Lakeview; 107 for the bonds, 34 against. At the same time, a tax of $1.00 on each $100 was authorized to care for the building and for maintenance.

At the school trustee election on Sunday, it is necessary to elect a full board of seven members on account of the consolidation of New Home, Lakeview, Petty and Joe Stokes districts. Names of six of the present members appear on the ballot together with names of other names. There will be only one polling place, New Home.

All city officials whose terms were re-elected to their respective positions, without opposition, at the election held here Tuesday. J.L. Heare, Dr. Durham and S.S. Bartley will continue to serve as members of the city council and Miss Rosemary Nelms as city clerk.

No opposing names had been printed on the ballots and none was written. Forty ballots were cast and each candidate received 40 votes. There was not a single ballot. Of course this was an exceedingly light vote, but such is the case when there is no contest. The people of Tahoka seem to be well pleased with their city officials.

Nine Tahoka athletes will enter district track and field meet to be held at Tech field Saturday.

Joe Don Minor will enter the yard dash and relay; Finis Bokkin, broad jump, and relay; Joe Harvick, vault, 1/2 mile; Randall Hinkle, mile pole vault; George Maurice Small, quarter mile; Billie Joe Stevens, 100 yard dash and relay; Sargent Munn, broad jump, 100 yard dash, and relay; Donald Akin, quarter mile and Carter, high jump.

Jim Foust, recently elected head of Tahoka High School Bulldog team next year, last week was inducted into the school board to take a vacancy left by the local school, and is already on the job here.

Monday, Coach Foust started Spring ball training and about 30 boys have reported for workouts. About eleven players are expected to be available, including Joe Don Minor, Randall Hinkle, H.R. Mersley, Bobby McMillan, N.M. Barham, Kenneth Reid, Harold Crowell, Kenneth Ver James Cleve Bairrington, Dewey James, Dwain Howell, Finis Bokkin, and Dorman.

Among others coming out are: Shaffner, Donald Akin, Sargent Munn, Bliff, Almon Crowell, Quillin, Bobby Hendrix, Gilbert Huff, Wayne Hinkle, Parker, Wayne Sherrod, Ovis, Phil Bairrington, Hodge, Charles Polk and others.

Coach Foust has bought a lot on Main Street, and has the foundation laid for a small home. He was reared at Littlefield and received his college education at Texas State, where he was a fullback on the football team, a reserve on the basketball team when that school had one of the top teams in the nation and played Madison Square Garden, and was a heavyweight district Golden Gloves champion.

Supt. W.T. Hanes of Cameron County the News congratulating Tahoka on curing Foust, whom he taught at Littlefield. Hanes says, "Foust is one of the finest young men in every way that I ever been my pleasure to come in contact with in my teaching career."

Foust was recently discharged from Army Air Force, having served overseas in China. He and his wife have one child.

Harold Hooks and A.N. Norman have bought the Cosden station from Charles Walden, and took charge of the business yesterday. They are also starting a "Exchange" real estate agency.

B.T. Smith reports that two former student, Horace Lindley of T-Bar and Frank O. Hogg of Lamesa, recently passed all tests for their private flying licenses. Seaman 2-C Charles Hammons returned to the Great Lakes from leave.

Special Stamps

Statistics:

Nearly 27 billion U.S. Stamps are sold yearly, enough to stretch around the world more than 16 times.

Mall is picked up from 313, 485 collection boxes and from individual mail boxes.

Almost 90 billion letters and packages are handled yearly -- almost half the world's total volume of mail.

Postal employees handle more than 500 million packages yearly, eight million of them for delivery outside the United States.

Postal Service maintenance people are responsible for the operation of nearly 1,500 mail-sorting machines and equipment; 42,254 postal buildings; and a fleet of 227,607 vehicles.

Fifteen percent of the national volume of some 49 billion pieces of first-class mail is received without ZIP Codes and must be sorted manually by postal people.

Specialized letter sorting machines, operated by skilled personnel, can sort more than one million letters during a normal 20-hour operating period.

Postal employees expedite 13 billion pounds of letters, special delivery messages and packages yearly.

Home delivery service was extended last year to an additional 1,320,435 urban and 440,000 rural families, increasing the total served to 53,932,137 urban families and 11,888,780 rural families plus 9 million businesses.

Postal employees cover four million miles each delivery day -- roughly eight round trips to the moon.

A special souvenir envelope honoring Postal People with a cachet (a design printed on the lower left corner of the envelope) will be offered free to the public at each local post office on April 30th as long as the supply lasts.

The envelope will be large enough to accommodate the set of ten stamps and they may be entered into the mail to receive a local cancellation.

There will also be handback service at the window counter of each local post office.

The first day of issuance will occur at each local post office, branch and station.

The Postal Service will also offer the complimentary cacheted envelope, with ten stamps affixed, by mail order to collectors for $1.00 (80 cents worth of stamps, plus 20 cents handling charge).

Two cancellations will be used for each strip of ten, each cancelling half the strip.

The cancellations will read "United States Postal Service, April 30, 1973, First Day of Issue." They will have the U.S.P.S. emblem with the words "People Serving You."

Collectors also may submit their own cover bearing the stamp or stamps of their choice for cancellation.

This cover should be self-addressed and contain a filler of post-card thickness.

The second service is offered for collectors who place covers in albums, since the complimentary envelope is too large for most albums.

Requests for either type of mail order service should be sent to "Postal People Stamps, Postmaster, Boston, MA 02109," postmarked no later than May 7.

Easter Seals

A further request for support of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults and its program of services to the handicapped was issued today by W.H. Eudy who is the Easter Seal Representative in Lynn County.

The Easter Seal Society provided treatment and services for 16,572 physically handicapped children and adults in Texas last year, Eudy said, and this program needs to be expanded.

Many people are going without services that would increase the productivity of their lives and make them happier.

With increased growth of the Easter Seal Society, more and more of these people will be reached, he added.

The Society is carrying out a continuing program to seek out the disabled who are doing without services and see that they receive the help they need.

As Easter Seal Representative, Eudy is the person to contact for services from the Easter Seal Society.

The Easter Seal Society of Texas helps support 18 treatment facilities in Texas where crippled children and adults who are not eligible for help from any other source are treated, regardless of their ability to pay.

Physical, occupational and speech therapy are offered to help the handicapped overcome their disabilities. A complete referral program to ensure equal rehabilitation services to every person in Texas is included in Easter Seal Society services.

The Easter Seal Appeal continues through Easter Sunday, April 22, and full support should be given the Easter Seal Society by every citizen of Lynn County, he added.

Some of the kindest things happen "NEWS" or headlines. Hall Robinson told me of a surprise birthday party that may not be NEWS now, yet I think it needs recognition, even if it is late.

It was Girl Scout Sunday and the troops were attending services at the Tahoka Methodist Church March 17, 1973. The tables were set up and ready for a large crowd in the assembly room of the church -- we noticed as we entered the church -- and wondered what the occasion was?

Hall Robinson was attending church with his son, Jack Alley Robinson. They came to church -- they were going to have a little feed afterwards she said. "Well, that's nice. I'll just eat Sunday dinner at the Methodist church," he replied.

After church, he was standing around and visiting with the people when someone suggested they go into the dining room which they did. Hall was seated at the table and some one brought him a plate filled with food. Still not suspecting anything and the people singing Happy Birthday did not know the dinner was for him until they brought the big cake with candles and placed it before him.

Hall Robinson is 89 years old and was happy and pleased to be remembered on his birthday. He has lived in Tahoka 46 years. Before coming to Tahoka, he played professional baseball for the Fort Worth Cats as catcher. The game has not changed much since then, he says, except salary-wise. Baseball players were paid $200 a month then; whereas now they may be paid $2,000 a game.

When he first came to Tahoka, he rented a house. Later he built a house on the corner where Cap Rowe lives now. This home burned. He now makes his home on South First and Avenue K.

The large stucco house on South First was the Methodist church years ago when the town was new; later it was a hotel, serving some of the finest meals. On Sunday people would come from miles around to eat in the dining room supervised by his mother-in-law Mrs. Jack Alley, a mighty fine cook.

Many stories can be told

Lasso® for cotton . . . Convenient weed control.

Cotton farmers are taking a good long look at Lasso, the preemergence herbicide by Monsanto.

Because Lasso is convenient to use.

First of all, you don't have to incorporate Lasso. You apply Lasso at planting. It's far less likely to blow away, then, and you've saved yourself an incorporation trip through the fields.

Lasso comes in easy to use liquid. You apply Lasso preemergence on the surface. Broadcast it, or for real economy, band it on. However you apply Lasso, you'll get effective control over Carelessweed, and almost a dozen other annual grasses and broadleaf weeds that compete with cotton.

And Lasso doesn't persist in the soil. So if you get hailed out, for example, you can come right back in with soybeans or corn with no carryover worries. Take a good long look at Lasso. It's the herbicide that's convenient for you at planting.

teams in the local League to obtain free bats and baseballs this season.

The program is sponsored by Scott Paper Company, in cooperation with Little League Baseball, whose International Headquarters is in Williamsport, Pa.

During the season, Scott will give away to Leagues nationally up to $300,000 worth of approved Little League baseballs and bats. Every "Seal of Quality" on a package of Scot Towels, Scot Tissue, Scotties Facial Tissue, Waldorf-Family Scott Bathroom Tissue or Scott Family Napkins will be redeemable for five cents in value towards bats and baseballs for the Leagues that send in seals.

The Tahoka Little League is asking cooperation of all local residents in saving the seals from specified Scott product packages to help this League obtain baseballs and bats.

"The Little League movement has made it possible for hundreds of youngsters in our area to take an active part in the country's national game of baseball," Mr. Lusk said.

"In addition to physical activity which contributes to the fitness, vigor and vitality of our youth, Little League Baseball builds qualities of fair play, cooperation, discipline and leadership. Our activities are family-oriented and inspire all members of the family to work together."

Little League Baseball in 1973 marks its 34th year of service to youth. It began in Williamsport, Pa., in 1939. Today, there are more than 2,000,000 youngsters enrolled and more than 50,000 teams compete in 31 countries of the world.

Residents are asked to deposit seals in containers that will be located at League ball fields during games. Seals also can be mailed to the Seal-Saving Committee Chairman, at Box 788, Tahoka, Texas.

Seals may also be picked up at residents' homes in response to a phone call to 998-4657.

It is an opportunity for public-spirited neighbors to get behind a campaign that will help local youngsters, Mr. Lusk said.

We, Mr. and Mrs. Wes Owen and children Jerry, Mary Anne and Barbara Carole, went to Haskell, Texas, Saturday and returned Sunday evening in time for Jerry to get to 4:30 choir practice. (Well almost on time -- ten minutes late, I think.) We stayed with my brother and family Mr. and Mrs. Abe Turner. We visited, too, with my sister Mary Turner and my sister-in-law Mrs. Frankie Turner and her three boys.

At the Haskell First Baptist Church they reached their goal of 500 by 567 attendance and had a note-burning service. So, the Lord is still in the business of Miracles -- every day.

Mr. Otto Carter fell at his home Wednesday and broke his leg. He is now a patient in Saint Mary's Hospital.

Tahoka's drive for the American Cancer Society is in progress now. So, look for and expect your friendly neighbor to be calling on you soon for a contribution to this worthy cause.

Mrs. F.B. Hegi entered Methodist Hospital Sunday, for a yearly check-up and surgery, scheduled for Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Collins had their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Don White, visiting with them over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Monk were visitors in Amarillo over the week-end. They went to see the new baby of her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Watson.

For Sunday dinner Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warren had all their children home. The dinner was to honor Robert on his birthday. His parents Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Warren and Mrs. Elmer Sproles and Elda Cruce and Jill Bertrand of Floydada were other guests in their home. The children home for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. John Huffaker (Charlotte) of Lubbock, Martin and Suzanne of Tech and Weldon of Tahoka.

New books in the library are "Elephants Can Remember" by Agatha Christie, "Marie" by Marie Von Trapp, "Bonney's Place" by Leon Hale, "The Flamboyant Judge" by Haley and Holden, "Eleanor; The Years Alone" by Joseph P. Lash, and "Shadow on the Alamo" by Harvey Katz. The City-County Library of Tahoka is opening Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons from 1 o'clock until 5 o'clock.

Phebe K. Warner Club donated 37 children's books to the City-County Library March 27. The club members also gave a collection of adult books and a cash donation. Mrs. Kaddatz, the librarian, reports these books are being processed now and will be ready for reading soon. If you do not have a library to come by and get you one. Mrs. Kattatz says there has been an increase in the number of readers for the month of March.

Mrs. Bula Atkins and Mrs. Lura Mae Gaither have been taking care of their sick brother Tommy Davis of Brownfield since his release from the hospital.

— A SALUTE — FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

NATIONAL FHA WEEK APRIL 1 - 7, 1973

For 28 Years of Pride—Progress—and Purpose

Future Homemakers of America are identified by this octagonal emblem showing a house supported by two hands suggesting that the future homes of America are in the hands of youth. Rays extending to and from the house indicate the influences of the home and the community on each other. The emblem bears the FHA motto TOWARD NEW HORIZONS.

History of Future Homemakers of America

This year marks the 28th anniversary of the founding of Future Homemakers of America as a national youth organization in vocational education, co-related with the home economics education program.

The signing of the first National Vocational Education Act by President Woodrow Wilson brought into being federally-supported, state-conducted programs of vocational education which included home economics. Through home economics education the foundation was laid for the development of Future Homemakers of America as an integral part of the program.

An outgrowth of various state and local high school home economics clubs known by different names, Future Homemakers of America was founded June 11, 1945 as an incorporated, non-profit national organization for home economics students in junior and senior high schools, both public and private.

Members of The American Home Economics Association and the Home Economics Education Staff of the U. S. Office of Education took the lead in forming this national organization to provide an opportunity for all home economics clubs to combine efforts in working together on improved home and family living on a national scale.

Kentucky was the first State Association to affiliate with the national organization. By the end of the first year, membership had almost doubled and national offices had been moved into the U. S. Office of Education.

Future Homemakers of America begin their twenty-fifth year with 604,000 members in 12,000 local high school chapters. The record shows affiliated associations in all 50 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and The Virgin Islands—and affiliated chapters in American Schools located in Germany, Japan, Iran, and The Canal Zone.

In its twenty eight years of existence Future Homemakers of America has served more than fifteen million high school youth.

FARM REVIEW

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS

Producers will again be faced with the possibility of using low quality seed in planting their 1973 crop.

Weather conditions in 1972 that resulted in low micronaire lint, also contributed to the production of immature seed. The result was a heavy cleanout at delinting plants to obtain acceptable seed for planting.

These seed are often low in vigor even though they show satisfactory germination. Even heavy, fully developed seed frequently deteriorated in the field due to unfavorable weather. Early harvest produced exceptionally high quality seed in these fields, but seed quality became progressively worse as harvest was delayed due to wet fields.

Since high quality is basic to getting a cotton crop off to a rapid start, every effort should be made to secure the best quality seed possible. The cost of planting seed represents only five percent or less of total production cost. So, trying to cut cost here by purchasing so-called bargain seed can be more costly in terms of poor stands, replanting and finally low yields. High quality seed will contribute to more rapid seedling emergence, uniform stands which can better tolerate cold, wet conditions associated with seedling decay organisms.

In many instances, producers have no choice but to plant lower than desired quality seed.

In this case, he should plant his best quality seed first when weather conditions during early spring are more unfavorable for seedling emergence. As the planting season advances and soil becomes warmer, the grower can use lower quality seed after the other seed has been exhausted.

A good rule of thumb, is to allow the soil temperature at the eight-inch depth to average 60 degrees Fahrenheit for 10 days before planting. A significantly higher percentage and more rapid emergence of seedling will be obtained if this soil temperature is reached at planting. This is even more critical if lower quality seed are planted.

In using low quality seed, the planting rate may be increased by five to ten percent depending on the level of seed quality. Excessive increase in planting rate can worsen matters by causing a buildup of seed decay organisms in the drill row. In order to adjust planting rates, properly, a grower must know the germination percent and quality of seed he is about to plant. He should make sure that seed are treated with a recommended fungicide.

If producers have to plant low quality seed, they should delay planting until the soil warms up, increase seeding rates slightly and prepare a good seed bed preferably on a bed.

If any illness occurred in India as a result of this contamination.

The TGSPB Education Committee has also requested the U.S. Department of Agriculture's assistance in completing a full investigation of the incident.

Weed Control

Soil that's too wet will prevent proper incorporation of preplant herbicides which later results in poor weed control. This warning is sounded by Dr. Robert B. Metzger, area agronomist - cotton with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Lubbock.

Working wet soil produces clods that cannot be mixed properly with the herbicide, Metzger explains. As a result, weed seed germinate in these soil clods after a rain and cause weed problems after the cotton emerges.

Proper application rate and good incorporation is the key to getting good weed control with preplant herbicides, he says. Growers should follow the label, applying rates according to soil type.

"Heavy textured soils," Metzger emphasizes, "will require high rates than lighter, sandy type soil. Excessive crop residue or more cloddy conditions may require slightly higher rates to get effective weed control. Heavy crop residue should be worked into the soil before spraying."

The best incorporation is obtained when the soil is slightly on the dry side, the agronomist points out, but anytime the soil works well with tillage equipment is a good sign that the herbicide will mix properly with the soil.

The Extension specialist added that under certain conditions, a producer might obtain higher return for his herbicide dollar if he considers banding herbicides at planting, using a drag behind his planter for slight incorporation.

"Banding herbicides at planting helps insure against weed growth if conditions such as cloddy soil, high crop residues, and excessively wet soil prevents good incorporation of preplant herbicides," he explains. "Producers should check the guarantee label concerning the use of Treflan and Planavin at planting. Applying herbicides at this time will result in substantial control of pigweed and other annual weeds, but will not effectively control Johnsongrass, volunteer grain sorghum and other deeper germinating weed seed."

Other preemergence herbicides applied at planting and approved for cotton, Metzger reports, are Caparol, Sancap, Dacthal, Karmex and Lasso.

The specialist who has worked on the herbicide problem with producers for years said that cotton growers should attack weeds early. Weeds should be controlled before they are three weeks old or four to five inches tall to prevent losses in lint yield, he concludes.

TGSPB Investigates India's Charge Of U.S. Grain Contamination

A recent report by the Indian government, stating that a February shipment of U.S. grain sorghum was contaminated with jimsonweed seed, is causing concern among grain sorghum producers of the United States. The Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, located in Lubbock, Texas, has begun an investigation of the complaint. In its meeting on March 20, the Board instructed its Education Committee, headed by John Gilbreath of Hart, Texas, to work with the staff in conducting a thorough investigation.

India has been experiencing a severe drought for several months and has purchased large supplies of grain from the United States because of its food shortage. Grainsorghum, included in these purchases, has become more widely accepted as a human food in recent months. Through a TGSPB grant, recipes are now being developed for foods made from grain sorghum. This is due to frequent requests for recipes from foreign countries, particularly those in the Far East.

If grain sorghum used in human foods does contain jimsonweed seed, the result could be serious, as the weed is highly toxic and can be deadly when consumed in sufficient quantities. Elbert Harp, executive director of the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, stated that this problem has never before occurred, possibly due to the fact that grain sorghum for human consumption is a relatively new idea. He emphasized, "If the shipment to India contained enough jimsonweed seed to cause any ill effects, we certainly want to know about it and take steps to prevent this from happening again."

In a letter to the Ambassador to India, Harp said, "The grain sorghum producers of the United States are proud of our grain and we are striving to improve its quality and acceptance throughout the world. Therefore, we want to secure all the information possible regarding the shipment of grain which contained jimsonweed seed. Our board has instructed me to carry out a complete investigation and try to determine the steps necessary to see that such problems do not reoccur."

Harp requested the following information: (1) the size of the shipment of grain which was reported to be contaminated; (2) from whom it was purchased; (3) the port from which it was shipped; (4) the date of arrival in India; (5) the percentage of jimsonweed seed that was found; (6) how the seed was discovered; and (7)

Cotton Producers May Look To New Cottonseed Markets

Cotton growers, seeking to increase total profits, will look to new markets for cottonseed, a leading producer spokesman declared here. Dannel Echols of Lamesa, Texas, a member of the board of directors of Cotton Incorporated, voiced the growing concern of producers over a marketing system that keeps cottonseed income to growers low, while prices paid for cottonseed products are on the rise.

Cotton Incorporated is the research, sales and marketing company sponsored by cotton growers through their dollar-per-bale program. Directors met here to act on proposed $36 million budgets for activities in fiscal 1974.

Echols, who serves on the processing, handling and services committee of the Cotton Incorporated board, said cotton producers will underwrite $300,000 worth of cottonseed research in the coming year.

"That is more than ten times the amount the cottonseed industry is spending, based on information available to us," he said.

"Obviously, producers are not getting a fair return on their research investment. We are spending money and doing work to develop cottonseed products that will be worth more money -- but most of the profits are going to cottonseed processors."

Echols said official market reports show that cotton producers are getting the same price for cottonseed that they got last September, $42 - $50 per ton.

Yet cottonseed meal containing 41 per cent protein is bringing $120-$175 per ton today, a substantial increase over the $90-$95 price last September. And prices paid for hulls have doubled since September -- from $11 - $13 dollars per ton to $22 - $27 per ton.

"We are distressed," said Echols, "both as producers and as members of the board of directors of Cotton Incorporated, which represents all producers in America," the Texas grower said.

"Unless the situation changed so that cotton producers can share in these new profits we may have to seek and develop new markets ourselves and set up new business relationships with new customers."

Echols pointed out that Cotton Incorporated's director of agricultural research, Dr. H.L. Lewis, has expressed the company's growing concern many times over the widening gap between the prices producers receive for cottonseed and the prices cottonseed meal and hulls bring when resold.

"Dr. Lewis has asked the cottonseed industry to go after waiting markets for cottonseed food products," Gramling said. "But the fact remains that cotton producers are doing most of the work that is being done in that area."

While new markets for cottonseed food products may hold promise for future profits to cotton producers, Echols thinks other markets offer immediate possibilities.

One possible new market, he said, is animal feed.

He said Cotton Incorporated already has established that whole gin-run cottonseed can be a nutritive sound feed for dairy cattle, beef cattle and sheep.

Moreover, when relative market values are assigned to such factors as estimated metabolizable energy, protein, fat and phosphorus, whole gin-run cottonseed stacks up as a more valuable feed than barley, corn, milo or wheat.

We calculate that the value of one ton of cottonseed in today's market could jump up immediately to $66 - $87 Echols said. "And that is considerably more than the $42 $50 we producers are getting now."

The Texas grower said cotton producers have concentrated on cutting costs and increasing profits in marketing fiber and have tended to ignore cottonseed.

"But all that is changing," he said. "We producers must realize that cotton is the only plant known to man that produces both food and fiber."

"It is good to clothe man. But it is just as important to feed man, and the animals that provide him meat and milk."

Throughout the political campaigning of 1972 the Administration in Washington heaped praise on the Agriculture Act of 1970 and vowed to seek its extension beyond 1973. Farmers, for the most part pleased with the cotton, wheat and feed grain programs embodied in the Act, were delighted.

But this delight is fast becoming 'dismay. Agriculture and agriculture's friends on Capitol Hill in recent months are finding that the Administration's desire for an extension of the 1970 Act doesn't mean, as it appeared, that President Nixon and Company want a continuation of current farm programs. Far from it.

The official Administration line is still "Extend the 1970 Act." But the Administration now is calling for an extension "with minor revisions." And the proposed "minor" revisions are designed specifically to kill, not continue, farm programs as they operated under the 1970 Act.

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz, testifying March 20 before the House Agriculture Committee, echoed previous statements by President Nixon when he said income supplement payments to farmers should be phased out in three years, following which the commodity-by-commodity base acreage system would be scrapped in favor of an overall cropland base program with payments for set-aside acreage only.

Thus if Congress follows the Administration's lead, all that will be left of present programs and the Act of 1970 after three years will be a crumbling skeleton. With no income supplement payments and with no commodity-by-commodity set-aside requirements, agriculture would be left operating in a completely free supply-demand market over which neither farmer nor Government would have any significant influence. Buyers, as always, would dictate prices.

A report compiled by the Congressional Research Service of the Library of Congress at the request of Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee Chairman Herman Talmadge, outlines some drastic effects of permitting the Administration to have its way on this issue.

On cotton, for example, market prices without a farm program are projected at 25 to 27 cents a pound, basis middling-inch. Considering that

A Weekly Report Of Agri-Business News
Compiled From Sources Of The Texas Department of Agriculture
John C. White, Commissioner

Spring Planting Behind Schedule... Texas on Quarterly Report... Summer Potato Plantings Increase... Early Lamb Crop Outlook... Egg Production Cracks...

Planting schedules throughout Texas are behind schedule from as much as two to four weeks in many areas. All of the state--with perhaps exceptions in some sections--have adequate moisture for 1973 spring growing.

Cotton planting in the Lower Rio Grande Valley has been hampered by a long siege of wet, cold weather. Seedbed preparation is considerably behind schedule from the Blacklands to the Valley.

Wheat continues to make excellent growth on the High and Low Plains, Edwards Plateau, East Texas and Central Texas. Oats are also providing good grazing in most areas.

Grain sorghum planting is underway in the southern half of the state but has been slowed due to wet weather.

HOG numbers are down nine percent in Texas as of March 1. On that date there were 1,150,000 head of hogs and pigs in the state. Texas recently has been added to a quarterly hog report, which shows the increased importance of the swine industry in Texas in relation to the rest of the nation.

Texas hog producers intend to farrow 62,000 sows during March to May, which is nine percent more than a year ago.

June-August intended farrowings are estimated at 68,000 head, the same as a year ago.

Of the March 1 inventory of hogs and pigs in Texas, 16 percent were reported as being kept for breeding purposes.

Nationwide, hogs and pigs in the 10 corn belt states are up two percent from a year ago. The December 1972-February 1973 pig crop is six percent above last year. A nine percent increase in sows farrowing was partially offset by a three percent decrease in average litter rate.

EARLY lamb crop in Texas as well as the nation shows a four percent decline from a year ago. For the three-state-total--Texas, Kansas and California--the early lamb crop totaled 1,831,000 head. For Texas, the lamb crop totaled 970,000 head. The Jan. 1 inventory of ewes one year old and older was down nine percent. Lambing is reported to be ahead of last year.

Texas sheep and lambs on feed as of March 1 totaled 237,000 head, which is down nine percent from a year ago and 30 percent below Jan. 1. Sheep and lambs on feed are those intended for slaughter being fed a ration of grain or other concentrates or on succulent pastures and expected within the next three months to produce a carcass which will grade good or better.

INTENDED plantings for summer potatoes in Texas this year is estimated to be six percent more than a year ago. Growers intend to plant 15,500 acres this year compared to 14,600 acres last season. Early plantings are underway on the High Plains and will continue through April.

Potatoes in the Lower Rio Grande Valley have emerged and most fields reportedly have a good stand. Growth has been slowed by seasonable cold weather and excessive rains.

cotton production costs are over 33 cents per pound, the outlook for cotton production under no-program conditions would seem pretty dismal. Prospects for other farm commodities are pictured in the report as equally negative.

So it is fortunate for agriculture that both the Senate and House Agriculture Committees are showing resistance to the Administration proposals. Congressman Bob Poage of Waco, Texas, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, called the Administration plan "utterly impractical."

Children who show a lack of interest in the classroom may be expressing the signs of an undetected hearing loss, say officials of the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation. Such children, the officials stress, should be given a hearing test at the earliest opportunity.

Unfred On Cotton Inc. Board

The 40-member board of directors of Cotton Incorporated represents 300,000 cotton growers in 19 cotton-producing states. The directors determine policies and programs carried out with cotton growers' dollar-per-bale contributions.

The driver in rush hour traffic must be concerned with traffic safety, but he also should be aware of the need to practice good hearing conservation while exposed to the high noise levels that accompany congested car and truck traffic, warns the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation.

Your ability to hear is a precious, God-given gift, and if that ability is once lost it often can never be regained, warns the Beltone Crusade for Hearing Conservation.

Each director and alternate is a cotton grower. All are chosen by producer organizations in their states. Each director serves on one of three committees covering the company's activities in agricultural research, marketing and product research, and processing, handling and services research.

L.C. Unfred of Tahoka, Texas is a director.
