One Plus Dialing To Begin June 6

General Telephone customers in one and two party service areas will be able to dial their own station to station long distance calls completely automatically, starting June 6, according to G. T. Hamilton, division manager.

After June 6, it will only be necessary to dial one plus area (if different from your code) and the seven digit number. The calls will be automatically completed and billed.

Repair and directory assistance can be called by dialing "0" operator and requesting service required.

Party line customers would dial 79 plus the seven digit No. to call another person on their party line.

"With these changes our customers in Tahoka will have the latest, most modern, long distance service offered by General Telephone Company today" Hamilton stated.

McCord Named To SPAG Committee

The South Plains Association of Governments has announced the appointment of Mr. H. B. McCord City Councilman of Tahoka, to the Spag Housing Advisory committee. The Housing Committee to be chaired by Mr. James L. Robison of Plainview, is composed of a total of 15 members, which include housing professionals, laymen and elected officials from throughout the 15 County SPAG Region.

The Committee will hold its organizational meeting on Thursday, June 7, at 7:30 p.m., in the Southwestern Public Service Reddy Room, 1120 Main Street, Lubbock, Texas. Welcome remarks will be given by Mayor Giles McCrary, President of SPAG. Included on the agenda is the election of a Vice-Chairman and the reviewing of the proposed committee bylaws. The public is invited to attend the meeting.

The House Committee will carry on a continuous planning program to identify regional housing needs, analyze the availability of resources and establish priorities and goals. It will also act as a catalyst in the development of new planning projects. The committee will have the responsibility of conducting, on a continuing basis, review and comment of proposed housing projects which come under The A-95 Review Program.

Although there is a moratorium on the Housing and Urban Developments, Housing Subsidy Development Programs, SPAG will proceed with their housing planning during the pause.

The Committee will look at other Federal Agencies for possible funding of Housing Projects until the Moratorium is over. Farmers Home Administration currently has some housing programs which may be tapped. The Association intends to use the pause to develop techniques and capabilities for establishing areawide Housing priorities. By establishing a Regional Housing Advisory Committee, Spag is not only involving the citizens of the Region in the planning process but hopes to develop a strong Housing planning capability. This will place the South Plains Association of Governments in a much better position to assist local governments when the Moratorium ends.

Just wait til you see what we've hatched up this year.

The 1973 Nova Hatchback.

The new Nova Hatchback combines the best features of a coupe and a wagon. It has the size and sporty appearance of a coupe. Plus utility and carrying capacity similar to a wagon. Simply swing the rear lift gate up and out of the way, fold the rear seat down and you've got six feet of flat floor length. It's the perfect car for people who don't quite need a wagon. If you like camping, you'll want to see the new "Hutch", a canvas shelter which attaches to the rear to turn Hatchback into an instant camper. Starting to think that Nova Hatchback makes a lot of sense for you? If so, come in and check our deals. They make good sense, too.

A SHORT REPORT

BY REP. E. L. SHORT

The Railroad Commission in a recent order favored the public need by ordering loading docks for the L. P. Gas to continue to serve the public in at least three places in West Texas.

HB 200 passed by the House would restore the death penalty in certain instances.

A Resolution in State Affairs would set up a Committee to study how to abolish the United Nations.

Marijuana in quantities of 1 ounce or less will be a misdemeanor if signed by the Governor.

Insuring all legal rights for 18 to 21 year olds is in trouble because of differences in the two Houses' versions.

Both Houses passed a Constitutional Amendment to be voted on in November for Members of annually and extend the working time by a 100 days which is annual Sessions. The people have consistently rejected both. I did not support this Amendment to be placed on the ballot.

HB, 946 that completely changes the present economic index of true market value of real property in calculating how much state aid a school district receives -- passed the House. It appears that time will not permit Senate action on this bill. This means that Governor Briscoe's plan was overridden.

Problems are already arising among delegates to the Constitutional Convention to convene in January next year (the members of the Legislature) because of a move by Mr. McAllister in circulating a petition to elect Price Daniel, Jr., chairman of the Convention. Many think this is disrupting the important work of this Legislature and the Speaker in on the House Floor said "he did not condone nor approve of this being done."

I have no set schedule to send out Short Reports after the session, but as matters arise that would be of interest to the public, I will be getting these to you either through the news media or personal contact. The input of letters and calls by many, many citizens of the 77th District has assisted me tremendously on numerous issues. I can be reached after June 1, at my home in Tahoka, 998-4257 or Office, 998-4114. I intend to spend much of my time from June through December talking to people in our district about Constitutional Revision as I will be a delegate to that Convention next year.

This session will soon be a matter of record and it could be known as a very conservative part of Texas government. It appears that there will be fewer bills passed and government services will increase and still without any new taxes. In my opinion, the liberal advocates of the House will receive no credit for this because many of their proposed expenditures would have required new taxes. All sorts of delaying tactics were used to slow down state spending and most of those matters that did pass the House were delayed in the Senate or checked by the Governor.

Lynn County News

Carolyn Haley Says. . .

It's vacation time again! And if you are planning a vacation, you might think about protecting your home against burglary while away. Any burglary means a severe budget upset-especially if insurance coverage isn't adequate. But even with excellent coverage, many times have sentimental as well as financial value-and simply can't be replaced. Therefore, it's important to lessen the possibility of burglary by eliminating everything that suggests the house is vacant. A family can do several things before leaving to achieve this.

For one, cancel all deliveries and discontinue any newspaper. A yard full of yellowing newspapers is an open invitation to thieves.

Also connect at least one lamp to an automatic timer so it turns on at dusk and off at bedtime--creating a "lived in" appearance. THIEVES watch for lights left on too long as well as dark houses.

Leave shades or blinds in a normal position -- not completely closed. Close and lock all windows and doors-- including those in the garage and storeroom. Arrange to have the lawn cut, plants watered and other yard work done. Make arrangements with the post office or a neighbor to hold or forward all mail.

Notify local police and a neighbor as to date of leaving and return. Leave a house key with a neighbor or friend, informing him of your plans and destination. Give him a description of the family car and license number so state police can locate you if necessary.

Make a current household inventory. In case of burglary, an accurate inventory helps determine what items are missing--simplifying insurance collection. HAPPY VACATION!

Don't mistreat "immersible" electrical appliances. The appliances can't be soaked for long periods of time -- or be run through a dishwasher. Although their working parts are sealed so water can't get in, prolonged exposure to water may cause the seal to leak. Damage to the parts can result.

Life of this convenient, easy-to-clean appliance depends on how well it's cared for. Therefore, follow instruction book recommendations carefully -- and instruct family members and other users on its proper use and care.

The following poem is included to brighten your day.

ODE TO THE SPRAY CAN
On the virtues of the spray can I'm not completely sold:
I've set my hair with Windex and Raid and sprayed by armpits gold I've washed the windows with shaving cream (it did a pretty good job);
When I freshened my breath with Solarcaine, I couldn't suppress a sob.
I scrubbed the rug with Lucky Whip;
Covered the berries with Pledge; But when I sprayed the flies with Chanel Number Five, it sent me over the edge.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

BY RICHARD L. CHRISTIE

This spring, several cooperators in the Lynn County Soil and Water Conservation District have been busy seeding grass on old cropland. One cooperator, Harold Sanders, has seeded about 200 acres to permanent grass this year on one of his farms south of New Moore. This seeding was on marginal cropland that is steep and shallow. Through years, erosion has lowered the soil to the point that production of livestock from this land is the only way to get any return. Further cropland would allow erosion to so the land that even livestock production would be severely curtailed. The last seeding on this farm was done last spring when about 100 acres was mechanically grubbed and seeded behind a roller on rangeland. On the land, a litter crop of small grains was seeded to provide protection for the seedlings. Just ahead of the seeding, the land was undercut with a chisel to kill weeds and Johnson Grass. Where land was sandy and a blowing problem foreseen, the use of herbicides was implemented.

Grasses seeded included Sideoats Grama, Blue Grama, Blackwell Switchgrass, Indian Grass, and Green Sprangitop. These are some of the grasses commonly found on native ranges on the various range sites on Sanders' land.

Black Switchgrass and Indian Grass do well on deep sandy soils or in places where runoff from other areas provides extra moisture.

Blue Grama does well on tighter land and Sideoats. Grama does well on shallow rocky land. Green Sprangitop is used primarily as a filler in a grass seeding mixture. It provides quick growth furnishing grazing for livestock and protecting the other grasses. This land will be deferred from grazing until grasses are established. Deferment and careful control of livestock numbers are essential to the establishment of permanent grass.

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS

The time is right for growers to jump on those perennial weed pests -- the woollyleaf bursage (lakweed) and Johnson grass. With adequate moisture and warmer temperatures, the weeds are making rapid headway in cotton and other crops. MSMA, sold under such trade names as Ansar or Daconate, will effectively control lakweed and Johnson grass. Ansar 529 is sold as a jug mix containing a surfactant. Growers can apply one and a half quarts per acre if weeds are actively growing. But if weeds are moisture stressed, the rates should be increased to two quarts using 20 to 40 gallons of water per acre.

Best results are obtained during open, sunny weather when the air temperature is 70 degrees F or higher. Growers should not deep-break to control lakweed. Cutting roots and shoots into smaller pieces often aids in further spread of this weed.

These perennial weeds will have to be re-sprayed to be effectively controlled.

MSMA may be applied ahead of cotton planting, and after the cotton is three inches tall, a directed spray should be used.

Do not apply over the top of plants or use MSMA after cotton begins to fruit.

MSMA also is effective on other broadleaf weeds and grasses such as cocklebur, volunteer sorghum, sandbur, and nutgrass, but gives poor control of careless weeds.

To get around this problem MSMA may be mixed with such herbicides as Karmex and Caparol to control these and other weeds.

Another perennial weed, the Texas blueweed, can be controlled in cotton only by cultivation and hoeing since no effective herbicide is available. In fields heavily infested with blueweed, producers could rotate to grain sorghum and use Banvel D or 2,4-D. However, they should make sure no sensitive crop such as cotton or soybeans are nearby.

Controlling weeds before they mature is essential in getting best results from herbicides or cultivation.

Farm Labor Research Spokesman Concern Over Farm Labor Bills

Washington, D.D., May 21, 1973. W. B. Camp, Chairman of the Farm Labor Research Committee expressed concern whether the best interests of the nation's farmers, farm employees and the general public would be served by enactment of any of the farm labor bills now being considered by the House Subcommittee on Agricultural Labor. Camp made the statement following the Subcommittee's initial hearing here today on five farm labor - management bills each of which would extend the National Labor Relations Act to agriculture or create a federal relations with provisions and procedures similar to those contained in the NLRA. The bills are: H.R. 881, 4007, 4011, 4408 and 7513.

According to the Farm Labor Research Committee spokesman, each of the bills would grant new powers and privileges to union organizers with which they could conceivably control production on America's farms and repeat the history of strikes, strife and make-work practices that have plagued other sectors of the nation's economy since the enactment of the federal labor act nearly four decades ago. Agriculture was specifically exempted from the Act.

The farm labor bills were written to place some kind of control over the disruptive situation created by Cesar Chavez of the United Farm Workers Union and intensified by the Teamsters in several major California agricultural communities, said Camp. The bills, he said, do not fully nor equitably consider the impact and possibly devastating effects on the farm employers, farm employees and consumers of agricultural produce throughout the country. To be accepted, he continued, the rights of employers and employees must be safeguarded and the effect of federal farm labor legislation must be to foster not stifle American agricultural enterprise. "In our nation," Camp said, "there should be no reason for an insufficiency of food and other agricultural products at reasonable prices for domestic consumption and foreign trade. Harvest time strikes, boycotts and other disruptive actions which might occur under misguided legislation benefit no one. Least of all the consumer. Featherbedding, and other abuses must not be permitted in agriculture," he stated.

Camp said the rights of workers to join in voluntary association and to bargain for labor or services must be protected. At the same time, he said, the farm worker must be protected from domination and control by unwanted union officials and from such actions as balling and intimidation in hiring halls. He said employers must be protected against secondary boycotts guaranteed the right to manage their affairs without invasion of privacy and property. Destruction of a farmer's incentive not take place as a result of inability to bargain freely with employees individually or collectively, said Camp.

Camp, in noting that only a few groups -- the Teamsters, the United Farm Workers Union and the American Farm Bureau Federation -- were asked to testify at the hearing, said the legislation to please and benefit that are involved in the agricultural business is really understandable. Agriculture is different in many ways from industries for which the law was written. The seasonal nature of farming, the high and usually private investment of the farmer in his farm, the diversity of crops, the peculiarity of farming, the differences in labor market from one area to another, the inherent risk involved in farm production, the desire for independence, free enterprise on the part of farmers must not be ignored. Framing legislation that serve the best interests of farm employer, employee and general public. The nation as a whole will have to live with farm labor legislation as it is enacted by the Congress. Therefore, he believes the Congress to carefully assess any proposed legislation in terms of equities and benefits for all concerned. Camp said.

The Farm Labor Research Committee was recently formed to help in the development of a farm labor policy. The interest of employers and employees on the farms and elsewhere in the nation's agricultural industry and the general public are considered in the Committee's program (1) analyze farm labor policy and legislative proposals and (2) disseminate its findings to the agricultural community, the Congress, and the public. FLCR is composed of farmers and other concerned citizens throughout the country, and has an Advisory Board of prominent agricultural leaders.

cent per pound penalty long applied to cotton which is reduced

This matter sparked sharp controversy, with some in the industry saying removal of the 50-point penalty would increase the amount of barkly cotton produced. It was further stated that the additional barkly cotton would increase the incidence of byssinosis, or brown lung disease, in textile workers.

In grade because of extraneous matter, including bark, or spindle twist. Elimination of this $2.50 per bale discount on "barkly" cotton had been requested by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. on the grounds that the penalty was not justified by a loss of such cotton's spinning and finishing performance.

But PCG President Ray Joe Riley of Hart denies these allegations. He reasons that the price penalty that accompanies the lower grade assigned to barkly cotton, which is much greater than 50 points, "is more than enough incentive for producers to grow and harvest the cleanest, highest quality cotton possible under a given set of conditions. "Moreover," Riley states, "there is absolutely no supportable evidence, nor to our knowledge any previous suspicion, of any connection between bark in cotton and byssinosis."

There will be a wider spread in 1973 between Commodity Corporation loan values for the 3,724 different grades, staple and micronaire classifications of eligible U. S. cotton, according to officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Lubbock. The 1973 schedule of premiums discounts that will determine actual loan prices above and below the 20.65 cents per pound price of Strict Low Middling 16 inch cotton, released May generally shows higher premiums for the upper quality range and greater discount on lower grades. The base price is 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire points below the national average U. S. location differential for various U. S. warehouses have been announced, but Lubbock loan levels are normally points below the national average, which would give this base loan of 20.60 cents. The 1972-73 loan schedule was on Middling 1-inch cotton 9.5 cents per pound. The change to a SLM 1-1 16 inch base according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, was made because less than 1 percent of the U. S. crop falls in the Middling-inch category while over 13 percent is in the new base quality. The loan price for Middling-inch, obtained by subtracting the announced 115 point discount from the 20.65 cent base, remains at 19.5 cents per pound for 1973.

The widening of loan price differences for 1973 reverses a three-year trend toward narrower differences. Premiums and discounts that make up the loan schedule are developed from spot market prices recorded over the nine-month period from August through April of the preceding marketing year, and prices for the upper level of qualities during this period of 1972-73, in relation to the lower qualities, were considerably higher as a result of supply-demand factors.

USDA also announced May 17 that 1973-crop cotton would not be subject to the 50-point or 1/2

Foreign Market Pays Off

Foreign market development for soybeans pays off in extra dollars for U. S. farmers, Fred Carthal, Lockney, Texas 1972 soybean yield champion believes.

"There's no doubt we need our overseas markets. More than 60 percent of the 1972 record crop is expected to go to foreign buyers this year."

Carthal recently returned from the Treflan Champions Tour of soybean markets in Denmark, Norway, Hungary and France.

"Long-term market development helps to guarantee an optimistic profit picture, but it's not a magical process done with overnight promotions and expensive dinners. Soybeans still face competition from other oilseeds and artificial protein sources. Once competitive crops are planted, they will go to market at some price. One of the major efforts is to convince potential customers that soybeans are the finest oilseeds available."

Farmer supported market development programs are tailored to individual countries by American Soybean Assn. representatives. Carthal said the national group represents farmers in 24 states.

Foreign market development increased the Japanese market to 114 million bushels in 1972 compared to 20 million bushels in 1956. Taiwan has more than doubled soybean imports to 25 million bushels since projects started in 1968.

"A pound increase in per capita soy oil consumption by the Japanese requires another nine million bushels of U. S. soybeans. If market development increases per capita Mexican poultry consumption by one pound annually, the additional 12 million birds would need 249,000 bushels of soybeans."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Right to Spank

The right of parents to chastise their children is so necessary to the government of families to the good order of society that no moralist or lawgiver has thought of interfering with its existence.

The Supreme Court of Tennessee a century ago. And it is still true today that parents have the basic legal right to spank their children.

But if the right itself is still recognized, the extent of the right has been steadily narrowed.

For example, it used to be said that parents could be as brutal as pleased, so long as their motives were "for the child's own good." But no longer.

...a father was found guilty of assault and battery for beating his 10-year-old daughter with a belt, hard enough to leave permanent scars. The court said it was his duty to discipline his child in good manners. The parent's harsh views about discipline, said the court, could outweigh the humanitarian standards of the community.

...not only may an offending parent be punished by the criminal law but in a growing number of cases he may even have to pay damages to the child.

...one case a woman pumped her small stepson so viciously that he suffered internal injuries. When a damage suit was filed on the boy's behalf (by a relative), she said it would be for family harmony" to allow lawsuits within the family.

...the court held her liable for the injury.

...while it may seem repugnant, the court, "to allow a (child) to be spanked by his parent, we think it more important to leave a child with the freedom of his parent's discipline."

...child, like every other individual, has a right to freedom from such injury."

Texas Number One But Barely... Wheat Harvest Begins... Milk Production Up and Down... A Fourth More Citrus.

Texas continues to be the number one cattle feeding state in the nation, but Iowa is rapidly closing the gap. As of May 1, there were 2,163,000 head of cattle and calves on feed in Texas. Iowa had 2,003,000 head of cattle and calves on feed.

Nationwide, there were 9,391,000 head on feed the seven major cattle feeding states. This is a decrease of three per cent from a month ago, but still six per cent above those of a year ago.

The number on feed in Texas is 17 per cent above a year ago, but four per cent below the number on feed a month ago.

Marketings of fat cattle during April totaled 353,000 head which is one per cent below marketings for March.

WHEAT harvest is now underway in Texas with projected yield of 26 bushels per acre, a record high. Economists are predicting that wheat prices should remain at profitable levels.

The Texas' 1973 wheat production is estimated by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service at 83,000,000 bushels. This would be almost double the production of last year.

Planted acres, estimated at 4,400,000, compared with 4,050,000 a year ago. Acres for harvest as grain are estimated at 3,200,000-60 per cent more than the 2,000,000 acres harvested last year.

Meanwhile, oats have also been making excellent progress. Grain crop prospects are excellent and harvest underway in southern areas.

Texas farmers are catching up rapidly with planting plans. Cotton still lags behind schedule but with weather producers can and will speed up in their planting of the crop.

Range conditions are described as good to excellent throughout the state with only a few exceptions. As of May 1, range and non-irrigated pasture conditions averaged 100 per cent; this is five percentage points above April 1 and 10 points better than a year ago.

PRODUCTION of milk in Texas shows only a one per cent variation. Production during April totaled 307,000,000 pounds, this is one per cent above April 1972 but one per cent below the previous month's production.

Milk production per cow averaged 855 pounds, which is 55 pounds under the nationwide average. Nationwide milk production is estimated to be 1.4 per cent less than April a year ago. Production during the first four months of this year is almost two per cent less than last year.

Problems plaguing producers are noted in a special report citing that even though milk prices are 53 cents more than last year the ration value increased 83 cents.

A FOURTH more citrus production for Texas is now indicated. As of May 1, the Texas citrus crop is forecast at 18,900,000 boxes, which is 26 per cent above last year.

Grapefruit production is now expected to total 11,500,000 boxes, up 25 per cent from last year.

Most citrus trees had a good bloom for the 1973 crop with some fruit already starting to size. Irrigation water is ample and should provide adequate supplies during May.

Pamela McClellan Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. McClellan of Ruidoso, N. M. announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Pamela Kay, to Michael Roy Hough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert E. Hough of Ruidoso. The wedding is scheduled for Monday evening, June 25 in the Ruidoso Church of Christ.

The bride-elect is a recent graduate of Ruidoso High School. She was born in Tahoka and resided here until 1963 when her family moved to Ruidoso.

The bridegroom also lived in Tahoka in the early 1960's when his father was football coach for Tahoka High School. He graduated from Bovina High School and attended Garden City Junior College, Garden City, Kansas and Eastern New Mexico University. The couple plan to reside in Ruidoso where Mr. Hough is employed by Hough Construction.

Friends of the couple are cordially invited to attend the wedding.

Miss McClellan is a great granddaughter of Mrs. W.J. Jordan of Tahoka.

Debra Jones Makes Deans Honor Roll

Debra Lynn Jones of Tahoka, a student at Angelo State University in San Angelo, is listed on the Dean's Honor Roll for the spring semester at the University.

The student is listed on the 3.00 to 3.49 honor roll.

Weight Watcher Talks At Rotary

The importance of proper diet and eating habits in reducing obesity was subject of a talk by Mrs. Jose Green of Lubbock, lecturer with West Texas Weight Watchers, at the Rotary Club last Thursday.

The speaker proved to be very entertaining while giving pointers on weight control through good nutrition. The program endorsed by many physicians, helps overweight people lose pounds while eating all they want of proper foods.

Mrs. Helen Ellis, who is in the local program, introduced the speaker.

Controlling Cotton Disease

Cotton seedlings are sturdy little creatures, but wind, hail and disease do take heavy tolls of these young plants before they're able to mature. Weather, of course, is beyond man's control, but steps can be taken to reduce the toll exacted by seedling diseases.

This conclusion comes from Dr. Earl Minton, plant pathologist with the USDA, cooperating with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock.

One of the important measures in disease prevention, he says, is the use of fungicides.

"A protectant chemical to control fungi not only evens the odds a bit against diseases, but it also helps the seedling's performance," Minton reports.

He says that through studies conducted at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock experiment station scientists and specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service annually prepare a list of fungicides for seedling disease prevention. These are revised each year, based on data gathered not only from the studies but from regional observations and supplementary seed treatments tests as well.

"Only those treatments which caused the seed to perform better and which were specifically registered for use on cottonseed are included in the list of fungicides," Minton adds. "Some of them are Busan 72, Busan 72 plus Demosan, Captan, PCNB plus Dexon, Phenyl mercury acetate, Terracoat L21, Vetavax plus Captan, and Vitavax plus Fthram.

"A protectant fungicide is particularly important this year," he emphasizes, "because of the unusual amount of reduced quality cotton seed. Although it will not compensate for the reduced quality, a fungicide will help protect the young seedlings from attack by disease producing pathogens found in both soil and the seed."

According to research plant pathologist, best results are usually obtained if the seed treatment chemical contains a systemic fungicidal agent which will protect the entire plant from diseases by moving upward in the plant stem as it continues to grow.

"Systemic chemicals such as Demosan, Vitavax and Terracoat L21 are probably the most effective protectant fungicides for the Oklahoma and Texas areas," he points out. "Demosan and Vitavax should be used as overcoat with other fungicides.

"Planting at the right time is another important step to be taken toward protecting the young seedlings. Producers should be aware of the proper soil temperature necessary for seed germination before planting," explains Minton.

"Soil temperature taken at 8 a.m. daily at the eight-inch depth should average 60 degrees or higher for seven to ten days after planting. This average 60 degrees or higher for seven to ten days after planting. This results in rapid seed germination and seedling emergence, and increases results in rapid seed germination survival chances since seedlings are more susceptible to disease during cool weather because of their inability to grow."

LaRee Farr To Marry

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss LaRee Farr and Mr. Robert Hamil is announced by her parents, Mrs. Charlene Farr of Odessa and Mr. James Farr of Dumas.

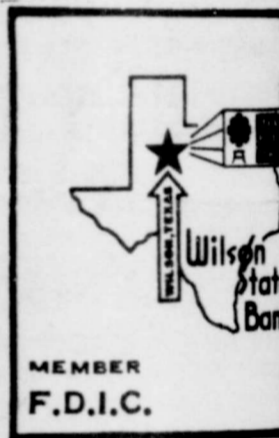

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hamil of Odessa.
