AROUND TOWN

BY LEONA WALDRIP

CALL 998-4496

Those of you who missed the Brotherhood Banquet on Tuesday night missed a treat. It was the "Annual Ladies Night", held at Furr's Cafeteria El Toreador Room and sponsored by the Brotherhood of the First Baptist Church. About 28 persons went on the bus, driven by Lyndel Wood. Others went by private car. University Singers from Hardin-Simmons at Abilene provided entertainment. The food was excellent. Several couples from the Methodist Church attended.

Out of town relatives and visitors here for the M.F. Jones funeral last Wednesday were:
Bud and Ruth Jones, Mr. and Mrs.
Morrell Jones, Mrs. Jess Jones,
Mr. and Mrs. Owen Wayne, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Neal and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Newton all of Lubbock.
Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Lynn Cloe of Liberty, Texas and Liston
Thompson of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Wyatt are spending the Easter holidays visiting friends and relatives in Crawford, Houston and Port Arthur. They left Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Waldrip and Judy were Sunday visitors in my home.

Mrs. Mary Stanley is in Lynn

County Hospital with heart complications. Also, Merle Wilkins has been back in the hospital for several days after being home only a short time.

Returning from Houston on Saturday, Mrs. Johnnye Littlepage reports her dad, Carl McClintock, is improving and has a little over 2 more weeks to remain at the hospital there. Mrs. McClintock is spending the time with a daughter in Fort Worth while her husband is taking his treatments.

Here from out of town for the Paul McDonald funeral last week were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Taylor of Hammonds, La., Mr. and Mrs. Henry McDonald of Seagraves, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Verhines, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Verhines, and Mrs. Ben Ike Scott all of Roswell, New Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Verhines, and Mrs. James West of Artesia, New Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Paul Burr, and Mrs. and Mrs. Eugene Hughlett of Lubbock.

Mrs. Minnie McMillan, mother of Mrs. Willie Childress was admitted to the hospital again on Saturday.

On Sunday Bro. Jim Patrick of Snyder had charge of the music at First Baptist Church in the absence of Randy Pierce. At the close of the Sunday night service, Bro. Patrick and his wife, Dorothy, were issued a unanimous call to fill the position of Minister of Music and Education. They plan to move in the very near future. The couple have a son, David, eight months old. They are presently serving at Greenhill Baptist Church in Snyder.

The son-in-law of Mrs. Dora Carpenter, C.W. Slone of Wilson, reports that she has been enjoying her long visit in Oregon, having flown to Alaska for a couple of weeks with a granddaughter. But her return has been delayed by a kind of freak accident that put her son back in the hospital. It seems that the son, working in a metal storage house in his back yard was injured when a car left unattended and parked on a street nearby, rolled downhill and crashed into the building. It is thought his injuries are not serious.

Mrs. Ima Pool had just gone by plane on Saturday to visit her mother in Copton, Calif., when notified early Sunday morning of the death of her husband in the car-truck accident about 4:00 a.m. Sunday. Our hearts go out to the Pool families in their sorrow.

Don't forget the Rebekah bake sale at Parker Pharmacy on Saturday, April 13. Rebekah's, please bring your food in early.

Since returning from Oklahoma the first of the month, I've had reports that my aunt is out of the hospital and improving nicely.
However, I shall return this weekend to take another turn in caring for her so will have a blank column for another week or so.
See you when I get back.

It was stated that this could mean a different Land Use Act concept for each of the 254 counties; (3) Finance Section -- Provides a way for cities and counties that owe more money to "OWE MORE MONEY". Page 3 Imagination Can Turn Easter Eggs Into Art

AUSTIN-The revival of ancient methods of decorating eggs is updating a family tradition and turning Easter eggs into individual works of art.

Numerous possibilities exist, but each starts off with a plain hen's egg-large, white and smooth-shelled.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said the supply of eggs is up from a year ago, but that price will rise around Easter. "It's a seasonal occurrence," he said. "Price will drop again afterwards.'

The usual way of preparing eggs for decoration is to hard cook them. But many people prefer blowing the raw egg from the shell. This way they can keep their creations indefinitely or give them as gifts.

Blowing eggs is a simple procedure, say Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) home economists. It is done by poking a small hole in each end of the egg with a needle and moving the needle around inside the egg to break the membrane. One hole should be slightly larger than the other. Blow through the smaller hole until egg dribbles out the other end. Rinse the shell and dry it.

Historians say coloring eggs in intricate patterns goes back centuries before Christ. It later became part of the Easter Tradition around the world, and designs vary from country to country. In Bavaria, for example, eggs are painted with water colors. Ukrainians trace geometric designs on eggs in beeswax and dip them in dye, repeating the process several times.

Modern day designs are up to individual tastes. TDA home economists suggest the following methods--one simple, one more difficult-as a way of getting started.

MELTED CRAYON --Sketch a design lightly with pencil. Melt crayon or colored paraffin in a muffin tin placed in shallow water in an electric skillet or a baking dish on a stove burner. Use medium heat. Hobby shops handling candle supplies usually sell paraffin. For easier application of crayon, melt uncolored paraffin with it. This also will make the color lighter. Use a different artist's brush and muffin cup for each color. Dip brush in melted wax and transfer quickly to egg, painting in each color according to penciled design. Wax will dry as it cools, so keep the wax in the muffin tin warm while painting.

FELT TIP MARKET-Use different colors of felt tip markers to draw designs. Do not overlap colors as top might smear bottom color.

For a lasting effect spray eggs with a plastic coating or cover with a thick, clear shellac applied with a lint-free cloth. Pile decorated eggs in a pretty bowl or other container. Hang them from trees by threading a string or colored cord through the holes and tying a knot at the end of the string. If the hole is too big, thread a sequin on the string before knotting.

SANCAP BECAUSE YOU HAVE ENOUGH SOIL PROBLEMS ALREADY

If the soil in West Texas was the same as the soil everywhere else maybe the herbicides they use would be good enough for you.
But you've got different soil. Sandy soil.

But you've got different soil. Sandy soil. And different problems.

You need an herbicide specifically made for sand, loamy sands and fine sandy loam soils. You need Sancap*.

If you used it when we introduced it last season, you know what it can do.
STOP CARELESSWEED

AND RUSSIAN THISTLE COLD.

Without hurting your cotton.

With just ordinary rainfall or irrigation.

And all you have to do is broadcast Sancap over your field at planting or within two days after.

Bank Deposits At Record High

First National Bank of Tahoka had a total of $29,370,942.67 on deposit when the March 29 call was made, by far an alltime high for the local institution.

Actually, one day since the first of the year, deposits reached a high of $33 million, according to President F.B. Hegi.

The record deposits are due almost entirely to the record cotton crop last fall and the unprecedented high prices farmers received for both cotton and maize.

With income tax paying deadline this April 15, deposits are due to drop considerably. However, farmers are in better shape than ever before and are paying off debts and laying aside funds for the future.

Loans and discounts have been cut to a total of $6,561,584.96.

Carolyn Haley Says. . .

Do you plan to preserve some of your family food supply at home? Do you know how much you want to preserve? When should you start planning? A good time to start planning for fruits and vegetables is before the harvest season starts, whether you grow your own food or plan to buy it.

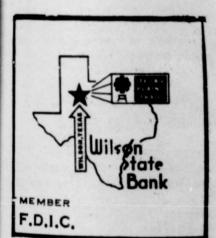

Consider the amount of freezer space you have whether it is a chest type or upright or a part of your refrigerator. If your freezer space is limited, you may want to preserve part of the food your family needs by canning. Consider the jars and other canning supplies which you have on hand. Will you need to purchase some new supplies? (Remember you can reuse undamaged jars and rings but always replace used lids.)

And how much space do you have for storage of canned foods? Do you need to consider adding some new cabinet or shelf space for these extra canned foods?

Be ready for the season and preserve foods at the peak of quality and when they are plentiful or lowest in price.

With good planning you can stretch your family food dollar by preserving some of your food at home and assuring your family of garden fresh foods the year round. This can help you to provide your family with the needed food nutrients for good

FOR SO MANY PEOPLE

The determination by USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) that a "natural disaster condition" exists on nonirrigated farms of the High Plains is "grossly premature," according to Don Marble of South Plains, President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and PCG is requesting that the determination be rescinded.

ASCS has made the "natural disaster" assumption in connection with disaster payment eligibility of cotton acreage transferred from farm to farm under the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973. 'If it sticks," Marble says, "it will constitute a serious breach of faith by USDA and an evasion of Congressional intent to provide cotton producers with a measure of insurance against severe weather-induced losses."

The law provides that producers who are prevented from planting their allotments by drought, flooding, or other natural disaster will be paid about 12.7 cents per pound times their established yield on allotted acreage. The law also permits transfers of cotton allotments by release and reapportionment, lease or sale, with no restrictions on the portion of a farmer's allotment that will be eligible for disaster payments.

Some weeks ago USDA ruled that only basic allotments would be eligible for disaster payments and that the disaster provision would not apply to acreage transferred to a farm by lease or reapportionment. Farm leaders in Congress, led by House Agriculture Committee Chairman Bob Poage of Waco, objected strongly and USDA officials agreed to change the ruling on March 12.

The new regulation sent down from Washington to State ASCS offices reads " . . . if a natural disaster condition exists on a farm at the time of filing an application for increased allotment (reapportionment or transfer by owner, lease or sale) and the

Lynn County News

ASCS County Committee determines that such condition, if continued through the normal planting period, would normally prevent the planting of a crop, disaster payment for prevented planting will be limited to the larger of the farm's basic allotment prior to the increase or the normal harvested acreage."

"Normal harvested acreage" is to be based on cotton harvested from the farm in the past three years.

"For dryland farmers this regulation is worse than the first one if our dryland is to be declared a disaster area before we even enter the period of high rainfall probability" Marble asserts, "because it will exclude both leased and purchased allotments from a disaster payment if planting should be prevented by continued drought."

Many farmers leased or bought cotton acreage allotments early this year believing that the investment would assure them of at least some income in the event the drought continued through planting time or the crop was lost to hail or other inclement weather. But a State ASCS official now tells PCG that even those acres will not be eligible for disaster payment unless crops are lost to something other than the drought which existed at the time of the allotment trans-

Weather records at Lubbock over the past 55 years show there is an 80 percent chance of the area receiving two inches or more of rainfall between now and May 31, by which time most crops should be planted. However, in the area south of Lubbock cotton can be planted as late as June 15 with reasonable expectations of making respectable yields.

In addition the record clearly shows that a dry Fall and WinBILL GRIFFIN

SAYS

Instead of staking and pruning tomatoes this year, wire cages to support the plants.

Caging rather than staking and pruning offers the Texas home vegetable gardener several advantages, including less sun burn of the fruit, fewer disease problems and higher yields, all with much less work.

According to Griffin, the cages can be constructed from concrete reinforcing wire, hog wire or any other sturdy wire mesh that has openings of at least four to six inches and is three-and-a-half to five feet wide. Cut and bend the mesh material into cylinders 16 to 20 inches in diameter, fasten the ends together and snip off the bottom rung so the cages can be pushed into the ground about six inches deep for support.

ter gives no reliable indication of what the rainfall pattern will be during the following Spring and Summer. For example in 1958-59, 1966-67 and 1970-71, September through March produced only 3.5 to 4.1 inches of moisture, while the following April through August each year brought over 12 inches of rain.

"With an 80 percent probability of getting moisture for planting we are appalled that we have already been called a disaster area" Marble said. "The disaster would be failure of rain to come between now and planting time, not the lack of moisture through March," he concludes.

When using wire cages to growing tomatoes , space the plants about two-and-a-half feet apart in the row and allow for to five feet between rows.

For home gardens, Griffings commends planting a vining or se mi-vining type tomato variety such as Homestead, Rutgers, Walter, Porter or the small fruited Red Cherry.

After tomato plants have been set out in the garden, place a wire cage over each plant and make sure it is well anchored into the ground. The plant will grow up through the cage and the wire mesh will support it. No suckering, pruning or training will be necessary. Ripe fruit can be picked through the cage openings.

Ground rot and fruit cracking are often reduced with cage grown tomatoes.

Cost of the cages will vary from 30 to 50 cents each, but they can be stored and used year after year. Certain other crops such as cucumbers and pole beans can also be grown using the wire cage method.

TSTA Establishes Regional Office

A new source of assistance to teachers in Lynn County on school-related problems is now available from the newly established Region 1 office of the Texas State Teachers Association.

Nine such regional offices have been established by TSTA, to extend services of the Association's state headquarters in Austin.

Lynn County will be served by the regional office at Plainview, with Bill Potts as regional consultant to assist the teachers in the area.

Potts directs the Region 1 office at 2700 Yonkers Street, Suite D, Plainview. The telephone number is 806-293-4606.

In the past, TSTA field service personnel have operated solely out of the Austin headquarters office. This office will continue to serve members on a statewide basis.

Functions of the local office at Plainview, which will serve a 55-county area, will be to coordinate programs, supply information, help TSTA local associations with member services Page 13 and benefits and assist in workshops.

"We hope to be able to serve the teachers of Region 1 on any matter relating to their profession." Potts said. "If we cannot give them the information or service they need, we will refer them to those who can supply it from the Austin headquarters," he said.
