Bulldogs Invade Slaton Friday

Tahoka Bulldogs, fresh from a 21-14 victory over the Cooper Pirates here last Friday night, invade Slaton this Friday for a battle with the Tigers. Game time is at 7:30 pm.

Although Slaton has only one game out of seven and is 0-3 in District 5-AA play, the Tigers have played good football most of the time. They defeated Abernathy 26-0, while Tahoka lost to Abernathy 6-16.

However, Coach Ronnie Fowlkes boys have been improving each game, and may have jelled last week in an outstanding performance against Cooper.

Friday, Tahoka received the opening kick off, couldn't move, and punted to the Cooper 47. From here, aided by a 15 yard penalty, the Pirates moved to the Tahoka 10. The Bulldogs defense tightened jarred the ball loose from a Pirate and had possession on the 10. But, two plays later, the Bulldogs fumbled and Cooper recovered on the Tahoka 6. Tahoka drew a penalty to the 4, and three plays later QB Kelly Choban dove over right guard one yard to score. Tackle Steve Black kicked the extra point, and Cooper led 7-0.

The Bulldogs were not long in tying the score. Starting from their 27, the 73 - yard drive included a 13 yard pass QB David Glenn to End Denny Johnston on the Tahoka 42. From here, Glenn faded back to pass, had fine protection, and found Wingback David Sissney in the clear down the middle, and hit him with the pass. Sissney went all the way to paydirt, the play covering 58 yards. Joseph Bailey's kick was good, and the score less as both teams played good was tied 7-7.

The second quarter was score-defensive ball. Best defense came late in the quarter as Cooper had marched steadily down field and was threatening to score, when Mitch Raindl came up with a pass interception at the Bulldog 10 after the Bulldogs had charging defense put pressure on the Cooper quarterback.

Tahoka opening kick off the second half. After an exchange of punts Cooper moved to the Tahoka 6 yard line, but the Bulldog defense was equal to the challenge as they held the Pirates and took over on their own 8 yard line.

The Bulldogs moved their own 42, were forced to punt. The Cooper return aided by another 15 yard penalty on Tahoka, put the ball back on the Tahoka 42. From here, it took the Pirates four first downs to score against a determined Bulldog defense, conversion kick was good and Cooper led 14-7 early in the fourth quarter.

But the Bulldogs were not to be denied. After bringing the kick off on the 28, the Bulldogs, executing the option flawlessly moved the ball to the Cooper 6. Tailback Mitch Raindl carried for 16 and 22 yard, Glenn on keepers for 20 and 10 yards, but a pitch out at the 6 went astray with Ta-hoka losing 8 back to the 14. Then, Raindl took the hand off, started to the right, pulled up, and fired a pass to Sissney in the end zone. Glenn ran the conversion, and Tahoka led 15-14.

Late in the game, after Trent Leverett had punted to the Cooper 12, Linebacker Richard Lopez intercepted a Pirate pass and returned the ball to the Cooper 6. Again, the hard charging Bulldog line had caused this turnover.

From the 6, QB Glenn bootlegged to his left and with the aid of a fine block by Cole Brecheen, found the going clear and sailed untouched into the end zone. An attempted 2 - point conversion came up short, and Tahoka had a 21-14 victory.

Cooper led in other statistics, 19 to 12 in first downs, 206 yards rushing to Tahoka's 127, and 109 yards passing to the Bulldogs 92. The visitors were penalized 25 yards, Tahoka 34 yards.

The coaching staff felt the Bulldogs had put their strongest effort of the year. Although behind on the scoreboard, the Bulldogs were never mentally down. Each time they took the ball and came from behind to score, and as a result of a determined team effort they came away with a well earned victory over a fine Pirate team.

Lyntegar Asset To Community

Scope and importance of Lyntegar Electric Cooperative to Tahoka and this area were inferred in a talk at the Rotary Club last Thursday by Wilton (Jim) Payne, who succeeded Garland Pennington as manager the first of this year.

Organized in the late 1930's, Lyntegar now has more than 15,000 connections in all or parts of 10 South Plains Counties, employs nearly 100 people, and has an annual payroll of $900,000.

If it's 5,000 plus miles of line were stretched out, the line would reach from here to Vietnam, from Tahoka to Washington, D.C., then to Los Angeles and back to Tahoka. If the poles were laid end to end they would extend out into the Gulf of Mexico.

Total plant value is $17 million, including one million in plant expansion the past year. Total revenue will exceed $5 million this year.

The Cooperative, owned by its members, has returned $3 million in equities to patrons through 1961, more than $5 million has been paid in advance on loans.

Lyntegar has, in addition to the Tahoka plants, a service plant at Sundown, and is in the process of building a service plant south of Lamesa. The Cooperative has about 50 radio equipped vehicles.

Payne's talk was greatly enjoyed by the Rotarians.

HANCE HONORED - Kent Hance, right, democratic nominee for state senate from this district in the upcoming general election, was guest of honor at a reception Wednesday, October 16, from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. in the First National Bank party room. Honey Flow Cut In Half

AUSTIN--Drought followed by heavy rains has cut this year's honey flow by about half, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said recently.

This is affecting consumers already paying higher prices for honey, but not beekeepers trying to keep up with a world demand for the natural sweet.

White said most beekeepers are migratory, following the blossoms of certain plants from the Lower Rio Grande Valley all the way to Minnesota and the Dakotas.

"The crop depends to a great extent on climate and the right nectar-producing plants," White said. "This year's drought sharply reduced these plants, especially on the High Plains where cotton and alfalfa blooms were in short supply."

Rains following the drought in Texas and elsewhere also kept bees from working and prevented beekeepers from removing honey from the hives.

White said beekeepers transport hives from state to state in trucks. They place the hives in fields abundant with the blossoms of clover, mesquite, cat's claw and other plants. Honeybees collect the nectar and deposit it in a hive where a chemical process changes it into honey in a few hours.

The honey flow will continue as long as nectar is available in the plants. Five to 10 pounds of honey a day is regularly produced by most hives and under the right conditions 20-30 pounds can be produced.

We advertise in five area newspapers, and find it to be very profitable.

We advertise fine natural color portraiture in five counties and find there are many, many people who appreciate the craftsmanship, quality and experience in the portraits we make for them.

We hope you will too... We suggest you make an appointment with Audery today if you want C. Edmund Finney to make one of his beautiful natural color portraits for your Christmas gifts. It is a gift no one else but you can give.

Honey Flow Cut In Half

AUSTIN--Drought followed by heavy rains has cut this year's honey flow by about half, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said recently.

This is affecting consumers already paying higher prices for honey, but not beekeepers trying to keep up with a world demand for the natural sweet.

White said most beekeepers are migratory, following the blossoms of certain plants from the Lower Rio Grande Valley all the way to Minnesota and the Dakotas.

"The crop depends to a great extent on climate and the right nectar-producing plants," White said. "This year's drought sharply reduced these plants, especially on the High Plains where cotton and alfalfa blooms were in short supply."

Rains following the drought in Texas and elsewhere also kept bees from working and prevented beekeepers from removing honey from the hives.

White said beekeepers transport hives from state to state in trucks. They place the hives in fields abundant with the blossoms of clover, mesquite, cat's claw and other plants. Honeybees collect the nectar and deposit it in a hive where a chemical process changes it into honey in a few hours.

The honey flow will continue as long as nectar is available in the plants. Five to 10 pounds of honey a day is regularly produced by most hives and under the right conditions 20-30 pounds can be produced.

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS.....

The 4-H program has always been designed to provide learning experiences for youth. And now those learning experiences are destined to become even more meaningful as 4-H is taking a new direction that will allow for more personal involvement and commitment by the youths themselves.

The program is called "4-H Design for Discovery."

The program gives 4-Hers more freedom in choosing what they want to learn and do in a 4-H project. By involving youth in the actual design of their projects, they will be better able to develop effective life skills which are so important in developing from youth into adulthood.

For who is better able to determine in which direction he or she wants to go than the individual 4-Her? Each has a different learning situation, with different interests and abilities. Of course, parents and 4-H leaders provide guidance and planning guides offer assistance, but the 4-Her makes the decision and sets the pace for reaching certain goals and objectives. The youth also evaluates his or her own progress.

The program is designed to give the 4-Her more freedom as well as more responsibility for his or her own learning and developing.

To help with the new program, some 38 project planning guides have been developed by Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists in agriculture, home economics and related areas. These guides feature the latest information on certain areas of project study and outline how a 4-Her with the assistance of a leader can develop an individualized program that will be most meaningful and beneficial to the youth.

Many Extension Service specialists and county Extension agents have received special training in the new "4-H Design for Discovery" program and will provide whatever training is needed to implement this new "youth centered-leader directed" effort on a statewide basis.

At 10:00 p.m. the same evening, KTXT will show a film entitled "Chalk Talk" in which a Catholic priest, himself a recovered alcoholic, talks about old John Barleycorn and how John treats his close friends.

Then, on Tuesday, October 22, at 6:00 p.m., KTXT will follow up with a local program entitled "What in the Health is Going On" which describes alcohol and drug abuse problems in our South Plains Area.

Records Should Be In Shape For Census

Lynn County farmers should begin getting their records in shape for the 20th nationwide Census of Agriculture which will be conducted during the first part of 1975 by the Bureau of Economic Analysis. Accurate and detailed records will make it easy for farmers to comply with the federal agency request for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The important thing is to keep good records of your farming operation this year.

Farmers will receive their report forms by mail early in January. These should be completed and returned promptly.

Questions will ask for acreage of cropland harvested, quality market value of major crops produced, acres irrigated and treated with pesticides, lime and other chemicals, acreage fertilized by dry, liquid, or other fertilizer.

Questions on livestock and poultry will cover the number of head on the farm as well as number sold and the sales value.

Details will also be requested about farm products produced marketed under contract, and hired and contract labor and number of workers and cash wages paid, and about any injured workers.

Expenditure questions will cover amounts spent for feed, fertilizer, pesticides, lime, gasoline and other farm fuels, machine and livestock and poultry purchases.

Information will also be requested about various types and uses of land, such as cropland not harvested, other pasture and woodland, and about the value of land and buildings on the farm.

Operators will be asked about farm realted income such as recreational services, customers provided other farmers, or payments for participation in government farm programs.

The two types of report forms being prepared include one for farms with sales of $2,500 or more and a less detailed form for farms with sales of less than $2,500. However, regardless of the farm farmer receives, he need answer only those questions that apply to his operation.

By federal law every report confidential and may be used only for statistical purposes.

Positive action by all food-related industries can help a turn-around in the cost-price squeeze that is crippling the economy and contributing to inflation today. Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said today.

"I am urging every segment of the food chain to look at production and sales methods to ways to cut costs," said White. "Today, there is too wide a gap between what the farmer receives for his products and the price being paid by consumers at the retail level."

Commissioner White said he is grateful that his two weeks negotiations with ranchers and dairymen recently had helped avert mass slaughters of cattle in Texas.

An earlier appeal this year by White to national food chain retailers to generate sales at competitive prices, "All processors, wholesalers, and processors must take a hard look for methods that will reduce expenses and then pass the savings on to the consumer's," White declared. "The gap between farm retail prices is wider than at any time in the past 30 years."

"Transportation charges could be decreased by revision of shipping methods and removal of inhibiting and costly national legislation," he said. "Also, unnecessary national regulations on manufacturing and processing could be deleted and help reduce retail prices."

"Farm prices have dropped at least 18 percent in the past year and are not below production costs in many cases. Yet, corresponding drops have not taken place in food costs. The farmers and consumers both need a fair break in the market place but the whole system is not responding as it should," White added.

Commissioner White said the Texas Department of Agriculture is working with other state departments and federal agencies an effort to correct current inequities. "But it requires cooperation from every segment of the food industry," he noted.

On the national level, White met with representatives of several oil producing countries in an effort to reduce fuel costs in agriculture. "We received a very favorable reception for the idea from representatives of two countries and hope to continue negotiations on cheaper fuel supplies."

Sunburst Pattern System

became engaged in the pattern construction field in 1969 and traveled the entire United States in a pattern company giving lectures on conventional fitting problems. During this time we began to find out why large groups of intelligent home sewers were unable to get satisfactory garment fitting without spending many frustrating hours on alterations.

First, fitting of the conventional pattern requires basic engineering techniques.

Second, home sewers are led to believe that garment making is primarily a manual skill and are not taught accordingly.

In the cases of most women that we dealt with, the ladies readily admitted they were aware of these problems but didn't know how to overcome them. We knew that in order to overcome the problems they faced, engineering had to be taken out of pattern fitting and time consuming alterations on the finished garment had to be eliminated. At this point the idea for Sunburst Pattern System was born.

Over the next two years, we paid very close attention to the main complaints of the ladies and started to compile the statistics so necessary to our planned project. The task we had attacked required a simple method of making and fitting patterns for use by the average home garment maker. By the end of 1971 we had enough information to start. We pooled our resources (very little money), convinced some relatives in San Fernando, Calif. out of some home floor space (one den, one-half living room), bought as the relatives blinders and ear plugs so they wouldn't have to see or hear our gory details, and set to work.

We blithely figured that the Sunburst system could be made into a workable tool by the middle of January 1972. The project was finished in July, 1972. The staff at that point was made up of one commercial art director, one artist and cartoonist combination, one and a half draftsman, ourselves and all small army of kibitzers. The whole affair had been called off at least twice a day. Everybody quit at least twice a week and the money kept running out, but everybody somehow managed to stay with it.

We had been able to devise a way of drafting which enables the seamstress to shape the pattern to individual body requirements as it is being drafted. A complete collection of basic patterns and designs had been worked out with the very qualified assistance of Wanda Albert and Lillian Jones (the art department) together with Eve Fasholta (who provided the floor space for our project in her home). All three are accomplished

We tested the system on the kibitzers, many of whom were novices, some knew nothing about sewing, and yet others had sewn for years. All three groups found the method simple and easy to use.

We started promoting the system by giving lectures in small cities, such as Santa Barbara and Thousand Oaks, Calif. to find out how best to present the program to the interested sewing public. We spent the remainder of 1972 beating the grass roots areas in parts of Wyoming, Nebraska and Kansas polishing up the techniques of presentation. We are personally doing a great deal of this presentation work, but are training many individuals work, but are training many additional persons both men and women at this moment.

One of our major interests is to expose the women who are already sewing to the simplicity of the new method and to eventually work our way into the public school systems and work with carefully selected fabric shops and dealers of this nature.

The Sunburst system will be presented in your community by C. M. Brook, Co-Developer of the System at the Tahoka Community Center, 1600 'S. 1st on Monday, October 28 with classes beginning at 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.; and in Lamesa, Tuesday, October 29, at Allen's Gallery, 920 N. Dallas with classes beginning at 10 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Watch your newspaper for display ad with full information. A lecturer's fee will be charged.

Over 70 people attended the Food Arama. The speakers gave good information on how to buy, prepare and store to our families more nutritious meals.

Ann Ferris with the Dairy Council emphasized that we all need milk, not just children. A child needs 2 or more cups of milk equivalent daily. Milk, our best source of calcium, is good for bulls, as well as main- taining strong bones and teeth.

Andy Hamm, TAP-home economist, stressed using Texas grown fruits and vegetables and how to choose those of good quality. She demonstrated WOK cookery and made stir fry Broccoli.

Ellen Dambold, who is with Wheat Institute discussed the importance of bread and cereal products in our diets. She also gave a slide presentation to show the new labeling laws are and how consumers can make use of Elly Springer, Food and Nutrition Specialist with the Texas Extension Service gave many hints on how to buy, prepare and store meats. She emphasized that we will be seeing more baby beef on the market which requires a different method of cooking. Since it has less fat, more heat will be required.

Many more tips and information were presented by the speakers. Door prizes were given. If you missed the event, you missed something.

Television viewers will learn how to paint home exteriors during Saturday's "You Can Do It" program on KCBD-TV Channel 13. This week's program will teach the basics of paint and materials, as well as surface preparation and paint application.

Lynn County News Grain Official Urges Contract

Livestock producers and other grain buyers should contract now while their supplies are adequate to meet their demand, according to officials of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Elbert Harp, executive director of the national organization headquartered in Lubbock, said, "We do anticipate a very tight grain situation throughout the coming year. But at the same time, there should be no problem securing the amount needed."

The GSPA official recommended that the harvest season would be a good time to contract for grain supplies. He emphasized that contract means "booking" for later delivery and that it is not always necessary to make full payment for the grain at the time the agreement is made.

He also pointed out that grain may be contracted for later delivery either at prices fixed at the time of the contract agreement or at prices based on the market at the time of delivery.

"We continue to encourage grain sorghum producers to distribute their sales during the year," Harp said. "And it is possible to contract with livestock producers for grain supplies to be delivered throughout the year. This type of orderly marketing benefits both the producer and the buyer."

GSPA officials also urge domestic consumers to take the first opportunity to purchase existing grain since the supply is available to any buyer, foreign or domestic.

Reduced grain supplies were the result of prolonged drought, followed by excessive rains and early frost on the High Plains.

The seventh grade Bulldogs got their first sweet taste of victory Tuesday night by defeating Cooper Pirates 18-6. Clifford Oages scored two touchdowns and Johnny Wayne McKibben scored one. All the boys showed great improvement and hope to come out winners over the Slaton Tigers.

The eighth grade Bulldogs also won 14-0 making their second win of the season. Roddy Brooks scored one touchdown, and Clovis Graves scored one touchdown, and Jerry Hatchett the extra points. All the eighth graders played exceptionally well.

The Junior High Twirlers were elected this week. They are Starlyn Knox 7th, Karen Stewart 6th, Kim White 6th, Tammy Kelly 6th, and Sherry Tomlinson 6th. These girls will be twirling at the Junior High pep rallies. Mrs. Cox's seventh grade reading class has been working on an original Halloween play written by the students themselves. One of the plays will be presented to the nursing home, October 21. The students have also made Halloween favors for each patient at the home.

The Junior High students put their pictures today. I hope everyone's didn't look as bad as mine. I would like to add a little of my own philosophy: USE YOUR MIND and listen to your conscience. Be truthful with yourself and others. Be fair, make friends, and use your good nature to influence all you meet. But, most of all, BE HAPPY!

Kelley-McNiel Named Athletes of the Year

The local athletes whose names appear above have been selected for the Babe Ruth Baseball's "Athletes of the Year" program for 1974, announced today by Richard W. Kelley, president of the Babe Ruth Baseball League, Lynn Co. Royals Team, Lynn Co. Baseball League.

Nominations for "Athletes of the Year" were made earlier this summer by Babe Ruth league managers and presidents from across the nation. They were invited to nominate candidates with the best records of local achievement on their teams or in their careers.

Criteria by which these local baseball players were nominated include the athlete's ability, including statistics and overall performance, sportsmanship and personal leadership displayed during the current season. To be eligible for the program, a player must have been an active participant in an officially recognized Babe Ruth league during the 1974 season.

Sponsored by Babe Ruth International, "Athletes of the Year" is an annual honor paying tribute to the team players from the world's largest regulation baseball league for young men. The purpose of the program is to promote and encourage the playing of amateur Babe Ruth Baseball among young men between the ages of 13-18 by nationally recognizing each team's outstanding players of the current season.

The athletic achievements of each local honoree will be presented in the 1974 edition of Babe Ruth Baseball's ATHLETES OF THE YEAR Annual to be published in November. This respected chronicle of the youth baseball season will be on display in the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

The National Advisory Board of the "Athletes of the Year" program is composed of prominent baseball personalities, including Mrs. Babe Ruth, Mrs. Marcus Bonacci, wife of founder, Babe Ruth Baseball; Ford Frick, former baseball commissioner; Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, Baseball Hall of Fame member; Elston Howard, coach, New York Yankees; Danny Liwhiller, coach, Michigan State University; Mickey Lolich, Detroit Tigers; Lawrence T. Moser, former chairman of the board and president of Babe Ruth Baseball; Vada Pinson, Kansas City Royals; Brooks Robinson, Baltimore Orioles; and Dr. William G. Williams, public relations advisor, Babe Ruth Baseball.

Gas Heating

Fresh, warm air gently circulating from floor to ceiling... so nice to take for granted. Comfort is clean gas heat.

And that dependable comfort is such a bargain here in West Texas. Though gas energy costs a little more than it use to, gas furnaces still cost less than one-third as much to operate as similar electric furnaces

And at the same time you're saving money with gas heating, you can also have a warm feeling knowing that you're helping conserve energy. Gas heating uses only half as much energy as an electric system doing the same job.

Comfort, efficiency, and economy... you get it all with natural energy gas heating.
