Cotton Prices Are Higher

The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported trading was active and growers offered new crop cotton in moderate volume, Dickson said. Demand was very good. Prices paid growers for cottonseed ranged from 80 - 100 dollars per ton, mostly 80 to 90 dollars. Grades 42 and 52 were the predominate grades classed this week. Grade 42 accounted for 39 percent and grade 52, 17 percent. Bark reductions were assigned to 36 percent of the samples classed.

Grower prices were $1.50 to $3.00 per bale higher during the week ending January 9, 1976 according to Paul R. Dickson in charge of the Lubbock Cotton Classing Office. Farmers sold mixed new crop lots of mostly grades 31, 41, 51 and 32; staples 28 through 32, mikes 3.0 through 4.9 for 47.00 to 48.50 cents per pound. Mixed lots of mostly grades 41, 51, 42 and 52; staples 28 through 32, mikes 3.2 and lower brought 40.00 to 42.25 cents.

Staples 29, 30 and 31 were the predominate lengths. Staple 29 amounted to 13 percent; staple 30, 38 percent; and staple 31, 24 percent.

Mike readings 3.5 through 4.9 amounted to two percent of the total. Mike group 3.3 through 3.4 accounted for three percent; 3.0 through 3.2 range 13 percent; mike 2.7 through 2.9, 38 percent; and 2.6 and below 44 percent.

Pressley tests indicated breaking strengths at Lubbock averaged 85,000 pounds per square inch. Samples classed at Lubbock totaled 675,000. This compares with 660,000 on the same date last season, the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported Friday.

Kelley, president, called the meeting to order or a short business session. Comptroller Has Wats Line

Comptroller Bob Bullock said his office began operation Tuesday of a toll-free WATS line to answer general taxpayer questions.

He said the number is 1-800-292-9687.

"Information is like oil to the machinery of business or government," Bullock said. "Without it we just can't run as well."

The Comptroller said his office deals directly with more than half a million taxpayers, nearly all of whom have a question from time to time.

"If they don't get an answer," Bullock said, "they might make a mistake on their return. That will cost them and us money to correct."

He added that every person in the state, "even a kid buying a 15c candy bar," deals indirectly with his office by paying the state sales tax and is equally entitled to answers about taxes.

Bullock said the toll - free line will be in operation from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, with extensions in each taxing division, as well as in the legal division and tax information office. Taxpayers with specific questions on matters already being negotiated with the Comptroller's Office should contact the persons with whom they have been dealing directly, he said. Bullock said many taxpayers questions can best be answered by contacting the local district office, listed under "Texas, State of...Comptroller of Public Accounts" in the telephone directory.

Short Announces Public Hearing

Bill Clayton, Speaker of the House, and E.L. Short (D-Tahoka), Chairman of the House of Representatives Intergovernmental Affairs Committee, today announced that there would be a joint meeting of Subcommittees on Councils of Governments and Appropriative Matters in Lubbock on the 15th of January. Chairman Short said that the public hearing would be a continuation of the committee's in - depth interim study of the Councils of Governments in Texas. The Subcommittee on Councils of Governments, chaired by Representative Al Koriath (R-Farmers Branch) has held previous hearings in Lufkin and Corpus Christi. This hearing will differ from the others, however, in that Short requested the Councils of Governments Subcommittee to be joined by the Appropriative Matters Subcommittee, chaired by Representative Lyndon Olson (D-Waco), to specifically look into problems that the South Plains Area Council has recently experienced in their relationship with the Texas Department of Community Affairs. The Appropriative Matters Subcommittee has budgetary jurisdiction over the Texas Department of Community Affairs. The hearing will be held in the Pioneer Natural Gas Building and will begin at 10:00 a.m. Chairman Short urges all interested persons, groups, and organizations to be present. All area Representatives and Senators have been notified of the hearing. (For further information contact Gary W. Calfee -512-475-2766).

Binie White arranged the program and introduced the speaker. Cole Bercheen, Tahoka High School Senior who placed first last month in area Bicentennial Youth Debate, expressed gratitude to the Rotary Club for helping make the award possible.

Plans for a national volunteers crime reduction project, "HANDS UP" were announced recently in the Washington, D.C. office of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, Department of Justice. Principals in the announcement were, from left, Richard W. Veldt, Administrator, Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, Department of Justice, Mrs. Carroll E. Miller, President of General Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Mary Jean Houde, Chairman of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Public Affairs Department and Director of "HANDS UP" crime reduction project.

Phebe K's Taking Crime Survey

The Phebe K. Warner Club of Tahoka announces an extensive community survey of local leaders and citizens designed to determine their attitudes on crime problems and solutions as the first step in "Hands Up", a national volunteer campaign to reduce crime.

The club is one of the 1,067 General Federation of Women's Clubs (GFWC) which are being asked to participate in the crime reduction effort funded under a grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, Department of Justice.

The primary function of the inquiry will be to provide an overview of the work done by private social service agencies (United Way, Legal Aid, etc.). The effort is designed to give both the participating agencies and the public a clear picture of the crime reduction programs that the private sector currently offers the justice support system. This section of the inquiry will also attempt to identify the obstacles these agencies face in their work. It is hoped that the results, when collected nationally, will spotlight future areas of crime prevention emphasis.

Other portions of the inquiry will assess the attitudes of the general public and the GFWC membership and current crime issues. This community-wide inquiry, combined with those of similar clubs throughout the nation, will become the basis of a national crime "summit" meeting to be held in Washington, D.C. early in 1976. The participants will work toward isolating national priorities for crime reduction. This event is planned to bring together GFWC delegates, prominent specialists from the criminal justice field, policy leaders of national private social service agencies, and representatives of various ethnic and special interest groups as well as victims, and ex-offenders.

The delegates will return from the national conference prepared to assist local groups in duplicating the "summit" meeting at the local level. "It is hoped," said Mrs. Carroll E. Miller, President of the GFWC, "that this will result in tangible action plans to be carried out by participating GFWC member clubs in conjunction with local alliances built through the 'Hands Up' project process."

BILL GRIFFIN SAYS....

With Texas Arbor Day coming up January 16, many people will be planting trees, shrubs and vines. For successful transplanting, particular attention should be given to a few details. In transplanting any woody plant, the planting hole and backfill used are extremely important. The old saying that "it is better to use a $1 plant in a $10 hole than to try to squeeze a $10 plant in a $1 hole" is still true. The hole should be just deep enough to allow the tree or shrub to be set at the same depth it was in the container or at the nursery. The poorer the soil, the greater should be the diameter of the hole. A good rule - of - thumb is to make the pit at least one - and - one half times larger than the root ball. If the existing soil is to be used as backfill, it should be enriched with at least one part peatmoss or compost to two parts soil. Work the soil mixture in around the roots of a bare - root plant or pack it in firmly around the soil ball of container or balled - and burlapped plants. When the pit is about two - thirds filled with soil, water thoroughly and allow the water to drain before completely filling the hole with backfill.

Build a dam or berm about 8 to 12 inches beyond the edge of the hole as an aid in watering the first year or two. Trees over 4 to 5 feet high should be staked or guyed, especially if they are evergreen. If using guy wires, run the wire through a piece of old garden hose before placing it around the trunk to prevent damage to the bark. Check frequently to be sure the tree is not being girdled.

Care after planting is important. Water regularly and thoroughly when needed but do not overwater as this keeps soil pores filled with water and slows root growth. Use a mulch around the base of the plant to keep down weeds, conserve moisture and prevent soil compaction. Fertilize only after the plant is well established.

Further information on transplanting woody plants is available at the county Extension office.

Everyone in the county should seriously consider planting at least one tree on Arbor Day. Remember, as you plant a tree, you are planning for the future.

Sherry Etheredge Says . . .

Correct carving helps tenderize meat by shortening the meat fibers. Before making a cut, consider where it will be carved. Greater skill is needed if it's to be served in the kitchen. And to make carving easier, more and more cuts are now available either boneless or semi-boneless. Proper cooking also makes carving simpler. A cut roasted at too high a temperature will be crusty and hard to carve; an overcooked pot roast will fall apart during carving. After removing a roast from the oven, let it "set" at room temperature for about 15 minutes. "Setting" firms meat so it is easier to carve. First, remove strings, wooden picks and skewers in the meat. If the roast is a rolled one, and could come apart during carving, leave one or two strings in place. When arranging meat on a platter, keep garnish simple and leave the platter uncluttered. Use a sharp knife and a cutting board or wooden insert in meat platter to help keep the knife sharp. Hold the meat firmly in place with a two-tined fork.

prevent heat loss. Cracks at all joints in a house can allow air to escape. Cracks both inside and outside the house should be caulked.

Apply weatherstripping to doors and windows. Masking or duck tape helps weatherstrip metal frame windows. Remember to caulk or weatherstrip around window - or through - the wall air conditioners. Covering the units also will help keep the house warmer, she reminded.

Insulate heating ducts and pipes to prevent heat loss along their routes - and take care to use a fireproof insulation. Change filters as needed to keep them clean.

Close the damper on fireplaces when they are not in use. Remember that hot air will rise up and out the chimney. Check vents and chimneys for obstructions or cracks. Repair them before using again.

Any one of these methods will prevent some loss of heated air. Using several will increase comfort and decrease heating bills.

An electric mixer with a dough hook is the gift for homemakers interested in breadmaking.

Dough hooks are designed to produce kneading action similar to hand kneading. However, most mixer models include other beaters to perform traditional mixing jobs.

If this type mixer sounds like a good idea check these items when shopping:

--Is the shape of the dough hook easy to clean?

--Is it easy to insert and remove?

--Is the mixer easy to operate with controls easily read and operated?

--Is the bowl gear - driven or is it moved by the beater action?

A gear - driven bowl maintains a steady speed when mixing very thick or thinner dough, while beater - driven bowls tend to be slow at times and "runaway" at other times.

--Is an authorized service center located nearby?

"Dough hook" mixers come with high -, medium - and low - powered motors. The medium - powered motor produces enough speed for most jobs and uses less energy than the high - powered motor.

Reducing heat loss will conserve energy and keep a home warm and comfortable when the cold north wind is blowing.

Insulate the home so that all the space between the exterior wall studs and horizontal ceiling joists is completely filled.

Insulation has an R - value which stands for heat flow resistance. The higher the R - value, the better the insulating value. A minimum of R-30 in ceilings and R - 13 in outside floors is recommended.

Windows can cause up to 35 per cent heat loss, so consider installing storm windows. Tight fitting storm windows can reduce fuel consumption 15 to 25 per cent. Plastic can also be used over windows to

USDA Delays Brucellosis Quarantine Of Texas

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) today announced it is postponing the effective date of a brucellosis quarantine on Texas cattle, until further notice.

Meanwhile, according to officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), Texas is complying with the "uniform methods and rules" which set forth minimum standards for the 50 states participating in the cooperative brucellosis program.

In response to a temporary court order issued Dec. 30, the Texas Animal Health Commission began requiring the S-branding of cattle exposed to brucellosis to prevent them from being diverted from shipment to slaughter, and also requiring tighter controls of cattle entering brucellosis - free areas of the state.

Following a Jan. 9 hearing, Judge J.T. Boyd of the state's 64th Judicial District in Castro County, issued a temporary injunction directing the Texas Commission to continue enforcing these measures until further orders by the court, or until such time as the new state regulations can be put into effect. The Commission has scheduled a hearing for Feb. 5 on these regulations.

USDA officials said they will continue cooperating with Texas in carrying out a brucellosis eradication program, including the payment of indemnities to owners of infected cattle.

Also, Texas counties will retain their standing in the national brucellosis program. Most of the state's 254 counties are currently rated as "modified - certified" brucellosis areas; 25 are "certified brucellosis - free," but 28 are listed as "noncertified."

Brucellosis or Bang's disease annually causes millions of dollars in losses in cattle and swine production. The bacterial disease also can be transmitted from animals to humans, where it's known as undulant fever.

If you grow sorghum on sandy soils, it's time you tried Igran.

Because Igran® is the sorghum herbicide that really fits the sandy soil conditions in the South High Plains and South Rolling Plains.

And because it fits, Igran is easier to use. There's no guesswork or experimenting with rates. Just follow the label directions.

Then watch your sorghum come through clean and healthy. Because Igran controls those tough broadleaf weeds like carelessweed and annual morningglory. Controls them early, before they have a chance to rob your crop of vital soil moisture and nutrients.

Igran. Once you try it, you'll keep on using it. Because now you've got a sorghum herbicide that really fits your sandy soil conditions.

Cotton production on the Texas High Plains holds great promise and "seed breeders will have much to do with bringing that promise to fruition."

That's what Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. told the cotton section of the Texas Certified Seed Breeders Association in Lubbock, January 13. The 250-member TCSBA held its annual meeting at Lubbock's Hilton Inn on January 13 and 14. Johnson was one of some 30 speakers to address the convention.

Citing prospects for a resurgence of U.S. and world market demand for cotton, the comparatively low cost of production on the High Plains, and the fact that High Plains-type cottons perform well on open-end spinning machinery, Johnson told the breeders that the outlook for cotton production in the West Texas area is "highly promising," both in terms of volume and profitability.

He pointed out that U.S. consumption of cotton in the 1975-76 marketing year would probably approach 7.2 million bales, up from 5.9 million the previous year, and said "The consumer trend is definitely back to the natural fibers." Outside the U.S., Johnson said the economies of foreign countries, while lagging behind the U.S., are poised for recovery and that demand for textile products in those countries can be expected to pick up accordingly.

The PCG executive foresees a draw-down of U.S. carryover stocks of cotton from 5.7 million bales on August 1, 1975, to around 3.9 million or less at the beginning of the 1976-77 marketing year and said "that is a healthy sign for cotton prices."

On prospects for U.S. cotton plantings in 1976, the PCG officer said "... producers will have a good opportunity to show an acceptable profit on cotton production in 1976 and will most likely plant additional acreage to take advantage of that opportunity."

Johnson commended the seed breeders for an impressive record of developing improved varieties and strains of cotton for the High Plains area, especially cottons with higher yield, longer staple, and greater strength potential.

He called attention to projections that open-end spinning in the early 1980's will produce as much as 30 per cent of the world's textile yarns, and to research showing that open-end equipment handles the shorter staple, low micronaire cottons with much less trouble than does conventional ring machinery.

"And, other things being equal, this revolutionary system makes stronger, more uniform yarns from these cottons than does the ring system."

After cautioning that there are still problems associated with High Plains cotton on open-end equipment, Johnson expressed confidence that research and breeding will solve or at least bring these problems under control to the extent that "High Plains cotton will become a dominant force in the raw fiber requirements of open-end mills around the world."

Words on Water

THREE LITTLE S'S AND WHAT THEY DO
Even the experts who should know better, occasionally make mistakes in using the words sewer, sewerage, and sewage. While we're not conducting lessons in English, let's look at those three words before launching into the subject at hand.

A "sewer" is a pipe. A particular type of pipe, to be sure, but that's what it is. A collection of sewer pipes forms a "sewerage" system which carries "sewage" from homes and businesses to the sewage treatment plant (NOT sewerage treatment plant or sewer treatment plant).

Clear? Okay, with that little lesson in hand, let's move on to the matter of sewerage systems which are so important in the efforts of cities and towns to protect the waters into which they discharge their treated sewage effluent.

Generally speaking, there are two types of sewerage systems, the sanitary system which carries sewage to the treatment plant, and storm sewers which carry rainfall runoff directly to a river or stream.

Many towns in the country—particularly older towns—have what are known as combined sewers. In other words, both rainfall runoff and sewage travel through the same sewerage system to the treatment plant.

Particularly during periods of heavy rainfall, the treatment plant becomes greatly overloaded, and is forced to "bypass" some of the rainwater, and consequently some of the sewage too, to a river or stream without any treatment at all, and pollution results. Obviously, combined sewers are not good, and fortunately separate systems have been the rule in Texas for quite a long time so that our rivers and streams are relieved of the burdens caused by combined sewerage systems.

This does not mean that some cities and towns in Texas, particularly those with older sewerage systems, do not need to make corrections and improvements. There are instances where this is being required, and work is progressing.

People cause problems too, when they thoughtlessly use the handiest storm sewer in a street near their homes, for the disposal of such substances as oil drained from automobile crank cases, or gasoline from power mowers, or leftover painting materials, and other unwanted substances. And the gunk goes right to the river or stream to which the storm sewer leads. That's a no-no for all responsible Texans who have a sincere concern for the quality of the waters in the state.

JUSTIFIED BY FAITH (Part 2)

Last week we established the necessity of faith and scripturally defined saving faith as obedient belief. Now let us open the Bible and determine just how we acquire this belief unto salvation.

Most of the religious world today contends that faith comes as a result of a miraculous or direct operation of the Spirit upon one's heart. If this were true, all men would believe because "God is the respecter of persons". (Acts 10:34) and Christ Jesus gave himself a ransom for all. (1 Tim. 2:5, 6) Those who adhere to this teaching of a "miraculous experience" and are victims of Calvin's "Limited atonement", and "irresistible grace" decrees.

The scriptures teach that faith is acquired by men who hear the Gospel. John 20:31 "These are written that ye may believe that Jesus is the Christ". Romans 1:16 "The Gospel is God's power unto salvation." Romans 10:17 "So belief cometh of hearing, and hearing by the word of God." The Corinthians upon hearing the word of God were converted. Acts 18:8 "and many of the Corinthians HEARING, BELIEVED, and were baptized." Read 1 Corinthians 15:1,2 also.

Satan works harder to tempt the persons who have heard the gospel. He knows that God's Word is the basis of the Christians' faith. Luke 8:12 says "Ther cometh the devil, and taketh away the Word from their heart, that they may not BELIEVE and be saved."

TEXAS TALK

By Fred Myers.

What a difference trade makes! Especially when "Trade" refers to the world trading done with American agricultural products. "Difference" is $22 billion dollars produced by the trade. Where would we be without it? First of all the cost of government subsidies to the few farmers that survived would be sky-high. Some economists estimate around $12 billion dollars a year. Then there's the dollar that would go through a super devaluation to offset the trade deficit. Which brings us immediately to the price of oil... naturally that would go up to reflect the devalued dollar. Now we come to the problem of unemployment... it would be up. Not so much from the farmers who went broke, as to all the jobs lost down the line from related industries. All of which makes for a strong argument to keep export markets strong and provide producer incentives for making them stronger.
