New Home Schools Expand Reading Program This Year

Tahoka Tennis Tournament Is Scheduled

Tahoka Tennis Tournament will get underway Friday, August 25th at 5 p.m.

The tournament is open to players from AA schools or smaller. There will be 3 events, Womens doubles, Mens doubles and Mixed doubles.

Play will continue all day Saturday. Finals will be Sunday, August 27th.

The New Home Independent School District will begin their classes for the 1978-79 school year on September 5.

Russell Howle, superintendent of New Home Schools, says his school will be going into the fourth year of the state accreditation plan. So far, the only real change they have made in their curriculum is to extend their reading program in elementary and Junior High and plan to offer it in higher grades.

Mr. Russell says he has all his positions filled and is really looking forward to this year even though it will be his last one in New Home.

They increased the intensity of their reading program and it made a great difference in the reading levels of the students. Many of the students made twice as much progress than usual in one year of study. That same program will be continued this year in an effort to increase the reading power of the student even more.

Students in the New Home Schools pre-registered last year so they will complete that registration the first day of school.

During the state accreditation study it was pointed out to the school officials that the school's physical education facilities were under par so they have reworked and revamped that area of their school and have further plans to do more about that deficiency.

Mike Wallace, Head Football Coach, says he is excited about the new facilities for his department. They turned the football field in a different direction and put a track around it. There are also plans to complete three new lighted tennis courts during this school year. That should increase the interest in tennis.

Coach Wallace says he will have 8 offensive starters back this year and 9 defensive starters so his team should be strong.

He plans to leave most of his game strategy the same as last year but he may let his new quarterback run with the ball more this year.

He says the key to a good team is a good quarterback and the boys optimism. He knows some of the boys have been working out on their own so than sounds like they have a good attitude.

Most of their games are close to home and Coach Wallace says he's anxious to get started with the season even though the district will be tough this year.

He thinks the district title will be decided between New Home, Wilson, McAdow, and maybe Klondike.

MRS. JOHN HILL

Office Slated For Mrs. John Hill

Office for Mrs. John Hill has been slated for August 30 at the National Bank Building Room. It will be at 11 a.m. and every one is invited to attend.

Hill is the Democratic nominee for Governor of Texas. Her transition from pioneer stock in West Texas to the leadership in the state's city symbolizes transition from a rural to an urban state.

With Ann Graham and Roy Graham, she is the only child of the family who started ranching in a major role in the 1920s.

Her husband's first government service in Austin, as Secretary of State in 1966-67, came at a time when their children preferred to remain in Houston to complete their high school education; John commuted between Austin and Houston.

By the time John won a race for attorney general in 1972, the children were out of high school and Bitsy moved to Austin to join her husband in his new career. Their search for a new residence gave Bitsy a new interest -- historical restoration.

Like many Texans with rural upbringing, Bitsy has a love for the gracious, spacious old homes of the 19th century. Her search for a home in Austin quickly focused on a 100-year-old two-story, four bedroom house destined for the wrecking ball. The Hills had the home moved from downtown Austin to a residential area, where she directed two years of careful restoration down to the hand-operated call bell on the front door. The home has won recognition from the Texas Historical Commission and the Austin Heritage Society.

Bitsy's life in Austin is divided among her primary interests of assisting her husband's political career, contributing to Austin civic affairs, and enjoying her children and four grandchildren during visits at the family ranch near Dripping Springs. Her civic activities have included heading the 1976 Travis County American Cancer Society drive and serving on the advisory board of the "Meals on Wheels" program for senior citizens. The Hill family now includes five lawyers: Melinda is married to Mike Perrin, a lawyer in Houston; Graham is married and practices law in Houston; and Martha is a lawyer and is married to a lawyer, Bill Clark of Tyler.

Austin. In Houston, she helped her husband establish a law practice and a political career while she reared their children and took part in civic affairs.

Their children are Melinda, born in 1947; Graham, in 1949; and Martha, in 1952. While the children were growing up, she was active in the PTA, Campfire Girls, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and the family's Methodist church. She also helped establish Houston's Multiple Sclerosis Association in 1952 and was active in a women's group, the Blue Bird Circle, which assists children with neurological disorders.

CAROLYN'S CLATTER

by Carolyn Klaus

There is a song, "The Crazy, Hazy, Lazy Days of Summer", that has become a classic. It seems the song became such a hit because it spoke of the American dream. In reality those words may have a completely different meaning.

I can agree with "crazy" because nothing seems to have any order during the summer. The school routine is pitched out the door and in its place are bits and pieces of time schedules that never seem to match.

"Hazy" is definitely true of summer because the time that originally started out as 3 1/2 months has now been cut to a short 2 1/2 months and that flies by so fast it seems like a haze. But, no matter, we still try to shove all those 3 1/2 months of activities into the 2 1/2 month span.

Now the "lazy" part of the song must have originated somewhere besides the farm because there's just not much time for that activity on the farm during the summer. It seems farmers are even more busy now than they used to be because of the city touches, like tennis, swimming and other lessons for the children, they added to their agenda.

One thing for sure though, no matter whether we live in the city or the country we still want to believe in the song--especially when it's time for school to start and you haven't experienced the "lazy" part. We want so desperately to believe at least someone had that opportunity. We still like to dream!

No one likes to be "pushed around" yet we allow that to happen daily because we believe there is no way to stop it.

People complain freely that the government is making all our decisions and giving us no choice but to swallow it. If a program sounds unfair the usual complaint is, "That's the government for you," and then we abide by the decision as though it were the best thing in the world.

Several years ago some friends of ours owned a farm that had been in their family for generations. The government decided they wanted to make a park out of the land but the people did not want to sell. They were told they could either take a fair price for the land or it would be condemned and taken for nothing (what a choice). The land was bought against the will of the people but try as they did they were unable to keep the land. It happens more and more!

Every time we allow such as that to happen we invite Communism a little closer to home. Communist nations have always contended they would overtake the United States from within and unless we speak up it may someday be true.

A government is only as strong and effective as it's people and if we are too weak to pick up a pencil or a phone to demand our freedoms then our country will be the same way.

No government can have a strong back if the vertebrae (the people) are too weak to support the weight. Are you carrying your share and supporting the weight? Speak up if it's not fair--there may be others in the same frame of mind.

Miss Webb And Mr. Jones Repeat Vows In O'Donnell

Miss Jan Webb and Samuel Howard Jones were joined in marriage on August 18, at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist Church. Reverend Harry T. Webb, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony. An arched candelabra and smaller candelabras on stands. They were flanked by a basket of silk yellow flowers with a touch of blue. The mother's isles were decorated with pedestal vases and blue bows with ribbons used on the center.

The bride was presented in marriage by her brother, Jerry Webb of O'Donnell. She wore a formal length gown of white organza fashioned with a high neckline that scooped into a deep V in the front. The bodice had a long torso with wide bands of chantilly lace encrusted with pearls and sequins. The full bishop sleeves had bands of lace encircling them and wide lace cuffs with a narrow ruffle at the wrist. The full skirt had tiers of lace-edged ruffles that cascaded into a chapel length train.

The head piece was a Juliet cap of matching lace with three tiers of lace-edged ruffles that cascaded into a chapel length train.

The groom's mother wore a long mint green crepe gown. The large round collar flowed down forming a sleeve effect. The gown was caught at the waist with a self belt.

The bride's table featured the traditional wedding cake. Two white doves on a pedestal surrounded by the attendants bouquets formed the centerpiece. A silver candlestick with a blue candle was featured on each side. The table was covered with a lace tablecloth over yellow. Yellow punch and mints were served from crystal.

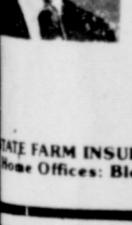

The groom's table featured a silver service and a hurricane lamp with a blue candle. The groom's cake was in the shape of a western boot.

Blood Drive Underway In O'Donnell

One of the real privileges we share as a Community is that of helping those in need. O'Donnell has been known as a free hearted people when it comes to helping others.

At the present time the First Baptist Church is organizing a community wide blood drive under the direction of their pastor, Harry Kennedy. This drive to replace the large amount of units used by Homer Hardberger, who recently underwent extensive surgery in Houston.

Pastor Kennedy expressed a real appreciation for the support of Rotary Lions, 46 Club, Young Homemakers, and the Eastern Star organizations. Each organization is attempting to solicit 15 donors per club to be taken to the Midland Memorial Hospital in Midland on two Saturdays, August 26th and September 9th. This need for the Hardberger family will be greatly appreciated. Should anyone want to participate in this drive, contact First Baptist Church at 428-3237.

Rita Richards, New Home Pastor, will preach at the 6:30 p.m. worship. Following the service the parish council will meet with Jim Wells presiding. SUCCESSFUL HOME CANNING

Success in home canning is assured if the homemaker will select, read, understand and follow good instructions or recommended procedures to the letter, according to Vivian Limer, Home Service Advisor for Southwestern Public Service.

Three causes of food spoilage are:

1. Faulty seals
2. Under Processing
3. Improper handling

Loss of energy, time, labor and money results if food is permitted to spoil. Failure to read and follow instructions on package for using caps and lids is one common cause of sealing failure.

Leaving wrong amount of head space when filling jars is not good. One inch head space should be allowed for low acid foods such as corn, peas, and green beans and one half inch head space for acid foods such as fruits and acid vegetables. Make sure band is screwed on tight enough. Follow recommended processing times and methods. Exhaust steam pressure canner for a full 10 minutes before closing or until a stream of steam is visible before closing pet cock. If this is not done, some lids may not seal.

Do not let pressure in canner fluctuate. This could cause sealing failure. The same could happen if steam is released too quickly after processing. Let pressure in canner reach 00 naturally before removing cover.

Enzymes in food are the home canner's enemies. If they are not destroyed, they grow in canned foods and cause them to spoil. Heat stops action of enzymes. Canned food should be checked periodically during storage as assurance against food spoilage.

Use steam pressure method for all low acid foods and follow guide for processing time and temperature for existing altitude. Use water - bath method for all acid foods with processing guide.

Do not tighten bands after processing time. Cool, test for seal and store in dry, dark, clean cool place.

For further information, write or call you local Southwestern Public Service office.

Mrs. Pearl Davidson's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Montgomery, of Kingsland, had lunch with Mrs. Davidson in her home Saturday. Mr. Montgomery is a trustee of Buckners Benevolence.

Ann Davidson and her mother, Mrs. Pearl Davidson, left on their vacation Saturday. They plan to visit in Walnut Springs and Abilene before returning home Thursday.

An ice cream social is planned followed by introductions of all the young men who will be playing football for the Wilson Mustangs, grade 6 thru 12. This will give our community a chance to meet these young players as well as show our support as their season begins. Everyone is invited to attend.

Classes will begin Monday, August 28, at 9:00 a.m. for Wilson Schools. There will be an assembly in the high school auditorium at 10:00 a.m.

The breakfast program will provide the student with 1/3 of his nutritional requirements. Although many oppose having breakfast in school, testimonials in favor of breakfast are limitless. Principals, in schools which already serve breakfast, report significant improvement in such things as attendance, student attention span, and behavior.

Parents of the Wilson Junior High football players will have a bake sale Wednesday, August 30, beginning at 8:30 a.m. at the Texas Grocery Store in Wilson. All bake goods will be homemade. Any special orders may be filled by calling Helen Autry or Barbara Ehlers.

Individual pictures of the high school football players will be taken by a professional photographer Thursday, August 24, at 3:30 p.m. The pictures will be in color and packets of various sizes will be available for the players to purchase.

Summer band got under way for the Wilson High School band members Monday. The band, under the direction of Mr. Bob Hunter, is a vital part of each pep rally as well as providing the half-time entertainment at each ball game.

IMPROPER WATERING CAUSES VEGETABLE DISEASES

Improper watering can lead to a number of disease problems, such as blossom end rot in tomatoes, peppers, squash and watermelons.

The disease which develops more rapidly in acidic soils, starts at or near the blossom end of the fruit. Tomatoes are most commonly affected when they are about half-grown.

The first sign of the disease is a slight, water-soaked area around the blossom end. This area soon darkens and enlarges rapidly as the fruit ripens. The discolored tissues shrink until they become flat or concave. The flesh of the fruit is rotten, brown to black in color, and leathery.

Another tomato disease, Buckeye rot, causes similar symptoms on the blossom end. However, this disease produces concentric rings of alternate light and dark gray areas.

To control these diseases, maintain a constant level of soil moisture. Infrequent watering will encourage the diseases. Mulching will help reduce fluctuation in water supply.

Liming is advised if a soil test indicates an acidic soil.

Young cautious gardeners against heavy applications of nitrogen since this results in a rapidly growing plant that requires a constant soil moisture level.

Spraying infected plants with a 96 percent calcium chloride solution helps prevent blossom end rot on other developing fruit. Use four tablespoons of the material in a gallon of water and spray at seven- to ten-day intervals until four applications have been made. Guard against overdoses as they can cause leaf burn.

COLLECT SAMPLES FOR FALL

Without a soil test it is difficult to determine how profitable fertilization is. That's why soil samples should be collected now and tested so that a fertilization program can be planned for fall crops.

A profitable return from fertilization depends on the level of available nutrients in the soil before fertilization. Nutrients in the fertilizer must supplement those in the soil to insure an adequate supply of those nutrients needed. Since soils vary in nutrient level, this means that each soil and each nutrient must be considered. Then fertilizer should be applied that contains those nutrients that are not available in the soil in quantities required by the crop.

Soil tests are used to determine which nutrients are deficient in the soil and needed in the fertilizer. No profit can be expected from a nutrient applied to a soil that contains a high enough level to support yields above that possible by the most limiting production factor.

Now is the time to collect soil samples for fall planted crops such as small grains and winter forages. Early sampling will insure time to obtain the fertilizer needed as well as to prepare to use the best application methods.

Soil sampling is really the key to a profitable fertilization program.

Agribusiness Conference Set August 25th.

The High Plains Agribusiness Conference will open August 25 at the Lubbock Civic Center with an emphasis on the Texas Department of Agriculture and its services to the industry. The Conference will extend through Sunday, August 27.

First on the program at 11 a.m. will be a discussion in the Banquet Hall on exports and imports of agricultural commodities, lead by the Department's director of marketing, Ben Baisdon. Following an outline of TDA's participation in export programs will be a question and answer period on problems in exporting and the impact of imports on farming and ranching.

The importance of choosing the right seed will be the message from Don Ator, director of TDA's seed division, which maintains a seed analysis laboratory in Lubbock.

At 3:30 p.m. District office personnel, headed by Raymond Houtchens, will have an open house in the Banquet Hall to enable local industry conferees to meet those in TDA regulatory and laboratory work in the Lubbock area.

Pesticide use and regulations will be the topic of a short presentation at 4 p.m. by David Ivie, director of the agricultural and environmental sciences division of the Department. Recent changes in licensing, the shift of responsibilities from Federal levels to the state, and other current topics on uses of farm chemicals will be covered.

Next will be a session on grain warehouse inspection and auditing, only one phase of the consumer services division responsibilities. Ed Whitesides, director, will lead the discussion.

"We are very proud of the work of the Department hand hope that those in the Conference will participate in the discussions." Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown stated. "It would be impossible to cover all 47 programs which we administer, but the directors will be happy to discuss any regulations under our jurisdiction."

Early in the afternoon, at 1:30, a panel discussion on "A Model for Farm Survival 1978-1983" will be directed by Senator Kent Hance; Larry Myers, USDA liaison; Gerald McCathern, American Agriculture Movement; and Dr. Gene Mathia, incoming chairman of the Agricultural Economics Department at Texas Tech University.

Sherry Etheredge Says

David R. Mace in his article, "Marriage Lines" found in the Parents' Magazine, February issue, 1976, says that bargaining is a vital element in all human relationships, and particularly in marriage. No one can function in a marriage without receiving some basic rewards. Talking vaguely about "love" is little help. Couples need to negotiate benefits on both sides. Not until then can they hope to have a climate of confidence in which love can grow.

All married couples should learn to bargain. The basic steps are:

1. Agree to listen respectfully to each other, without interruption or recrimination. Take turns at doing this until both have been fully heard.
2. State your needs clearly and fully. Try to avoid blaming or attacking the other in this process.
3. Recognize that you cannot have everything you ask for, and that you must be willing to make a fair return. All negotiations are based on compromise.
4. Negotiate experimentally with renewable contracts. Agree to try something out for a couple of weeks or a month. Then if it does not work, make necessary changes. Don't get discouraged about a few failures. Making mistakes is learning how!

5. If your sincere and sustained efforts to bargain break down, recognize the fact that you need outside help. A good marriage counselor may do a great deal for you at this critical point. Don't feel embarrassed about your situation. All persons must, at some time, depend on the services of specialists which an individual does not possess.

Drive With Caution Near Schools

Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety at Lubbock, said today, "There are hundreds of thousands of good reasons why Texas motorists should use extra caution while driving near schools this month."

"Many of our youngsters will be going to school for the first time and will not be aware of the many hazards existing on Texas' busy streets and highways."

"Precautionary measures, such as traffic signs and signals, safety zones and pedestrian crosswalks, are virtually useless if your children have not acquired good pedestrian safety habits."

Children's responsibilities to and from school include: observing traffic signs and signals, walking against the flow of traffic when no sidewalk is present, crossing streets at designated crosswalks, and maintaining orderly conduct while enroute to and from school.

"As parents, we must be absolutely sure our children have a clear understanding of traffic dangers. In addition, as drivers, we must always be on the lookout for school children. It's our responsibility—as a parent—as a motorist—as a citizen," said Major Bell.

Few people in the over-vast cities leave home to do their trading

That's one reason their cities are big; but another is that so many of us who live in smaller community areas take the time and buck the traffic to share our substance with them.

But this form of charity won't put any stars in our crowns because we think of it as shrewd buying rather than as just an attack of city-shopping fever.

Cock-A-Doodle

A New Mexico scientist studying sex reversal has produced several effeminate roosters and a strain of chickens that lay two eggs a day.

Researcher David Zartman mixed the female hormone estrogen with corn oil and fed it to chickens, producing several white leghorn hens that consistently lay two eggs a day. The only trouble is the hens' eggs don't have any shells.

The research, at New Mexico State University, also produced nine "roosterettes" which have short combs, cluck, sing and flirt with normal roosters.

WHO CARES IF YOUR ELECTRIC BILL IS HIGHER THIS SUMMER? YOU DO AND . . .

- If your electric bill has jumped this summer, take a good look up at that Texas sun. Sure, we all like sunny days, but our friend the sun can be a villain in disguise. On these Texas scorches, you'll need your air conditioning to run more. Sometimes running day and night - all night. Well, that runs up your electric bill. Just when vacation and school expenses are here.
- Turn the thermostat to at least 78, or until you find the highest possible setting that feels reasonably comfortable to you. If you have window air conditioning units, run them only when absolutely necessary.
- Check your insulation.
- When you buy major appliances, including air conditioners, be sure to check the EER (Energy Efficiency Rating). The higher the EER, the more energy and money you'll save.
- Clean and replace the filters regularly.
- Keep your drapes closed to block out direct sunlight.
- Weatherstrip around doors and windows.

We know you care about higher electric bills. And we want you to know that we care, too. We can't cool off the sun, but there are still time and ways to keep your bill from going much higher. Here are just a few.

At Southwestern Public Service, we care about you getting the most for your energy dollar. Call us for suggestions to help you change the size of your electric bill for the better.
