Letters To Bring Bad News For Taxpayers

WOODWORK

by dalton

ROGERS used to make a lot of homespun comments about the way Americans do things in this country in the world where you drive to a house in a new car"). I don't know if it was who said "what this country needs is a good cigar" or not, but what this country needs is more merchandise that is ready to be put together.

It seems to me that these big corporations that sell things, and these big retailers that sell like Sears and K-Mart would know that they are too busy to put all that stuff together. They would rather pay a few dollars more for something already assembled.

When you do go in and see this thing (toy, desk, grill, bicycle, table, storehouse or something) on the showroom floor and it looks like you buy one. They throw a box in your car and when you get home and open it, you find cartons of pieces and seven pounds of instructions on how to put them together.

Just mention this problem to the salesperson, and he'll tell you it's real easy to put together. When you get home, it's just like somebody giving you a gift and saying "you can't miss it." You get away you're in trouble. This guy who says how easy it is has done it 47 times on the model, but when you assemble it for the first time, it's a traumatic experience. Once you finally get it done, you could do another one in a fourth of the time, but you rarely ever need more than one.

When you buy a new desk to put together one time. The instructions said Step 1 was to "lay upside down on a smooth surface and remove drawers." I don't know how to do that in front of all my staff.

They have completely confusing diagrams and step-by-step instructions like "Connect rib K to trailing edge of panel D (See Fig. 1) with neoprene washer, using hex nut on attachment screw. But first be sure to insert spacer for sufficient clearance for slotted bobbin in Step 13. No spacer is needed for 344D and 345X."

It takes some time for all that junk. If you wanted to do something, you'd never have bought the desk in the first place.

When treatment centers are probably full of fathers who finally went around the bend to figure out how to put together a house or little red wagon, what with vague instructions, minuscule diagrams and missing parts, some dummy forgot to put in the box.

The system saves money for the manufacturer, but, of course, so the trend probably will be unless we all rebel.

On these days when you buy a new car, they come out and dump two million pieces on your front lawn so you can have the pleasure of putting it together. For most of us, the warranty expires before we got the thing assembled.

HOLES: For some mower-pushers, the problem had one small benefit in that most of the holes were drilled. But at our house we still had to drill a lot of holes, because, as I told my wife one day, "there are little whiskery things sticking everywhere." She told me, "No, that's not the grass is heading out." But it turned out I didn't know any more than I did, because the grass was still there....The Lady on Ave. L. It isn't much fun to live with, but he is a wonderful ancestor.... Farmer Milt says he has a cotton stalk with leaves on it that grows across. Unfortunately, it came up in his flower bed. The ones out in the yard aren't doing nearly that well. If the federal government find out he has that unauthorized stalk in his flower bed, it'll mess up their whole measuring system.

Property owners in Lynn County should be receiving letters this week or early next week from cities, school districts and the county advising them of what value has been set on their property, and telling them what their next tax bill should be, based on that valuation and upon a tentative new tax rate set by each of the taxing jurisdictions. Homeowners, business persons and farmers who see their total appraised values double or triple-or worse-may go into shock. Tax rates will be lower, but tax bills will be higher for most persons, as the taxing groups now must base their rates on 100 per cent valuations as set by the reappraisal firm of McMorries and Co. of Hereford, hired to make the new state-mandated reappraisals.

Meetings Slated

Those who get their statements, apply the different rates and total up their city, school, county and hospital district taxes may meet with Jim McMorries and other representatives of that firm in sessions set in Tahoka, Wilson and O'Donnell Sept. 16-19. At that time the firm's appraisers will explain how they arrived at the appraisal figure. They have nothing to do with the tax rates, which are set by the various taxing groups, but they can correct any errors made in appraising the property.

For example, one woman said she discovered the appraisal firm had based her home's value on an area 100 square feet larger than the house actually is.

The meetings with the McMorries firm are called pre-hearings, because disgruntled property owners may meet later with a review board set up by the new tax appraisal board to hear complaints on all appraisals. The "review board" actually is a board of equalization, and its meetings are scheduled Sept. 22 through Sept. 26. Appearances before either group are voluntary, but the intent of the pre-hearings is to answer some of the questions ahead of time and perhaps eliminate the need for some taxpayers to go before the review board.

The McMorries representatives will be in the district courtroom in Tahoka from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 16 and 17 to meet with any interested persons.

The same group will be at Wilson School during the day of Sept. 18, Thursday. On Friday the McMorries people will be at O'Donnell School to meet with property owners and answer questions about how they arrived at the reappraisal figures.

On the following week, the review board will meet with taxpayers in Tahoka, Wilson and O'Donnell, with the schedule as follows:

Sept. 22-23, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. district courtroom in Tahoka. For New Home, Tahoka ISD, City of Tahoka and Lynn County.

Sept. 24-25, 9 to 4 on 24th and 9 to 11:30 a.m. on 25, at Wilson School. For Wilson ISD, City of Wilson and Lynn County.

Sept. 25-26, 1:30 to 4 p.m. on 25th, and 9-4 on 26th, at O'Donnell School. For O'Donnell ISD, City of O'Donnell and Lynn County.

LATE BULLETIN

Tahoka School Board Tuesday night announced the district will seek to increase taxes by 46 percent. This is based on a proposed rate a bit lower than had been anticipated, so figures used in this news story on examples of tax bills will be higher than they actually will be on the school tax portion.

To get some idea of what the tax situation will be for some persons, the News checked out some actual appraisals of persons living in Tahoka.

House A is a frame structure built in the 1940s in east Tahoka. This year, taxes were paid as follows: $29.30 to the school district, $20.70 to the city and $53.64 to county and hospital district, for a total tax bill of $103.64. The property has been valued at $14,710 and if the rates are set as anticipated by the city, school, hospital and county, the owners will owe a total tax bill of $220.23. The county-hospital total will be about the same, up $13 to $66.20. School tax will jump to $92.25 and city to $61.78.

In this and the other homes checked, it was assumed that the homeowners filed for the $5,000 school tax exemption. This had to be done by last April 30 to be allowed on this year's taxes. In addition, persons over 65 may claim another $10,000 exemption off the total appraised value of their homes if they applied by April 30.

House B was built in the early 1960s. Its new value is $32,890, and it had been valued at only $8,000 by the city and about twice that by school and county. This homeowner now will pay total taxes of $551.11, compared to a total of $230.07 this year. School tax will go to $264.96 from $116.10 and city taxes will jump from $30 to $138. County goes from $52 to $98 and hospital from $31 to $49.

House C, less than five years old, is now appraised at $88,110. His total tax bill will go up about $400, from $1150 to $1555. City tax stays about the same, because the city had it valued at $80,000, but school tax goes from $540 to $789 because the district had set a total value of $45 on the house.

Business Building

A business building downtown on which $595 taxes were paid last year to the four jurisdictions now will owe $794. This does not include inventory, just the building. School tax jumps from $252 to $392; the others are about the same as before.

Another piece of business property downtown will pay about $100 less taxes than before. The school previously had the structure valued at $16,890 and the new value is $12,650, so the owner will owe $107 less in school taxes (down to $120 from $228 this year).

Homeowners making monthly payments to saving and loan institutions may find their payments increased next year because of the increased taxes, since escrow sufficient to pay taxes and insurance is demanded by those institutions, and in some cases the amounts now being paid will not be adequate.

County Eyes 24.6 Per Cent Increase

Lynn County commissioners, considering a tentative budget more than $200,000 above the current year, this week voted to propose a tax increase of 24.6 per cent over the current year, and set a public hearing on the proposed budget and tax increase for the district courtroom at 5 p.m. Sept. 15.

County Judge Melvin Burks told commissioners that more than half of the increase over the current year's budget would be in an additional $110,000 for the road and bridge funds in the four county precincts. Commissioners said they have been badly hampered by lack of funds in keeping up with the road work in the county this year.

Burks also pointed out that the governor had vetoed a portion of road and bridge funds for county precincts this year, and that the county has no assurance of revenue-sharing funds which have been used extensively in buying equipment for the road repairs and upkeep.

The judge also told the group that the total value of property in the county on which taxes will be assessed should be approximately $266 million, after exemptions and other factors are taken off. Currently taxes have been based on a percentage of a total value of about $157 million in Lynn County, he said.

He explained that the 24.6 per cent tax increase proposal is figuring the increased taxes on property which has previously been taxed; new construction and property put on the rolls for the first time will increase the amount of revenue realized by the county, but does not figure into the percentage of increase in taxes.

Tom Nivens, right of way agent for the City of Lubbock, met with the group to report that property owners in the vicinity of a proposed Lubbock sewer line extension into Lynn County have been assured that pipelines would be kept in good shape and that roads would be kept open during construction. The pipeline would bring Lubbock effluent into Lynn for use in irrigating farmland near Wilson in a pilot project involving Lubbock Christian College, which has a federal grant to test the feasibility of such a procedure.

The pipeline would be owned by the federal government until completed and after that the City of Lubbock will be responsible for maintenance of the line and upkeep of right of way.

New Services For Senior Citizens Due

South Plains Assn. of Governments, area agency on aging, has contracted with Lynn County Pioneer Association, Inc. to develop a Demonstration Project to deliver a variety of services to rural older persons. The funds are derived from the Texas State Governor's Committee on Aging. It is one of two project grants in the state. The project's aim is to develop a model of care in a rural setting; it is one of the few projects of its kind in the nation.

The Tahoka Senior Center will be the major location for the operation with coordination also being developed in O'Donnell and Wilson. Some of the services that will be available are: health screening, homemaker service, transportation, case-work and nutrition. Also volunteers from the communities will be doing Friendly Visiting and interviewing the 1600 older persons in Lynn County.

WHOZIT—This photo made around 1967 was brought in by Tahoka Postmaster Jim Lummus, who said the first 10 people who come into the post office during regular hours and correctly identify the person in the picture will get one free 15-cent postage stamp each. Lummus said the idea given by the picture "is as true today as it was then—without the zip code you slow your mail down." He added that in Tahoka the box number also is needed on mail, because not all those who put up the mail know everybody. Last week's Whozit, sent in by Frances Conrad of Post, was part of the 8th grade in 1946. It was identified by Joy Brookshire as follows: Standing—Mary Marlin Lee, Katherine Cagle, Betty Jane Hendeson, Nelda Griffiths, Joan Barber, Phama Cunningham, Jean Henderson, Barbara Beard, Joyce Martin, Pat Sherrod, Wanda Short. Seated, middle row—Frances Conrad, Willa Akin, Georgetta Akin, Mary Sparks. Boys Seated—Bob Tippit, Bert Stevens, Dwayne Townsend, Garner White, Jack Reid, Shorty McNeely, Lewis Cowan, James (Punk) White

Experts give homeowners tips on conserving water

COLLEGE STATION — The Texas Water Resources Institute, part of the Texas A&M University System, has prepared a checklist for saving water in the face of what its experts believe may be an extensive drought.

Some of the institute's tips include using three-gallon tanks if you are adding new plumbing fixtures. With older five- or seven-gallon tanks, displace some of the water with bricks or plastic jugs filled with water.

They also suggest investing in water conservation devices such as low-flow shower heads, faucet aerators, flow restrictors and improved toilet flush assemblies or displacement dams.

Use no more water than you need by trying an electric shaver, turning off the shower while soaping and turning on the garbage disposal only once each meal. Fix leaks which can use thousands of gallons a year.

Chill breaded foods for a few minutes before frying in deep fat. This will allow the coating to set so the crumbs will not come off during frying.

Home prices are up, but sales are down

COLLEGE STATION — The number of previously owned homes sold in Texas during the first quarter of 1980 was down 5.2 percent from the same period in 1979, but prices were up 14.6 percent.

Dr. Arthur Wright, research economist with the Texas Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M University said the unavailability of mortgage funds, high interest rates and the general slowdown in the economy.

Wright said if housing sales continue to lag, home prices may stabilize or even drop.

"With mortgage rate declining, both sales volume and prices likely will increase during the next several months," he explained.

Irrigation costs vary among states

COLLEGE STATION — An acre-foot of irrigation water in the Nebraska-Colorado region costs about $44, while in Montana the same amount could cost as little as $7 or $8, says a team of Texas A&M University agricultural economists.

The scientists figured maximum costs a farmer could afford to pay for water and still have any hope of making a profit.

In Texas, an acre-foot of irrigation water might run about $13 around Lubbock but could cost as much as $36 along the Texas-Oklahoma panhandle border. In the Rio Grande Valley, a farmer might expect to pay between $16 and $17.

Scanning Social Security

By JIM LATIMER

The cost of Social Security is spread over practically the whole American workforce. Nine out of ten jobs are covered by Social Security and the vast majority of workers have earnings insurance through Social Security that is worth more than the Social Security taxes they pay.

Administration of the Social Security system costs only about 2 percent of the benefits paid.

Savings, private pensions and insurance are also important parts of the American system of income protection. Social Security has important advantages, though. The financial soundness of Social Security is guaranteed by the Federal Government.

Benefits are protected against inflation by automatic increases geared to average increases in wages and salaries.

With rare exceptions, Social Security protection goes wherever a worker goes, no matter what job he or she is in. Other forms of pensions and employer-sponsor insurance are not able to provide this kind of continuous protection.

Tests show fiberglass poles are safer, cheaper

COLLEGE STATION — Transportation experts at Texas A&M University say fiberglass poles along road sides would cost only a third of those made from aluminum and would be safer.

A test car at the Texas Transportation Institute sheared off a fiberglass pole and the auto — traveling at 20 mph — suffered no damage at all, said officials.

Tests continue on the best way to mount fiberglass poles so they are more easily replaced after an accident.

America had 32 tie-fabric manufacturers which employed 12,506 workers in 1968. Today, only 10 manufacturers remain -- employing about 3,000 people, says Beverly Rhoades, a clothing specialist.

In the same period, imports share of the tie-fabric market expanded tenfold -- from eight percent to 75 percent, she adds.

Letters to the editor do not necessarily express the views of this newspaper. All correspondence must be signed, and in good taste before it will be published, and the name of the writer must be published also. Letters to the editor may not be more than two double-spaced typewritten pages.

About a month back you had an editorial in your paper stating that you were going to vote Republican. I can recall some 60 years ago that such an article would have cost you 90 per cent of your subscribers and two fist-fights on your way home.

I would have responded to your article at that time, but I was too busy trying to get Quirt Ave. changed...

Physicians' services accounted for about 18 cents of each dollar spent on health care during 1978, the lowest percentage for any of the previous 10 years, Health Care Financing Administration statistics show.

Deaths from heart disease decreased more from 1970-1977 than in the entire 20 years before 1970.

INSUR-MATION

By JOEY MEADOR

Lynn County Farm Bureau

Having acquired a considerable fortune, my wife and I are looking for a way which will not penalize our sons with high death taxes. We realize if the boys could afford to buy an insurance policy on my wife and myself this would help to pay the taxes but neither can handle the payments at this time. Are there any alternatives?

Yes. To protect your sons, consider a living trust. Under this arrangement, your income-producing property would be placed in the trust. The affect of this move would be to avoid income tax on the income from the property. However, you and your wife can't be trustees of the trust. Make your sons the trustees and they can buy the life insurance policies you need, using part of the income from the trust to pay the premiums. To fully accomplish your goal, the trust must be set up so that you have no control over it.

Sherry Etheredge Says . . .

Children's immunizations are important, and now's the time for "all good parents" to review their records and update their children's protection form diseases, says a health education specialist.

Immunizations are "tedious business" to many people, but they don't have to be—especially if you know what's needed and keep updated records, Mary Ann Shirer stresses.

Dr. Shirer is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

First, know what your children should be protected against, and then be sure to keep immunization records in a safe, organized file—make photocopies before sending the record to school or to a child-care facility, the specialist advises.

Immunization 'Musts'

Hers' what children need to enter first grade or kindergarten: at least three doses of diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis--(DPT)-- with one dose received after the fourth birthday

--(or tetanusdiphtheria (TD) vaccines -- with one dose received after the fourth birthday)

--three doses of polio vaccine (one dose must be received after the fourth birthday)

--one dose of measles vaccine (must be received after the first birthday)

--one dose of mumps vaccine

--one dose of rebecca vaccine.

Remember, all public school children in Texas must show a validated record of their immunizations upon entering school.

Mumps Vaccine For Older Students

Last year, mumps immunization was required for first graders only, but each year the grade requirement will increase.

Here's how that will work: For the 1980-81 school year, all first and second graders must have mumps immunization.

For the 1981-82 year, all first, second and third graders must have mumps immunization.

This age progression in requirements for mumps immunization will continue through the next 11 years, so that, finally, mumps immunization will be required of all students grades one through 12.

However, remember, once a child age 15 months or over has received the mumps vaccine, he is thought to be immunized for life -- so just the one dose of mumps vaccine is required in most cases.

Measles vaccine For Older Students

Also, measles immunization will eventually be required for all public school students in Texas, grades one through 12.

For the 1979-80 school year, measles immunization was required for children in grades one through six.

This year, grade seven will be added to the requirement, and each year another grade will be added until the progressions reach grade 12.

Rubella Required Through Age 12

Rubella immunization is required for students up to their twelfth birthday.

Danger: Measles Outbreaks Older Students

Because of measles outbreaks among junior and senior high school students recently, parents may want to ask their private physicians about immunizations for children beyond the official age requirements for this current school year -- especially measles immunization and, perhaps, mumps immunization.

Measles can be a serious illness, Dr. Shirer warns.

It causes ear infection or pneumonia in nearly one of every 10 students who contract it.

Encephalitis -- inflammation of the brain -- results from measles in one child of every 1,000 who contract it. This can lead to convulsions, deafness or mental retardation.

Finally, measles is fatal to one child of every 10,000 who contract it.

Mumps Complications Serious

Mumps also can cause serious complications.

Mumps causes a mild type of meningitis in about one of every 20 children who contract it.

Meningitis is inflammation of the membranes which envelop the brain and spinal cord.

Mumps also can cause encephalitis and deafness.

Rubella, Pregnancy Danger

Even though rubella immunization is not required past the twelfth birthday, The Texas Department of Health recommends it for non-pregnant students who haven't had the immunization.

If a pregnant woman contracts rubella, there is a high-percentage chance that her child will be born crippled, blind or with other defects, especially if the disease is contracted in the first trimester of pregnancy (the first three months).

Wilson has always been a community-minded community. In the past few years, the teams have won a bunch of more trophies than they've lost, so new head coach Bert Vandiver figures that the Mustang tradition is one of the school's strongest points.

Vandiver is counting on five seniors and several other players who played a lot last year to form the nucleus of a good squad. He's looking for top-notch performers from several areas as the Mustangs operate out of a wishbone this season.

Running the attack will be senior quarterback Tim Bednarz, a 165-pounder who stands 6-1 and throws and runs well. The backfield, all experienced, will be rounded out by senior fullback Donald Freitag, senior halfback Randy Hall and sophomore halfback Kendall Wilke.

Wilke carried the ball 8 times for 71 yards in a scrimmage last Friday against Lazbuddie, in which the Mustangs outscored the Longhorns 3-1. The team will scrimmage Odessa High sophomores at Seminole beginning at 6 p.m. this Friday.

The Mustangs --in District 3-A West this season-- return seven starters from a team which was 7-3 (4-1 in zone play) last season. Much of the rebuilding will be in the offensive line, "where we're real young," Vandiver said.

The new coach, who formerly coached at Hart and Pampa, and assistants Mike Wilson and Mike Carroll, are looking forward to the season which opens at Class AA O'Donnell Sept. 5.

"Tradition is a real plus for us, and these kids are very competitive," Vandiver stated.

Blood Drive Results Cited

The Wilson Lions Club sponsored a blood drive on Thursday Aug. 21. The drive resulted in 21 pints of blood being donated to Blood Services of Lubbock. According to Darlene Herring of Blood Services, there is a real shortage of blood in the Lubbock area at this time and donors are desperately needed.

A check of the records at Blood Services shows that Wilson has donated 156 pints of blood the last 3 years (78-80). Another blood drive is scheduled for November of this year.

Fifteen Texas certified cotton interest organizations caucused in Dallas August 19 and selected a total of 27 state cotton producers, eight of them from the High Plains, to fill positions or serve as alternates in national cotton industry groups.

The High Plains was represented at the caucus by Lloyd Cline of Lamesa, Board Chairman of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Four members and four alternates were named as directors to Cotton Incorporated (CI), the national cotton producers' fiber company which conducts research and market development programs under the Cotton Research and Promotion Act.

Named to the CI board as directors and alternates, respectively, were Gary Ivey, Ralls, and M.J. Williams of Shallowater; Bill Skov, El Paso, and Doyce Middlebrook, Shallowater; James Dyer and Tommy Funk, both of the lower Rio Grande Valley, and Ray Sawyer and Jackie McMahan, both from the Blacklands area.

Four members and four alternates were nominated for two openings on the Cotton Board, the administrative body responsible for collections, disbursements and project approval in the CI program. The Secretary of Agriculture is required by law to appoint two of the "pairs" submitted by interest organizations and normally chooses the two for whom the organizations express preference.

Ray Joe Riley of Hart and Harvey Hilley of El Paso, and Donald Johnson of Lubbock and Jim Ed Miller of El Paso were nominated as first and second choices for member and alternate, respectively, to fill one Cotton Board position. Edwin Gerik of the Blacklands and Robert Mathers of the lower Valley, and Henry Thuem and Jack Abbott, both of the lower Valley, were submitted as first and second choices for member and alternate in the other position.

Five producer delegates and five alternates, plus an additional alternate to replace one who resigned, were named to the National Cotton Council (NCC), the industry's seven-segment research, promotion and service organization.

Named NCC delegates and alternates, respectively, were Frank Jones of Lamesa and Homer Easterwood, Coastal Bend; Wayne Labor of the Coastal Bend and Kenneth Johnson of the Blacklands; Norris Andres and Ed Ekdahl, both of the Rolling Plains; Reed Lang of the lower Valley and S.M. True of Plainview, and Bill Lovelady and Wayne Carr, both of El Paso. Gary Ivey of Ralls resigned as alternate to NCC producer delegate Cline, whose term expires in 1981, and was replaced by Terry Rucker of Denver City.

In addition to PCG, seven other regional cotton producer organizations and the Texas Farm Bureau took part in the naming of producer delegates to the National Cotton Council. All of these, plus American Cotton Growers, Plains Cotton Cooperative Association, the Texas Federation of Cooperatives, Texas Cotton Growers Cooperative, Southwestern Irrigated Cotton Growers, and Cotton Pool, Inc., are certified by the Secretary of Agriculture as interest organizations for the nomination of Cotton Board members and the selection of CI board members.

DPS Urges Motorists To Be Careful

The Texas Department of Public Safety has urged motorists to be "exceptionally careful" during the long Labor Day weekend because of the increased volume of traffic which can be expected.

Colonel Jim Adams, director of the DPS, said "Labor Day, the last holiday of summer, becomes the last holiday-period-for far too many Texans and many more have their holiday ruined by a traffic accident."

"Our Statistical Services Division of the DPS, has predicted that 45 persons may die during this 78-hour period. In order to provide maximum protection for the driving public we are placing additional Troopers on the highways. Most will be in well-marked, black-and-white units, although unmarked units will be utilized to detect those determined violators who make the highways unsafe for others."

He also said they will be especially watchful for drunken drivers.

Col. Adams said we can easily overcome the predictions if motorists comply with the speed limits, use their seat belts, avoid driving while impaired by alcohol or drugs and watch out for the other driver.

Cotton Topic At Rotary

The promotion of cotton as our most important crop was the theme of a program at Rotary Thursday by Mrs. Jo Carol Long, Tahoka native, chairman of the District Women's Cotton Promotion Assn.

She told of the excellent co-operation given the organization, the Sew-It-With-Cotton program, the upcoming Cotton Week Sept. 22-27 and the cotton garment contests in Lubbock Civic Center Saturday, Sept. 27, for school girls.

Also speaking on the program was Jim Foster, Lubbock, who declared "75 percent of the nation's assets stem from agriculture...$1 return in agriculture generates $5 to $6 in the nation's economy... In our country, one farmer feeds 56 people, while in China, for instance, it takes 85 people in agriculture to feed 100 people," and other similar statistics.

Horace Rogers arranged the program and introduced the speakers. Mrs. Long is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Nichols.

Energy Saving

"You can save energy while using it!" How many times do we hear this in one day or in a week? Yes, energy can be managed wisely. School starting and the need for energy may prompt us to take a second thought as to how we're managing our energy. Energy management is everyone's responsibility. Re-program yourself into energy saving life style and teach younger family members the importance of kicking the habit of wasting energy.

Small appliances save energy - if you use them creatively. They may be used in place of other cooking methods. Go to the use and care booklets that came with your appliances for creative ideas. Think of an electric skillet as more than a fry pan. Use it to roast, bake and know you can prepare items as baked potatoes and bake cakes.

Know that you can bake a cake made from a box mix in a portable appliance as an electric skillet rather than in conventional oven and save almost 60 percent in energy.

Pizzas offer savings 68 percent in energy savings when you use a mix and electric skillet rather than the oven. Results are great. Did you know that pizza makers will bake potatoes, heat frozen convenience foods or grill foods. Don't forget the blender. Know that a cake can be mixed in 20 seconds and salad dressings may be made from homemade mixes. The blender may be used for making hand lotions, window cleaners and other non-cooking items that will save energy and money.

Think and use your creativity to conserve energy. This is especially constructive if you all ready have specific small appliances. When selecting or using electric appliances, keep these energy saving tips in mind: 1. Porcelain finishes retain received heat and allow for cooking on lower heat settings. 2. Don't overload electric circuits with high wattage appliances. 1600 watts is the limit for each electric circuit. If circuits are overloaded, cooking times will be increased and the appliance will not function properly. It is best not to use extension cords. 3. Always turn an appliance off when not in use. Unplug cord after each use. 4. Thaw frozen meats and poultry before heating. 5. Cooler air circulating around an appliance can reduce its efficiency. 6. Use covers and close vents to prevent heat from escaping. 7. Use high or medium heat to bring foods and water to boil, then turn heat control to simmer for remainder of cooking. 8. Use a minimum of water in cooking to shorten cooking time. 9. If recipes in your menu range from 325° to 375° use the happy medium 350° and adjust baking time. Of course, some recipes cannot have baking temperatures adjusted.

Know that another appliance, the convection oven is much less expensive than a microwave oven. It browns food deliciously - as roast meat and it requires no special cook ware. As for speed, a 3 pound chicken will roast to a perfection in 45 minutes, baked potatoes in less than 25 minutes and vegetables may be steam cooked in 15 minutes.

The convection oven is easy to clean and it is finding its way into home kitchens and no doubt it will be as familiar as the food processor. This portable appliance cooks faster and evenly by means of fast circulating heated air. Instead of the heat remaining stationary, a built-in fan circulates heated air rapidly around and over the food.

Last but not least, design and manage meal cooking energy or none. There are many recipes available. Here is one:

Raspberry Fruity Pie
 1 pkg. raspberry flavor gelatin
 1/2 cup boiling water
 2 cups ice cubes
 1 container (8 oz.) cool Whip
 1 cup whole raspberries
 1 graham cracker crust
 1 can (8 1/2 oz.) fruit cocktail, drained.
 1 can (8 1/2 oz.) crushed pineapple, drained.
 Dissolve gelatin completely in boiling water, stirring till well dissolved. Add ice cubes and stir until gelatin is thickened, about 2 to 3 minutes. Blend in Cool Whip, then whip until smooth. Fold in Fruit, chill until mixture will mound. Spoon into crust. Chill 2 hours.

Another recipe is called the Angel Pie, available for the asking. For further information or requests for publications titled "Energy Savers" and "How to Conserve Energy at Home" write: Vivian Limer, Home Service Advisor, Box 631, Lubbock, Texas 79408. Also, Wise Use Energy Programs are available for civic, community and school groups. Call or write Vivian Limer. Be sure to state information or specific publication.

Better Business Bureau

The Better Business Bureau of the South Plains has been receiving calls from South Plains residents concerning a magazine-encyclopedia sales crew representing themselves as being with National Press Association out of Florida.

The BBB advises caution in dealing with these salespeople as it has been reported to the Bureau that they are using misleading and possibly deceptive sales practices. They are alleging that they are in a contest and they are promising some consumers that they will hold their check for so many days, but instead, are cashing the checks immediately.

If you are approached by a door-to-door solicitor, ask to see his license to peddle, if he does not have one, call the sheriff or your local police immediately. Only buy magazines or encyclopedias because you want them, not because you think you are helping the salesperson win a contest or whatever. Wait at least 90 days before delivery of magazines and remember, you have 3 business days to cancel if your order is over $25. The salesperson is required by law to explain this cooling-off period to you. If in doubt, don't buy. Don't be high-pressured, call the police or sheriff if the salesperson won't leave.
