Home Ec Cottage Work Authorized

Tahoka High School Home Economics cottage work scheduled for an early-morning session on Monday, Dec. 1. The work was authorized by the board of trustees after a session on Monday morning went on for four hours. Contractors on the structure, which is left standing, will be working on the session with the public, the board accepted the bid for contractors to rebuild the cottage. The school had the low bid of $405, excluding electrical and plumbing work. The work was caused by deteriorating insulation on electrical wiring and was too far advanced to be stopped before it was discovered. Most of the furnishings and equipment inside were destroyed, although a few things were saved.

Board members present were Joe Brooks, Betty Green, Bob Haney, Marlin Hawthorne, Jay Dee House and Tommy Lawson. Absent was member Joe Hays.

Supt. Jim Coulston reported to the board that McMorries and Company, appraisers, had billed the school $25,000 for services. Noting that not all the contractual obligations had been met at this time, the board decided to defer payment.

City To Seek Grant Totaling $2.25 Million

The City of Tahoka Monday night decided to apply for more than two million dollars in federal money to be used in a three-year period for improvements in specific areas of predominantly low-income residents in the city.

The money would be used for street paving, water and sewer extensions and improvements, for housing rehabilitation and other purposes in the south and east parts of town. The total grant which will be sought under the Community Development Block Grant program administered by Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is $2,250,000.

Gary Traylor of the Barber-Traylor firm of consultants from Tyler hired by the city to draw up the application to HUD, conducted a public hearing at the city hall Tuesday on the proposals. Seven Mexican-American citizens appeared to offer comments on the proposals.

1979 Grant

The city applied for and received a $500,000 CDBG grant in 1979 which paved 25 blocks in the southwest and southeast portions of town, and also paid for caliche base improvements on about 32 more blocks in those areas. The city also applied for a 1980 grant of $500,000, but was turned down by HUD.

If the entire three-year grant of $2.25 million should be approved, a total of $717,500 would be used for paving, mostly for strip paving of the blocks which received caliche last time. Traylor said. Paying for refurbishing of substandard housing in those areas would be from an allocation of $805,000 if approved, and another $315,000 would be used for "voluntary relocation". Sewer and water improvements would use up $125,000 and $71,500 respectively.

Some of those attending the public hearing complained of the problems of no sewer lines and of poor drainage in their neighborhoods. Complaints mostly involved portions of Ave. B and Ave. E in the southeast section.

To some of those present who live on blocks with only one or two houses, Traylor pointed out that HUD "looks at proposed paving somewhat in the same way the city does—if there aren't enough people living on a street, they may not consider paving it is feasible, since not enough people would be served."

Traylor said that generally if there is more than 100 feet per house on block, HUD starts questioning whether paving would be practical. Mayor Mel Leslie told the visitors that they should realize that most residents in the city paid for their own paving. The exception was in the 1979 CDBG.

The Council also passed a revised fair housing ordinance, property maintenance ordinance and dilapidated building ordinance. The property maintenance ordinance requires owners of rental property to keep that property up to certain standards.

City manager Carl Reynolds told the council that the city currently is in a better financial condition than usual, with tax payments coming in well so far.

Green Thumb Training Is Held

Green Thumbs of Wilson, O'Donnell and Tahoka attended the semi-annual training session of Green Thumb. The meeting was held in the Pioneer Natural Gas Conference Room, Brownfield.

Green Thumb workers from 5 counties attended. The meeting began on a light note with singing and guitar playing by Joan Mahaffey.

Patricia Smith of the Dairy Council instructed the group on maintaining a nutritious diet.

Terry Richardson of the Social Security Administration, Lubbock informed the group on Social Security benefits and other matters pertaining to Social Security. Wendy Brown, Area Supervisor and Joan Mahaffey, District Director, Green Thumb Inc. talked on policy and procedures of Green Thumb.

Otto Lisenbee, Area Leader, talked on his recent visit to Oklahoma City where he represented Green Thumb as a delegate at the Rural White House Conference on Aging Mini-Conference.

Green Thumb is a rural older worker employment program funded by the Department of Labor, sponsored by Farmer's Union. It has operated in Texas for the past ten years.

Kids To Get Phone Calls From Santa

Parents who would like for their children or grandchildren to receive a personal phone call from Santa Claus are asked to make arrangements for such calls with the Lynn County unit of American Cancer Society, sponsoring a "Santa Calls" program.

Those wishing to take part in the plan are asked to donate at least a dollar per child to be called. Donations are tax deductible, a cancer society spokesperson said.

To arrange for the calls from Santa Claus, a person should write to "Santa Calls", American Cancer Society, Box 975, Tahoka 79373, before Dec. 13. The letter must specify the date the phone call is to be made and the telephone number to be called.

Checks should be made payable to American Cancer Society.

Santa Letters Needed Soon

Any letters to Santa Claus which need to be published in the Lynn County News should be in the News office by next Wednesday, Dec. 10, in order to appear in the Dec. 18 Christmas edition of the paper.

All second grade classes in the county have been asked to submit letters to Santa Claus, which always have added reader appeal because they are typed just like they are written, spelling and all. The classes will gather those letters, but other youngsters may want to write Santa and have their letters appear in print.

The annual Christmas greeting addition of the News again will feature messages from businesses and individuals appropriate to the season.

November Snow Sets New Mark

Two big snows last month set an all-time record for November of about 15-16 inches, which melted down to a total of 1.32 inches of water in the local National Weather Service gauge.

The eight to nine inch snow which covered this area began on Sunday and continued until Tuesday, putting .72 inch of water in the gauge.

The seven-inch snow of Nov. 15-16 put only .58 inch of water in the gauge, followed by .02 of drizzle on Nov. 21. This brought the month's total to 1.32 inches.

However, possibly not all of the blowing snow was registered, and total moisture was somewhat more. Lowest temperature recorded here was 9 degrees on the morning of Nov. 28.

Although this was the most November snow recorded here, it was not a record for moisture. Rainy November of 1968 resulted in a total of 3.01 inches of water measured, and all-time high Thirty or more percent of the short 1980 cotton crop is still in the fields, since farmers have not been able to run boll pullers since Nov. 15. A few boll pullers were able to run Tuesday. The News is informed, but most will not be in operation for another few days, weather permitting.

Community Christmas Card Planned

As in past years, Phebe K. Warner Study Club will sponsor a community Christmas card in the Lynn County News which will appear on Dec. 18, 1980. The money received from participants will be contributed to the scholarship funds which are awarded yearly to Tahoka High School students. If you would like to participate in this newspaper Christmas card (possibly in lieu of sending in-town cards), you should go by the First National Bank of Tahoka and deposit your donation of $5 or more in the Christmas Card Project Account with any teller. You can indicate on the deposit slip how you wish your name to appear in the paper.

Deadline for each participant to deposit their donation is Monday, Dec. 15. If the participant's deposit has not been made by that date, their name will not appear in the paper as a participant. The names that appear in the paper as participants will be taken directly from deposit slips, so each person should list on the deposit slip exactly how they want their name(s) listed.

NEWSPAPER exchanges with a dozen or more publications, mostly around the area, and it's common practice for me to do this, mainly with the idea of seeing what the other fellow is doing, and often getting a good idea from him (who stole it from someone else in the area).

we don't mind when someone takes out of our newspaper and uses it in another area, as long as it's a compliment, well, that's okay, too, since we don't mind when someone takes something from them someday. If it's a compliment, we don't mind if they give it to someone else in the area.

Tahoka Fire Dept. Receives Check

The Tahoka Volunteer Fire Dept. recently received a check for $75.00 from the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies as an expression of thanks for the Department's work on the property of Bill Barham.

The money will be used for their loss prevention program.

The Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies pay fire departments this amount when the department works at a fire in rural areas, involving property insured by them.

The Insurance Company believes fire departments have contributed to reduce the amount of loss involved by fire and more importantly, to prevent fires. It is their hope this money will help the Tahoka Volunteer Fire Department in their program.

Faith Circle Meeting

The annual Harvest Tea for Faith Circle hosted by Mrs. W.W. Hagood was held on Monday, Nov. 24, at 4 p.m.

The meeting opened with a prayer by Alice Starnes and Marietta Montgomery introduced Dr. David J. Murrah, Texas Tech University archivist and head of the southwest collection, who talked on the early history of Lynn County. Much of his information came from the thesis of Don Abbe who lives in Lynn County. Until the army officer Gen. McKenzie was successful in getting the Indians out of the area during the years 1870-1875 no white men lived here. After 1876 ranches began to develop.

Another date of significance was 1902 when J.E. Ketner won a lawsuit that allowed farmers to buy the land after the ten year lease to a rancher expired. After that date farmers began to move into Lynn County.

Lynn County was created in 1876 and was named for George Washington Lynn, one of the defenders of the Alamo.

Dr. Murrah's doctoral dissertation, "C.C. Slaughter: The Cattle King of Texas" is scheduled for spring 1981 publication by the University of Texas Press.

Lynn County Farm Bureau

As an independent businessman, I purchased an Individual Retirement Account for myself last year. My wife does not draw a salary but we were wondering if it would be possible to set up an IRA in her name?

Yes. Your wife can have an IRA in her name. If as a homemaker, she has her own IRA, she can't be on anyone's payroll. The maximum contribution of 15% remains the same but the maximum dollar ceiling goes up from $1,500 (as in your account) to $1,750 a year - $875.00 in each, separate account. If you and your wife each have a separate account you must deposit an equal amount in both accounts in order to qualify for the maximum tax deferral. The contribution, whatever its size, should be split down the middle because the law says you deduct only twice the lesser amount contributed to either account.

Guides To Microwave Buying

What would make a more special gift extra special than microwave candies prepared with your special touch? Cook up a Merry Christmas and make it candies from the microwave oven.

If you plan to shop for a microwave oven before Christmas, there are several basic considerations to guide you in making a choice. Start with a reputable dealer. Compare features available on the type microwave cooking appliance you select.

Basic features are: times and controls - these should be clearly marked, easy to read and simple to operate; know the electrical requirements; consider models with multiple power settings; size-measure inside and outside dimensions which determine location and whether your dishes and cooking ware will fit; door swing - some doors pull down and others swing to the left. Study and examine the instruction and recipe book. It should be complete and easy to follow. Know the warranty. Check on the service. Know if you must deliver the oven to a service center or if service comes to your home.

Does the microwave oven have an oven light? Know some of the extra features. They include temperature probe, computerized controls, browning elements and browning trays. Know that these are features you will use.

A shopping sheet form is available and will be sent upon request. Also publications entitled "Microwave Candies" will be sent on request. Be sure to state name of publication.

Two popular microwave candies are: Marshmallow Creme Fudge 3 cups sugar ¼ cup butter ½ cup (5 oz. can) evaporated milk

2 cups (12 oz. pkg.) semi-sweet chocolate chips 2 cups (7 oz. jar) marshmallow creme 1 cup chopped nuts 1 teaspoon vanilla Combine sugar, butter and milk in buttered 3-quart

Holiday Tips On Mail Order Buying

1. Examine the offer carefully. If it sounds too good to be true, it often is. Beware of exaggerated claims on products or price. If the claims relate to your health or physical appearance, your family doctor may be a good source of advice as to the likely value of the product. Be particularly wary of claims by unknown sellers that they have achieved a "scientific discovery" that somehow eluded the big companies or established professionals. Read advertising claims for what they actually say rather than what you might hope they offer.
2. Do not rely solely on a picture of the item. Note the description, size, weight, color, and contents. Be sure to completely describe the article or service you are purchasing in the order.
3. Give explicit instructions.
4. When ordering holiday gifts by mail be sure to do so well in advance to avoid heavy seasonal mail volume. If the company offers such a service, be sure to specify whether or not the gift should be sent directly to the recipient. Clearly indicate recipients name and address and how the gift card should be signed. Look for a company policy on returns. If the policy is not

WHOOZIT-- A recent picture of folks in the Black Cat Cafe drew a lot of comments from readers. This week someone finally indentified the cook in that picture as Hugh Hart. Here's another picture from the Black Cat, only this Cat reportedly was in a different location from the other Black Cat. So who are these people? Incidentally, nobody has yet identified last week's Whoozit.

6. If a substitute is acceptable, indicate it.
7. Be sure to enclose shipping, handling, or tax charges with the order.
8. Do not send cash with the order. Pay only by check, money order, or, if acceptable, credit card.
9. Keep a record of the order, including the name and address of the company with which you are dealing.
10. If there are any doubts about a company, check it before placing an order. You might be guided on a company's reliability by inquiries to the Better Business Bureau and Chamber of Commerce in the area of the company, or you can consult your state or local consumer protection office. Because a product is advertised in a responsible newspaper or magazine, do not assume the claims have necessarily been verified by the publishers. In most cases, the publishers have no choice but to assume the advertiser is honest. Similarly, the fact that product is offered for sale by mail does not mean the Postal Service has verified the advertiser's claims.

Big game provides variety and contributes high quality nutrients to meals of families of Texas sportsmen.

Utilization of this wild game aids conservation of a valuable resource and can stretch the food budget year round.

Big game also fits into the meat group of the basic four food groups.

Like domestic meat, it is rich in protein, minerals and vitamins.

There is one difference though--it is generally low in fat. Serving size is two to three ounces of lean meat.

Meat of big game furnishes protein needed for growth and repair of body tissues, muscles, blood, skin and hair. It also provides iron, thiamin, riboflavin and niacin.

For those who prefer to have their deer meat made into sausage, here are some deer sausage recipes.

Since there are many preferences for different flavors and textures, adapt these recipes to please individual tastes.

Fresh Breakfast Sausage

25 pounds lean deer, antelope or elk meat
 25 pounds very fresh regular pork trimmings (50 percent lean, 50 percent fat)

1 pound salt
 1 1/2 - 2 ounces ground sage
 1 1/2 - 2 ounces black pepper
 1/2 ounce red pepper (if desired)

For Small Quantities

2 pounds wild game meat
 2 pounds regular pork trimmings
 2 teaspoons salt
 4 teaspoons ground black pepper
 2 teaspoons ground black pepper

1/4 - 1/2 teaspoon red pepper (if desired)
 1 teaspoon sugar thoroughly mix trimmings, and grind through a plate with 1/2-inch holes.

Spread coarsely ground meat on table top, sprinkle seasoning on top and thoroughly mix. Regrind through a plate with 1/8-inch holes.

If a 1/2-inch plate is not available, sprinkle seasoning on top of trimmings, thoroughly mix and grind once through a plate with 1/8 inch holes.

For stuffed sausage, stuff immediately for best results. Stuff into natural hog casings, plastic bags or muslin bags (use any cloth bag made from strong cloth that has been washed several times.)

Obtain natural hog casings from meat markets, local meat processing plants or stores.

Soak them in warm, salty water for about one hour or until they are pliable.

If bulk sausage is to be served soon after making, if bulk sausage is to be served soon after making, add 3/4 cup of water to about four pounds of sausage. Knead with hands until sausage becomes sticky.

Pack tightly in small molds, pans or cans and chill overnight before slicing.

Cured and Smoked Sausage (Country Style)

37 1/2 pounds of deer, antelope or elk meat
 12 1/2 pounds of very fresh pork fat trimmings (fatback)

1 pound salt
 1 ounce saltpeter (potassium nitrate--obtain at drug store)
 2 ounces black pepper
 1/2 ounce ground cloves (or 1/2 ounce ground nutmeg, if desired)

1/4 ounce garlic powder (if desired)
 Prepare and grind meat, and add seasonings as for fresh sausage.

Stuff into natural hog casings or muslin casings. Hang or place on racks to cure, and dry for 24 to 48 hours at a temperature of 38-40 degrees F.

The Fresh Breakfast Sausage recipe can also be used to make cured and smoked sausage.

Smoking: Smoke the sausage one to two hours or until light brown color is obtained.

Smoke and store big game sausage properly.

There are many ways to smoke meat.

One way of smoking is to build a small fire out of hardwood (pecan, hickory or oak) at the end of a backyard, closed-type cooker.

Burn it until live coals are obtained, then put a few hardwood chips on the coals.

Place the sausage or cured meat cuts on the rack on the opposite end from the coals.

Use enough water on the chips so they do not blaze, and smoke the sausage with the cooker closed. Keep the temperature of the cooker between 130 and 150 degrees F.

Or, make a smokehouse from any closed device such as an old refrigerator or oil drum.

An air inlet is needed at the bottom and a damper at the top. Some method for keeping the interior hot is also needed.

The whole smoking and drying procedure can be accomplished in one of these devices but requires close watching.

Try a small quantity at first to develop your own special method. This is not an exact science.

Storing Store fresh sausage in refrigeration for one week or in the freezer at zero degrees F. for not more than three months.

Salt added to the meat reduces freezer storage time by about 50 percent.

Before freezing, wrap sausage in freezer paper, plastic freezer bags or foil. Wrap bulk sausage and place directly into the freezer.

For cured and smoked sausage, hold in refrigeration for two to three weeks or store in the freezer.

Protect and store cured and smoked sausage using the same method as for fresh sausage.

Keep cured and smoked sausage in the freezer no more than three months.

Tahoka, O'Donnell 4-H Members Are Recognized

Forty outstanding members of 4-H Clubs in the South Plains were honored in Lubbock Nov. 24.

In addition to receiving the Gold Star Award, highest honor presented at the county level, the youths were challenged by State Sen. E.L. Short of Tahoka to continue throughout life to pursue the 4-H Club motto, "To make the best better."

Joining the youths at the awards banquet at Coronado High School were parents, government officials, Extension leaders, fellow 4-H'ers and other community leaders.

Honored from Lynn County were Ben Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendel Edwards of O'Donnell; and Perry Dunlap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Dunlap, Tahoka.

Short told the 4-H'ers they are part of a "dynamic and positive" organization and are "providing leadership to do something about our problems." Among specific challenges already being met by 4-H'ers, Short said, are conservation of our natural resources and improving health and nutrition habits.

Guests were welcomed by James Eiland, general manager of Caprock Electric

Television personality Nash of KAMETV master of ceremonies John Pelham of Station, state 4-H and leader, narrated the presentations, made by Catherine Crawford and C. Gunter, district directors.

Christmas Seals For Healthy Lungs

Wigwags on a snowy plain. Santa on a surfboard. A grinning angel flashing golden wings. These are some of the striking images on this year's Christmas Seals, created by young children across the country.

In a world of turbulent change, traditions like Christmas--and Christmas Seals--reinforce lasting values. Peace, health, concern for others.

Way back in 1907, a woman called Emily Bissell, who was deeply concerned about the plight of TB patients, created the first Christmas Seal to save one treatment center. The Seals proved such a success that they have provided a direct way ever since for Americans to support lung associations in the fight for better lung health for everyone.

When Emily Bissell designed the first U.S. Seal, TB and other infectious diseases cut life brutally short for most people. The average life span was 47 years. Today the span has been stretched almost three decades longer. That accomplishment represents a miracle made possible by astonishing medical advances, including drug treatment of TB, along with drastic changes in the way people protect their own health.

But, says the American Lung Association of Texas, those changes have not been drastic enough. Cigarette smoking kills 300,000 Americans every year and inflicts crippling disabilities on thousands more. Environmental hazards and dirty air are major threats to the lungs. Today, three-quarters of Americans die lingering deaths from long-term disease. Chronic lung disease is a critical public health problem.

Children deserve healthy lungs and a pollution-free future, says the American Lung Association of Texas. Contributions to Christmas Seals help foster that future. It's a matter of life and breath. For more information write the American Lung Assoc. of Texas, 7701 N. Lamar, Suite 104, Austin, Texas 78752.

COTTON TODAY

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

COTTON USE HOLDS ITS OWN: Daily U.S. cotton use in October was 4.4 percent lower than in October, 1979, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

A total of 24,072 running bales was consumed daily in October, compared with 25,188 running bales in October, 1979. The October, 1980, daily figure is 5.5 percent higher than the September, 1980, figure of 22,816 running bales. But on a seasonally adjusted annual basis October consumption fell 2 percent from the September, 1980, figure of 6,308 million bales, according to the National Cotton Council.

Despite the declines, Gaylon Booker, director of economic and market research for the Council, said consumption levels were reasonably good considering the recession. He estimated consumption in calendar year 1980 at 6.2 million bales, compared with 1979 consumption of 6.4 million. Booker also said that despite decreases in total fiber consumption from September and year-ago levels, cotton's share remained at 25 percent, an indication that cotton was holding its own in the fiber market.

ENERGY NEEDS TO BE DISCUSSED: A special discussion of energy requirements for cotton production will be held in connection with the Beltwide Cotton Conferences January 4-8 in New Orleans. Experts will focus on energy requirements for cotton on clay soils, breakdown of the energy needed for each production practice, and how the amount of energy put into cotton relates to yield for the grower.

A heavy meal can cause drowsiness in drivers. It's better for a motorist to eat several light snacks during a trip than one substantial meal.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture now has announced that growers of either wheat or feed grains in 1981 will be required to plant within their established Normal Crop Acreage (NCA) in order to qualify for loans, disaster coverage or price deficiency payments under government programs.

A pending announcement on whether cotton producers also will be shackled by the same requirement is not expected until after December 2. There is industrywide opposition to the requirement for cotton, plus opposition from state officials of USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS), but a Washington source November 20 told Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. that as far as the current Administration is concerned "it looks now like you're going to get it."

And the American Cotton Shippers Association indignantly reported from Washington November 17 that "Unless the cotton industry and sympathetic legislators overrule him, USDA Economic Czar Howard Hjort will be successful in his attempt to limit plantings and thus embargo the production of cotton in much of the Belt."

The "embargo" of production refers to 10 cotton producing states where the NCA requirement reportedly would force farmers to reduce acreage of basic crops by from eight percent to as much as 26 percent.

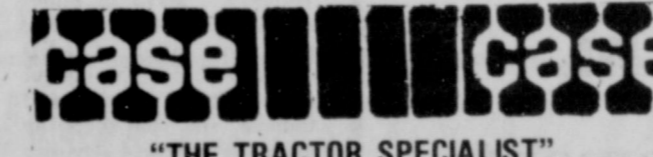

Texas as a whole, and especially the High Plains, would be much less severely affected. Statewide plantings of wheat, grain sorghum, corn, barley, rice and upland cotton in 1980 totaled 20,366,459 acres as compared to the states' total NCA's of 23,922,420.

In the 25 High Plains counties represented by PCG, 6,900,325 acres were planted to these crops in 1980, considerably below the area's aggregate NCA of 7,485,413 acres. It is assumed the remaining acreage was planted to soybeans, sunflowers, sugar beets, vegetables, etc.

Only two of PCG's 25 counties show planted acreage significantly above their NCA's. Those counties, Bailey and Cochran, according to local ASCS officials, are counties in which there was considerable double cropping due to early losses of wheatland, replanted to cotton or losses of cotton replanted to grain sorghum. In those cases only the planting of one crop is counted against the farm's NCA.

Nevertheless, PCG is fighting the NCA requirement on the grounds that it is unnecessary, difficult and costly to administer and will cause a hardship on a number of individual producers who for one reason or another have NCA's much smaller than the acreage they'd like to plant or have plans to switch planting patterns.

"We still have hopes that the mounting evidence against the wisdom of a cotton NCA requirement next year will be heeded by Secretary Bergland and company," says PCG President Joe D. Unfred of New Home, "but if it isn't, there's still a possibility that the incoming administration can be induced to reverse Bergland's decision or at least modify the regulations to reduce unwarranted government interference with farm management decisions."

A Visit With Your County Agent

By Stanley Young

Don't Gamble On Fertilizer Needs
Farming is enough of a gamble, so don't add to your problems by gambling on fertilizer needs for next year's crops.

Instead, collect soil samples and have them tested so you'll have a game plan for fertilizing your 1981 crop. The best time for collecting and testing soil samples is right now after harvest season. That way you can determine your fertilizer needs and order supplies early before the busy spring season.

A soil test provides information about the nutrient status of soil as well as lime requirements in areas of acid soil. With fertilizer costs on the upswing, this means that the value of soil nutrients also increases. Thus efficient and profitable fertilization depends on a good evaluation of the nutrient-supplying capacity of soil. This is where soil tests come in.

The first step to a good test is to take a good sample. Get a composite sample from each field by collecting a slice or core of soil from 10 to 15 different spots. Then mix them all together and send two-thirds to three-fourths of a pint to the soil testing lab for testing.

It's equally important to complete an information sheet with each soil sample. Include information about past cropping and fertilization practices and the next crop to be planted.

Information sheets, cartons for mailing soil samples, and additional information on soil testing is available at the county Extension Office, 1600 Avenue J, Tahoka. Or, if you have any questions you may call the Extension office, 998-4650.

Parents, Youth Form Partners in 4-H
Parents interested in forming a partnership with their youngsters can do so in the 4-H program.

4-H is a program for youth between the ages of 9 and 19 and is administered by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, says Brent Drennan county Extension 4-H coordinator.

Through 4-H, parents get involved with their youngsters by helping them with one or more of over 100 projects. By getting involved with the projects, parents help their youngsters learn basic skills and information and help them to fulfill an obligation. The "partners" then build on these successes in areas of project work, leadership, community service and many other character-building experiences.

By spending time with their sons and daughters in 4-H, parents can overcome the problems commonly referred to today as the "communication gap" or "generation gap." 4-H projects serve as a beginning to start the parent-youth partnership, and the relationship can grow through mutual understanding and trust between parent and child.

Parents and 4-H'ers together learn to share the excitement of competition, the joys of winning and the disappointment of losing and to jointly work out solutions to problems as they arise.

Contact the county Extension office to learn more about the 4-H program and how it can develop close family ties through working partnerships.

OSHA Dust Standard Set Aside

The Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans has ruled in favor of the cotton ginning industry in setting aside the OSHA cotton dust standard that had been applied to gins.

National Cotton Council President Herman Propst said the courts ruling is a victory for small businessmen faced with "impractical" demands of government regulations.

He congratulated the ginners' associations, who sought the standard's overturn, on "a very significant accomplishment."

He said the ruling will provide for a more equitable solution to the industry's most serious problem, and said he hoped it will result in a more reasonable approach to future rule-making.

"Cotton ginners are small businessmen who had thrust on them an unnecessary, unreasonable set of regulations by the federal government. The ruling in New Orleans in canceling the dust standard for gins is vindication of the American principle that there must be justice and common sense in any regulations handed down by government," Propst said.

The court said OSHA had not offered "substantial evidence" that its cotton ginning regulations are "reasonable necessary and appropriate." Cotton-related dust in some processing industries has been implicated in breathing ailments, but the ginners' associations bringing the suit against OSHA argued successfully that employees have never been shown to develop such ailments as a result of working in gins.

"Consequently, application of the gin standard would impose unnecessary costs with no possibility for offsetting benefits," Propst said.

Staple 32 was predominant at 37 percent. Staple 31 was 25 percent followed by staple 33 at 21 percent. Average staple for the week was 32.1, up from 31.7 a week earlier.

Micronaire readings of 35 - 49 accounted for 72 percent. One percent miked higher while 27 percent miked lower. The week's average miked at Lubbock was 39, unchanged from one week ago.

Average breaking strength was 84,000 pounds per square inch, down from 86,000 one week earlier.

High Plains growers sold mixed lots of mostly grades 42 and 52, staples 30 and 31, mikes 35 - 49 around 74.40 cents per pound, down 10 points from last week. Mixed lots of mostly grades 41 and 51, staples 32 - 33, mikes 35 - 49 brought about 81.30, down 35 points from a week earlier.

Gins paid growers $115 to $130 per ton for cottonseed, mostly $120 to $125.

Tips On Christmas Mailing Offered

With the Christmas mailing season just ahead, Tahoka Postmaster Jim Lummus is offering some tips for customers to make sure their cards and packages arrive on time and in good shape.

In addition to shopping early, Jim urges customers to properly address cards and packages with the name, street number and name or post office box number, and the city, state and ZIP Code reserved for the last line. It's also a good idea to put a slip of paper with the recipient's name and address and your return address inside parcels. Be sure to include your return address including your box number and ZIP Code on all envelopes and packages.

Jim also reminded customers to check the size of their envelopes before mailing Christmas cards. Letter size standards which went into effect last year require envelopes to be at least 3 1/2 inches high and 5 inches long to be accepted for mailing.

The Postal Service is also asking its customers to put an ounce of extra care into preparing packages for mailing. Parcels will arrive at their destination in good shape and on time if mailers follow a few simple instructions:

1. Make sure the contents are well-cushioned and there is no empty space in the box. Use crumpled newspaper around the item, on the bottom, the sides and on top of your gift. Foamed plastic shells and air pocket padding also are good cushions.

2. Brown wrapping paper and twine cord are not necessary. Wrappings can rip off, and twine can get caught in processing machinery.

3. Use sealing tape to close off and seal the box. Three types of tape are recommended: gray duct pressure-sensitive tape, brown kraft paper tape reinforced with nylon or glass filaments, and nylon filament-reinforced pressure sensitive tape. Do not use masking tape or cellophane tape. They're no longer recommended due to past poor performance.

4. Use a smudge-proof ink for the address which should appear in the lower right-hand corner of the box. Write your return address in the upper left-hand corner. Be sure to include the ZIP Code for both.

5. Remove all other labels or addresses from the carton.

6. Mail early in the month and mail early in the day to avoid the rush.

7. Send irreplaceable articles, cash and all items valued at more than $400 by registered mail. Insurance is available for other items.

The first automobile rear-view mirror was invented by race driver Ray Harroun at the Indianapolis 500 in 1911. Back then all the race drivers carried mechanics along to check equipment and watch out for overtaking cars. Harroun figured he'd save weight by driving alone. When other drivers complained that this was dangerous, he welded an eight inch by three inch mirror to his car. Thus was a revolution born.

A recent government study indicated that 77 percent of Americans don't know that heating water consumes more energy in a year than refrigerating food, drying clothes and lighting homes, combined.

Scanning Social Security

By: Jim Latimer, Field Representative
Social Security Administration
1205 Texas Avenue, Room 102,
Lubbock, Texas, 79401

What would life in these United States be like without Social Security? Today's column is an objective observation of our nation without the stabilizing effect social security has on our economic and social life.

Social security was born in 1935, after six years of severe depression. Jobs were not available for more than 20 million who wanted to work. Cities, counties, and states could not handle the heavy load of taking care of the hungry and jobless.

The problem was addressed in the congress of the United States at the prodding of then president Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Legislation was passed which enabled the Federal Government to provide for the hungry and the unemployed with no income.

Today we have almost 7 percent of the working people of this country out of work. Contrasted with the mid-thirties however, this 7 percent is much worse off than then because a pound of bacon cost nineteen cents then and about $1.90 at this time. To those with no income, the present situation is intolerable.

Today, social security provides income for almost 35 million persons, most of whom need the income to pay for food, clothing and shelter for themselves and their families. In 1930's there were no payments made from Social Security to give the Trust Funds time to accumulate, but today millions of people depend upon social security to pay a large part of their expenses.

I am convinced that without social security today we would see many people resorting to violence to obtain the very necessities of life, at best, and at worst telling what. Thinking people realize the impact that social security has at the present time.

"Trees In The Bible" Offered

If you are looking for an inexpensive, appropriate gift for the Christmas season, the Texas Forest Service still has copies of "Trees in the Bible."

Circular 227 illustrates familiar Bible quotations with photographs of scenic areas of Texas which are similar to those of the Holy Land. A reference section cross-indexes the biblical, common and scientific names of most trees mentioned in the Bible. Illustrations feature missions and gardens of San Antonio, Hamilton's Pool near Austin and the Big Bend area.

First published in 1946 to encourage a greater appreciation of the historical value of trees, "Trees in the Bible" was revised in 1976 to include new photographs and additional scriptures.

Copies are available from any Texas Forest Service Office, or by writing the Texas Forest Service, College Station, Texas 77843.

Purchase price of 50 cents includes state sales tax.

Tips Given On Driving In Winter

Winter driving on wet, icy, or snow covered roads is different and drivers should prepare themselves by "cold proofing" their vehicles and adjusting driving habits, according to Major C.W.

THAT DEEP--This Main St. photo shows how deep the snow last week drifted and how deep it is now. There was not much downtown activity last Wednesday. (LYNN COUNTY NEWS)

Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety. "Batteries, tires, windshield wiper blades, and anti-freeze are items that need to be checked. Weak batteries should be replaced, tires should have good deep treads, and good wiper blades are vital in winter when visibility is poor," he said.

Safe driving in winter requires more patience, so Major Bell advises the motorist to start early, adjust their speed for road and traffic conditions and avoid sudden driving maneuvers.

Major Bell said, "Skidding on slick roads is a major accident factor and is usually caused by driving too fast for conditions or from locking wheels when drivers slow down."

Bell stated that if a skid occurs, the driver needs to ease off the accelerator, then turn into the skid. If your car's rear end slides left, turn your steering wheel to the left; for right skids, turn right. Pump your brakes if necessary; don't lock them.

He emphasized that impatience won't get you to your destination any faster. Patience won't get you there any faster either, but he said, "It'll sure make the trip more pleasant and safe."

Potholes Mean Waste To American Drivers

Almost every driver has had the experience, at one time or another, of hearing the crunch and feeling the thud of the chuckhole he didn't see. Many have had to get wheels realigned or repairs done to their brake, steering or suspension systems because they hit one of these menaces.

All told, this year motorists will shell out about $3.5 billion to repair brake, steering and suspension systems damaged by driving over cracked and broken pavement and another $2.1 billion for tire wear and damage, according to The Road Information Program (TRIP).

And that doesn't even take into account the estimated $13.6 billion in added fuel bills caused by driving over poor roads, or the cost of accidents caused by potholes, or even such common things as lost hubcaps and bent wheel rims.

For individual motorists, the cost of repairing all this damage can be a big expense. A major wheel alignment involving adjustments of the caster, camber and toe-in cost just over $20 in 1976. Three years later, the price had jumped to nearly $28.

Things could be worse. TRIP reports that American motorists got something of a break this year because last winter was milder than usual. As a result, drivers had to contend with "only" 82 million potholes. While that was down 13 percent from a year ago, it still represented an average of 42 potholes per mile of paved road.

Although the number of potholes declined this year, the cost of plugging them with asphalt filler, which is made from petroleum, did not. State highway departments will spend about $300 million dollars just to fill potholes this year. That's an increase of 17 percent from a year ago. And because the patches often are temporary, many of those potholes will reappear in the same places next year.

These Pioneer® brand cotton varieties do well in our area. We saw this variety stand up to conditions that saw other varieties deliver disappointing performances in 1980. From emergence through fruiting and on into harvest, Lockett 77 showed its strength throughout the season. It demonstrated its resistance to bacterial blight and the fusarium wilt-nematode complex. And it proved itself in a variety of management programs on both irrigated and non-irrigated land. Fiber quality has been good, too.

Certified PR80® — Seed for this variety is hard to come by, so many of our customers will have to wait for PR80 until next season. But we encourage you to keep an eye on this powerful new variety from Pioneer. You'll like its early maturity. And its yields will make you think twice about planting anything else. Along with resistance to many common cotton diseases, PR80 shows good fiber qualities and high yield. We really like the looks of this one! You will, too!

Senator Lloyd Bentsen

Watching Washington

If you're shopping for a house, be sure to add this to the price tag: the cost of government regulation. It can add as much as $2,500 to the price of the average new home, according to a report issued by the Joint Economic Committee, of which I am Chairman.

Those high regulatory costs are even higher for Americans seeking to take part in federal housing programs. They have to plow through an avalanche of paperwork in order to do business with the federal government.

Take, for example, government methods of appraising property. In 1963 the General Accounting Office recommended that the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration start using the same appraisal form, instead of two different ones.

But 13 years later, VA and FHA officials were still dragging their feet on the issue. In 1976 some 50,000 American homeowners had to pay $75 to the VA for an appraisal and then turn around and pay another $60 for an FHA appraisal because neither agency would accept the other's appraisal.

Each agency apparently feared that cooperation would somehow threaten its own program.

I wanted to lighten the paperwork burden and cut out needless costs heaped on participants in federal housing programs. In 1978 Congress passed my bill requiring all federal housing agencies to eliminate paperwork duplication by adopting common forms wherever possible.

Recently I received a report from the Department of Housing and Urban Development on efforts by federal housing agencies to comply with my legislation.

According to HUD, we've met with some success. Officials report that the FHA, the VA and the Farmers Home Administration have so far agreed on 20 common forms for such things as mortgages, home appraisals and settlement statements. And they hope to develop 200 more common forms in the not-too-distant future.

The agencies have reduced duplication in their housing programs, eliminated some of their requirements, simplified and clarified others and, in the process, also have "improved the working relationship among the three agencies," according to HUD.

I'm pleased that my paperwork reduction legislation has turned the tide. Not only has it reduced the paperwork burden on the American people, but HUD reports that the effort to comply has led to "an increased spirit of cooperation" among the individual agencies.

I'm not claiming that we've eliminated the federal paperwork burden, but we have lightened the load a little.

This victory is good news for the American people, but it's only one skirmish in the war against excessive government paperwork. I intend to keep attacking this problem until we can cut it down to size.

Some consider it bad luck to let your shadow fall on a tree.
