CATTLE—Choice 2@2 1/2c; common and inferior, 1 1/2@1 3/4c; calves, 2@2 1/2c; common and inferior $2.50@4 per head. SHEEP—Choice 2 3/4@3c; common and inferior 2@2 1/2c. HOGS—No demand, not quotable. Stock in pens Tuesday, Aug. 22, '87: Cows and heifers 154; calves and yearlings 143; sheep 446. Stock have been coming in freely within the last four days, and the gain in prices obtained under light receipts last week have tumbled back to the same old notch, of which butchers "generously" availed themselves by buying nearly eleven car-loads yesterday. Calves and sheep are badly overstocked, and shippers of such stock will probably swear when they get returns. Some fine 900 to 1000-lb beeves are on the market, and very dull sale at 2c, as butchers prefer lighter and cheaper stock.

The Cause of Texas Fever.

Denver Field and Farm.

There has always been considerable veterinary speculation indulged in as to the direct causes of Texas, Spanish, or perhaps more properly, splenic fever, so common on the Western plains during the hot days of summer, when the great herds of Texas are moving up from the Gulf. There are some peculiarities about the disease. In the first place it is a disease unknown in Texas. There is not a sick animal in the herd of those Texas cattle that spread the fatal disease. Their owners are willing to swear that not a single one was ever sick a single day. Native cattle that take the malignant form of the disease never communicate it to other native cattle. It is Texas cattle and those only that can spread the disease. Nowhere else in the world is the disease known. The question then is, "What is there in Texas that exists nowhere else in the world that produces this strange and fatal disease?"

It is the opinion of one authority that the infection of Texas fever lies in the matter of sore heels of those Texas cattle bitten by heel-flies of Texas. Men of honorable distinction have demonstrated by practical experiment that such is the case, and it is not at all probable that they would publish a lie, knowing that they would certainly be detected. It does not take a college education to decide the matter, but on the contrary a practical experiment and good common sense. There are not two or three causes for Texas fever; if it is found in the sore heels of those cattle bitten by the heel-fly it will be found nowhere else. At the abattoirs where Texas cattle are slaughtered the sore heels can be got without money and without price. Rub the sore heels with tissue paper and the infection will be on the paper, and it can be mailed and sent anywhere. It would pay the cattlemen of the West well to settle this matter beyond controversy by a few practical experiments. If the infection of Texas fever is not in the heel matter, it will prove harmless; if it is in the heel matter it will prove fatal. This question once settled beyond controversy, a simple inspection of the animals with or without sore heels would decide the question of danger. The theory that the disease is communicated by ticks on the backs and sides of the animals, and that these fall off on the range and are picked up with fatal effect by native stock, has never been fully demonstrated, nor has the parasites in the excrescence theory been satisfactorily proved. It is more likely to be the heel-fly than any of these things. We know the heel-fly of Colorado gives considerable trouble to cattle, and it is easy to imagine the little insect of Texas a venomous and dangerous thing.

HIDES

SAN ANTONIO.

THE recent season of drouth has developed the Texas ranchmen into great "bores." It is not gas they are after, but water

MESQUITE beans sell at 25c per barrel in the San Antonio market, and at that price are preferable to corn at 50c, especially for horses.

AN EXTENSIVE ranchero of the Southwest, who has both cattle, horses and sheep, says that the latter have been the best paying stock for the past two years.

WHEN a ranchman down this way wants a little spending money he starts out to round-up a few bronco horses. Like the planter's cotton, they always bring something.

NEVER in the memory of men in this section has the rain fall been so spotted as in this section, disproving the adage that it rains on the just and unjust; but who is who?

IT is reported that Boston capitalists intend to inaugurate a system of refrigerators in the range stock country. No field will offer so many practical endorsements as the Southwest. In Boston's millions and energy there is hope of successfully combating Chicago.

WHILE you are resting, trim up the mesquite trees in your pastures. The growth of the trimmed trees will surprise you, and in a few years the timber will be the best fence material that can possibly be obtained, besides affording shade for your stock in the meantime, and increased grass growing area.

SAN ANTONIO wants a "boom" and a committee was appointed in mass meeting Aug. 20th, to engineer its inauguration. From past events, it is evident that a refrigerator will not be used as one of the boom factors, but "health resort" is to be its chief reliance. It's cheaper, you know, but a very common article just now.

THE people all along the coast country up to within a few miles of San Antonio, outside of their own special locality, give Houston the preference in the location of a refrigerator. If that country is well canvassed the balance of subscription can be made out. Then North Texas should have one, and Texas would be well supplied for a beginning.

THE National Stockman of Pittsburg says that the interstate commerce law is working a hardship to the range cattlemen by increasing freights and abrogating shippers' passes. Where did the National Stockman get its information? As for Texas, which must be acknowledged to be no small factor in the range cattle industry, the said law reduced the freights fully 20 per cent. and the shippers get passes as they did before. The interstate commerce law is no hardship down this way.

Texas Fever in Iowa.

Mr. James E. Lee, well known in Southwest Texas as an extensive stock buyer, came down last week from his home in Iowa, where he has some 1200 head of Texas steers, and Mr. H. M. Letts has about as many more in the same neighborhood. He says that while it is very dry in that section still the cattle are doing very well, but that the stock running in the lanes adjoining the pastures, and reaching under wire fences to eat grass, are taking sick and die of what is called Texas fever. Mr. Lee does not pretend to give any explanation of it, but does not coincide much with Mr. Letts' theory that it is from the ticks, although he says that the ticks are very bad since the Texas cattle came. The laws of Iowa make the owner of the Texas cattle responsible for the stock dying from fever, even if the disease is taken from under or through the fences, which undoubtedly will in future prevent much Texas stock from being taken there for feeding. Among the heaviest losers is a farmer who lost 30 head of fine Polled Angus, but they took the fever from stock on the farm of the owner himself who placed them in pens formerly occupied by the Texans.

Houston Refrigerator.

Editor Texas Live Stock Journal:

We are receiving encouragement from all parts of the state, not only moral support but good large subscriptions from the most solid business men.

Could there be any other enterprise except this refrigerator, located as it is, so near one border of the state, that would receive the same universal encouragement and support from all classes of business men, bankers, merchants, farmers and stockmen having all come forward and shown their faith in the enterprise by investing their money and stock in it? Now is this not enough to convince the most skeptical that a large refrigerator and canner is of vital importance to all interests in the state, and that Houston is the best situation for such an enterprise? First, because it is the greatest railroad center in the state, whereby all inland markets can be reached. Secondly, because of easy access to water transportation, whereby all the markets of the world can be reached. Thirdly, and last, but not least, there is no place in the state that could furnish both such good pasturage and feed as conveniently as the Bayou City.

Now that all cattlemen have had this enterprise so fully and energetically brought before them, they must surely realize the importance of coming forward at once and taking stock as so many of their brothers have done. It will take the united efforts of all stockmen, both small and large, to insure the continued success of this enterprise. Surely the cattlemen will support a cause that they are directly interested in when others who were only indirectly interested have subscribed so liberally.

If every stockman in Texas was to donate one-tenth of his cattle to the enterprise, the remaining nine-tenths would be worth more money with the refrigerator killing and disposing of 500 to 1000 cattle per day than his entire stock is worth at present. But instead of a donation they will receive as pay for their subscription 25 per cent. cash and 75 per cent. stock that the Houston people are paying spot cash for, (dollar for dollar).

Furthermore, the stockmen will reap a double benefit; they get a home market for their cattle and participate in all the profits that may accrue to the corporation. I do not think that any enterprising cattleman will wait to be further importuned, with all these facts before him, but will come forward like men and help us throw off the monopolists' yoke that has crushed the very life out of our business. We need immediate action on the part of the stockmen, that this refrigerator may be put in operation by next fall, and they should write at once to Mr. C. E. Anderson, secretary of Texas Live Stock association, at Austin, Texas, for blank forms of subscription.

IKE T. PRYOR.

HORNS AND HOOF.

Fort Davis News:—Messrs. Dubois & Wentworth bought 1000 head of cattle from Mr. Welbridge, paying $9 round, and also purchased from E. L. Gage several sections of land lying north of Paisano Pass.

John J. Young brought up 115 head of horse stock from the Santa Anita ranch, Hidalgo county, and sold them out in less than twenty-four hours at very satisfactory figures. John says that while they were fat as seals they were the wildest lot ever brought to this market, and laughs in his sleeves when he thinks of the fun the Northern buyers will have in trying to civilize them.

Taylor Texan:—Five of Mr. Pumphrey's fine Short-horn cattle died from sunstroke or overheating last Wednesday while he was driving them from his pasture. The almost intolerable heat the past few days has been hard alike on man and beast.

Marfa New Era:—Alex Melvin and family of San Marcos passed through, en route to Jackman's ranch in Reeves county, which he will take charge of as general manager.

Marfa New Era:—Colonel H. C. King of San Antonio will arrive here in a few days. He will classify and appraise all land belonging to the state. He will act in conjunction with Colonel Corwin's party.

J. H. Chiles and W. H. Briggs of Elgin, Texas, are here after some horse stock.

John I. Clare of Bee county is here with a broad smile on his face. He recently made a good sale of stock cattle.

D. C. Rachal is back from Denver where he made a very short stay, having disposed of his cattle. He says that if those fellows want his stock in future, they must come down and put up the money in Texas.

F. O. Skidmore of Bee county is in town and says that his section will give the Houston refrigerator substantial encouragement. He has faith in its success.

Victoria Advocate:—Messrs. Rains & Perry, stockmen from the Indian Territory, who arrived in this section last week, purchased on Tuesday last from N. G. Gullett, 160 two and three-year-old steers at $8 and $10 per head, and on the following day purchased from Mrs. David Williams 100 steer yearlings at $6 per head, delivered at the stock yards in this city. These cattle, with others which they expect to purchase, will be shipped to pastures in the Indian Territory. They also purchased from Mr. Chas. Toups, on Thursday, 72 head of fine 3-year-old steers, at $13 per head.

Mr. Shaw of Austin recently bought some 600 head of yearlings about Pearsall for $6.50 per head.

J. L. Hickman of the Union stock yards says that trade is good these days. The drouth is a picnic for stock yards, as stock cannot be taken to the pastures.

Geo. S. Williamson, ranchman of Frio county, has moved his family to the city, and will make this his home for the time being.

Gen. Pedro A. Valdez, generally known as Pedro Winkler of Sabinas, Coahuila, Mexico, a noted partisan chieftain, and a large stock owner, died recently at his home. He spent his boyhood in San Antonio, and married a Miss Brown of this city, and was noted for his intrepidity as a leader of irregular troops always ready like the typical Irishman for a bit of fun, of which he had plenty in his life time.

W. M. Landrum, the Angora goat man of Uvalde, is back from a trip to Burnett county, where he went to look into the reported mineral resources, and brought a fine lot of specimens with him. His long residence in California gave him much practical experience in mineralogy, and he may yet strike something better than the pretty goats.

THE WOOL SACK.

Marfa New Era:—Raquel Moreno came over from Fort Davis with a flock of sheep which are to be sold here on the 19th instant at public auction. Raquel has sold his flock of about 700 muttons and 300 lambs to G. M. Gaither at $1 per head for the El Paso Refrigerating company.

D. M. Clarkson of Star ranch, Kinney county, is in the city. Mr. Clarkson's clip has been among the blue ribbon clips of the Southwest for many years.

The Knight Bros of Encinal county have engaged some of Burns' bucks.

J. T. Woodhull of Woodhull Bros., extensive sheepmen of Kinny county, says that he never saw stock looking so well at this time of year as it does now on his range. Woodhull Bros. have a large flock of pure-blooded merinos, and Mr. Woodhull says that the buck trade this year promises to be better than it has been for several years past.

S. J. Jordan of Encinal was here last week looking for bucks, but had to return, waiting the arrival of more.

Henry Burns brought in some 300 bucks and sold them out before he could say Jack Robinson. See his advertisement about 800 more. When he says that he has merinos people believe him. That accounts largely for his success in selling them.

Asher Richardson of Dimmitt county is at the Southern, having come up for bucks.

B. C. Flower, the genial sheepman of Zavala county, has come in for bucks, just like all the other live sheepmen of the Southwest.

J. V. Inskeep of Gillespie county is down for bucks and kicks because he can't find them.

Bud Bothwell of Missouri is here with a car-load of bucks.

Sheepmen are now plentier in town than cowmen. It is buck buying season.

The latest returns of the agricultural department place the value of the leading farm products at $4,014,000,000 yearly. This alone, independent of manufactures, fisheries, etc.

DALLAS.

The government records place the value or worth of the United States at $48,000,000,000.

The amount of wheat, oats and corn in the Mississippi valley is placed at less than half a crop.

An exchange says: "There is money in buying corn at 35c per bushel and feeding it to pork at 4c."

Up to date this season we have exported about 2600 barrels of pork; bacon and beans, 10,000,000 lbs., and of lard about 5,000,000 lbs. in round numbers.

Within the past year about $160,000,000 have been invested in Southern states, $400,000,000 in new buildings, with at least $300,000,000 in land, farms and city property.

It is claimed that France raised 300,000,000 bushels of wheat this season, which is about 15,000,000 bushels more than last year. The foreign crop, generally, is said to be a fair one.

In 1865 Al wool sold at $1.02 a pound, while the coarse article brought 96c. The amount of merino wool now, from all sources, exceeds the annual clip of 1865 at least 300,000,000 lbs.; so says a writer in the Ohio Farmer.

Nebraska and California papers vie with each other in telling how many tons of alfalfa Jim Smith and Bill Jones of those respective states have cut the present season. What we want to know is, the size of the pile these same gentlemen have harvested here in Texas.

A Confidential Chat.

Says Dr. Pope: "I don't think you STOCK JOURNAL men discuss in a sufficiently close and practical way the real methods tending to the development of the stock and farming interests of Texas, and I read very closely, too, your paper, as I have always been interested, more or less, in the raising of stock, and, in fact, for twenty-five years I owned and operated a plantation on the lower waters of the Mississippi. I lived in New Orleans then and"

"Are you not mistaken, Dr.?" says the JOURNAL man; "are you certain that we don't give at least a fair summary of good solid and practical advice, as a rule? Our claim is, and in fact we rather boast, that we do that particular thing. We canvass the best minds and the most successful men engaged in the business, and we are not sparing in our appreciation of the best ideas gleaned in this way."

"I met Mr. Warren of Weatherford recently; he fills my idea of the real stockman; he is a benefit to the people and the state; such men always are; he is importing and breeding registered stock, and he should be encouraged in it. I am a great admirer of fine stock of all kinds; I like fine chickens. I think, shortly, I will get on a farm out somewhere, conveniently situated on some of the roads, and try my hand. I like it. I used to raise a great many hogs on the Mississippi, but the help upon which I had to depend was such as to relieve the business of all the pleasure and margins which, under different circumstances, would accrue. Sorghum is a great feed for hogs, and we ought to raise more. The idea of Texas, one of the grandest agricultural sections on the globe, sending abroad for her pork!"

"Certainly; all the pork used in the state should be packed in Texas; a packery in Dallas could be as successfully operated, as if in Kansas City or Chicago, or anywhere else. Why not? The principles of packing will apply here the same as elsewhere. Texas farmers, from what I see, know but little of the "rotation of crop" system and the many failures, or, rather short crops, are in the main due to this oversight. Certain crops exhaust certain chemical properties of the soil, and in the absence of rain, the plant, for want of the conditions supplied by that property, perishes. The study of the soils, their combination and relative dependence in the make-up of vegetable growth, is beautiful and comprehensive. You should talk more farming to your readers. It is a subject, like geometry, inexhaustible in its application. O, I like farming; it is such a field for study. I am coming out to see your hogs and chickens, soon."

Dr. Pope is, perhaps, the finest chemist in the South, and what he says about the soils, and the absolute propriety of freshening it that good and satisfactory results may be insured, is worthy of acceptance. In fact the preservation of nature's relationship in the component parts of the soils, constitute the life of the soil. There are thirteen elements in the make-up of the soil and the impoverishment or destruction of one is proportionately destructive to the fruit of your labor.

Col. C. C. Slaughter, it is said, is doing Chicago with the view, no doubt, of doing the needful thing when the market inflates a little.

J. B. Wilson is away up somewhere on the Canadian lakes!!! The situation is before you!!

Maj. W. R. McIntire is quietly nestled away in the mountains of Tennessee, and won't come home until the Mexican band marches into our city to do the big thing at our great fair and exposition.

DALLAS DOTS.

Said a stockman to a JOURNAL man Tuesday: "This growing habit, or custom, of spaying cows and pushing calves and unmatured cattle generally, onto the market, will eventually be the means of an unprecedented advance of prices in the business."

There has been some talk among the knowing ones of establishing an alliance university at some point in Texas.

W. R. Fisher, residing about one and a half miles west of Dallas, had a fine pair of mules killed by the delayed west-bound passenger train Friday morning last. The engineer applied all the whistling powers at hand, but the mules, side by side, kept the track with the engine following close behind until they were tripped and under the engine they went, and for a distance of half a mile there was strewn chunks of flesh, ribs, bones, etc. The pair were valued at $400. The train was running about 45 miles an hour and how it happened to not be thrown from the track was the wonder of a dozen or more who witnessed the race.

Reports from the West are to the effect that it is generally very dry, and the results to the stock are severe. Many cattle have absolutely died for want of water. Much trouble, seemingly, has been occasioned by the absence of sufficient wind to operate the wind-mills.

Taylor Bros. say: "Good cows are worth about 1½c gross—cows that will weigh, say 1000 lbs; steers of the same weight 2c on the Dallas market. The steer will net half and the cow about 45 per cent. of the gross weight. Of this, offal, hide and tallow are of course saved. The butcher pays for his cow, net, 3½c per pound and retails it at 8 and 12½c. He pays 4c for the steer and sells it at the same figures—a profit of 100 to 200 per cent.—all this besides hides and tallow." There are those who think the butchers ought all to get rich.

We introduce to our readers this week Hill's Business College, Waco, Texas. This institution grows and popularizes with age. The faculty is of the best.

Messrs. McKinney Bros., representing a large merchant tailoring establishment in Ohio, have selected quarters at 708 Main street. They are gentlemanly business men, and the STOCK JOURNAL will have occasion to speak of them further before the turning of the Ides.

R. B. Godley is holding a "seance" with the boys at Colorado City this week.

Charlie Carter of Carter & Son is rusticated in Chicago. On his return he promises to be heard from weekly through the STOCK JOURNAL. Meantime our readers will just have to wait.

Capt. S. B. Clowney is doing Sherman this week.

The committee on the location of the State Alliance cotton exchange, mill, publishing house, etc., has not thus far settled upon any point. It is understood the competition between Dallas, Fort Worth and Waco in the bonus line is at blood-heat, with the tendency upward.

Gen. R. M. Gano is in that historic retreat, the Blue Grass region of Kentucky, and it is intimated that he is rounding up another shipment of Shorthorns for West Texas.

Mr. Geo. A. Jones, postmaster at Arnold, is agent for the Monthly TEXAS LIVE STOCK JOURNAL. Miss Kizzie Beckley of Ka, and J. P. Berry of Cedar Hill are similarly related, and the JOURNAL is in good hands.

Poor's Manual of Railroads.

Poor's directory of railroad officials for 1887 is now published. It contains lists of officers of steam railway companies in the United States and Canada; officers of all street railroad companies in the United States and Canada; officers of private tram and lumber railroads, etc.; officers of auxiliary enterprises—express, sleeping car, equipment companies, etc.; officers of industrial enterprises dependent on the railway system—car axle manufacturers, car builders, car-wheel manufacturers, car-spring manufacturers, rail mills, locomotive builders, contractors, etc.; officers of associations of railroad officials and railroad employes, boards of railroad commissioners, etc., etc. To these are added special lists of general managers, general superintendents, chief engineers, master mechanics, master car builders, master car painters, general freight and passenger agents, purchasing agents; an alphabetical index to the names of all the officials above mentioned, with a convenient system of reference, showing lines with which each is connected; and an alphabetical index of cities and towns, by means of which can be ascertained the names of all officials in any particular city or town at once.

This work is valuable and indorsed by all railroad authorities. The price is $2 per copy, sent to H. V. & H. W. Poor, 70 Wall street, New York.

Evidence of Merit.

The best evidence of the merit of any article offered for sale to the people is its popularity—that is, the readiness with which it sells. If a baking powder, for instance, fails to give entire satisfaction in any particular, the cook never fails to complain and it becomes unsalable.

Nobody has ever complained about Silver Loaf Baking Powder because it is full strength, absolutely pure chemically, and makes the most wholesome bread of any powder on the market. The guarantee of J. H. Brown is in itself sufficient to make it go like hot cakes.

Summer Goods.

Beautiful linen lawns, in four hundred different styles, can be bought at from 15 to 25 cents at B. C. Evans Co's, Fort Worth, Texas.

Pure Ingredients.

The widespread popularity of Silver Loaf baking powder is due to the strength and purity of the ingredients that enter into its composition, and repeated chemical tests place it side by side with the most popular brands in the market and show it the peer of any powder yet offered the public. The manufacturer asks only a trial with other brands, and is willing to abide the result.

THE CLIP.

In Boston, says the Post, there is a steady demand for Texas wools at old quotations.

Boston Post:—There has been a good demand for wool this week. Manufacturers are plenty and most of them are buying large lots. All large sales are made at concessions. There is a demand for black wools, and medium wools are not quite so active. There is still a pressure to sell wool.

Total sales of Texas wools in Boston last week were 216,000 pounds, all on p. t.

Mr. Henry M. Martin of Manning, Harding & Martin, reports the Montana clip at about 6,000,000 pounds, of which only 1,500,000 pounds have been sold by the growers. The balance will be sent East on consignment.

A Woolen Mill.

Under the head of special mention, in this week's issue of the American Wool Reporter appears the following piece of information which, if true, will be of interest to the entire city:

"Wm. Barr will build a woolen mill at Fort Worth, Texas."

No mention is made of time, nor is the reader given any idea who Wm. Barr is. It is fair to presume, however, that he is well known among factory men of the East, and that he has signified his intention of making Fort Worth his base of operation for Western business. A positive statement from the American Wool Reporter is generally backed by something substantial.

The New Land Act.

Fort Worth Mail.

Land Commissioner R. M. Hall arrived in the city this morning from Austin, and is on his way to the Pan Handle country to consult with the people there and to arrange for the enforcement of the new land law, and for the settlement of Greer county. Commissioner Hall has arrived at the conclusion that the new law does not authorize the sale, by the state, of Greer county lands, but proposes to lease at four cents per acre to actual settlers, who may go ahead and make improvements with the assurance that the legislature will give such settlers preference over all other purchasers. It is believed this arrangement will be quite acceptable to the settlers as it is really better than a present purchase. The settler will be restricted in improving to the acreage he would be allowed to purchase were the land on the market for sale, and he will have the exclusive possession of the land upon the payment of a yearly rent of four cents per acre. Commissioner Hall will leave for the Pan Handle to-morrow morning.

Hogs Charged With Dynamite.

Henderson (Ky.) Journal.

A remarkable case of dynamite explosion is related by Henry Simpson, a resident of the Point. Simpson had been using dynamite for the purpose of blowing several old stumps out of the ground. Yesterday he carelessly left the dangerous compound lying by the side of a stump, on which he intended to begin operations this morning. The dynamite was mixed with sawdust and gave an exceedingly pleasant odor, which attracted the attention of two of Simpson's hogs, which soon had converted themselves into gigantic cartridges. The stuff, when eaten, creates a peculiar sensation, which annoyed one of the hogs to such an extent that it entered Simpson's stables and began rubbing its side against a post at the mouth of a mule's stall. The mule remained passive but for a few moments, when it gave the hog a terrific kick in the side. A tremendous explosion followed, and after the clearing away of the smoke and dust, the hog was to be found only in detachments, while an enormous aperture marked the spot where it had stood. The mule received a tremendous shock, but was still intact. The other hog is now running at large, greatly to the terror of the entire neighborhood. Neither of these hogs belong to Mr. Joseph Mulhatten.

ST. LOUIS MARKET LETTER.

Better Prices, and a Prevailing Opinion that the Future is Good.

EAST ST. LOUIS, ILLS., }
Aug. 23, 1887. }

Regular Correspondence Texas Live Stock Journal.

I canvassed the situation the past three or four days, relative to probable future values, and I find that the opinion expressed by commission salesmen is almost unanimous in one respect. They all agree that the bottom has been reached and the low prices of the latter part of July and first part of August are gone, not to return for some time to come—perhaps for years. There is one plain fact in view, and that fact must not be forgotten. The drouth hereabouts has scared feeders badly. Kansas will not turn out a great number of cattle between now and Christmas, while the grass on the plains of Illinois has been withered and stock the past sixty days has fared badly, and farmers have no grass and but little fodder, as the corn crop of Illinois will prove a failure. Even now but few fat and heavy native beeves are offered and now all classes of buyers must take Texas and Indian steers.

The receipts the past week of Texas and Indian steers was quite large and the quality only fair at most, the bulk consisting of common to medium steers Good and prime steers more than maintained their own and are now at the close fully 10@20c per 100 lbs higher than when I wrote my last letter. The outlook for the immediate future on these grades quite flattering. Here are a few sales:

In the sheep market there is but little change to note from that of the week previous. Fair to fancy native Colorado and Texas muttons are in active demand from all classes of buyers and the moderate supply, which was not of the best of quality, found prompt disposal at pretty strong prices. Eastern shippers can not operate to the extent they desire. Prices range in extremes from $2.75@3.75 per 100 lbs for Texas muttons, with the bulk of sales at $3@3.25 per 100 lbs., common and stock sheep a little slow, as feeders are not buying very freely at present on account of the drouth. Native sheep bring but very little above Texas sheep.

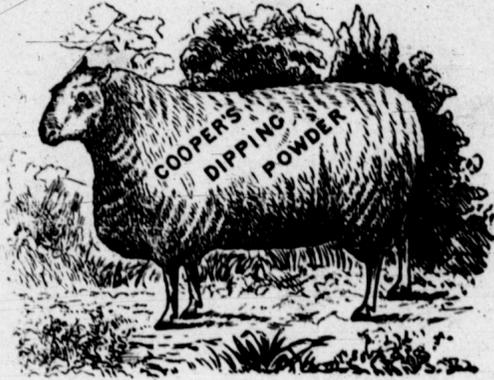

The wool market shows some signs of improvement and the market is a little better than for some time past. Prices are more steady and some life is to be witnessed. Quotations are unchanged.

Office of publication and business, 210 West Second Street, next door to the Daily Gazette, Fort Worth, Texas.
Entered at the postoffice, Fort Worth Texas, as second-class mail matter.

UPON the suggestion of a correspondent that the stockmen of the range country owed the late Col. S. P. Cunningham a debt of gratitude for his long service in their behalf, which could be best discharged by the erection of a simple shaft to his memory, the STOCK JOURNAL proposed that a fund be raised by subscription for that purpose. Several of the cattlemen of this state and elsewhere have responded with subscriptions, and though the work has gone along slowly, there is a good advance already made. It is a worthy object, and the STOCK JOURNAL again calls upon its readers to lend their assistance to honoring the memory of the man who was, in his lifetime, a hard worker for them. Subscriptions sent to this paper will be promptly acknowledged. So far we have the following:

A Montana paper says: "Never in the history of stock husbandry has the feed been as good as it will be this fall and winter."

The Caldwell (Kas.) Journal reports a lively trade in wolf scalps, the outgrowth of a reward offered by the Cherokee Strip Live Stock association.

The Reno, Nev., Gazette says: "On the Rickey ranch there are employed 100 hands, and there are in constant operation twelve mowing machines, which will at the end of the season have cut from 12,000 to 15,000 tons of alfalfa."

The merchants of Durango, Colorado, have sold nearly four car-loads of alfalfa seed this season, which means, argues a local reporter, "50,000 acres of this flourishing food and about three tons to the acre—feed for 100,000 head of cattle." Texas stockmen will please take notice.

A 200-acre plantation in Florida is being devoted to the cultivation of flowers. When we consider that the extract from the same are marketed at, upon an average, $100 a pint, what would otherwise show a real small business assumes respectable proportions.

Would not the immense amount of pork shipped into the state annually justify the establishment of a pork-packer at some available point in the corn district? If not, why not? We would like to have an expression from experienced hands on this point. It can be done in Dallas, as cheaply and successfully and with as much profit as in Kansas City or Chicago.

The live stock commissioners of Illinois are out in a card with the good news that pleuro-pneumonia has been wiped from the state. Eight thousand head of infected cattle have been slaughtered in the eradication of the disease and the governor comes forward in a very solicitous appeal to other states that have instituted quarantine, to drop the same, and for which he gives out the assurance that he "would, indeed, feel very much obliged."

THE STOCK JOURNAL has received from the Department of State a copy of the "Consular Reports on Cattle and Dairy Farming." The book is a large one of 825 pages, profusely illustrated with colored plates of the different breeds of cattle of the world, and the matter is made up of reports of the U. S. consuls in various countries. This is one of the most valuable contributions to live stock literature that has ever come from the public printing office, and it is a great pity that the edition was so limited that it is already almost exhausted.

EVERY passing day brings evidence to reinforce the STOCK JOURNAL'S position that the cattle business is on the rise, and that the future is bright with hope. The live stock press of the country are investigating the true condition of affairs, and the result is an agreement with this paper in the opinion that the beef cattle in the country now are fewer in proportion to consumers than ever before, and very soon the demand must begin to get beyond the supply. Then prices will go up.

FRANCE enacts a law to repress the fraudulent sale of oleomargarine as butter that is about as stringent as that adopted by congress last summer. It prohibits selling, or exposing for sale, import or export, under the name of butter, of any margarine or other substitute for butter, or mixture of any such substances with butter. Retail dealers in oleomargarine or other substitutes for butter are to notify buyers of the character of the article, and to have it plainly marked on the package. Manufacturers and wholesale dealers are to plainly mark or brand every package so as to show the actual character of its contents, and all transportation companies, or persons who carry any substitutes for butter, are to keep plainly entered in their books and way-bills a record of the brands or marks on all such package transported. The penalties for violation of the law are imprisonment for six days to six months, and a fine of ten to six hundred dollars.

THE STOCK JOURNAL is in receipt of the following letter of inquiry:

MULVANE, KANSAS, Aug. 19, 1887.

Editor Texas Live Stock Journal:

We wish to purchase some cottonseed meal, and now that we have railroad communication with Texas, presume we can buy cheaper of dealers in your section than in Kansas City or St. Louis. If you will be so kind as to inform us where and of whom the article can be purchased we shall be greatly obliged.

REYNOLDS & DAVED.

Dealers who have cottonseed for sale can communicate with Messers. Reynolds & Daved. They would probably find it a paying investment, too, to advertise in the STOCK JOURNAL, giving the public notice that they have such goods for sale.

WILL the gentlemen who are shouting lustily that there is everywhere an overproduction of cattle, please stand up and account for the immense sales of cattle in all Eastern markets the past three months?—Exchange.

Perhaps "overmarketing" is a more exact word than "overproduction." There are more cattle now going to market than are being produced on the ranches and the stock farms. The consequence is that while production is at a standstill, or actually decreasing, the market still suffers from the glut of cattle put on it, and will suffer until the shortage begins to make itself felt. No, it is not overproduction, but overmarketing that the cattle business now suffers from.

A young calf, says a writer, weighing 100 pounds, consists of but four pounds of animal matter, 25 pounds of albuminoids, 5 pounds of fat and 66 pounds of water. As it grows and develops in size the 34 pounds of solid matter is gradually added to.

"Raise finer and better stock," is a quite common and acceptable heading for the efforts of the stock writer now-a-days. The great amount of solid truth embodied in the statement, too, will enable it to stand the wear and tear that must of necessity follow in the wake of such an ordeal.

Arkansas, inspired, no doubt, by the noble example set by Texas, has gathered her forces together with the view of holding a state fair and exposition at Little Rock this fall, and to that end the fact is being loudly heralded abroad. Nothing is more conducive to a state's development and prosperity than a well planned and elaborate exhibit of the goods and chattels in store.

THE PANHANDLE.

A Special Edition of the Stock Journal.

The thirty-two page Monthly Edition of the TEXAS LIVE STOCK JOURNAL will be issued between September 25th and October 1st and will be devoted to the resources of the PANHANDLE OF TEXAS.

The issue will contain a new map of the Panhandle district, showing the Fort Worth & Denver road and connections, and will also contain a description of the country, character of the soil, rainfall, products, etc., together with the land laws of the state and other important laws affecting the settlement of the country. It will be a text-book of the Panhandle and of Northwest Texas.

The Panhandle Construction company, together with the Fort Worth & Denver railroad, takes several thousand copies of the paper, and the entire edition will exceed

FIFTY THOUSAND COPIES.

Land owners and merchants who are interested in the development of the country on the line of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad and in the Panhandle should take this opportunity to advertise their properties and to purchase a number of the papers to send to their connections at a distance. Such an investment will pay large dividends to land owners in the development of the country in which they have an interest.

M. O. Lynn, the Palo Pinto Cattleman, Attached for $10,000.

Ft. Worth Evening Mail, Aug. 23.

Yesterday afternoon an attachment suit was filed in the district clerk's office by Joseph H. Brown against M. O. Lynn, the Palo Pinto county cattleman, seeking to recover the amount of principal interest and penalties due on six notes, which will aggregate $10,000. An attachment bond for $20,000 was filed and writs of attachments were at once issued to Palo Pinto and other counties in which the defendant is known to have property. The notes sued on are for the sums of $838.35, $2338.34, $1354.32, made payable to Joseph H. Brown; $1454.93, $490, $1070.50, made payable to the Martin-Brown Co., and transferred to J. H. Brown. The filing of this suit will no doubt be a surprise to many people, as Lynn has been regarded as one of the solid cattlemen of the state, who stood above high-water mark.

The numerous friends of Mark Lynn will read with surprise and regret of his misfortune. He stood high in business circles, and socially his qualities were such as to make friends wherever he went.

Mr. Lynn's assets are said to consist about 20,000 head of cattle, a fine farm in Palo Pinto county, and about 70,000 acres of good land in Haskell county. It is the hope of all that he will come out of his business troubles without great loss.

If you have catarrh, use the surest remedy—Dr. Sage's.

Edna Progress:—Dr. E. M. Shaw purchased last Saturday from Mr. O. J. LaBauve 300 head of stock cattle at $5 per head. Mr. W. H. Clary sold last week to Mr. J. D. Mitchell 200 head of stock cattle at $12, $7, $5.50 and $5 per head.

PANHANDLE NEWS.

MOBEETIE, Aug. 22, 1887.

Four surveying corps of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, comprising a party of forty, arrived here last week, and are now at work making the preliminary surveys for the extension of the Frisco into the Panhandle. One corps is working westward, having orders to go as far as Panhandle in Carson county; the other three are working toward Reno, I. T., to connect with a survey being made westward from that point. The chief engineer has rented an office here, and it is stated that this will be made the base of operations for some time to come. It is regarded as almost settled that Mobeetie will get the road and that it will be built into the Panhandle as rapidly as possible.

Inquiries are pouring in from all directions concerning the new towns in the Panhandle, and the prospects of each becoming the future city of this country. To all these but one answer can be given: that as yet it is but a mere matter of speculation as to where the lightning of fortune is going to strike. Interest seems to center in the crossing of the Fort Worth & Denver and the Southern Kansas roads, but where it is to be is a profound mystery, the key to which is locked up in the bosoms of the railroad officials. If the Atlantic & Pacific from the west, the Southern Kansas from the north, the St. Louis & San Francisco from the east and the Fort Worth & Denver from the south should chance to form a junction on the plains, a thriving city would undoubtedly spring up there. Twelve months will probably tell what is to be the city of the Panhandle, and when it is definitely located it will generate a boom that will eclipse the record of any city in the state.

Henry Hamburg, one of the cleverest ranchmen on the range, is back from a trip to Fort Worth, Austin and Sherman.

Mr. G. W. Boyd of Collingsworth county passed through Mobeetie last week, en route home from Hunnewell, Kansas, where he made a sale of 450 head of cattle. The price received was $9 for yearlings, $13 for two-year-olds and $19 for three and four-year-olds, which Mr. Boyd says is the best sale of Texas cattle made there this season.

The Rocking-Chair ranch in Collingsworth county shipped 729 steers last week, which were estimated to weigh on an average 1000 pounds.

The Cresswell Land and Cattle company of Ochiltree shipped 545 head of fine heeves to Kansas City last week.

The Moody-Andrews company of Hemphill county shipped 500 steers and calves at Higgins last week.

The Hansford Cattle company shipped 650 beeves at Higgins last week, from its ranch in Hutcheson county.

Mr. Harris of Lampasas county brought in a drove of 500 cattle last week, which he is holding in Wheeler county with a view to exchanging for Panhandle land.

The surveying party that is locating the lines and corners of the H. & G. N. railroad surveys is now working in Childress county, and after finishing up there will go to Wheeler.

Jeff Jones, who was recently involved in a shooting scrape with John Pope, manager of the Shoe Bar ranch in Hall county, which came near terminating fatally for both parties, has been adjudged insane by the county court of Donley. It is thought that Jones' mental troubles are the result of two very severe falls he lately received while chasing cattle. In both cases his horse fell upon him, inflicting dangerous bruises about the head. Jones has always borne a good character as a man of sober and industrious habits, and his misfortune is deeply regretted by many friends.

S. L. Straughan, surveyor of Hemphill county, has been appointed state classifier of school land for Hemphill and Roberts counties. He will begin his duties in this connection this week.

The first term of district court ever held in the newly organized county of Childress concluded last week, after a five-days' session. There was but little business to be disposed of. The criminal class have discovered that the Panhandle climate is too unhealthy for them, and have emigrated to other regions where the officers are less vigilant.

Several showers have fallen all around Mobeetie since our last report. The grass is still fine and cattle sleek and fat.

The Texas Herds Now in Colorado.

We present to our readers this week a complete list of all Texas and New Mexican cattle now on open market in Colorado. From the present outlook the price will surely increase. Chicago, Omaha and Kansas City are reporting firm markets, with a slight upward tendency. The present low prices offer better inducements to buyers than any previous period for a long time in the cattle business.

"I Love Her Better than Life."

Well, then, why don't you do something to bring back the roses to her cheeks and the light to her eyes? Don't you see she is suffering from nervous debility, the result of female weakness? A bottle of Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" will brighten those pale cheeks and send new life through that wasting form. If you love her, take heed.

New York Sun:—A farmer in Greensboro, Md., thinking to change his grade of potatoes, barreled all he had, shipped them to Baltimore, and ordered a few barrels of extra fine Northern potatoes for seed. While barreling his own tubers he lost his spectacles. When he received his Northern seed potatoes he found his missing spectacles in one of the barrels. Such things destroy confidence.

FORT WORTH NOTES.

Another bountiful rain fell upon the country around Fort Worth last Monday afternoon and through the night. The cotton crop will feel the effects of it, and grass will put the cattle in good winter condition.

The Gazette has been interviewing the cattlemen of Fort Worth, and finds that they have little confidence in the success of the Houston refrigerator. That is a largely prevailing opinion among the stockmen of the Northern part of the state, though there are many who will do all they can to start the Houston enterprise, hoping for some relief from it.

Another dull week of trading in Fort Worth. But as we are doing as well as anybody in the business elsewhere, our dealers do not complain.

Says the Fort Worth Gazette: Last week a number of cars of stock belonging to Jesse Evans of Big Springs were thrown from the track. Five head of stock were killed and the rest of the 372 head scattered over the country. When the loss was made known by the company, L. S. Thorn, master of transportation; W. W. Finley, general freight agent, and S. G. Harris, general live stock agent, went to Big Springs to see Mr. Evans. A settlement at $15 per head was agreed upon and Mr. Finley wired the auditor to send Mr. Evans a check for the money, which check Mr. Evans received to-day. The company has rounded up nearly all the cattle and will not be out much. This settlement was made very promptly and shows a desire on the part of the Texas & Pacific to do the fair thing promptly.

Mr. N. Miller of Glenrose has a bunch of good Durham cattle which he offers at low prices.

T. C. Andrews, late of the firm of Jno. S. Andrews & Co., is now associated with J. M. Kuhen in the land and live stock trade, under the name of Andrews & Kuhen. The firm have the best wishes of the JOURNAL for a large and successful business.

Mr. McCrovy, a representative of the Wichita Land and Cattle company, tells a reporter of the Gazette that his company would not take any interest in the Houston Refrigerator company, it being too far away for them. This company might take an interest in such an enterprise in Fort Worth, and in any event propose to wait and see what the people of Fort Worth will do before offering encouragement to the Houston concern.

Leslie Combs of Louisville, Kentucky, manager of the Moyne Cattle company, ranging in Knox county and in the Nation, was in town going up the Denver. He is now marketing a lot of steers .950 to 1000 pounds, at $3.15@3.30, originally Victoria county yearlings, purchased at $12 around three years ago. He bought heifers at the same time and has a goodly increase in cattle.

Mr. J. W. Haley of Haley & Reiger of Johnson county was in town on Thursday, going north with horses. He expects to reach Pittsburgh by way of St. Louis.

A. P. Moore, manager of the Rio Cattle company, was in town during the week, coming from the West.

Felix Mann of Menard county was in town on Thursday. He is one of the old-time stockman, but has a magnificent farm on the head of the San Saba, where the land is irrigated by a ditch from the river. The ditch irrigates 6000 acres in all, and it is one of the most valuable properties in the state. Large crops are always raised, regardless of rainfall. Mr. Mann has great faith in the future of the cattle business.

Henry Ellers, one of the hands on the Goodnight range, managed to get into an altercation last March and after a scuffle that ensued had a knife blade sticking into his skull; it was broken off close, and for a time caused him no inconvenience. Lately he began to suffer from headache, and went to find a physician and have it removed. Some unsuccessful attempts were made and finally Dr. J. D. Stocking of Clarendon removed it with a very strong pair of forceps; the blade was about five-eighths of an inch in the brain. After attention the man moved off, apparently very much relieved.

Messrs. Dulany, Wilson & Maupin sold several single animals during the week, including work horses at $65@75, a good saddle horse at $95, and handy ponies at $40. They report a good inquiry for stock.

Messrs. R. E. Maddox & Co. sold to Mr. Goodman of Corsicana two cars of two and three-year-old mules, raised in Middle Texas, at $45; also to Mr. Sims of Louisiana at $35 around, a car of North Texas mules. The firm also shipped cars of mares to Vicksburg and other cities in Mississippi.

Colonel John G. James of Wichita Falls informs the JOURNAL that inquiry for young steers is getting rather brisk in the Northwest, and directly a general rain falls lively action may be expected.

Mr. John F. Evans of the Spade ranch came down from the Panhandle on Tuesday, going home to Sherman. He reports his beef in better condition than usual and that he will put a thousand beeves on the market.

The New York report of Wednesday shows five cars of Texas steers on the market and sold at $4.50.

ROUND-UPS.

Mr. A. Maclean has sold the Emerson horses to F. de la Grandiere, a stockman of Nolan county. The sale includes 200 head of stock horses and the big stallion, Black King. Terms private.

Wichita Falls Herald:—Sheriff Board of Baylor county was in the Falls during the week. This worthy official is somewhat of a farmer as well as a terror to the lawless. He is said to have raised some of the finest wheat and oats that were grown anywhere in this section of the country. He does not think he has any advantage of his neighbors in the way of richer soil or better seasons, but attributes his success to getting his crops in early. In this Mr. Board is unquestionably right. Everything planted here wants to be gotten in early and allowed to mature before the hot winds of midsummer have time to blight and ruin. We firmly believe if ground in this country is broken in the fall and broken deep and allowed to get the benefit of the winter rains and then seeded early that it will produce as well as any country in the world.

A stockman just arrived in Colorado City from the Syndicate ranch, a reliable person, says that the report of losses of cattle at the Syndicate ranch was greatly exaggerated, as he has just ridden the portion of the ranch reported from and found the total losses to be less than 700 head. This man says that the story of the enormous death rate originated from unreliable sources, and though reported in good faith by others, can be authoritatively denied. The recent rains in the Panhandle extended over a area of the Syndicate ranch and have greatly improved matters.

WELLSVILLE, O., August 16.—A novel and terrific battle was witnessed on the farm of a man named McGregor, near Wellsville, Ohio, to-day. A Durham bull and a Clydesdale stallion were grazing in adjoining lots, when something aroused the ire of the bull and he jumped into the other field. A fierce combat ensued between the two huge animals, which resulted in a victory for the Durham in ten minutes. The bull retreated a distance of twenty feet and made a terrific rush for his adversary, goring him in a vital spot, causing instant death. All attempts to separate the animals were futile. The horse was a magnificent animal, weighing over eighteen hundred pounds.

San Angelo Enterprise:—Wm. Childress is delivering 1600 to 1700 head of cattle to M. B. Pulliam, S. A. Stewart, J. R. Nasworthy and J. W. Johnson.

San Angelo Standard:—Ed McCarthy of the Titus Machine and Tool company killed a leopard cat on J. B. Holt's South Concho ranch Monday. He was putting in a hydraulic ram at the time, and was told of the leopard's whereabouts by a couple of boys. Arming himself with a double-barreled shot-gun and bowie knife, he proceeded to the tree in the branches of which the leopard was supposed to be, and when about 20 feet from the beast Ed blazed away at its head, hitting it every time. At the third shot he came down from the tree with a lightning bound, and attempted to attack the brave hunter, who waited with his gun poised until the animal was almost at the muzzle of the weapon, when he pulled the trigger, and Mr. Leopard took a double somersault backwards and fell dead in a heap. The skin, with its black and white spots, is very beautiful, and was shown to a Standard reporter Thursday. This is the second animal of the kind that is known to have been killed in this section.

San Angelo Standard:—Harry Roberts of Kennedy & Roberts of Concho county was in the city Thursday, making arrangements with Titus to put up an 8-horse-power steam pumping outfit on their ranch. The horse-power pumping jack does not furnish all the water they want, and they have decided to go the whole hog. They are not likely to shear this fall.

San Angelo Standard:—There is a sheepman in this county who has last fall and this spring's clips stored in Colorado City. He is about to shear again, and will make a desperate effort to sell all three clips together.

What the Range Men Should Do.
Denver Range Journal.

Our exchanges show that in all parts of the country large numbers of cows and heifers are being spayed. The effect of this will not be immediately noticeable, and for this reason it will probably be carried too far before the mistake is discovered. When the reaction in prices once more comes all stockmen will point to the fact of barren heifers and the large shipments of cows from the range country as the prime cause of high prices. The steer crop cannot be held up to present proportions except by the steady annual production. Should every cow and heifer on the plains be slaughtered this year the number of three-year-old steers would be as great as ever next year, but they would be very conspicuous by their absence two years later, and everyone knows what the effect would be on prices. So, while the effect of the policy that has been pursued for the past eighteen months as to cows and heifers has not yet been felt, it will be suddenly felt in the near future. The opportunity to rapidly build up large herds in many parts of the range country will have passed by that time, but cattle will be in general request, and will be profitable to raise on a small scale. No man can certainly fix the time when the advance will come, but cattle raising is not the only stock business that can be profitably engaged in. While some people believe that there has been an excessive production, it has never been claimed that there has been an overproduction of good horses. There has always been a steady demand for good horses at prices that would well pay the producer, and this branch of the stock business is open to many ranchmen whose opportunities for cattle raising in the old way have been curtailed. We believe it can be demonstrated that there is more profit in one hundred good mares which are judiciously bred than in three hundred cows, even when cattle prices are satisfactory. The mares cannot only be kept on less territory, but will do well where cattle could not be kept at all. Horses do not require water so often and can travel three times as far with beneficial instead of injurious effects. They will paw away snow and obtain feed when cattle would starve to death. It would seem that a great many ranchmen while waiting for better times in the cattle business might very profitably engage in raising some good horses, and we have no doubt that the experiment would lead many of them to abandon the cattle business.

How Pale You Are!

Is frequently the exclamation of one lady to another. The fact is not a pleasant one to have mentioned, but still the act may be a kindly one, for it sets the one addressed to thinking, apprises her of the fact that she is not in good health, and leads her to seek a reason therefor. Pallor is almost always attendant upon the first stages of consumption. The system is enfeebled, and the blood is impoverished. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" will act as a tonic upon the system, will enrich the impoverished blood, and restore roses to the cheek.

Charbon.

The following may be service to our readers in the West, where the above scourge is sometimes so destructive of stock. A correspondent of the Southern Live Stock Journal says: "My plan is to commence as soon as the swelling shows itself, and stop it without punishing the animal. I here give my treatment and believe it will prove a success if taken in time. This is all I use: Make a strong brine of common salt and cold water, a saturated solution, and bathe the parts swollen, wetting it thoroughly every two or three hours during the day, and the swelling will gradually leave and no need of losing the animal for any length of time. Keep pulverized sulphate of iron mixed with salt, where the mules and horses can have free access to it. If those troubled with charbon will try this simple remedy, they will find a relief. Yours truly, SUBSCRIBER.

Tunica, Miss.

A Spinster After Mr. O'Donnel.

Patrick O. O'Donnel, Galveston, Texas: "Thou voice of my heart?" Yes, yes, here I have been looking on at humanity's grand wedding march, all these dreary years—waiting for thee! "Two hearts are made, the angels say, To suit each other dearly, But each one takes a different way, A way not found so clearly!" Am confident a description of myself will charm you, in spite of Tennyson's saying that—"a man's ideal is high in Heaven, and lodged with Plato's God." I weigh something like—perhaps less than—250 lbs. And you would swear, by the sunbeams lingering in my hair, that I was sweet—tempered; until the first glance of a pair of greenish-gray amber-tinted eyes would prove my amiability, beyond even the possibility of a doubt! Can cook fast as I can talk or fifty people can eat. My redeeming talent is capital house-keeping, in which I combine in a most practical manner, "English thoroughness, French art and Arabian hospitality!" Glad to hear how brave you are—I am so dreadfully afraid of cows, if I get in sight of one, she shakes her head at me, but I guess they would be more docile, if they knew I had a protector—was not "a maiden all forlorn." I am unincumbered with property and wonder why the world ever did dance to the tune of "Money Musk." No money—no responsibility! How delightful to drift down the stream of time like "The Lotus Eaters." "Ah, why should life all labor be?" You may rest assured, we can get a lively start of children (how many and how old would you like them?) from the neighbors. And don't you forget! "Some chord, in unison with what she read Was touched within her, and her soul replied." SPINSTER.

Embroideries.

The largest and most carefully selected stock of embroideries ever brought to the city and cheaper than ever known at B. C. Evans Co's, Fort Worth.

Silver Loaf.

Is properly named. Broad made with this baking powder is as light and nutritious as it is possible to be made. It never fails when the directions are followed, hence there is never a word of complaint heard against it. The inexperienced cook is able to make as good bread with it as the professional baker, simply because its ingredients are so compounded as to make failure impossible when the directions are followed; a trial is all that is necessary to make it indispensable to all well regulated households. J. H. Brown guarantees this.

Plain White.

Ladies handkerchiefs, very cheap at B. C. Evans Co's, Fort Worth.

Don't Waste Time.

With poorly manufactured or impure baking powder. Buy a package of Silver Loaf and give it a fair trial. If you do this you will never regret it. How many disastrous failures in making bread cause troublesome vexation in the household! This can all be obviated by a trial of Silver Loaf. J. H. Brown guarantees its purity, strength and efficiency.

Worth Your Attention.

Cut this out and mail it to ALLEN & Co., Augusta, Maine, who will send you free, something new, that just coins money for all workers. As wonderful as the electric light, as genuine as pure gold, it will prove of lifelong value and importance to you. Both sexes, all ages. ALLEN & Co. bear expense of starting you in business. It will bring you in more cash, right away, than anything else in this world. Anyone anywhere can do the work, and live at home also. Better write at once; then, knowing all, should you conclude that you don't care to engage, why no harm is done.

Boston Wool Market.

Boston Advertiser.

The sales for the week comprise 2,425,100 lbs of domestic fleece and pulled, and 228,000 lbs of foreign, making the week's transactions foot up 2,653,100 lbs, against 4,680,000 and 3,252,100 lbs for the two previous weeks' transactions.

The past week in the wool market has been considerably quieter than the week previous, but still the business done has assumed fair proportions. The general market so far this season has been rather unsatisfactory, the high prices asked by dealers failing to tempt manufacturers, and as a result the stocks have accumulated somewhat. The relative difference in the value of raw wool and the manufactured article has not been sufficient to allow manufacturers sufficient margin to make it remunerative, and consequently wool dealers have found the former rather backward about purchasing freely on the new clip. Prices have been slowly declining, and the sales this week show a still further weakening, although the feeling is being fast developed that bottom has about been reached.

Medium wools are very dull and prices on these wools are very unsettled. The great call for these goods last season forced prices so high that manufacturers are entirely neglecting them now, many mills which were largely employed on this grade of goods last year not even putting out any new samples this year. The prices have already fallen several cents per scoured pound on these wools, and no requests as yet even at the decline.

On fine wools there has been a big business this week, and from appearances it would look as if the present figures being obtained are low enough to tempt free buying. On a basis of 65 cents per scoured pound for Michigan X, the mills appear anxious to buy, and the dealers who are willing to accept these figures appear to have no difficulty in effecting liberal sales. The general view of holders, however, is about 70c per scoured pound for Michigan X, with fine Territories at 60c, fine mediums at 56c, and medium at about 55c.

Of the sales made this week most of the business has been done by very few houses, while the fact that no price is reported in most cases would naturally lead to the assumption that some concessions in prices have been accepted. In Ohio fleeces the feeling is steady, but little business has been done this week. Michigan fleeces have been very active and prices have taken a wide range, according to the quality of the wool. One round lot of Michigan X wool was sold at 29c, while other large lots of the same grade, although of a better quality, have been made at 30c, while some lots offering would meet with quick sales at 30 1/2 @ 31c, should the holder be willing to accept that figure. There have been large sales of Territory wools, the total footing up over 500,000 lbs.

Texas wools have also sold quite freely, but in combings and delaines there has been a very moderate trade.

Pulled wools are moving slowly, but prices are steady. The business in scoured wools has assumed very fair proportion. California wool is also quoted steady, and one large sale of 40,000 lbs of spring has been reported on a basis of 60c scoured, which is considered a very good price for the present market.

Foreign wools are ruling steady, and supplies are very light. One large dealer, who generally carries liberal supplies, reports that at present he is entirely cleaned up, and very little of this kind of wool is offering at present on this market. Foreign carpet wool is in very light supply both here and abroad, and dealers report that it will be hard to replenish stocks at any lower prices than are now being obtained, so that they are indifferent sellers except at full figures.

A Mule Ranch.

It is stated that Mr. C. E. Boyce, who has a range on Butte creek, Siskiyou county, Cal., is the largest mule-raiser in that section of the country. "His range embraces 5000 or 6000 acres under fence, and thousands of acres of government land are grazed by his stock. There are about 3000 head on the range. There is money in raising mules, which bring $110 and $115 when three years old. There are more profits in mules than in horses, Mr. Hart thinks, but the proportion of mule colts is smaller than that of horse colts. From 100 mares the number of mule colts would be from 60 to 75, while with horse colts the average would be 80 or 90. On the other hand, mules can be sold at an earlier age than horses, need comparatively little breaking and are hardier, doing much better when snow is on the ground than horses. There are nine Kentucky jacks on the Boyce range, whose cost was from $1500 to $3000 per head. The stock raised is sold throughout the coast."

Scratched 28 Years

A Scaly, Itching Skin Disease With Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring worm, psoriasis, etc. I took . . . and . . . Sarsaparilla over one year and a half, but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was three boxes of CUTICURA, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and two cakes of CUTICURA SOAP. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture No. 2, "How to cure skin diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched 28 years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me, or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it. DENNIS DOWNING. Waterbury, Vt., Jan. 20, 1887.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

It is claimed that single acres of forest on the Pacific coast have yielded 200,000 feet of lumber, board measure.

The use of arsenical poisons on edible plants to prevent insect depredations is too dangerous to be permitted and should be punished as a crime.

With mercury soaring in the nineties it is cruel to urge horses in their work, especially if it be along dusty highways where the heated air is heavy with distress.

The farmer who puts in sixty hours of faithful work every week is quite as likely to be up with the tasks as another who works from sun to sun in the long summer days.

A mortgage on a farm is worse than a drouth, for it takes the crops after they are gathered and sold, whereas drouth takes them before they are grown and saves the labor of harvesting.

The very best way to maintain fertility of lands is to put back of every crop all that can be saved after economic use, together with all weed and other vegetable growth that may be utilized in decay.

When farmers employ all resources of their farms for gathering and utilizing manure they will have less need of commercial fertilizers and they will have also satisfaction in dealing with known quantities and values.

Remember that frest Buhach in water kept tightly corked in a bottle, one tablespoonful to two gallons, is excellent to keep flies from worrying our work horses. Bathe the animals on various parts of the body once in an hour or so.

Clay or heavy loam soil, tilled to the depth of a foot, or more, will hold three or four times as much rain as under the shallow cultivation they get usually, and the effect will be to make them correspondingly less susceptible to the baleful influences of drouth.

The object in farming should be to market all the surplus products, and farmers should strive to build up a reputation for their goods, as manufacturers do. Consumers are willing to pay more for what they want, if they know it comes from reliable producers, and therein often lie to the profits of the farm.

The farm and road horse should essentially be horses of all work, of good style and action, and about fourteen to sixteen hundred pounds weight. Such horses will be able to do anything that may be necessary to be done about the farm, on the road, or plowing, reaping, hauling or drawing the family carriage to meeting.

An Ohio farmer finds the average cost of raising sugar beets or mangels per acre to be from $30 to $40, and an average yield is from 500 to 600 bushels, making the cost from six to seven cents per bushels. Last year he got about 500 bushel of sugar beets per acre, at a cost of about $30 per acre.

A good thing for any farmer to do on a summer day when he can spare the time is to take his wife in his best carriage with a safe horse in front and drive along neighboring farms to see how crops look, how they are cultivated; to look at the orchards and gardens; in short to get new ideas and the freshening that a day of rest gives.

Six hundred measurements to determine the relative growth of ten species of evergreens on the college grounds at Ames, Iowa, gives the following annual average of growth for four years past. White pine, 10.7 inches; Scotch pine, 10.6; red pine, 10.3; Australian pine, 9.4; European larch, 9.7; American larch, 9.3; Norway spruce, 8.7; white spruce, 7.4; black spruce, 5.2; balsam fir, 7.9.

Harry Wilkes, the reigning sensation among trotters, with a record of 2.13½; Maud S., 2.08½; Jay-Eye-See, 2.10; Smuggler, for a long time king of trotting stallions, all had dams of pacing inheritance. Eight pacing-bred horses have sired about fifteen per cent. of the mares that have two or more of their produce in the 2.30 class. It would seem that a stout-pacing cross on the dam's side is favorable to the production of fast trotting offspring.

A valuable dairy cow came to her death in an unusual way, about two months ago. The cow "got off her feed," but after some doctoring and care on the part of the stable boys, she seemed to improve and assume her wonted health. While being milked one day, however, she suddenly fell dead, and an autopsy revealed the fact that she had died from a tenpenny nail which had entered her heart fully two inches. The nail had been taken into the stomach while feeding and had worked into the stomach while feeding and had worked its way into the heart and caused death. The nail was found encased in a calloused sac.

A Novel Bet.

While I am not a betting man, said F. J. Cheney, of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., I considered it my religious duty to make that fellow a bet. You see, he was about dead, and I guess he would of died before spring if I had not of got him on the bet. You know some men had rather lose their life than lose a hundred. Well, he was one of that kind, and we both came near being out, but I saved my hundred and it only cost him ten dollars. How's that? He sent for me one day and said the doctors had all given him up to die, with the catarrh. I told him that I would bet him $100 that Hall's Catarrh Cure would cure him, or I would give him $100 if it failed. He took the latter proposition. This was three months ago; you see how he looks now, don't you? As well as anyone, and a dandy.—American, Toledo, O.

THIS GOOD OLD STAND-BY
accomplishes for everybody exactly what is claimed for it. One of the reasons for the great popularity of the Mustang Liniment is found in its universal applicability. Everybody needs such a medicine.
The Lumberman needs it in case of accident.
The Housewife needs it for general family use.
The Cannaler needs it for his teams and his men.
The Mechanic needs it always on his work bench.
The Miner needs it in case of emergency.
The Pioneer needs it—can't get along without it.
The Farmer needs it in his house, his stable, and his stock yard.
The Steamboat man or the Boatman needs it in liberal supply afloat and ashore.
The Horse-fancier needs it—it is his best friend and safest reliance.
The Stock-grower needs it—it will save him thousands of dollars and a world of trouble.
The Railroad man needs it and will need it so long as his life is a round of accidents and dangers.
The Backwoodsman needs it. There is nothing like it as an antidote for the dangers to life, limb and comfort which surround the pioneer.
The Merchant needs it about his store among his employees. Accidents will happen, and when these come the Mustang Liniment is wanted at once.
Keep a Bottle in the House. 'Tis the best of economy.
Keep a Bottle in the Factory. Its immediate use in case of accident saves pain and loss of wages.
