

THE FARM.

The United States department of agriculture has issued farmers' bulletin No. 26 on "Sweet Potatoes; Culture and Uses," a comprehensive and valuable treatise which should be in the hands of every farmer in the country.

Now here is a field for the Texas farmer to labor, and it offers ample opportunity to him in the way of individual benefit in the way of improvement.

We welcome the Farmers congress of Texas to the agriculture of the state, and hope to see it receive from the Texas farmers the support it deserves.

The meeting held in Waco Thursday and Friday for the purpose of organizing a Texas branch of the National Cotton Growers' Protective association was not very largely attended.

Another point the farmer should remember is that the cotton market is in fixing prices of the staple, while he has reduced cost of production to almost, if not quite the minimum.

The farmer should not forget that at the present time the speculator takes the action of the producer himself upon the market.

When the farmer concludes to reduce cotton acreage the question arises: What shall he plant as a substitute? To produce an ample supply of home consumption.

And yet, we would admonish the farmer not to be drawn by the clamor of those not posted into an excessive production of any one article.

The Farmers' congress held in Fort Worth on February 19 and 20, and the cotton acreage convention held in Waco during the same week.

The Farmers' congress takes the position that the price of cotton should not be the foundation for an intelligent consideration of Texas agriculture.

There are other self-evident facts which we think should not be lost sight of by the farmer. For example, the recent decline in prices offers some encouragement to those who oppose the reduction of acreage.

IRRIGATION.

IRRIGATING POTATOES. The potato is the most difficult of all crops in common cultivation to grow to perfection in this country.

Winter irrigation has been practiced somewhat successfully in Utah and Idaho. The soil is flooded before plowing and allowed to dry to a moderate condition.

SWINE.

THE COMING LITTERS.

The growers of hogs will this year and every year find his profits largely controlled by the care that is given to the spring pigs now arriving and shortly to arrive. The personal attention necessary to see that the dam is brought up to farrowing time in good condition must be given in order that the number raised shall correspond to the number farrowed as closely as possible.

Good lessons can be learned from mistakes and failures as well as from success and profits. A neighbor has taught me something in this way, says H. L. King in Ohio Farmer.

Early last spring I assisted him in trimming the nest. They had been running with the sows, and hence another farrowing season began in early autumn, and you can imagine the results.

When the boar runs with the herd, as in the above case, the owner never knows when to expect the pigs until they are in sight. Then inbreeding was practiced by this neighbor.

Two weeks ago I noticed an old sow in one of his pens. He said he was fattening her for his meat. I told him the would farrow in about two weeks.

HORSES AND MULES.

VETERINARY.

In connection with this department Texas Stock and Farm Journal has secured the services of Dr. F. M. Hopkins, a veterinary surgeon of pronounced ability, and invites its readers to write whenever they desire any information in regard to sick or lame animals, and thus assist in making this department one of the interesting features of the Journal.

HORSES THAT SELL.

A correspondent of the "Iowa Turf" writes a common-sense letter regarding desirable harness horses, a part of which is as follows: The breeding interests of the country demand the best of the best.

VIGOR OF MEN

ties in the stallion, and the progeny will make an animal which, if it does not make a record-breaker, will make one that you can sell at a good figure for road purposes. Unsoundness either in sire or dam is certainly objectionable, and in many cases hereditary, but this fact has in the past, by many breeders, been entirely overlooked.

MARKET PRICES OF HORSES.

Those who find no promise in the horse market of the future should read the following wherein Mr. A. B. Clarke, the affable and energetic horse commission salesman of the Union Stock Yards stables, takes exception to a recent article in the Omaha Bee, saying the horse business had "gone to the dogs."

"Again, you say that two years ago it required forty livery stables to do the business and now but twenty-five are needed. Therefore, these 1000 bicycle riders required fifteen livery stables, while the other 140,000 inhabitants required but twenty-five stables.

"Now, as to the supply and demand and the price of horses, there have been more horses sold at all the large markets in the past year than ever before. There is now an average of $99 head per day sold in Chicago alone.

"I am ready to admit that Nebraska farmers have many horses that will hardly pay freight to market, but this is from the fact that they are so thin and that they are not marketable.

"I have had a little experience with carrots, rutabagas, and stock beets. A few years ago I commenced to raise these three varieties for feeding purposes.

ROOT CROPS ON THE FARM.

The most important of the root crops, the one most profitable, and the one most used for food, is the potato—a crop that the farmer can raise without much extra trouble. Yet many of us have been buyers instead of producers in the past few years.

IF NOT Then hearken to the reading of this circular and you will hear the cost of production drop—not with a dull or sickening thud—but with a ring like that of a sound Silver Dollar!

THE STANDARD-MOWER will cut 15 ACRES per day with one pair of horses—which is about double the work that can be done with any 4 feet 6 inch Mower. HOW IT IS DONE.

Seven to Eight acres per day, with one man and one pair of horses, is about as much as can be done with any 4-1/2 foot Mower. Anyone who has been or is engaged in the Haymaking business knows there is loss of time in turning at the corners, grinding knives, oiling up, stopping to unchoke the knives, etc.

WHAT WE CLAIM: We claim that our 6 feet Standard Mower will cut about 15 acres per day—with the same man and team required for a 4-1/2 foot machine—notwithstanding that the bar is only 1-1/2 feet longer.

OUR PROPOSITION IS: To use your own team, on your own ground—just such team as you have used on a 4-1/2 ft. Mower—and demonstrate to your entire satisfaction that every claim we make is true.

With a shortage in cattle of 40 per cent. in the corn feeding states, and that much or more in all the range country, cattle are bound to go higher.

The man who invests money in the cattle is sure of profitable returns. The available supply of saleable cattle will soon be exhausted, and the man who has a herd of producers is sure to make money.

The citizens of Tyler have perfected arrangements for holding a "Fruit Palace" in that city this year. Such exhibitions as this one will go farther toward developing the latent resources of a country than anything that can be done, and the people of east Texas, and all the state will get returns many times over for their investment in this enterprise.

The boom in the wind mill industry is pretty good evidence of the fact that irrigation is taking hold in this state. It is one of the most important question of the age, as it affects a very large part of the country, barren and unsettled by reason of droughts, but which, under the spell of irrigation, will be made inhabitable to the fullest degree.

The cotton acreage of Texas has been reduced, but unless the farmers learn how to utilize the products that have supplanted cotton, they will likely return to the fleecy staple next year, especially if as the result of a short crop this year, prices are reasonably good.

It will take five years at least to work the cattle supply up to where there will be overproduction. In the meantime values will be high and when the supply exceeds the demand, with resultant lower values, the cattle man who always succeeds, will have sold out to barely a remnant. The history of production of all the commodities is one and the same. When from either overproduction or under-consumption, the amount produced was more than the commercial or natural demand, values have gone down and the increased accumulations have been sacrificed in order that other branches of industry could be pursued, but as a rule where this changing policy has been followed little money has been made.

The cattle business, reviewed from a Texas standpoint, has been very satisfactory for the past six months, while the future gives promise of a still better condition than the period just passed. That nothing but improvement in the prices of cattle can be expected is attributable to several causes, first among which is the shortage, a condition that exists in an alarming degree, not alone in the range districts, but in the farming or feeder districts as well. From an authentic investigation it has been found that the great central corn and forage feeding states will have 40 per cent fewer cattle to come forward this year than last year, due to two causes—a limited supply of feed, by reason of which the cattle in those states were marketed early, leaving as the second cause a limited number in the country, and those of a class that will not be sent to the shambles if it can be avoided.

The shortage in the range districts is even more pronounced, especially in the Northwestern states and territories. The long and severe winters which prevail in that part of the range country render it unfit for a breeding ground, but better adapted for maturing than this section, consequently the cattlemen of the Northwest depend on the warmer Southern country for cattle to replenish their ranges every year, using their short-lived but luxuriant pastures for maturing purposes only.

Last year their pastures were not good, and cattle of every description, irrespective of condition, were shipped to market, therefore the demand for cattle to replenish their ranges with is unprecedented, but when as in former years, they turn to Texas for their supply they find the same order of things here, only that the Texan has plenty of grass.

For a period of ten years the cattle business in Texas has not been profitable, except possibly to the dealer. The cattle raiser has not made any money, in consequence of which breeding was suspended, everybody turning their attention to changing their herds into money, holding steer cattle, and sending forward their cows and heifers, until today there are more steer cattle 3 year old and upward, than there are cows, yearlings or 2-year-olds.

Another feature is that the forwarding of she cattle to market will not stop with this year, as most of the cattlemen are operating on borrowed capital, and will be compelled to ship everything to return the loans. They will all make money, but the future supply of cattle is seriously curtailed and the real problem that now confronts the cattlemen is as to where he will get cattle to sell a few years hence.

As said before, breeding is not being resumed, for the reason that the most of the she cattle that are in the country are destined for the markets this year.

Think of it! In 1892 Texas had more than seven millions of cattle; now it would require a close count to muster over three millions. The man who owns cattle now will make money, but the man who buys all the cows he can get the money to pay for, to be crossed with good bulls, going in strictly for raising, will reap the richest reward in the future.

THE WACO MEETING. The cotton acreage convention held in Waco last week had its purpose, and while devious and irrelative methods were pursued, the resolutions emanating therefrom, contains, stripped of a rather cumbersome verbiage, much that commends itself to the thinking agriculturists of Texas.

The attendance was not large, which from the Journal's point of view was a most favorable indication, for in the years of political mismanagement through which we have just passed, a program such as prepared for the Waco convention, would have attracted titlers of the soil from the corners of the state. The themes selected for discussion—namely the financial situation, have for the past three years been the most alluring for collecting crowds, especially of farmers.

The fact that they did not attend the Waco meeting plainly indicates that they are relying more on themselves and less on their political leaders for the way out of their difficulties, and when as in other states the farmers of Texas get closer together and by the co-operative collection and dissemination of practical knowledge learn of the advanced methods of farming, and the proper utilization of what nature has given them, their higher prosperity will be assured.

EMBARGO AGAINST MEXICO. The recent enactment of the department of agriculture, shutting out Mexican cattle from the United States, was by many—even those in touch with the department—thought to apply only to the safe area, and not to that part of Texas and the Indian Territory lying south and west of the quarantine line. With this understanding of the matter preparations were entered into by many of the stockmen of south Texas to restock their depleted ranges with cattle from Mexico, numerous contracts to that end having been made, and in some instances entire stocks were sold to buyers from more northern points, with the intention of securing Mexican cattle to take the place of the Texans.

Any plans of this kind that were formulated will have to be given up, as in another column will be seen a statement direct from the bureau of animal industry, which says that no cattle from Mexico can be crossed into the United States, either above or below the line, between February and December, and while a few men may be discommoded and a few plans disarranged, the enactment is a good thing for the range cattle industry of all the country on this side.

Allowing cattle to cross into this country in the fever season would increase the unreasonable distrust that exists against Texas cattle, as evidenced by the action of several states in quarantining against this state, irrespective of the safe or infected areas.

HOUSEHOLD.

Address all letters for this department to Mrs. E. S. Buchanan, 314 Marcon street, Fort Worth, Tex.

YOU NEVER CAN TELL.

You never can tell when you send a word—
Like an arrow shot from a bow
By an archer blind—he is cruel or kind,
Just where it will chance to go.
It may pierce the breast of your dearest friend, the tippet worn by children, harm resulting both from the sudden cooling when it is taken off.

FROM NEAR FORT WORTH.

My Dear Mrs. B.—I sent for Tribby and could hardly wait for it to come to devour it. Well, I declare I can't see why there is such a fuss made about it. I was shocked. But I suppose things would seem dreadful to us that would be all right in Paris.

SOME NEW IDEAS.

Dear Mrs. B.: May I come in? I was so pleased to see a lady at the head of the household, for as you said, it takes a woman to know just what a woman wants and needs. So you don't believe in spheres? Well, until some of our liege lords and masters arise and die that sphere, I don't know whether I do or not.

THE REASONS WHY

Scott's Emulsion of Cod-liver Oil and Hypophosphites is so useful in all wasting diseases, such as Consumption, Anæmia, Scrofula, Rheumatism, Bronchitis, and Marasmus and Rickets in children, is because it furnishes to the depleted blood the fattening and enriching properties of the oil, and to the bones and nervous system the phosphorescent and vitalizing properties of the Hypophosphites, which together nourish the body, arrest the progress of the disease, and commence a process of repair that finally means restored health and vigor.

He became ill, and was like to die in very despair of her love. Whereat pity touched her heart, and pity grew to love. When he came to know this, having now the love he had so yearned to possess, he rejoiced greatly and arose from his bed.

STOCK AND FARM JOURNAL, Fort Worth, Texas.

There is food for thought in the above beautiful lines. We should all realize that it matters not how small our niche in this world, or how insignificant our lives, we exert our influence for good or ill, whether we are conscious of it or not. We cannot prevent an influence going out from our lives. It may be the great stream of life but it goes forth to be felt by some other life or lives.

SOME GOOD RECIPES. This time of year the appetite is capricious. Heavy, rich desserts that were most enjoyable in winter are not at all palatable now.

ORANGE DESSERTS. The simplest and most common way of serving oranges is to peel, slice and sprinkle sugar between the layers.

HELPLESS HINTS. Fried cakes made with brown sugar will keep moist longer than when made with white sugar.

TO BLEACH YELLOW LACE. To bleach lace, first expose it to the sunlight in soap suds, and afterwards dry it upon a cloth, pinning the points in their proper positions.

TEXAS. You can dig a lake in the center of Texas, put the republic of France on an island in that lake, and it couldn't be seen from the shore.

IF YOU WANT ANYTHING IN DRY GOODS OR CARPETS. Want square deal on same, want something that will wear, you should certainly see through the establishment of

FRENCH LINGO IN COOK BOOKS.

Here are some of the foreign terms that one finds in cook books and on the hotel bills of fare:

Entrée: A side dish for the first course. Compote: Applied to fruit stewed in syrup, and sometimes to pigeon and small game.

MARRIAGE MAXIMS. Never allow a request to be repeated. Never both be angry, at the same time. Never meet without a loving welcome.

C. O. Morris of Abilene, advertises 600 four-year-old Callahan county steers in this issue of the Journal.

Cutter & Planagan are proprietors of the Avenue Waggon Yard, an advertiser of which appears in another column of the Journal.

W. E. Rayner of Rayner, Texas, has some half bred Holstein steers and a two-year-old registered Jersey bull advertised for sale in this issue of the Journal.

Coffin Bros. of Itasca, Texas, offer a nice lot of registered Jersey heifers and a advertisement they have in the Journal. This is a reliable firm and will do what they say.

R. H. Wilson of Fort Worth has a highly bred 2-year-old stallion for sale. Read his advertisement in the "For Sale" column and address him in care of the Brewery, Fort Worth.

Col. Charles Goodnight was here Tuesday. He said cattle are holding their own on the new grass, which is growing nicely, though a good rain would be very acceptable just now.

G. Y. Smith & Co., the leading dry goods firm of Fort Worth, has an advertisement in this issue, which speaks for itself, and means strictly what it says. Read it and be guided accordingly.

W. H. Bachman, Bowman, Archer county, Texas, breeder of the best strains of Poland-China swine solicits correspondence with Journal readers. See his advertisement in the breeders' directory.

J. W. Barber of Dallas, with cattle on feed at Amarillo, was in Fort Worth Tuesday en route to Amarillo for Muscogee, I. T., where he had just put 450 head of cattle on feed. He reports a need of rain, as the showers of Saturday night were not enough.

W. K. Bell of Palo Pinto was in Fort Worth Saturday and dropped in at the Journal office. He said: "We had glorious rain last night, all of the water holes in my pasture being filled to overflowing. Cattle are looking well, and the prospects are fine."

The Texas Manufacturing company of Fort Worth, manufacturers of cypress tanks and dealers in wind mills, pumps and general water supplies, have an advertisement in the Journal. Write this firm for prices before concluding purchase.

Those having cattle to trade should look up the advertisement of the for sale column offering a splendid Colorado farm with all modern improvements, near good school and good market town, in exchange for cattle. It may pay you to investigate this offer.

Colonel C. A. Cassidy of the well-known firm of Cassidy Bros. & Co., live stock commissioner, stayed in Texas after the convention until Saturday. He expressed himself as being of the opinion that although the present market is all that could be wished, cattle would go still higher.

L. Hearn of Baird, a well-known cattleman, was in this city the first days of the present week, and paid the Journal a call. Said that grass was growing fine in his section, and that while a rain would be very acceptable it was not as badly needed as in some parts of the state.

Frank Moody, the well known and successful cattle broker, reports having sold 3500 head of cattle near Big Springs to H. D. Arnold of Mineral Wells at private terms. The cattle will be allowed to remain in their present pasture for some time to come.

Hugh H. Lewis, Fort Worth, dealer in everything in the hardware line, is among this week's new advertisers, and the Journal knows whereof it speaks when it says that he has as complete a stock as can be found in the city, which he will sell at figures in keeping with the condition of the country.

A press dispatch from Mount Vernon, Tex., tells of the death at that point Saturday of Jno. F. Moore, a prominent stockman, who took sick immediately after his return from the Fort Worth convention. His brothers, William and Eugene Moore, of Ardmore, were wired to go to his bedside, but did not get the message in time.

J. E. Mitchell, the Fort Worth jeweler, has undoubtedly the best selected and largest stock of jewelry in the state, and by fair and reliable dealing has built up a magnificent business. The Journal directs attention to his advertisement and bespeaks the patronage of its readers when they desire anything in the jewelry line.

J. P. Vissering, Melville, Madison county, Illinois, has written the Journal to continue his advertisement of artichokes. The variety of artichokes sold by Mr. Vissering is the best, excellent, and the farmer who expects to raise hogs will make a mistake if he does not send for some seed and devote a small plot of ground to raising artichokes.

G. B. Brown of Bowie, a cattleman, was in Fort Worth Friday and called at the Journal office. He was on the outlook for some cows, but said they were hard to find. He reported everything dry, and needing rain in his section. He also said that the commission rate on stock cattle was in most instances an advance over former rates.

W. M. Groeclose of Breckenridge, in a letter to the Journal, says: "Cattle are doing finely in this county; are in better condition than I have seen them come out of winter in ten years. We are a little dry, but most of the county has had good rains in the last day or two. Inclosed find money for the Journal another year. I can't get along without it."

Edward R. Taylor of Cleveland manufactures "Puma," a preparation that is certain death to prairie dogs, weevils, insects, beetles, ants and all pests that bother the stockman and farmer. Read his advertisement in another column and send for circular matter explaining everything about the use of this preparation. It will do everything claimed for it.

J. B. Caldwell and W. Weatherford of Ennis, both cattle feeders, were in the Texas live stock center Monday. Mr. Caldwell is feeding cattle at Ennis and other points, and owns one of the best black land farms in Ellis county. He did not believe that the cotton acreage would be reduced to any extent in his county, but would be surprised if the yield per acre was ever as large as in the year past.

J. M. Tannahill, a Tarrant county cattle dealer, was in the Journal office Monday, and in answer to questions said: "I recently made a trip to Parker, Erath, Hood and other counties, and am prepared to say that there are not as many cattle in all the counties I was over as there formerly was in one of them. The cattle are scarce, and will be more so when this year's stuff is shipped out."

J. M. Wendelken of Dallas, manager for Emerson, Talco & Co., manufacturers of the noted Standard mowing machine, has a large ad. in the Journal this week calling attention to this Standard mower. This machine has the endorsement of every man who has used one, which is all the recommendation that could be asked. Read the advertisement and correspond with Mr. Wendelken before concluding the purchase of a mowing machine.

J. M. Frazer and J. B. Laughlin of St. Joseph, Mo., were in Fort Worth Friday en route to Jack county, both of those gentlemen being stockmen in the Loving Cattle company. Mr. Frazer is in the wholesale mercantile business in St. Joseph, and is very wealthy. Mr. Laughlin has been running a hotel in the same city for fifteen years, but recently had the misfortune of losing it by fire. They expressed themselves as being well pleased with the condition of the cattle business and with the outlook.

J. M. Daugherty, the cattleman of Abilene, was in the Texas live stock center Monday, looking after a big cattle deal. He expressed himself as confident that cattle will go still higher, and said: "If we have good grass this year, no man will have room to complain at the cattle business. The only thing I know of that would cause a market to go off to any extent would be big labor disturbances, but I do not think these are likely to occur. I am making a breeding ranch out of my New Mexico pasture. There is a great shortage in cattle that it will take years to restock the ranges."

J. T. Stetson of Nebraska, a breeder of trotting horses, was in Fort Worth Tuesday and called at the Journal office. He said: "I own some standard bred horses, some with as good breeding as there is in the country, and I am looking for a location somewhere in Texas. In my state I have to wait eight months in the year, while here in Texas four months stabling is an outside limit. I am going to look at the Pecos country, and will then see what investments I can find in the central part of the state. A great many people from Nebraska will settle in Texas this year, a whole train load having come down as I did."

Capt. W. J. Good of Quanah was in Fort Worth Sunday en route home from Kansas City. He said: "Steers selling at 6 cents a pound was the encouraging and pleasant thing I saw when I was in Kansas City. I will begin shipping the cattle I bought on the T. and P. right away if I can get anything like a rate. If not, I will drive them to their destination in the Cherokee strip. We are going to plant about 80 acres of sorghum this year, and if it makes anything will have feed for our cattle through next winter. The time has come in the cattle business when a man can provide feed for winter as well as expects to meet competition in the cattle business."

The Strahorn-Hutton-Evans Commission company is the style of the new firm which, by reason of a combination, which went into effect April 1, takes the place of the Evans-Hutton-Hunter company and R. Strahorn. By this combination two of the strongest commission firms in the trade have combined capital and working forces, and cattle shippers will doubtless realize the benefits to be derived in giving a concern with the experience and standing of this one their business. Every stockman in Texas knows the personnel of the new firm too well to admit of the Journal saying anything in its favor that will be news. The long and honorable standing of every man connected with Strahorn-Evans-Hutton Co. is perfectly established.

S. E. Sherwood of Ryan, I. T., a prosperous cattlemen, was in Fort Worth Monday, accompanied by his son, and called at the Journal office. He said: "We had a light rain Saturday night, but nothing like what we need. It is getting pretty dry in my section. My cattle have been troubled with black-leg a little. Last year I lost about 100 head out of 2000, and they are beginning to die the same way this year. None are ever effected but the calves and yearlings. They shake the disease by their necks and the sides of their heads swelling up, and begin staggering, dying in a short time. I do not think there is any cure for it, but I have been told that a standard vaccine is a splendid preventative. I am going to give it a trial and will report progress."

T. J. McCarthy of Strawn, Tex., was in Fort Worth Sunday and in conversation with a Journal man said: "I have bought a number of cattle in South Texas and will ship them to Kansas I. T., where they will be pastured. I regard the quarantine law as considerable of a fraud, and where a man owns a pasture in what is known as the safe area, there is no law that will stand, to prevent him taking his cattle into that pasture. A standard can not quarantine against itself, as has been demonstrated whenever a test has been made. I see that there is some talk of black leg among cattle in parts of the country. I have seen its spread stopped by cutting out those infected, and chousing the rest of the herd around thoroughly. A change of pasture is sometimes very beneficial, but I do not think there is any cure for the disease when once it gets hold of an animal."

C. W. Jones of Brownwood, an old-time cowman, who has been in the cattle business in this state for years, was in Fort Worth Sunday. He said: "Since the Texas fever theory has been started, every time a herd of cattle get anything the matter with them it is called the fever. I have seen it and in what is now called the safe area, all in fine fix, die like sheep with the rot, with bloody murrain. There is no other form of this disease called dry murrain that kills cattle very fast. I do not look with much favor on the quarantine law, as it works on an injustice on many people whose cattle never had any ticks on them. I believe that the best thing that can be done for cattle with black leg is to separate the healthy cattle and give them a change of pasture; also give them a good drive, heating them up thoroughly. A good plan is to starve them for two or three days after separating them from the infected cattle, besides giving them the exercise spoken of. In most instances when I have seen this done the ravages of black leg have been effectually stopped."

Clabe W. Merchant, a well-known and wealthy cattleman of Abilene, was in Fort Worth Sunday en route to south Texas, from where he will ship 5000 head of cattle to the Indian Territory to be pastured. He said: "I will ship 5000 head to the Nation and let what other cattle I have in south Texas get fat where they are. I understand there has been a good rain in that country, in which case the cattle will get fat early. The market for cattle will, in my opinion, continue good with a possible falling off when the range stuff begins to arrive. The great shortage in cattle will not be felt so much this year, but when this year's shipment is over it will be very apparent. There are more cattle from 35 up in the country than cows, yearlings and every other class combined, and it will take five years to stock up the ranges to anything like their former condition. Mr. Farmore and I are making a breeding ranch out of our pasture near Jatan, and will ship back 7000 cows that we now have in Arizona. One will pull the balance as fast as we can get them gathered. A great many cattlemen are beginning to restock, and the only way it can be done is by breeding from what we have here. We will demand for feeders next fall will be very strong, and with the demand for cotton seed meal in the Northwestern states, feed will be high, and unless exercised somebody will lose a great deal of money next feeding season."

Julius Runge of Galveston, one of the best informed central financiers in Texas, was in Fort Worth Monday, where through Geo. B. Loving & Co., he sold 4000 steers to J. M. Daugherty of Abilene, for which he Mr. Daugherty paid $19 per head. The cattle are in-lablock county, where Mr. Daugherty will let them stay until ready for market. This is one of the biggest steer deals of the season. To a Journal man who questioned him, Mr. Runge stated: "It is my opinion that the acreage of cotton in Texas, taking into consideration the new land put in, will be reduced 15 per cent. A great many farmers in central Texas who have always put in big crops, will not plant a single acre. There is a great deal of talk about the increased acreage of cotton every year, when in the past years there has not been an average increase of 5 per cent. per annum. The enormous increase in product last year was due more to the increase in yield per acre, than to the increase in area. If the weather, during the past year, had been about once every five years, and with last year's acreage the product of an average year would not have been over $900,000,000, and the people would have made as much as they did out of the 10,000,000 bale crop raised. While it is rather a hard thing to preface, I think that the cotton crop of 1895 will not go over 4,000,000 bales. The weather, though, is against reduction, but if the rain of the last three days has been general, there will be very little of the land now sown to grain that will be planted in cotton. The farmers of Texas should plant corn, as it is not likely that there will be any over production of that product. Corn at 25 cents a bushel is more profitable than cotton at 4-4 1/4 cents. I do not think that the cotton feeders need be alarmed over the lack of cotton seed meal, as there will be enough for them, especially if they supplement the meal with other feeds, which can be done at a profit to the feeder and advantage to the cattle fed. Within a few years Texas cattle will be exported to Europe through Galveston, and cotton seed meal will not fit cattle for export purposes. There is a healthy change in the method of cattle raising and feeding in this state, and with diversified agriculture by the farmers, both of these great industries are on the road to high prosperity."

 A STRONG ENDORSEMENT.
 Edward R. Taylor, Esq., Cleveland, O.—Dear Sir: I have seen an article in regard to destroying prairie dogs, etc., with your "Puma." I can testify to its good qualities, having used it myself with some neighbors during the summer of 1890, most effectually in exterminating them from at least 800 acres. I used cotton batting, making a piece not larger than the ear of an ear of wheat has been that it is death to all the dogs in the hole whether one or a dozen.
 Yours truly,

MARKETS.

FORT WORTH MARKET.

The supply of both hogs and cattle fell off some from last week, though the yard management report having handled a large number of cattle in transit to the big markets. It is remarkable that with the advantages offered there has before now been a big oil mill built near Fort Worth. The railroads running direct to the markets all center here, and radiate through the cotton belt of Texas like the spokes of a wheel. There is no vicinity that has besides these advantages any better soil on which to locate pens, and it is a reflection on the business acumen of those who are fully cognizant of these advantages that as many as 10,000 head of cattle were not fattened here last year. A move is now on foot to build an oil mill in North Fort Worth, and when another feeding season comes around a few at least of the enormous number of cattle that Texas will feed will be centered at Fort Worth.

This is a divergence from market reporting, but besides being a great feeder, buying and selling points, the cattle, or at least a part of them should be fed and fattened right here.

The following sales, representative of the week's market, are taken from a report furnished by J. F. Butz & Co., commission men, at the Fort Worth stock yards:

GREAT HEREFORD SALE.
It affords the Journal much pleasure in calling the attention of its readers engaged in cattle breeding to the announcement of Mr. T. F. B. Sotham of Chillicothe, Livingston county, Mo., wherein he states that his regular annual sale of high class registered Hereford cattle will take place on Wednesday, April 11, 1895, at his farm near Chillicothe. Forty head have been catalogued and will go to the highest bidder without reserve or by-bid. Every range man regards the Hereford or White Face the favorite of the range, and as no better blood is bred in the United States, it will afford the Texas cattle raiser an opportunity to once more fall in and be in it. More about the sale will appear in next week's issue.

A Mistake.
A mistake is often made by persons in need of medical treatment, in not placing their case into the hands of a specialist, as it stands to reason that a doctor making a specialty of a certain line of diseases is more competent than the family physician or general practitioner who tries to cover the whole field of medicine and surgery. DR. HATHAWAY & CO. are true specialists in their line. Regular graduates from the best colleges in America, as their diplomas show. Also have had large experience in leading hospitals and at Hot Springs, Ark., therefore, if you seek their advice you are sure of getting the BEST.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.
Chicago, April 3.—The cattle trade was slow and prices were no more than steady. Rates are largely at $5.25 to $6.00 for beef steers. The advance of $1 per 100 pounds in British markets is likely to cause another advance in the class of cattle usually taken by exporters. Choice stuff sells largely at $3.00 to $2.50. Canners' stuff is unchanged.

There was an active demand for hogs and a moderate supply; prices higher for good lots. Shippers and packers were good purchasers. Heavy hogs sold at $4.90 to $4.80, and light weights at $4.60 to $4.50. Sales were largely at $5.00 to $5.30, with several sales at $5.40.

The market for sheep and lambs was more animated, lambs being especially active. Western export sheep, $4.50 to $4.75; fancy native, $3.50 to $4.00; common, slow, around $3.00 to $3.50; nice lambs, $5.50 to $5.85; lambs that sold at $5.85 would have brought $6.00 on Monday.

Receipts: Cattle, 11,000; calves, 400; hogs, 22,000; sheep, 12,000.

ST. LOUIS LIVE STOCK.
St. Louis, April 3.—Cattle—Receipts, 2400; shipments, 1100; market active to the extent of the supply. No good natives on sale.
