and are expected to be on hand. As the meeting promises to be unusually interesting, there will be a large attendance.

Blasted corn, or corn ergot, is killing off whole herds of cattle in Madison county, Indiana. The usual fall rains caused an extra growth of blasted or smutty ears, that were left on the stock when the corn was harvested, and cattle turned into the field soon died.

During the month of January 352,864 bushels of wheat were shipped from Galveston to Trieste and Venice, and 282,162 bushels of corn to Roreen, all three being new ports for the Galveston grain trade.

Several paragraphs in the Alvin Sun show that corn and oats do well in that section, so that farmers can always have plenty of feed. It also shows that the truck farmers about Alvin have never before been in better condition. They have learned how to adapt their planting and cultivation to soil and climate.

West Texas Stockman: D. H. McNairy bought 225 head of cows from W. H. Harris at $20 around. The cattle are on the IUP ranch and are to be delivered April 1. L. E. Seaman has purchased about 450 head of young cattle from Dr. P. C. Coleman, to be delivered April 1. This is said to be a good bunch, about 80 head are steer yearlings.

A bill has been introduced in the Kansas legislature requiring owners of stock yards and commission merchants to furnish to the secretary of state on Dec. 31 of each year a statement of his business during the preceding twelve months, showing the number of head of cattle bought and sold and the maximum, minimum, average and total cost of the same.

The Chicago Drovers' Journal of Feb. 1 says: Lew Hastings is back from Colorado and is a bull on the cattle situation. He says there is more of a shortage than people even begin to realize. In head, the shipments were 31,285, against 42,218 in January of 1898, a shortage of 11,089.

The Kansas City Journal of Jan. 21 says: H. W. Kelley of Las Vegas, N. M., a well known sheepman of that country, was at the yard yesterday. He says the sheepmen of his country have pretty well sold out everything save breeding stock, the good prices last fall tempting them to sell closer than usual. There has been a good deal of snow, but no loss so far by flockmasters.

The St. Louis National Live Stock Reporter of Jan. 20 says: Mr. Winfield Scott of Fort Worth, Tex., has been here for some days. He received several carloads of young Hereford bulls and Shorthorn heifers to ship to his West Texas ranch. They are a superior lot and a duplicate of the consignment he sent last year. Mr. Scott has one of the best herds in Texas and is continually spending money in order to carry on the improvement.

A dispatch of Jan. 21 from Denison, Tex., says: For several days there has been a great deal of apprehension among citizens holding large bodies of land in the Chickasaw nation, fearing that Gov. Johnson would issue an order for all holders of large pastures and bodies of land under fence to reduce pastures to 140 acres. There had been talk of such a move and in many portions of the nation it is generally believed. Gov. Johnson has authorized an emphatic denial that he contemplates making any such move. Texas Stock and Farm Journal is receiving many messages of encouragement and appreciation from its readers.

The senate ratified the treaty of peace Monday afternoon by a vote of 57 yeas to 27 nays.

The United States treasury bureau of statistics has just completed its compilation of exports during the last year.

In its local columns of February 2 the Cameron Herald has two paragraphs which might well have been thrown into one, showing relation of cause and effect.

A comparison of market reports for three months shows that there has been almost an uninterrupted advance in the country's great export crops.

The ten or twelve days have been the worst part of the present winter. Farmers in a large portion of the state have been delayed at least a week in their preparation for spring planting.

A bill has been introduced in both houses of the Texas legislature intended to effect the extermination of prairie dogs.

The department of agriculture issued its final crop report January 30, raising its estimates on last year's wheat crop.

farm to live stock. It don't pay to depend altogether upon any one crop, and conditions are such in Texas that the farmer who raises plenty of feed stuff and plenty of stock to consume it will in the long run always be the most prosperous.

The United States is again engaged in war. On the night of the 4th the Filipinos made three attacks on the American lines, but were repeatedly driven back. On the 5th the Americans advanced, driving the enemy before them and taking several important positions.

There is good reason now to hope that the contest between the railroad companies and the Texas railroad commission has at last been ended by a compromise in which it is generally believed the roads will make the larger concessions.

The American authorities and the best elements in Cuba seem to be working in entire harmony and daily the dangers of a disagreement that would delay a restoration to normal conditions are apparently disappearing.

The organized bodies of insurgents constituted a menace to the rural industries, and in some cases Cuban insurgent affairs have had to be controlled by United States officials.

lation in Australia, using freely the work of Mr. C. J. Pound, government bacteriologist for the colony of Queensland, the conditions of the larger part of that colony being very similar as regards what is there called tick fever as those of the larger part of Texas.

In a letter from Mr. Pound to Capt. John Tod, of Corpus Christi, he says: "I always make a distinct rule of inoculating bulls twice; first, with recovered blood and then in six weeks' time with twice the quantity (viz: 10cc.) of virulent or fevered blood; by adopting this method we may lose a very small percentage after the first inoculation, but not any after the second inoculation; nor subsequently, when they are sent to a grossly tick-infested district."

In another paper Mr. Pound gives the following report of the work done subsequent to his experimental work, which was given in the Journal last week:

"Of 107 bulls (principally Devons), driven hard seven days, inoculated and immediately driven back, 35 died within three weeks, remainder all alive and well, although they have been grossly tick-infested eight months."

"Of 45 three and four-year-old short-horn bulls inoculated on their own pastures most of them showed sickness, but none died; inoculated a second time two months afterwards, none sickened or died. They were sent to a tick country, have been there a year and are grossly infested with ticks, but none have died."

"Of 208 Shorthorn bulls inoculated on their own pastures, none died; have been in a tick country the last six months, and all are apparently well."

"Of 203 short-horn bulls inoculated five died, remainder went into a tick country three months ago and all are still living and well."

"Of 60 Devons inoculated twice on their own run, two died. The others were sent to a tick country eight months ago and one has since died."

Other instances are given, which show results equally satisfactory. Mark the different results with animals that had not been inoculated. From one station three lots of bulls were started out into the tick country. One lot of 45 reached the infested ranges after traveling 200 miles, and within three weeks all died; of the second lot, 123 head, only 19 reached their destination, while of the third lot, 70 head, over 60 died of tick fever."

There is one point in Mr. Pound's letter upon which special stress should be laid. He says: "The blood must be used fresh, as in warm weather it will decompose in four hours."

For this reason he sends to the outlying districts one or more inoculated calves to supply blood, but to place near a railway station he sends the blood in bottles from the experimental station near Brisbane.

As said last week the experiments in the United States, carried on under the direction of Dr. Salmon, chief of the bureau of animal industry, preceded those in Australia five or six years, but the same lines were generally followed in both countries with the same results and practically the same conclusions.

In one of the bulletins issued by Dr. Salmon's department it is said: "When cattle have successfully passed through an acute attack, they, as a rule, are protected from future fatal attacks. They are not, however, completely insusceptible, for they may, after exposure, pass through one or more mild attacks in the following seasons. To induce an acute attack, which will not prove fatal, we have found that an injection of the blood of Southern cattle (or of vaccinated natives) under the skin the best means. When properly cared for during the incubation disease, death will not even with very susceptible old cows. The reason for the infectious nature of the blood of southern and vaccinated native cattle is the persistence in the blood of the micro-parasite of this disease. In some respects it is unfortunate that this parasite cannot be cultivated, but it is always at hand and within reach in the blood of native cattle or of those once inoculated. The experiments of the past summer consisted in making some animals partially immune by this method."

As the subject is one of vital importance to the Texas cattle industry, of course it has received a great deal of attention from Texas veterinarians and many inoculations have been performed in this state. In nearly every case that has come to the attention of the Journal the results have been most satisfactory. One of the earliest instances of inoculation here resulted unfortunately, but it is generally conceded, the Journal believes, that the blood was kept too long before being used. In another case, in Rockwall county, that only recently came to the Journal's knowledge, the inoculation did not, the owner of the cattle thinks, render all of these animals immune. Some of the cattle were kept in lots away from infection twelve months after inoculation and died after being turned out, the owner thinks of fever. Several had fever and recovered. Of these latter, one of the worst cases, the owner says the animal scoured badly from being gorged with cotton seed, and recovered more rapidly than any of the others. With him the question was, just what should be the management of the cattle after

A. Nance of Kyle, who is feeding a string of steers at Seguin, was here this week. He is preparing to make a shipment to St. Louis.

Davidson & Fleming have sold to A. G. Kennedy of Beaville, 800 head of coming one-year-old steers for April delivery. Private terms.

R. S. Dilworth of Gonzales, banker and cattleman, spent part of the week here looking for Territory cattle, of which he contemplates purchasing about 2500 head.

E. A. Borrom of Del Rio, writes the Journal that his cattle are doing well and will go through the winter in good shape. While the grass is a little dry just now, yet it matured well.

H. Roth of Hondo, a well known cowman, banker and merchant, was here Saturday. Says his cattle are wintering well and that the country is in good condition.

Gus Witting of Wilson county, is here for a few days. When he was asked for news he said he didn't know a thing, consequently the Journal is unable to quote him for anything more.

Preston R. Austin of San Antonio, has sold to Green Davidson of San Antonio, 300 head of coming two and three-year-old steers, now located in Maverick county and said to be a very fine lot of cattle.

William Ragland of this city, the well known San Antonio representative of the Chicago Live Stock Commission company, is spending the week with his patrons around Cuero and Yoakum.

Sanders & Jennings of San Antonio, shipped a train of 300 head of Sabinal, 300 coming two and 600 coming three and four-year-old steers at $18.00 and $22.00 per head. Mr. Dilworth has also bought of Baugh & Houston of Floresville, 800 twos, threes and fours at about the same figures.

W. H. Weeks, general live stock agent of the Cotton Belt railway, with headquarters at Fort Worth, spent part of the week here. Mr. Weeks says the fed cattle are now moving rapidly to market and are making good money; that feeders are usually putting in a second lot and one and all look for continued good prices.

A. S. Sage of Alpine, one of West Texas' most prominent cattlemen, who, with his family, is spending the winter in San Antonio, has recently returned from the Denver convention. Says the convention was a big success. He also adds that Fort Worth is to be congratulated for her enterprise in sending a delegation there to secure the next meeting for Fort Worth. Mr. Sage thinks the cattle business never before gave better promise of prosperity than now and believes that legitimate breeding business is sure to give handsome returns.

Cobin Cameron of Riddleville, spent the first of the week here. Says things are not so bad in his section as they might be—neither are they as good as they have been or could be. But no one seems discouraged and kicking is never heard.

Judge C. W. Standart of Kinney county, a well known sheepman, spent several days here this week. Says the sheep business is in right. Regarding the ranges in his section, said they had never been better and everything connected with the business was encouraging.

H. L. Kokernot of Alpine, of the firm of Kokernot & Kokernot, ranching in Brewster county, is here with his family. Mr. Kokernot gives good reports concerning cattle and cattle interests in his section and says the feeling is that values will continue good and better for some time to come.

Capt. C. E. H. Glazbrook, manager of the Coleman-Fulton Pasture company of San Antonio county, spent a part of the week here. The captain says that while grass is very scarce and the ranges in bad shape, his cattle will probably go through the winter in good shape, because of the ranges being but lightly stocked.

H. M. Stonebraker, of Kansas City representing the Hargreaves Live Stock Commission company, is now in the Territory and recently wrote a letter to the Territory parties stating that the creek nation will not be opened to Southern cattle this year. He states, however, that the Orange county will be able to care for all the cattle which will go to the Territory for fattening purposes.

W. L. Crawford of Dilley, was here the other day en route home from a trip to Texarkana, where he has about 700 steers on fall feed. Mr. Crawford says he is now glad that he fed in preference to selling, as he is making big money by so doing. He says his cattle are wintering well in Prio county, and he anticipates no unusual losses.

C. A. Waterman of this city, live stock agent of the Iron Mountain, has recently returned from a trip to North and Northwest Texas points, where he has been telling the cattle feeders about how the Iron Mountain pulls cattle. Says all cattle feeders are feeling good at prices paid in the market centers for their stuff and many of them are casting about for a good lot of cattle for a second feeding.

L. W. Krake of Fort Worth, the enterprising representative of the St. Louis National Stock Yards company, spent Friday among the San Antonio shippers. Mr. Krake says the general feeling among the cattlemen, and especially among the feeding men, is that the good prices now prevailing will continue, and that the term of prosperity now on for the cattlemen, has not yet begun drawing to a close.

M. A. Withers of Lockhart, was here Tuesday, returning from a visit to his ranch near Millett. Says his cattle are doing very well and will winter all right. He has a few old cows, such as everyone else has, which are poor and require feeding, but all other cattle, he says, are doing as well as he could ask. While here Mr. Withers invested in some good bulls, not because his cattle are not good, but because he wants to keep them good and make them better.

Maj. Harry Landis of New Braunfels, spent Saturday here. Says the cattle on feed at his mill are doing finely and will soon be going to market. He also says that the Storey, Landis & McGehee steers at Austin are rapidly fattening and will soon be in prime condition and will sell as a fancy lot of feeders. The major says he has a second lot which will shortly be made public and when it happens, cattlemen who have no living water on their ranges will rise and call him blessed.

Maj. Seth Mabry of Austin, an old-time cattlemen, whom everybody knows and honors, was here Friday en route home from an extended trip to Mexico, where he has been for the past few months in search of health. The Journal is glad to say that the Major's health is now good, and he has daily ample evidence of being all right. While here the major met with his old friend Capt. John T. Lytle and it was a pleasure to see these gray headed veterans talking together of "old lang syne."

Harry Strahorn of Chicago, of the Strahorn-Hutton-Evans Commission company, spent Friday here, combining business with pleasure. Mr. Strahorn is one of the best known young men in the commission business and has made a reputation second to none as a salesman in the quarantine division. Mr. Strahorn says the high prices now being paid in the market centers are perfectly correct and legitimate and he knows of no reason for discontinuance of same; in fact he considers that the prospects for continued prosperity in the cattle business are flattering. In his opinion, any cattle which can be made into beef within the next twelve months are worth good prices and will bring it. He thinks the breeding business is safe and sure and cattle bought on present market are good investments.

J. M. Chittim of this city, returned a few days since from his Maverick county ranch. Says everything out there is in good shape and that cattle are wintering well. Mr. Chittim brought back with him the skull of a steer which he had had killed some months ago because of its being a "big jaw." The Journal examined this souvenir of Mr. Chittim's and found that it had been affected on both jaws and the entire head as heavy as they can attain growth. Mr. Chittim wanted to send the skull to the State Veterinarian, but a careful canvass of a complete list of our State officials failed to show up the one to be recipient of this peculiar gift, consequently Mr. Chittim decided that it should be sent to the State Agricultural College Experiment Station, where it will no doubt be a valued and acceptable addition to the collection of curbs.

A. G. Kennedy of Beaville, was here the other day, and reports the cattle being fed by Wright & Kennedy at Taylor and Hearne as doing nicely. Says they will in about thirty days send to market the finest string of cattle which will go out of Texas feed lots this season. In saying this Mr. Kennedy refers to the black muley steers purchased by him in Nueces county. He now has the tops out of this lot of cattle, numbering 350 head, eating a daily ration of 8000 pounds of cotton seed hulls, 5000 pounds of crushed corn and 2500 pounds of cotton seed meal. This means a daily feed, per head, of 24 1/2 pounds of hulls, 15-16 pounds of crushed corn and nearly 9 pounds of meal, which is said to be the largest daily ration ever fed yet. Mr. Kennedy expects to continue this feed until about the last of this month when the cattle will be heavy and will doubtless bring a very fancy price. Messrs. Wright & Kennedy are deserving of great success in their efforts to feed out one of the finest lots of cattle in the State; at the time they bought these cattle and paid $40.00 per head for them. Conditions were not such as to justify the price, but these gentlemen were long-headed enough to know exactly what to do, and what they were making no mistake.

H. B. Woodley, the well known San Antonio cattleman, has just returned from a trip to the Territory. Says the old "sisters" are doing nicely and that all his cattle are wintering fine. Mr. Woodley says he never knew a time before when the cowmen of the Southwest were so well situated as they are now, either have they ever been in the strong, independent position that they now are. "Buyers now," said he, "cannot use their old excuse of low beef markets to beat down the price, and the Northern man or any one else who buys our cattle now must pay their worth. We have all 'culled' our herds, and our surplus cattle are all gone; we have no more to sell, and our herds have been improved so much of late years that our long twos are acceptable and sought after as feeders. The annual demands of Texas feeders will now use all the cattle we can raise and certainly cattlemen in this section are on Easy street. The Northern ranges are even more short on cattle than we are and they must seek stock: To do it, they must buy our cattle and I guess they will pay our price if they buy them. And the good part of all of it is, that we don't have to sell unless we want to; we have all got grass and will have more of it soon, and there seems to be plenty of money in this country, consequently I don't see why any of us should be compelled to sell. Well, we will soon see who is the boss of the situation, and as far as we are concerned, I'll just say that he's got plenty of cows and will soon have a big crop of live calves, and he don't care a rap whether he sells any of them for a couple of years or not."

Al McFaddin, the big Victoria cattleman, is spending the winter here. He is now resting up for a while, having disposed of his cattle interests last year and is now counting his money and enjoying life. Mr. McFaddin has been a cowman all his life and says he's always been so much on the go that he really does not know just exactly how to behave himself when he has absolutely nothing to do. In speaking of the conditions of the ranges of the Southwest Mr. McFaddin says: "In my opinion the greatest trouble with our Southwest ranges is the direct result of overstocking. Cattlemen, in their desire to carry as large herds as possible, have not given proper attention to the care of their pastures and have overworked them with stock that have eaten out the grass and trampled out the roots a year or year, until, in many instances, there is nothing left but the bare ground, absolutely devoid of vegetation. I believe that to this fact more than to the dry season that has prevailed is due the present unfortunate condition of things in certain counties in this section. Stockmen have required of their land year after year, more than it is capable of performing, and have not given the pastures rest and an opportunity to recuperate. This is well exemplified by conditions which I know to exist in my own county. For instance, I have three ranches in mind—two of them large ones and one capable of supporting any stock during the present winter; while lying right between the two is a small pasture of 6000 acres that has been well cared for and that is carrying 1000 head of cattle through the present winter in fine condition, showing that the grass is nutritious in spite of the dry weather which has prevailed. I believe that the secret of the restoration of our ranges lies in giving them periods of rest and in arranging to devote a much larger acreage per capita for a number of years in the future until they shall have been restored to good condition."

BULL BUYERS.
Henry Roth and I. H. King have purchased of A. V. Walton & Co. of this city, four registered Devon bulls, raised by the sellers, at an average of $100 per head.

Dull Bros. have recently purchased for use on their Pecos county ranch three bulls from the Armour Hereford herd at a cost of $225. One is a yearling, one a two-year-old and one a three-year-old. A local dealer in bulls has reported the following bull sales to parties named: One Durham to S. Johnson, Millett, Tex. $150; three Durhams to Dan Loveno Travlers to W. T. Blocker, Austin, $200; five Durhams to A. P. Blocker, Cotulla, $650; two Durhams to Guy Borden, San Antonio, $150; five Durhams to J. B. Moore, Del Valle, $500; two Durhams to J. Murphy, Taylor, $125; one Durham to John Wolf, Dilley, $150; three Durhams to Y. W. Costley, Gardfield, $300; 34 Durhams to M. A. Withers, Lockhart, $1455; five Durhams to J. M. Williams, Beaville, $300; seven Durhams to A. G. Kennedy, Beaville, $325; 12 Herefords to A. Armstrong, Jr., Cotulla, $1400; one Hereford to Bennett & West, San Antonio, $250; four Herefords to T. A. Coleman, San Antonio, $600; three Polled Durhams to Otto Buchel, Cuero, $210.

From the above it will be seen that breeders in the Southwest are investing in blooded animals, and if purchases in this line continue as heavy as they have been for the past year or so, scrub and poorly bred animals will certainly be scarce in this portion of the state.

Dallas office of Texas Stock and Farm Journal, 312 Main St., where our friends are invited to call when in the city.

C. U. Connelley of Eastland, was in the city Saturday and Sunday.

M. B. Lloyd, a banker of Fort Worth, was in the city Wednesday.

W. K. Bell, the well known Palo Pinto county cattleman, was in Dallas Monday.

E. P. Turner, general passenger and ticket agent of the Texas and Pacific, returned from New Orleans Friday.

John Scharbauer and W. E. Connell, two of the leading cattlemen of Fort Worth, were in Dallas Saturday.

A. A. Allen, general manager of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railway, with headquarters in Dallas, made a visit to St. Louis last week.

Several hundred bales of cotton have been hauled in wagons from Kaufman county to the cotton mill in this city because of the advanced railroad rates.

C. B. Willingham, a cattleman of Rowell, N. M., and member of the executive committee of the Cattle Raisers' association of Texas, visited Dallas Thursday.

G. A. Quinlan, vice-president and general manager of the Houston and Texas Central, came to Dallas Friday to spend a few days in the city. He was accompanied by Dr. Boyles, chief surgeon, and Capt. Andy Faulkner, ex-general passenger agent.

M. W. Hays of Higgins, Texas, in a private letter to the Texas Stock and Farm Journal under date of Feb. 1st, adds a postscript as follows: "Yesterday was a whizzer! At sun up this morning it was 10 below zero. No serious results so far as heard from."

Texas Stock and Farm Journal has received from the International and Great Northern Railway company an extremely handsome calendar entitled "A High Flyer." It represents the new fast train service over the North and East inaugurated last December.

Cattle buyers will do well to write to McFaddin & Wiess, of Beaumont, Texas, who advertise for sale in this issue a big lot of young steers and cows for spring delivery, now located near Beaumont. The yearlings are said to be extra good. The cattle can be seen in one day. Read their ad.

Texas Stock and Farm Journal has received from Prof. J. H. Connell, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations, the tenth report of the Station's work for fiscal year ending June 30, 1898, and Bulletin No. 47 on "The Effect of Food on Economic Dairy Production."

C. S. Withington, manager of the L.S. ranch, Tascosa, Texas, advertises in this issue 200 2-year-old and 300 horn bulls for sale, all of the L.S. brand. Journal readers will remember that the L.S. calves won second prize at the recent Stock exhibition at the southern class at Denver, beating all other grades. See the advertisement.

R. A. Smith, of Austin, Texas, advertises in this issue that he wants to buy the best registered young Shorthorn bull in Texas, and also wants to pasture and breed 300 young cows. He also has for sale, in Runnels county, 25 very high grade Shorthorn bulls, yearlings and coming yearlings. See his advertisement and write to him.

Mr. M. Zollner who, with his brother, is engaged in raising registered Shorthorn cattle near Fate, in Rockwall county, was in Dallas Saturday. Mr. Zollner has made a careful study of Shorthorns and is an intelligent and successful breeder. While here he gave to one of the Journal men an interesting account of his experiences in handling registered cattle brought from Missouri.

Journal readers who want excellent Shorthorn blood should give attention to the advertisement of J. W. Sandidge, Cold Water, Miss., which appears elsewhere in this issue. The bull at the head of his herd is a pure Cruikshank, bred by Col. W. A. Harris of Linwood, Kansas, being from Imp. Lady of the Meadow and sire of the head, a great bull, of the herd of H. C. Duncan, of Osborne, Mo. The cows of Mr. Sandidge's herd are also of celebrated ancestry.

The Journal calls attention to the advertisement of the Fairbury Nurseries, Nebraska, which appears in another column to-day. The catalogue for the spring and fall of 1899 by Mr. C. M. Huriburt includes very many varieties of fruit trees and vines, shade trees, small fruits, shrubbery, etc. The nurseries have a certificate from Prof. Lawrence Bruner, acting state entomologist for Nebraska, saying that he has personally examined the Fairbury nursery and premises and finds no San Jose scale nor any indication that it has ever been present in the nursery or vicinity, and that the stock is apparently in a healthy condition and free from all other dangerous insect pests.

Mr. Hugh P. Kane returned Saturday from the race meeting in New Orleans and says that one-third of the race horses there are Texas bred horses and are making a big reputation for Texas breeding. One Texas pacer, a two-year-old named "Mucyklicka," owned by A. G. Park and trained by Capt. D. C. Brundage, was especially admired. This filly won two out of the three races in which she was entered, losing the third, a handicap, only because the track was knee-deep in mud. Mr. Kane says that the lengthening of the Dallas racing season next fall to three weeks will bring a great many more horses here at that time, among them many horses of the highest class, and he thinks it will be more interesting than any racing meet Dallas has yet had.

Tom Hoben of Nocona, Montague county, a breeder of Shorthorns, was in Dallas Monday. He says the ground in his section has been frozen so much that farmers have not yet gone to work for spring planting. There has been plenty of feed in his part of the county, so that cattle have done well there, but elsewhere the cattle not fed were faring badly though he had heard of no deaths. Wheat has done well so far, though checked by the recent cold.

The attention of Journal readers is called to the advertisement in this issue of Thomas Evens of Hartford, Kansas, who is offering for sale a splendid lot of registered Herefords, 20 cows, 20 bulls and 15 heifers. He also has a carload of high grade bulls which he is offering to buyers.

Texas stock and Farm Journal has received from the Industrial commission, organized under Act of Congress approved June 18, 1898, several papers showing the law under which the commission is formed, its organization, rules, etc., and its plan of inquiry. In organizing the commission has distributed the work of investigation among four sub-commissioners of five members each, one of the sub-commissioners to investigate present conditions of agriculture and agricultural labor. The main object will be to study and compare existing laws, here and elsewhere, so as to provide, so far as legislation may be competent, for uniformity of conditions and the removal of causes of discontent and inequality. In the plan of inquiry adopted very much of the work will relate to questions of interest to all departments of agricultural industry.

THE FARMERS AND FACTORIES.

So intensely disagreeable was the weather Saturday that early in the morning few hoped for a large attendance of farmers at the meeting announced to be held at the Commercial club rooms to consider the establishment of a cotton factory. Doubtless the intense cold and blinding wind did prevent many from leaving their homes, but at 10 o'clock the hour set for the meeting, nearly 300 representative Dallas county farmers were in the hall, ready to listen and talk business, and throughout the meeting it was clearly evident that they meant business and wanted to get at it without any more delay than was required for careful discussion and consideration of plans and methods best adapted to the achievement of the object.

Mr. J. F. Zang, chairman of the cotton committee, rapped the meeting to order and in a brief talk announced the objects for which it had been called. Mr. J. M. Cochran was elected chairman and S. A. Fishburn secretary. A committee of farmers was then elected to supervise the drawing of prizes offered by the commercial club to attract to the Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations, and G. R. Jones was chosen as chairman of committee, the other members selected being A. S. Hollifield and A. M. Cochran. It may be said here that the drawing took place after dinner, the committee being assisted by the three ladies selected for that purpose in December, Miss Lena Jonsson, Miss Hollifield and Mrs. Goodnight, until recently Miss Gracy. The $100 prize was drawn by E. A. Gibson, the $50 prize by W. G. Gately of DeSoto and the two $25 prizes by W. Hufford of Kleburg and R. L. Myers of Oak Cliff.

Following the appointment of the above committee, another committee, to consider plans and organization, consisting of three farmers and three men from the city, was appointed on motion of Mr. Zang, the committee consisting of H. O. Samuel, J. M. Cochran and O. P. Scott from the county, and from the city J. F. Zang, Palmer Steele and M. H. Mahana. Mr. Lewis M. Dabney read a report signed by himself and John G. Hunter, they having been appointed by the Commercial club to consider and report a plan for the establishment of a cotton mill here. The plan recommended was one intended to protect the smaller shareholders, and which has been successful to that end elsewhere. It suggests a capital stock of $100,000, in $100 shares, consisting of $23,000 common stock, and $77,000 preferred stock, the latter to be guaranteed 5 per cent dividends, but the former to have the directorship of the enterprise.

Short speeches were made by A. M. Cochran, Col. J. W. Sandidge, Cold Water, Miss., which appears elsewhere in this issue. The bull at the head of his herd is a pure Cruikshank, bred by Col. W. A. Harris of Linwood, Kansas, being from Imp. Lady of the Meadow and sire of the head, a great bull, of the herd of H. C. Duncan, of Osborne, Mo. The cows of Mr. Sandidge's herd are also of celebrated ancestry.

The Journal calls attention to the advertisement of the Fairbury Nurseries, Nebraska, which appears in another column to-day. The catalogue for the spring and fall of 1899 by Mr. C. M. Huriburt includes very many varieties of fruit trees and vines, shade trees, small fruits, shrubbery, etc. The nurseries have a certificate from Prof. Lawrence Bruner, acting state entomologist for Nebraska, saying that he has personally examined the Fairbury nursery and premises and finds no San Jose scale nor any indication that it has ever been present in the nursery or vicinity, and that the stock is apparently in a healthy condition and free from all other dangerous insect pests.

Mr. Hugh P. Kane returned Saturday from the race meeting in New Orleans and says that one-third of the race horses there are Texas bred horses and are making a big reputation for Texas breeding. One Texas pacer, a two-year-old named "Mucyklicka," owned by A. G. Park and trained by Capt. D. C. Brundage, was especially admired. This filly won two out of the three races in which she was entered, losing the third, a handicap, only because the track was knee-deep in mud. Mr. Kane says that the lengthening of the Dallas racing season next fall to three weeks will bring a great many more horses here at that time, among them many horses of the highest class, and he thinks it will be more interesting than any racing meet Dallas has yet had.

Tom Hoben of Nocona, Montague county, a breeder of Shorthorns, was in Dallas Monday. He says the ground in his section has been frozen so much

THE SUNNY SLOPE HEREFORDS. To all Hereford breeders and range breeders who have been improving their herd by the purchase of Hereford breeding stock the purchase of the Sunny Slope farm and herd near Emporia, Kansas, by Mr. C. A. Stannard, was an event of great interest. Mr. Stannard, himself a most intelligent and successful breeder of the "Whitefaces," became by this purchase proprietor of a herd of world-wide fame, one that has achieved distinguished honors wherever exhibited. Readers of the Journal have been told of its triumphs at the Omaha exposition. With this herd has been combined the Sunrise herd of Herefords, itself of high repute.

Probably in all the world there has never before been collected in one herd so many distinguished sires, nor so many dams of famous animals. No other has so many of the offspring of the great Beau Real 11055. Among other great sires belonging to Sunny Slope are Wild Tom 51292, Archibald V. 54418, Kodak of Rockland 40731, Java 64045, Imp. Keep On 76051 and Sentinel 76083.

Mr. Stannard may be trusted to keep this grand herd up to the deservedly high reputation it has gained and to make a better selection of really high class individuals. Mr. Stannard is advertising in the Journal 100 bulls and 100 cows for sale, from six months to six years old, at prices that all must consider reasonable.

Grand Falls New Era (Ward Co.) Preparations are being made to erect dipping vats, shearing sheds, feeding pens, and in fact every facility afforded for shearing a cool 100,000 sheep at Grand Falls in the ensuing spring. A large wool storage building will be erected and arrangements made by which supplies of all kinds can be furnished. A good ram pasture of about 7000 acres will be put under a five wire fence, and feed furnished if necessary.

There was unloaded at Childress Monday afternoon two cars of pure bred Hereford bulls for S. M. Swenson & Son, of Childress, in Motley county. The calves were bought at Denver during the meeting of the cattlemen. One car was from Kansas and the other car Colorado raised, and each animal is of the best. The calves will be kept near Childress till spring and then taken to the ranch.

Hereford colors in the competitive show rings of the country. The Weavergrace Herefords occupy a very prominent place in the American Hereford ranks to-day.

Mr. Nave in founding his herd that now consists of about 150 head, all ages, used every means at his command, and on several occasions females came to the farm at $800 to $1000 each. His premier herd bull, Dale 66481, cost him in November, 1897, $1100. This great up-to-date typical beef animal last year was the champion bull. Several of the cows and heifers in the sale are safe in expectancy by him. The offering will consist of individuals suited to the wants of prospective buyers—aged bulls and cows, young bulls, bred and unbred heifers.

The Hornaday sale of specially selected Herefords consists of 50 head—bulls, cows and heifers—whose foundation rests on the immediate descendants of the noted Anxiety 4th 9904, topped by one of the best sons of the noted Corrector 48976, whose sons and daughters have won the numerous victories of the Weavergrace herd of Sotham's.

Space forbids that extended notice which this combination offering merits, therefore the reader is referred to the sale advertisement found elsewhere in this issue and respectfully requested to write for a free copy of the sale catalogue wherein one finds a detailed statement concerning both the herds and the sale offerings.

STANDARD PLANTERS

COMBINED AND UNCOMBINED. A man never feels more like backing up to the south end of a vigorous mule, and pleading for just one kick, than when he sees his corn coming up in a hop, skip and jump fashion, because he would buy a cheap planter—at least he thought it was.

Now he knows it was not. "That which we don't know is often that which, if we did know, would be exchangeable for coffee."

NO. C 15 COMBINED CORN AND COTTON PLANTER. Perfect Delivery of CORN or COTTON SEED. KAFFIR CORN or SORGHUM SEED. Notice: This Planter is so constructed that any desired depth of covering can be obtained by setting the shovels to correspond with the desire. Other planters cover as they must, not as you want it done.

BETTER THAN THE BEST. Image of a planter. Convenient and Efficient Seed Regulator.

With Steel Frame. This Planter is made with strong Steel Frame. Has the frame so curved that old stalks and trash do not reach the working parts. Its proportions are right for comfortably guiding and holding the Planter in line. It has the same large Seed Reservoir and Corn Drop used in the No. 15 1/2 Planter. Covering Shovels, as well as the Opening Shovels, are provided with a protecting break pin. The Standard Planter, by actual field comparison, proved to plant more evenly than either of the four other very popular planters, tested with cotton seed, when planting thin, but was about the same when planting 125 seeds to six feet.
