E. C. Moore & Son Have Complete Line Farm Implements

—Clay County Leader.

The E. C. Moore & Son hardware and implement store is rapidly "getting set" for doing a real business throughout Clay county and the surrounding territory since opening their store here in the county seat some three weeks ago.

Last week this hustling firm sold one of their nationally known McCormick-Deering Farmall Tractors to Walter H. Smith of the Stanfield district, and Mr. Smith says he wouldn't be without his Farmall at any price, for it does all the work to be found around over the entire farm. Already Mr. Smith has been running his new tractor doing his plowing, and a picture of him with his Farmall in action is to be seen on Page three of this issue of The Leader as taken Saturday morning by our cameraman. This Farmall will do everything where power is needed on the farm. It will pump the water, if necessary; it will furnish the power to grind the feedstuff it will run the saw to cut the winter wood, and it will supply the power to haul in the wagon loaded with this wood, too; it also draws the gang-plow, the harrow, in fact, it will do anything one cares to "hook it up to!" Mr. Smith is proud of his Farmall.

E. C. Moore & Son also handle the well-known International Trucks, one of the best known farm necessities manufactured today, and incidentally, they will be glad to demonstrate this truck at any time. They also sell the nationally known "Superflex," the oil burning refrigerator for those residing out where electric current is not available. And for those who desire the electrically operated refrigerators they sell the well known Frigidaire and Stewart-Warner dual-temperature refrigerators. They will be happy to have you come by their store and inspect these two leading refrigerators, feeling certain, as Mr. Moore remarked to us "they will buy, once

By BOYCE HOUSE

Those who have smiled skeptically, (I was one) when the delights and wonders of Old Mexico were depicted with glowing eloquence by travelers need only to make the journey themselves into the neighboring country to find that the travelers are wrong—they didn't make the descriptions beautiful enough!

It is a story-book land, a place of such sudden and surprising contrasts, of such varying sights and sounds that it leaves the brain bewildered. Imagine compressing all these events into a single day.

Arriving in the City of Mexico a few Sunday mornings ago, we (the members of the Texas Lions' good will pilgrimage) were met at the station by Mexico City Lions. A string band played soft, Mexican melodies, fragrant flowers were presented to the ladies and then we were whisked by car to La Reforma, newest and most modern hotel in the Republic.

Then began a tour of the city. Uniformed soldiers wearing trench helmets were on guard with bayonets rifles as we entered the National Palace where we saw long reception halls, lined with paintings of statesmen and generals; the dining room, with its crystal chandeliers and ponderous silver, where Emperor Maximilian and Empress Carlotta once entertained, and then the Cabinet Room, heavy tapestries at the windows, gilt furniture, thick carpets, and at each cabinet member's chair beside the long table, a gold-lettered leather portfolio. Officers pointed out a bullet hole in the back of one chair and then of another; the occupants had been shot to death.

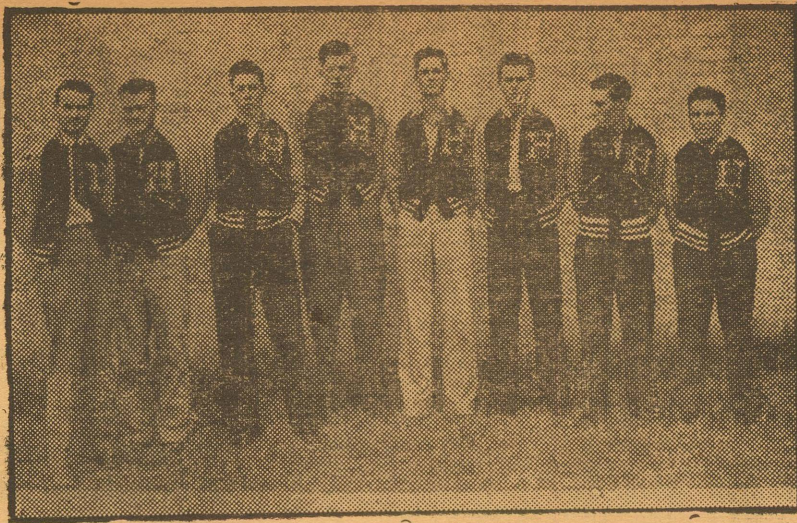

From the beautiful ballroom, the visitors stepped on to the balcony and looked out on the Zocalo (or plaza), the center of the life of Mexico, the view dominated by the twin towers of the cathedral, standing on the site of chief Aztec temple.

On the walls of the National Palace are the Diego Rivera murals. Here is Mexico's history, told not in words, but in painting and so it is a story that anyone with eyes can read. The colors are bright because it is a colorful tale, beginning with plumed dancers and feathered serpents, then the Span-conquest, Maximilian, Juarez, Diaz, Villa—it is all there, even a depiction of the late industrial exploitation of the people and a presentation of the present policies of Mexico, including the expropriation of foreign-owned oil properties. The lower part of one section was stained with acid; someone displeased, had tried to destroy the picture.

A drive through market, thousands of blossoms of unbelievable brightness and size piled in perfumed pyramids; the reddest of tomatoes, the greenest of peppers and the whitest of onions; then a swing down the Paseo de la Reforma, one of the most beautiful boulevards in the world, with its bronze King Charles and its Victory Monument, 150 feet high; then fine homes and finer flower gardens; and Chapultepec Park, with charros wearing costumes in real life as glittering as the raiment in Ft. Worth's make-believe Casa Manana—grandeas on horseback, with big hats rimmed with tiny, jingling bells; jackets and tight fitting trousers of blue, of pink, and of green, embroidered in silver or gold; at the hip, pearl-handled, silver-embossed six-shooters, and their saddles gleaming with semi-precious stones and precious metals.

runs for the United States Senate next year (as rumored), Judge Ralph W. Yarborough, would run for Attorney General again. Having made a strong campaign last year when he polled 221,000 votes, Judge Yarborough is known to the voters and should win next time.

E. S. Shoaf, Wood County Democrat publisher, reminds us that the North and East Texas Press Association meets in Greenville, May 12 and 13, with cups for the best weeklies and dailies, as well as an award to the paper that rendered the most outstanding community service last year. Another good friend, Lon Boynton, of the Lamar County Echo, is association president.

"Oldest joke" contest entry: A farmer driving an old mare into town saw a sign, "Speed limit 20 miles an hour." Whipping the old horse, he said, "Don't know whether we can make it or not."

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

As stated in last week's article Safety Education is one of the most vital and crucial problems facing the people of Texas. The phase of Traffic Education of our youth was dealt with primarily, but this article will deal with many other phases of Safety Education.

In the first place it is surprising to know the huge number of accidents - many of them fatal - that occur right in one's own home. Many children and adults stumble on stairways, over fallen brooms, toys, and so on. Poor lighting frequently causes accidents which good illumination would have prevented. Electrical connections should be properly installed to prevent short circuits, fires, and even electrocutions. Electrical connections should never be touched, but particularly is this true when the hands are damp or when standing in water.

All gas appliances should be connected by reliable plumbers; gas heaters should be extinguished before retiring or leaving the house. All pipes and fixtures should be inspected frequently. The child should be taught never to play with guns or other dangerous weapons. Never hazards. Attention to all of these hazards should be called to the minds of the youngsters often in order to avoid accidents.

On the other hand many accidents are caused in the spring months from flying kites near electric wires. If a kite should fall on an electric wire do NOT try to disentangle it because of danger of electrocution. There should be adequate playgrounds, but by all means do NOT play in the streets. The "show off" and "smart-alec" usually gets hurt or hurts some innocent person. There are many accidents while playing on swings, see-saws, slides, giant strides, and so on. Consequently, it is the duty of the teachers to supervise the play grounds and to instruct the children in the value of being careful constantly to avoid accidents and injuries. And the State Department of Education urges all schools to have their teachers instruct the pupils in the many dangers that lurk at every corner and even in play.

"At least 75% of my cuttings are growing that I have planted in my cutting bed," says Mrs. W. C. Whitaker, the Joy H. D. Clug yard-demonstrator.

Mrs. Whitaker used, instead of concrete tiling a substitute made from a tin pipe with small holes in it for sub-surface watering. Sub-irrigation requires less water and is very helpful in this climate, especially during the late summer and fall.

These plants now in the cutting bed will be ready to use this fall or next spring.

Do Not Become Alarmed Over War

You, readers, who have a radio, and we presume each has one, because they are reasonably cheap—heard President Roosevelt speak Friday and again on Saturday. In the latter speech he made a plea to Germany and Italy to pledge him and twenty-three nations their unqualified good-will toward insuring or making secure the peace of the world for a period of ten years. It is our wish that you do not become alarmed. It is our candid opinion that there will be no war in 1939, although the war-shadows are being cast over the world. Listen in on your radio and you can hear our president from time to time; he talks for peace, for our security and for the peace of the world. Should Mr. Hitler and Mr. Mussolini decline our president's offer to join us and the other countries in a new League of Nations for Peace, then that will not mean there will be a war this year. There are too many large and powerful nations signing up for peace for Germany, Italy and Japan to get it into their minds that they can whip the world. The day will never come when America will be whipped in any war—especially in one where our only motive is to stop war and guarantee the peace of the world. Our President is a wise, and far-seeing man and evidently has been tipped off, that Mussolini and Hitler want to muss us up and hit us for all we have. If so we will "mix it" with them. The President can only make recommendations. Congress votes a declaration of war so if you think we should get into a war, then you can write your congressman and Senators your views, or if you think we should stay out of all foreign entanglements, then write them that. But do not become alarmed. Read, listen and think.

Many farmers reported to us that they had seen quite a few covies of geese go north Friday evening. That indicates that hot weather is just around the corner.

PIONEER ASSOCIATION MET WEDNESDAY AT HOME OF MRS. JOE DOUTHITT

The pioneer association met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Joe Douthitt and agreed to sponsor the Fourth of July celebration.

The only definite form of entertainment decided upon was the Street Dance, but the association is trying to arrange many other forms of entertainment. For definite information about this article will be found in a later issue of this paper.

Prosperity Will Come If You Do Your Part

The pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow still eludes the eager fingers of the hopeful who have been waiting for some magic of government to boost them into prosperity. There are not going to be enough homes for the homeless, enough farms for the landless, enough jobs for the jobless, enough pensions for the aged, to be handed down by some legislative legerdemain of dividing up the wealth already in existence.

Government can help and is helping but there will never be "farm security" for those who lean too heavily on outside props and fail to make the most of their own resources at home.

Good home living grows where it is planted and tended, not in legislative halls at the state or national capital. The grass that grows along the branch and in the fence corners will feed a cow or a flock of sheep. The grass that springs up in the cotton patch will keep a flock of geese happy and have hoeing, to say nothing of turning into feathers and luscious meat. The insects that infests the crops and the waste around the barnyard will go a long way to keep a flock of hens. A flock of turkeys will pick boll weevil and leaf worms off considerable cotton.

Terraced fields will give greater yields, and properly spaced furrows in the pastures multiply the grass. A mower to keep weeds down does the same. Lambs in the corn field after it is laid by keep weeds and grass down and pay for the privilege. A ditch which can be dug in a day without a dollar of cash outlay will store enough ensilage to feed the family milk cows and their calves through a long hard winter or a summer drouth, and when feed is thus stored it can't blow away, burn up, dry out, or decay.

Our frontier ancestors made the most of what they had, and left us a tradition of self-reliance and independence of which we may well be proud. All around us today are unused opportunities for self-help, (only a few of which have been mentioned) uncultivated resources for added income. Real farm security is a grass-roots job first of all, and the help of laws is only secondary. The old saying "God helps those who help themselves" is a mighty good text.

Let's grow up, and quit chasing rainbows. Political panaces and high-flown economic theories handed down from those who think the farmer is incapable of thinking for himself won't get the job done—for the farmer. He who does not efficiently employ and direct his own mental and physical abilities will be directed by someone else; and the director will collect for his services.

It is quite true that the present generation of farmers haven't the freedom of action, the virgin soils, the unspoiled forests the luxuriant grass and plentiful game and fish of the pioneers, but we have proportionally more implements with which to work and greater knowledge of how to use the resources left to us than had those rugged old individuals who did the job with an ax and a rifle. The same courage and initiative coupled with the improved crops and livestock, and better information on how to make the best of them, enable the present generation to produce more per acre and get greater returns per hour of labor than the best of our fathers could have done.

The only way a nation can have more is to produce more, whether it be peanuts or flying machines. New wealth is created only by applying thought and work to the materials which are at hand. Real farm security is a grass-roots job first of all, and the help of laws is only secondary. The old saying "God helps those who help themselves" is a mighty good text.

JUST CRUISING

(By the Captain)

Another week has passed and still, as yet, no war has materialized in the old world, although much water has run under the bridge. President Roosevelt took the bold step of sending a direct personal message to the two dictators, Hitler and Mussolini last week end, asking them to guarantee the peace of the world for a period of ten years,—preferably a quarter of a century,—by assurances that neither of them would attack and take by force of arms any other of the remaining small independent nations of Europe. He stated that he would gladly act as mediator between the totalitarian governments and the nations named by him totaling some thirty or more, if they would thus join in making possible the security and peace and happiness of the peoples of the world. Just what these two dictators will do, with reference to replying to the president's message is doubtful, but it is most likely they will not reply, but will ignore it entirely, thus believing that they are doing more to rebuff the president than they could in any other way. But the trouble today is that it never can be determined just when some governmental heads are sincere in their actions, and the whole world is rapidly reaching the point where they do not have any great degree of confidence left in many, if any, of them.

Here's something for the Parent-Teachers Associations to work for and to think about: In our national governmental arrangement, we have our Department of State, with its secretary; the Department of Agriculture, with its secretary; the Departments of Commerce, Interior, Labor, War, Navy, Justice et al, each having its secretary to sit at the president's counsel table to look after the work of that particular department. If all these are necessary, then why aren't our children the future citizens of our great nation, worthy of and entitled to a Department of Education, with its own secretary, to look after the educational interests of our present and coming generations? A much discussed subject, but up to this time little, if any, real American action has been taken to secure this most needed of all governmental departments.

Press dispatches last Friday carried a short report that Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president and who has been living in Fort Worth for some time now, has resigned his position with the Hearst-controlled radio networks, but one of Hearst's news reporters in his late Saturday night broadcasts stated that the newspaper baron of the USA had "told the young man to go to the box office and get his money; that he wasn't needed any longer, because he talks too much." Time will tell how much truth there is in these two adverse news reports.

The State Observer, Austin, says, "get that haircut before the law is approved by the governor." This paper had reference to what it terms the first price-fixing law ever to be passed in Texas, and is what is known as the "Barbers Bill," and has for its purpose the fixing of the price of haircuts at a minimum price of 40c, when as a matter of fact, the Bill, as passed, by both the Senate and the House and which now is on the governor's desk awaiting his signature or his veto, provides that 85% of the members of any county may get together and agree upon a scale of "minimum" prices, with the "maximum" 40 cents." The original purpose of the Bill desired was to cut out those barbers who now cut hair for 25 cents and give their patrons a shave for 20c. We know one local barber who made a total of $168 last month at the prices of 25c for hair cuts and 20c for shaves, stated that he was perfectly satisfied with his returns, but he is one of those working barbers, and is seldom seen outside of his workshop. The old world is rapidly reaching the point where most everyone seems to be trying to "get by" with as little work as possible and few there be remaining who are willing to earn the old dollar by the sweat of their brow as told to do in the Good Book. What the governor will do with this Bill remains to be seen.

Governor O'Daniel last week approved a bill appropriating $718,255 to supplement rural school aid for the current biennium and most of the money will go to the payment of teachers' salaries.

The Texas Legislature is still seeking to work out some kind of a revenue raising measure to pay the old age assistance pensions. The Senate passed a bill calling for a 2% sales tax with an increase in the resources tax, this to be submitted to a vote of the people in the form of a constitutional amendment. The House last week killed outright the Sales Tax Bill which they had originated, and has sent to the senate a gross receipts tax with a small increase also in general resources tax. The Texas constitution states in the House bills for raising revenue must originate in the House." It would surely be a pretty state of affairs if the House should now suddenly turn and approve this Senate Bill for a straight 2% sales tax, since it had its origin in the senate. And don't you think for a minute that there aren't plenty of people watching this fact, since it is a known fact that the larger concerns desire a general sales tax plan for raising this revenue since everybody would pay a part of the tax on every item they had to buy.

The baseball season has started and now the lovers of the great old American game will have ample opportunity to go and see a game now and then. The Texas league has been going about one week, while the two additional leagues started their season this week.

George A. Hill, President of the San Jacinto Museum of History Association, and Edgar O. Lovett, president of Rice Institute, chairman of committee on Invitations have extended welcome to the celebrations, as follows: "The President and Trustees of the San Jacinto Museum of History Association, domiciled in the City of Houston, Texas, and organized under the authority of the Texas State Board of Control and of the San Jacinto State Park Commission, for the purpose of preserving and maintaining a museum of history in the monument erected lately on the San Jacinto Battlefield by

Local Churches to Sponsor Revival To Begin May 28th

—Clay County Leader.
The Fife Brothers, nationally known evangelists and known to Radio world as Radio Log Cabin Boys, will open a city-wide community revival in Henrietta Tex., on May 28th, and close the night of June 16th. The evangelists live in Los Angeles, California, but one of them was born in Texas and the other reared in Kentucky.

Dr. Clyde Lee Fife is the preacher of the team and directs the campaign. He is a big man, is brotherly, and since the passing of Billy Sunday, is considered one of the very foremost evangelists of our day. In addition to his preaching, he is a singer, a violinist and a guitarist. He takes a deep interest in big game hunting, in farming, and in fly fishing.

Mr. Bob Fife, his brother, is the choir leader, an outstanding trombone soloist, playing his trombone with a smooth, ribbon tone. He knows hundreds of hymns and songs from memory and in his playing never looks at a book, play all the keys by note from memory.

In New York on the world's largest radio stations, he was accorded the title of "World's Premiere Hand Saw Soloist" playing both with the cello bow and with mallets and his pitch and tone color are perfect. He also plays the ukelele, tenor guitar, and other instruments. He and his brother have a wonderful radio singing team with guitar and ukelele, singing the great old-time songs of the southland and of the churches.

The Fife Bros. draw immense crowds and add large numbers of people to the churches who remain faithful through the years.

Teach Children To Be Careful To Avoid Fatal Accidents

The teachers of the schools of Texas are urged by the State Department of Education to teach the children there are more than 10 million accidents per year in the United States. They should teach the value of First Aid in preventing accidents in the home, at school on the play-grounds, and so on. They should be taught how to prevent accidents, how to determine the nature and extent of an injury, what to do, and how to administer First Aid (such as, in many cases the injured should be allowed to be still, his head rest below the rest of his body, and so on), how to treat bleeding, poisoning, and many other things. They should learn how to give complete facts to the doctor, such as the exact location of the injuries, how to take care of many small infections, and many other items that might not only give the patient ease and comfort, but save a life.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Frailey and daughters, Beverly and Doris Ruth, of Nocona, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Howard and family.
