MEADOW SCHOOL NOTES

Lester Lindsey, the one of our students who got the lowest with the late pneumonia epidemic, is back in school at least, thus making the entire flock again in the fold, and the school is progressing as never before and a number of the patrons and all of the pupils clamoring for the term to be extended beyond the contract. I said that the slire flock are back in the fold; but that is not exactly true. One of Mr. Way's little ones is a little puny, but we understand is not serious, and will likely be back tomorrow. The following pupils are entitled to mention on "Honor Roll:" Jim Peeler, George Hamlet, and Vincent Lindsey.

Col. Looney, of Plains, Texas, spent the night in Meadow last Monday night. He failed to get oil, either in Brownfield or Meadow, and so he and his lady had to take lodging at the Howard House in Meadow. The next morning, he secured a team and went over to Albert Taylor's and got oil to make the run on to Lubbock.

Messrs. M. V. Brownfield, Dolph Robinson, and Percy Spencer stopped over in Meadow a few minutes, last Thursday evening, on their way to Brownfield. We enjoyed a short chat with them on politics; some of them being free to express themselves in regard to the candidates.

The next most important happening in Meadow occurred last Friday morning, when the Meadow quill pusher made the capital shot of driving a steel-jacket ball through the head of a coyote 242 paces away.

All the people of the north east part of Terry and the north west part Lynn counties met last Saturday at Mr. Hope Timmons', and joined in a grand rabbit drive. The drive was a failure, owing to the fact that the hurdle was built too far away from the sage brush and the rabbits refused to be driven across the open; but everyone enjoyed the sport, nevertheless.

Brother Trammel filled his regular appointment here last Sunday. Quite a few of Hockley County folks were out. Glad to see them. Come again.

Mr. John G. Rix, the successful traveling salesman for the big Monix Wholesale Dry Goods House, of Fort Worth, stopped over yesterday, to visit with his brother-in-law and family, Mr. J. W. Peeler, of this place.

We notice that the first campaign guns of the season have been turned loose in the other parts of the county; but the candidates overlooked Meadow as very favorable place for verbose bombardment. Verily, verily I say, "O, people of Meadow! Have I not done many wonderful things for thee and in thy name cast out many evildoers and done all that I could to help the public school interest of thy community, and thy name used(?) mine influence to secure a reasonable rate of tax to build and maintain a modest, modern school for the education of thy sons and daughters?" Then will the Meadow people answer and say unto them! "depart from us, ye seekers after office; for in the campaign, we never knew you!" That's all right! There is some pretty good office timber in and about Meadow; and if this discourtesy is protracted, we will trot out a few of our trimmest, strongest, blue atmosphere gashers and have them each to send the Editor a "V" and get in the lists and show some of you one-eyed Rileys a trick about campaigning.

The other day, an old Terry County ex-candidate of several campaigns standing, dropped some hot shot into the "Hottentot" in regard to the letter's favorite candidate for District Atty. Be careful, old hand! We have always supported you; but when you spring things on a good man, that are irrelevant to his public career, we've got a little air gun and some "D. B.'s

"Scrape Russia and you'll find a.

Nightly Song of Soldiers.

A few years ago I saw at the little garrison of the quaint old city of Maranham, Brazil, the sweet and touching ceremony of putting the soldiers to bed. No doubt this, like so many other customs of the ancient days of Spanish rule that made the Latin dominance unique, must soon give way before the attacks of a more "practical" century. Maranham, it may be added, is one of the oldest ports on the American continents. Situated some 300 miles south of the mouth of the Amazon river, it has no connection with the rest of the world save through sea-going vessels. A century ago its trade employed more than 100 such each year, but through changed conditions the number has now fallen from four to ten per annum. Of a present population of about 30,000, many are wealthy and highly educated.

The barracks, where about 100 soldiers are quartered, are in the suburbs, and occupy a large field which is used for their drill grounds. Every night at nine the soldiers are drawn up in line as for dress parade. After a few evolutions, they stack arms, return to their lines, remove their hats, kneel, and, with bowed heads, sing in the thrilling tenor of the Spanish race, the sweet old hymn, beginning "Guarda, Deus guarda." Throughs gather to listen, and many kneel and join them; every head is uncovered and bowed until the close; when rifles are resumed, and the soldiers file to quarters.

As I went homeward with the hushed company who had assembled to listen and participate, I thought, "Where else can one listen to such a tribute to the 'King of Kings,' nightly, in a garrison of soldiers?"—D. A. Cobb in the Los Angeles Herald Sunday Magazine.

Now is the time to begin talking about that clean up day.

Don't study railroading too much but try to find just how much stuff old Terry will yield under favorable circumstances.

Are we going to keep Brownfield's reputation up as a clean town? Are we going to keep people talking about our stores and residences being nicely painted? If so let all come together and get the cleaning habit.

A special from Fort Worth,

HARK! LISTEN!

We have just received a large shipment of the best flour money can buy, and we are going to sell it right

We have the swellest line of shoes, hats, caps, workmen's jumpers and overalls and dress goods ever seen in Terry county. It will pay you to investigate after reciting the number of prominent candidates to speak at the Fat Stock Show, says: "While political gas will spout all day, natural gas at night will hold sway, and prove a great deal more illuminating. A stand-pipe 72 feet high will have the gas from the Henrietta gas fields turned in it and lighted at night, making a flame 20 feet higher, that will light up the whole of North Fort Worth, and will be visible for 20 miles or more. Specially low railroad rates afford the public an opportunity to attend these attractions at little cost, and certainly it will be worth the money to make a trip to Fort Worth while these attractions are going on."

Brownfield Merc. Co

The Lubbock people are preparing to have a general clean up day. They have divided the city into 9 portions and appointed a committee of four for each part. The duty of each of these committees is to see that their particular part of the city is cleaned on the day or days set apart for this work.

Brownfield should begin at once and prepare to give the town such another cleaning as she has never seen. It will be remembered that we gave the town a pretty good clean-up last year and our percentage to sickness and death was very low.

Now let us get together again this year, collect all the old tin cans and garbage from the back yards, allies—and front yard if they are there—and pile them up in convenient places for wagons to approach. Screen all closets and lime them occasionally, and we will be pretty safe from the usual summer epidemics.

Any physician will tell you that the vitality of the person is at its lowest ebb at spring, and is therefore more susceptible to disease. Therefore we ought the more earnestly endeavor to keep our premises in the very best sanitary condition thereby rendering them as immune as possible from the typhoid germ.

The Chats' Corner.

Only two chats came in this week but they were both hummers.

That's right Prof. get upon those politicians. They need lambasting every once in a little bit. We wouldn't be a little bit surprised if they don't find the road to Meadow, before election time.

We are very glad to have Chatter Box call again after a very long absence. We were afraid she had taken flight with some passing dust storm and moved on to some still clime. We find however that she was preparing a fine surprise as evidenced by her long letter. Just tell Walter that we are willing to pay by the lesson for the art of fooling the fair

Some of the correspondents are staying away so long we are going to require them to give the pass word if they don't mind. Better get in the push.—Ed.

Jones County Items.

March has come in like a lamb. Hope it won't go out like a lion. We have had a hard winter, and now we would like to see spring. While we have not had any rain much, the winds have been cold and raw, and with rain sleet and snow enough to be disagreeable.

There is quite a lot of gripp and pneumonia, and several deaths from them.

The nine months old baby of Rev. and Mrs. Brown, of Tuxedo died of pneumonia a few days ago.

Eddie Noble, the little grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. Phelps, has been seriously ill with pneumonia, but is better at this writing.

Rev. Edmons gave a talk at Sunny Side Thursday night on the Sanitarium to be built at Stamford, and of course gave every one a chance to contribute. They probably will not lay the foundation before fall. Stamford gave $50,000 and they are asking the Baptist people to give $50,000 more and with such men as Rev. Edmonds, Groner and J. H. Pace in the field, we feel sure they will get the required amount.

Rev. W. H. Godfrey has resigned from the Baptist church at Sunny Side, and has accepted a call to a church near Seymour. We regret to see him go but hope him all kinds of good luck in his new field.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Taylor, and daughter, Mrs. Haws have returned from a months visit to relatives in Falls county.

Mr. Kinard has sold his farm near Tuxedo, but will not move till fall. He is thinking of going to the Corpus Christi country.

Elmo Link went to preaching at Tuxedo one night when the wind was blowing about 60 miles an hour and now he is wearing a new hat.

The Methodist are building a handsome new church at Tuxedo that will add much to the beauty of that little city.

The young folks have organized a literary society at Sunny Side and render a nice program at each meeting.

The school will close at Sunny Side in two more weeks.

Mr. Wm. Taylor was called to Rosebud last week to attend the funeral of a nephew.

Mrs. S. R. Osment, spent Wednesday afternoon at the Phelps home.

Mr. Walter Osment and wife are now housekeeping. He says if the bachelor editor will come, he will give him one square meal, and some dots on how to fool some girl.

Mr. J. Phelps has 20 acres of fine wheat. It sure looks good to us.

Mr. Joe Appling has a fine field of spring oats. Most all the winter oats were killed.

Farmers are most all done breeking, and will be ready to plant when the time comes.

We notice a good many of the farmers wives have some early chickens. We think they are wise, for fried chickens is an awfully good substitute for meat, as meat will soon be so high we can't reach a very big piece.

Jno. King spent Saturday night at the Link home.

Mr. and Mrs. Osment, and daughter, Frankie, were seen on the streets of Tuxedo Friday afternoon.

Jno. King and Elmo Link took dinner with the Osment boys Sunday.

Chatter Box.

Hon. Ruben M. Ellerd,
Plainview, Texas.

Dear Sir & Friend:

I have just received information that you are a candidate for attorney of your district, and that L. C. Penry who resided here for many years is your opponent. I knew him here. I also remember with great satisfaction your noble career as a student of mine while in Baylor University. How you worked your way by sawing wood at spare times for money with which to pay board and other expenses; then your splendid work in the State University at Austin and other schools. Have always been proud of you as a painstaking, hard working student, and have noted with much pleasure your steady life in your chosen profession.

During the past summer I was at Plainview, Tulia, Lubbock, and several other places in your district, where I met many persons who spoke of you in the highest terms. From my knowledge of your work as a man, and past record as a student, and owing to your capacity for hard faithful work, the exhaustive study that you have given criminal law, and your knowledge of the details of the office you now seek, your energy, courage, honor, trust-worthiness, and splendid manhood, I know of no man better fitted for the responsible position you seek than you.

Wishing you every success, I remain,

Your friend,

Brownfield, as they all recognize her future destiny is great, surrounded as we are by the best agricultural country on the Plains therefore many of Lubbock's best folks are seeking a foothold in the coming city of the Plains

Miss Willa McCarty of Roscoe arrived in Brownfield this week to make this her future home. Miss McCarty is an experienced milliner having been connected with some of the best millinery establishments of Sweetwater and Roscoe and therefore comes to us with a splendid recommendation. She will establish headquarters at the Merc. She will leave in a few days for the markets, where she will obtain all the latest novelties in fashion.

Will Sell Lots.

Some few weeks ago we made mention of the fact that Mr. Leard, the big lumber man of Lubbock, had purchased the 17 acre block belonging to W. H. Cordell, in north Brownfield. Mr. Leard has had the property surveyed and plotted and will put the property on the market in a few weeks.

Uncle Billie Byrd showed us a blue print of a $1600 house that will be erected on the property which will be given to the man drawing the lucky number.

T. C. Surveyors.

It is reported on good authority that the Texas Central R. R. surveyors have reached the old O. B. R. headquarters.

The people in that part of the county are in high spirits as it is reported that the Central will establish a terminus town near the O. B. R. Ranch headquarters.

If the T. C. does build down there in the next two years, Terry will soon be numbered among the most progressive counties of the state.

Whack up.

There are several of our customers and friends that are entitled to the Herald and we would be pleased very much if they would call in and straighten their accounts.

We don't like to dun people, but sometimes "necessity is the mother of invention" and we invent a dun or two. An editor has to eat high priced chuck the same as humans. He wears clothes, pays his printer and other debts—if the other fellow pays him.

We are not going to send your name to any foreign collection agency, but aim to deal with delinquents ourselves.

There are lots of people that will gladly pay if they are only reminded of these things, so we take the above gentle hint to be sufficient to the wise.

A Pennsylvania girl writes me that she gathered and washed feathers and down for a whole year, says Anna Steese Richardson in Woman's Home Companion for February. The next summer she made it up into pillows, using attractive ticking and chintz, and sold them to guests at a mountain resort eight miles away. She offered the pillows at a trifle less than the price asked in city shops, but the appeal to city folks lay in the fact that they were real feather pillows from the country.

A girl who lived in New Jersey, within commuting distance of New York, started a hotbed raising fresh lettuce and radishes. These she boldly carried to New York in a suit case and sold to other people working in the office where she was employed. Today that girl has a good sized truck farm, employs several hands and does not have to work in a city office.

Away out in Nebraska a farmer's daughter tried to do the same thing believing that she could induce the green grocers in the nearest town to handle her fresh lettuce and radishes rather than those shipped in by commission merchants. The dealers were afraid to give her any encouragement. Her supply might not raise enough to supply them and they would not know how much to expect from her and how much from the commission merchants.

The girl made a house to house canvass among housewives and offered them freshly picked vegetables at the same price they had been paying for the hothouse supply shipped in. She was just brave enough not to cut under the prices of the local grocers. Her list of customers grew. She came to town three times a week. The green grocers discovered that she was cutting into their trade. They capitulated. Today she supplies them all, sends hot house products to town three times a week in winter and garden truck every day in summer.

Another girl visiting a meat packing plant was told by the guide of the poor quality of aprons furnished the butchers. She boldly offered to provide aprons of better material and appealed to the purchasing agent and got her chance.

Power of truth in Practice.

The spirit of Christian fellowship in any community is winning influence in leading men and women to a desire for Christian living. When a man or woman of the world sees professing Christians quarrel over doctrinal differences to the neglect of the gospel of love as taught by the Master, they are apt to hesitate about getting mixed up in a family row, but when all people who claim discipleship, meet and greet each other as fellow workers for the glory of God, the most hardened sinner will be impressed with the beauty of the holy living and will see that there is a deep seated truth in the doctrine of grace. There are church people enough in the world to lead all the rest to a higher sphere of Christian love if they would all continually practice the principles laid down by our Lord and to which they have all subscribed in joining the church.
