MEADOW SCHOOL NOTES

Congratulations, Hockley County News! That was a gem poem. These mottoes are worth committing to memory. Right glad that you are growing so poetic.

Brother V. H. Trammell and his new made bride passed through Meadow last Friday evening. All right, Brother! But, as Joe Lane says, you are only one sandstorm ahead of the Hottentot; so here's a lookin' at you! Accept our heartfelt wishes for smooth sailing on the hymental waters! We people of Meadow all hope to have the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Trammell next Sunday.

Mr. W. G. Howard, the land man is sporting a new buggy. He and Mrs. Howard are driving almost every day. They spent the day yesterday with the family of J. B. Hamlett, and today they were out in the country north of Meadow. I wonder if he is selling or listing land.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Scott spent the day yesterday visiting with the family of L. L. Forrester.

We forgot to report in our last week's communication that Mr. Charlie Wilson and family, of Lovington, N. M., were visiting with the family of his father-in-law, Mr. J. Peeler of this place. They left for their home at Lovington last Tuesday.

In the counting contest, last Friday, Claud Peeler lead with 99 points in one hour; the next best were 90 by Kopley Lindsey, and 81 by R. Hamlett.

The following pupils are entitled to mention on the "Honor Roll" this week: Jim Peeler and Joe Peeler.

Hottentot.

Sold $18,485 off His Farm.

It is always interesting to hear a successful man tell just what he has done. The successful man is always one who has built up his business from a practical standpoint, shaping it from his own experience of others.

Here is an Ohio farmer who has made a specialty of feeding hogs for the pork market, his farm consisting of 132 acres; but it is arranged purposely for this business and you can rest assured that it is looked after just as closely as a banker looks after his bank interests. There is an increasing demand for capable men on the farm; it requires training, correct thinking, as well as teaching by a practical, success farmer.

The young man or middle-aged who would make success of his farm, must have an ambition to succeed; he must give it vigorous thought, as no one can succeed wholly on the methods and plans of others, without fully digesting and making them his own.

The educated farmer is the coming man when combined with good, practical, level-headed sense and an acquired modern farm methods.

We are all looking for the experience and methods of those who have made their specialty a success; during the year commencing August 27, 1908, and ending August 27, 1909, he has sold from this farm, according to his books, $18,485 worth of pork hogs. He commenced in the beginning on a small scale, and by close attention and careful study he has gradually expanded and grown from the small herd until now he has from five to fifteen hundred head of hogs on hand continuously. During the year mentioned he purchased, raised and marketed 1,583 hogs most of them he bought, and for their feed he bought 11,606 bushels of corn, paying as high as 85c per bushel; besides this, he fed what he raised himself. He claims that it takes 10 bushels of corn to feed out a hog. He feeds his pigs on slops until they reach the 100 pound notch, when he finishes them out on corn. In the summer they are on a clover and timothy pasture; during the winter he finds that tankage is the most valuable acquisition yet obtainable to supplement the grass pasturage. Digestor tankage is given the value of 60 per cent protein, while oil cake meal has 29 per cent, cotton seed meal 37 per cent. It is made from meat scraps, thoroughly dried and carefully ground. This he is cautious to buy from a responsible firm and he counts very largely on his success in winter feeding from use of tankage. It is made into a slop, using one-half bushel of tankage to 52 gallons of water, adding mill feed to thicken. He calculates about one-fourth of a pound to the hog at a feed. It can be fed too strong. He slops with this once a day and feeds corn twice. Although his feed that he purchased has been high-priced this year he made a satisfactory profit and margin in selling the $18,485 worth of pork hogs.

The coming year he expects to raise more of his own stock; he has now on hand 57 choice brood sows for spring farrow. He wishes all to understand that it is best to grow into this sized herd than to jump into it too heavy in the start. A gradual growth, enlarging while you are studying, observing others and carefully reading, profiting by your mistakes as well as others. He is more eager today to learn about the business than ever, and regards the opportunities for improvement as without limit, and believes it is one part of one's success to admit that you do not know it all. Times and conditions are changing. As we are living in an era of high prices, we have to adopt new methods in our stock raising and especially hogs. It will be as easy to make two hogs grow and thrive where one formerly did, as it is to make two blades of grass grow where one grew before. The future is bright for the farmer who specializes his plans to raise the standard of his methods. He will be able to raise more hogs and better hogs for better profits. In American Swine-herd.

From the efforts some of our farmers are making to secure good seed and a good breed of hogs, they will soon be able to quell the call of the packing houses at Ft. Worth, at least.

Did you ever notice the fact that the thorough bred knockers are the idle of your town, generally speaking. A real live hustling business man has no time to knock and his energy silently says—boost.

The friends of this paper will please hand us in news items when they are fresh. We prefer not to publish a birth after a child is weaned, a marriage after the honeymoon is over or the death of a man after his widow is married again.—Rolan Advance.

We are glad to place on exchange The Club Women's Argosy, the official organ of the Women's Clubs of Texas. It is also devoted to the uplifting of humanity in general, mentally, morally and physically.

Don't forget to bring along that fine cow, horse, hog, sheep or chicken on Tradesday that has been your pet and pride so long. If you don't win a prize you will at least show people you are interested in better stock and that you indorse every move that looks towards making the stock-farmer more prosperous.

The next term of Commissioners Court will open up a public road to the county line east, to be known as the Tahoka road. This road should be put in first-class shape as Tahoka will, in a few weeks be our nearest railroad point—on 27 miles away. If the Tahoka people are very anxious for our trade, they will get busy with their commissioners to see that their end of the road is in good traveling condition.

We are raising to many social tops, parlor soldiers, cigarette suckers and loafers. When we see a little foppish, short dress, silly girl just jumping into her teens, gadding up and down the streets, talking slang and flirting with the boys, entertaining young jobless bloids in the parlor at night when she ought to be tucked snugly away in her trundle bed; when we see knee pants kids and beardless youths loafing up and down the streets, who are too trifling to think and too stuck up to do odd jobs around home, we exclaim, its not statutory law that we need, but parental law.—Ex.

An article headed "The rush to Canada," appears on the third page. This article is sent out by the national government to stern the tide to Canada, and it makes some good suggestion. But why leave the Stars and Stripes, when the South Plains of Texas offers inducements that are hard to excel. Before you go to Canada look at Terry, Lynn, Lubbock, Yorkum, Dorley, and other counties in that section of Texas.—Canal Winchester O. Times.

Where corn, oats, maize, kafir, wheat and other cereals grow to perfection. Where hogs, cattle, and horses are as sure as they are in any country in the world. Where the band plays Yankee Doodle, America and Dixie at the picnics while "Old Glory" waves over them. Where winter is so brief that it is hardly considered a good hog killing spell.

Just tell the good people of your crowded state where they can find an "El-n" dirt cheap, and you will be conferring a favor on them, yourself and the people of Terry county and the Plains

Notice to Baseball Fans.

Everybody that is interested in Brownfield having an up-to-now baseball nine will please meet up stairs over the Drug store in Dr. Ellis' office, Saturday night at 8 o'clock for the purpose of organizing and equipping a team, and then to lead them some encouragement to practice and get in shape to play a fast game. Brownfield has never had a real good team for the simple reason that they have never had any encouragement to practice.

If you stay away from this meeting, don't you ever say anything more about a bum baseball nine. We want a good fast game next Saturday and will also have to see about that during this meeting.

An Amazing Success

The 91st anniversary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows is now history, and the lodge at Brownfield starts in the new year with more ambition and brighter prospects than ever before, because she has lately undertaken and successfully accomplished the best entertainment undertaken by a local lodge on the Plains. Lest we forget, let us add that the Brownfield Rebekah lodge is in a high measure responsible for the success of the occasion, and every Odd Fellow extends many thanks.

By noon many members of the "oh-a'n gang" and their families had arrived from the country and neighboring towns, and at 5 p. m., the town was alive with them. Just before sun down, Mr. Philip a photographer of Lubbock, made several exposures of the lodge and then of the entire assemblage also while they were enjoying the many good things to eat.

A long table around the garage was laden with a variety and quality of vands that would tempt the appetite of the weakest invalid, to which both lodges and their invited guests did ample justice. There was enough food taken away after the feast to feed another crowd as large again. The Brownfield Rebekah lodge has never failed to feed the crowd, and when the Odd Fellows asked them to prepare for this occasion, they did so with the full assurance that every thing would come up with dispatch. A visitor from quite an important town was heard to remark that the people of his town could not possibly be gotten together in a social feature of this kind, as they were too so fish and satisfied to enjoy a few hours of real sociability.

Promptly at 8:30 p. m., rendition of the program began, and while some of the participants were unavoidably absent, what was rendered was excellent. The Rebekah drill, the paper by Mrs. Randal and the fraternal speech by Prof. Herring deserve special mention.

Everybody seemed to be well pleased with the occasion, and it will go down in the history of the Brownfield lodges as the most notable event yet undertaken.

Editor J. L. Webb has sold the Coahoma Courier and will confine his occupation to teaching and practicing law. We thought we had Jess hung in for good, but the "Almighty" S don't rat around and editors desk often enough to suit him, but a man of his talent should sacrifice something when they have the natural ability to help their fellow man.
