A HUGE SUCCESS

Large Crowds came to Brownfield on Our Initiatory Tradesday Some Trading.

It was intimated by many and denied by none that our first Tradesday would approach, if not prove an absolute failure. There was two reasons given:

1st. That in as much as District Court had been grinding all the week, farmers would naturally be sick and tired out with town and would stay at home Saturday.

2nd. That with a fine season in the ground that resulted from the splendid rain that fell the first of last week, people would be too busy planting to pay any attention to 1st Saturday.

Of course both were good reasons and to some extent marred the day, but by noon Saturday a crowd had arrived that amazed the most optimistic and was a record breaker since we landed here nearly 18 months ago, with the exception of the two days reunion last summer.

Every business man in the city was more than pleased, and will put forth even greater efforts in the future. With the present energy displayed by our business men to bring trade to Brownfield, in one years time from now, we shall be reaping dollars for the pennies now being sown.

The undersigned is a list of the ones who contributed and the amounts, that the 1st Tradesday might be a blooming success. If you do not find your name on this list, quit your "dratec" knocking and join the Club that is trying to put Brownfield on the map.

There were some good stock brought in, especially horses, chickens, cows and babies. We don't believe there is a county in Texas that can down Terry on the above mentioned products. While some may think the judges gave partial decisions, we believe they gave their judgement in every instance without favor toward any one and especially in the baby show. If we were to be mentioned as a probable judge at a baby show, we would either join an Arctic expedition or commit suicide.

Among the trades we wish to note that W. A. Shepherd and Mr. Lindsey swapped stallions, and that Harry Braifoot bought a $300 span of pink mules. No babies changed hands that we heard of.

Below we give a list of prizes and what won them:

Best all purpose horse, blue ribbon won by Wood Paragon, the imported English hackney.

Best draft stallion, blue ribbon won by Nero, Jos Fisher's imported perchson.

Best all purpose colt foaled in 1910, blue ribbon and $2, won by Mr. Hanna.

Best draft colt foaled in 1910, blue ribbon and $2, won by Mr. Lindsey.

Best all purpose brood mare, blue ribbon and $2, won by D. C. Walker.

Best mule colt foaled in 1910, blue ribbon and $2, won by Lee Walker.

Blue ribbon and $2 to O. M. Daniel for best pair Rhode Island Red chickens.

Best pair White Plymouth Rock chickens, blue ribbon and $2 to W. R. Harris.

Best Jack, blue ribbon and $2 in cash, by Joe Fisher.

Best milch cow, blue ribbon and $2, by J. F. Holden.

Prettiest baby, a high arm chair, won by the little son of Sheriff and Mrs. Geo. E. Tiernan.

A fair ball game was played between the Brownfield School boys and a picked team from Gomez and Brownfield, and won by the former. Punch was served on the ground.

Let every body come back next 1st Saturday. We are preparing to have a still better time.

Ice in Lubbock This Week.

The latest information from the ice factory at this place is to the effect they will be prepared to begin the manufacture of ice by the first of next week. This will be good news to the people of this section as the time of year is rolling around when the ice man will be a welcome visitor, every day in the month except pay day.

The Lubbock Ice and Light Co. is composed of entirely home capital, men who are interested in the future of the city, who have spent their money liberally to develop the town. They have succeeded in putting into operation one of the finest electric light plants in the west, and they are going to do as much for the ice plant. Rest assured that the people of Lubbock will not be satisfied with anything short of the best and with this assurance at hand Lubbock people can depend on having the very best service possible.

The completion of the ice plant at this place will put the ice business in our neighboring towns in handy access to the trade, and will no doubt appreciate the arrangement very much.—Avalanche.

There were a few, only a few though, that had it up that a Tradesday was something a town had better shun. Some said it would be a fussy, noisy crowd that would come to fight booze and act "tough" while still others said that it would be a small crowd, representing a large consignment of bones.

Both were mistaken. A large, peaceful crowd, came without the presence of whiskey, that thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and wanted everybody else to do likewise, and some of the best stock in the county was here. So their hide, hair and bone story is now a stale chestnut.

In the near future the Trustees the Brownfield High School will receive bids for the erection of an addition, or "T" to the school building, which will not only strengthen the building, but will add greatly to the beauty of it.

It is understood that the eleventh grade will be added next term, and it is thought there will be several that will take advantage of it. Should anyone wish to inaugurate a business class, they can use one of the new wings of the building.

When we look back just three years and see two teachers handling the school without much trouble, and it will likely take five next term, the most confirmed pessimist in Brownfield cannot help feeling proud of our growing and progressive school.

Once again before you get your farm planned for this year we want to argue for a little patch of broom corn Mr. Farmer.

Probably that market proposition has worried you some and you were afraid you could not dispose of your products, but in an interview with the Brownfield Merc. people, they promise to pay the highest market price for broom corn, less freight to the railroad. Now you know as well as we do, that they are men of their words, and you are sure to have a market for your honest toil. Not to advertise the firm gratis, or that we are being paid to write this article, but because we feel a deep interest in the success of our farmers, because they are the backbone and sinev of our very existence, and again because we are a farmer by birth, rearing and feeling—only adopted into the print shop—and for fear some may not know about it we will say again that you can obtain seed at the Mercantile, Brownfield, Texas.

Probably the harvesting has been a bug-a-boo to the unexperienced, but we have interviewed people from the broom-corn belt and every one of them are agreed unanimously that it requires less work to make and harvest than does cotton, and that there is money in it at $40 per ton, and at the present price of $200, per ton, it is like getting money from home without writing for it.

T. J. O'Donnell.

We are pleased to present the name of T. J. O'Donnell as a candidate for Representative of the 101st District. His reputation as a gentleman of honesty and integrity is as broad as the Plains themselves. He is a fine booster and has West Texas thoroughly at heart. Below is a clipping from the Tahoka News that we consider is a splendid write up of Mr. O'Donnell.

We take great pleasure this week in presenting T.J.O'Donnell of Tahoka, as a candidate for Representative to the Texas Legislature for the 101st District, which is composed of the following counties.

Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Gaines, Loving, Winkler, Ward, Crane, Upton, Ector, Midland, Glasscock, Andrews, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Fisher, Scurry, Porden, Dawson, Kent, Garza, Crosby, Lubbock, Hockley and Cochran, Nowhere do we know of a man who has such a host of friends as Mr. O'Donnell, or one whose friends cover so large a territory, in fact they are only limited to those who know him.

Mr. O'Donnell was born in Edgar county, Illinois, about 40 years ago. He came to Wichita when 18 years of age, where he resided until the Iowa country in Oklahoma was opened for settlement, when he took up a claim, farming and teaching school until ten years ago when he went into the railroad contracting business.

Mr. O'Donnell having lived in Texas six years and having lived the greater part of his life on the frontier, he is thoroughly imbued with the spirit of progress and development, and is well qualified to represent this, the banner District of Texas.

Reason Why.

"Why do the West Texas towns grow by jumps and that country occupy the front pages in all our papers? A Sun man has been over every foot of the country and has no hesitancy nor fear of being successfully contradicted when he says that the fertility of the soil and return for the husbandman labor does not all compare with Grayson and the counties of the "Black Land Belt." Still the homeseekers are going to that country in a steady stream and every fair and exposition hall is filled with West Texas exhibits. We notice where the towns of this section are going deep down in their pockets and raising large sums of money to futher exploit their towns, San

White Slave Traffic.

Have you read of the "White Slave Traffic," in some cities? Thousands of girls are lured from their homes and forced to lead lives of vice and shame. It is possible that you found in some paper which comes to your home some advertisement, which reads this way: "Profitable employment for young people. Good wages, and good homes secured. No experience necessary. Write to....." If your daughter answers, she may be led from her home. There are so-called "employment bureaus," which place scoundrels in communication with young girls and then follows a letter, with tempting offer of employment.

When the girl leaves home she finds herself unprotected, and is soon placed in a good "family" and a good "home." The rest follow so quickly that the poor girl cannot resist. She is a prisoner—a slave—and there is no escape. She is lost to the family at home who wonder what has become of the daughter. Be careful what papers you take into your home. The "White Traffic" has its "agents" in many places.—Farm and Ranch,

Progress of Irrigation.

Though the subject of irrigation has not received as much attention in Texas as in several states of the great arid west, largely because of the fact that it has such an immense extent of agricultural territory, where the seasons are so regular they render irrigation unnecessary, yet the increasing demand for the development of a semi-arid region embracing many millions of acres within the western and south-western borders of the state is directing increasing thought to the subject, which from results already obtained it is already foreseen will become of growing importance to those sections in the future.

In this connection it may be safely assumed that with advancing knowledge in everything which pertains to progressive methods of making the soil yield fruits in abundance to supply the wants of mankind, there will be vast improvement in present methods of irrigation, with a view both to conserving moisture and disseminating this moisture in the proportions exactly needed to the healthy development of plant life. To accomplish this purpose divers experiments are being made at many points where irrigation is necessary to insure such experiments is George F. Brill of Spokane, Wash., who is installing a new plan on his ranch near Deer Park, Wash., and if it is successful on a ten acre tract this season he will extend the system over the entire acreage. The plan involves the use of porous tiling, composed largely of fine gravel to run in double lines between the rows of apple trees in the orchard at a depth of not less than twenty inches and within seven feet of the trees, which are twenty-eight feet apart. The idea is to supply moisture to the roots of the trees instead of flooding the ground or using ditches.

It is claimed that the plan, which is a reversal of the use of tiling to drain swamp lands, will facilitate soil cultivation and do away with a great deal of labor and the waste of water. The tiling is manufactured on the ground by a special process, and it is estimated that the cost of installing the system will range from $100 to $150 per acre. The plant furnishing the water is being constructed with two walls six inches apart, filled with sawdust covered on the outside with siding and painted, sealed on the inside with shiplap, making it frost proof. The building rests on a foundation of concrete. Below is a gasoline engine which pumps the water into the two galvanized tanks. The plant when completed will cost $1100. If the plan is successful, a concrete tank of sufficient capacity to irrigate the entire ranch will be erected.

This plan should appeal with great force to irrigationists and fruit growers in west and south-west Texas, as its possibilities seem to be entirely feasible. With ample material on the ground in the sections named to put the plan to a rigid test there ought to be little doubt as to its ultimately demonstrating its superiority over the present wasteful system.—Houston Post.

MEADOW SCHOOL NOTES

Well, Mr. Editor, I said in my last week's letter that I would not write any more from this place, but having been served to two most pleasant surprises—one the pleasure of a personal acquaintance with the Editor, and the other a school picnic and dinner prepared for me and my school while I was away at Brownfield yesterday, and served at the church today—I cannot refrain from taking this opportunity of publicly expressing gastronomic and heartfelt thanks for the same.

We had a short program in the forenoon after which we were served to a fine dinner fit for a king's highness. In the evening we had some delightful music by Mr. and Mrs. Way, after which we were dismissed, peace and harmony prevailing.

Judge Neill, the county wide-know, heart and soul school man offered a prize for the best attendance, and it certainly bore fruit for the attendance was excellent, considering the adverse circumstances. This prize, which is a fine color picture of a frigid zone was won by Jim Peeler, and he is as proud of it as he can possibly ever be of a college medal.

The following pupils won prizes for the greatest number of perfect lessons and they never knew that I was going to give any prizes until the school was out: Clarence Farris, Dewey Ferris, Joe Peeler, Claud Peeler, Vincent Lindsey, and George Hamlett.

My thoughts and hopes are all with and for the public schools of West Texas!

Hottentot.

Jones County Items.

The Stamford country was visited by a splendid rain on April the 9th which put a fine season in the ground and the farmers have a big smile instead of the blues.

Most all are done planting and most all the farmers say they have a fair stand of maize and cotton. Just watch old Jones county take the lead in the number of bales of cotton she will produce this year.

Mrs. Jim Lewis is rapidly recovering from a broken ankle she sustained in a runaway scrape caused by the breast yoke coming loose.

Elma Link, Jno. King, Henry and Earl Osment went on a fishing trip last week. The boys don't say very much about the trip as they came back earlier than expected. We are of the opinion that their luck wasn't good.

Miss Ada Casenberry was called to Arlington to attend the funeral of her brother-in-law, Mr. Heath. She will remain until about the 10th of June, visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Flynn and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Osment went to Anson Monday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Flynn's cousin, Mr. Harris.

Mr. Phelps visited Mr. Jim Lewis this week.

Mr. Pool, of Falls county, has bought the crop of Mr. Luther Foot of near Tuxedo, and has moved with his family to that place.

The Baptist people of Tuxedo are building a parsonage and the new pastor Rev. Brindell will soon move into it. The Baptist mean to build a $6000. church at Tuxedo this year.

Two of Tuxedo's citizens had a dispute over a debt and took a few pops at each other with shot guns, but happily no one was much hurt. Guess each will be wiser and their pocket book lighter as a result.

The literary at Sunnyside continues with much interest and the young people say they have larger crowds at each meeting than come to preaching at that place.

Mr and Mrs. S. R. Osment and daughter Frankie, visited at the Phelps home Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell Greenleaf visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Osment, Tuesday evening.

Miss Mamie Crawford, the music teacher of Tuxedo, was called to Stamford Tuesday to attend the funeral of her brother's baby.

Mr. Editor, when you come to the Editors meeting at Stamford in June, come around to the home of the writer for a visit. We think the frying chickens will be ripe by that time.

Chatter Box.

All right Chatter, we will do our best to be "Johnny" on the spot. We have not forgotten the number of times we have been so royally entertained in your hospitable home.

To Hottentot, we give a special invitation to contribute from the "Jungles." Don't be a "quiter" just because you are leaving grand old Terry.—Ed.
