RETAIL

GROCERIES

WHOLESALE

Heretofore, we have boosted our retail department, which is in every way complete, but in this ad we want to talk about our large and grownig wholesale business. In going into this large grocery business, we felt we would be called on to furnish groceries in large or small quantities. We therefore made preparation for a wholesale business, which is complete. Let us figure on your business large or small.

Community Cleanliness

For some time we have been thinking of writing a short piece on community cleanliness, but have not done so for fear some one might consider it personal. We have no special one in mind as we write these lines, but the health of the town at heart.

There can happen worse calamities to towns and counties than drouths and crop failures; and among these are typhoid seiges, and flies are recognized as one of the conveyors of these dangerous germs. There is one cause of flies, and that is filth. If filth was banished, burned or burried, and never permitted to accumulate, the fly would go with it, and as a direct consequence many unnessary cases of sickness would be banished.

We never could exactly understand why he is called the house-fly, unless so named because he is such a housewhole pet, and much desires a perch on ones nose to do his toilet when one is trying a nooner. We do remember what we use to consider a remarkable piece of poetry probably written to the immortal memery of the fly by an author who no doubt achieved fame for himself and the fly. The poetry in question is to be found in the 2nd reader of McGuffey's series, and runs in part as follows:

"Baby bye,
Here's a fly,
We will watch him, you and I;
As he goes,
On his toes,
Tickling babies nose, etc.

No doubt the author thought the "harmless" insect was pulling off a very laughable stunt, but the modern poet would be able to trace a line of deadly germs across baby's nasal extremity. But such is the change of the opinion concerning the fly.

What we want to call attention to, is the habit of some people of Brownfield in strewing dead cats, dogs and pigs promiscuously over streets and alleys. No one wants flies from these carions to use their nice cakes and pies for foot mats. It is an easy matter to bury when first dead, but after a few days mellowing in the sunshine it takes a stomach like an iron man to move them. Besides we can be neighborly without perfuming our neighbor's back premises. Let's bury the dead.

Our outhouses should have better attention. Lime is cheap and easily procured and is a splendid disinfectant for these places. Hot weather is here and if we are not careful, we are going to have an epidemic of fever in town. So let us all do our whole duty and keep Brownfield clean.

Pay-up.

It is said that the poetry produced below has a history. The story runs that an editor once offered $1,000 for the best "dun" in poetry, and awarded the money to the piece below. We have our doubts about the money racket, as editors are, as a rule, shy on a hundredth part of that fabulous amount, unless he possessed a rich maiden aunt. However, as it is good for those who owe as well as those whom some one else is indebted, we produce it, and if you find it worth that much to you, you will find us in the Herald office. Don't all call at once as our supply of checks might give out.

But here goes the poetry.

"Lives of poor men oft remind us;
Honest toil won't stand a chance;
More we work there grows behind us
Bigger patches on our pants.

On our pants once new and glossy,

Now of stripes of different hue;
All because customer linger
And won't pay-up what is due.

Then let us be up and doing,
Send in your mite, however small;
Or when snow or winter strikes us
We shall have no pants atal.

I. O. O. F. LODGE

Organized and Put to Work at Gomez.

We announced some time ago that an Odd Fellow lodge would be organized in the near future, and that announcement was consumated Thursday night when the Brownfield team lead by E. T. Powell, did the work. It being some time since the last time our boys instituted a lodge, they had grown a little rusty, but did very well.

After the ceremony of institution and the charter of dispensation delivered to the Gomez lodge No. U D—of which W. D. Winn, W. A. Shepherd, A. E. Williams, A. P. Moore and R. W. Glover are charter members—the election of officers took place and resulted as follows: W. A. Shepherd, N. G.; W. D. Winn, V. G.; A. E. Williams, Sec. and A. P. Moore, Treas. R. W. Glover, A. P. Moore and W. D. Winn were elected trustees. These brothers, after proper examination were installed. We were then invited over to the Glover Hotel, where a sumptious feast awaited, and what the Brownfield crowd did for it was a big plenty. The Herald got uneasy about Judge Neill and Dock Powell and had to watch them, is our only excuse of being the last one away from the table. They hold a heap for little men. Cigars in office and a promise of lunch later succeeded in moving them.

Returning to the hall, the regular routine of business of a subordinate lodge was gone over, and we want to compliment them for the ease in which they transacted business. They have good officers, and we know the Gomez lodge is going to succeed. The Brownfield lodge is the mother of three lodges, Lubbock, Tahoka and Gomez, all of which she is proud, but especially is she proud of the baby; the baby that is already growing.

The Brownfield boys present were: J. L. Randal, Ed and Dr. Ellis, W. J. Byrd, W. G. Hardin, R. H. Banowsky, Dock Powell, Percy Spencer, Jack Stricklin, Rev. V. H. Trammell, Chas. Copeland, Geo. W. Neill and Jake Johnson.

Many interesting addresses were delivered and the spirit of fraternity ran high.

The Debt That is Due To West Texas.

The dept which East Texas owes to West Texas has never been better itemized than it is in an article that we printed Monday morning under the head "Square Deal for Western Texas." It was shown in that article, among other things that a great deal of railroad mileage which East Texas enjoys was bought with West Texas land. East Texas, of course, was part owner of the land, but the manner of disposal, instead of hastening the development of West Texas, operated to retard it. Our educational system, too was endowed chiefly with land in West Texas, and some of it, notably that given to the University, under conditions which make it virtually a forbidden land to homeseekers.

Even if East Texas, which yields a dominant power politically could be thought to have all the transportation facilities that it needs, or will ever need, it would be under moral obligation to favor a policy that will aid West Texas in getting the transportation facilities that it needs. There are no more lands to be given away as bonuses for railroad building. East Texas can never quite reciprocate the favors it has received from West Texas. That is the more reason why it ought to acquisce in a liberal policy with respect to railroads. It would be under a moral obligation to sacrifice something of its own interests, if that were necessary, as a means of helping West Texas to get the railroad facilities that it needs. However, there is no need to do that. A policy of liberal fairness dictated by the interest of East Texas. To adopt an illiberal, restrictive policy under the delusion that it has no further occasion, growing out of its own self-interest, to encourage railroad building, would be both foolish and in the highest degree unjust. That would be an exhibition of ingratitude and exclusiveness that might well inspire West Texas with the wish to become politically independent of East Texas.

This thought, of course is not new; it is trite, rather. But we doubt if, despite the abundant iteration, the full import of it is quite understood. None of us is wholly without pride in the imperial vastness of Texas; its extent and the wonderful diversity of its resources give pleasure to every Texan. But it will be no honest pride, shall not make interests of all sections yield to that of every section. The harmonious development of all Texas and the preservation of its greatness unimpaired call for the services of broad-gauged statemen.—Dallas News.

Another fine rain has come and shown our people they need side walks in Brownfield. Are we going to build them? Hey!

It is nothing but pure unadulterated laziness or stinginess one, that is keeping us from building a hundred feet or so of sidewalks in Brownfield.

Secretary of war Dickinson, has resigned from President Tafts Cabinet. Mr. Dickinson is a Tennessean by birth, and a democrat. He is at present a resident of Chicago.

It seems that there is an endless lot of Gomezes in the Latin-American countries, and that they are destined to play prominent parts for the cause of freedom. Gen. Gomez of Cuba, however, will long be remembered as the patriot of the Spanish-American war period.

Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, is now on a speech making tour of the west, and judging from the enthusiastic receptions accorded him by democrats across the country, the West will support him for the Presidency.

Well you old knocker you—if you are still here—put that little hammer in the tool box awhile and take a stroll among the resident optomist of your immediate surroundings. Notice that nice orchard over there of Brown's. See the lucious peaches and apples, pears and plums? Do you see Smith's truck patch across this way? Dont that garden sass look fine? Clear up that ugly face of yours and he will fill your sack full of fresh vegetables. Now glance across that beautiful field belonging to old Bro. Largeacres. See the corn, maize, kaffir and cane looking as fresh and fine as Huarah grass in Central Texas? Gee; dont his cotton look good; just fixing to shank-up. Now jump in the auto I want to show you old ranchings famous 1000 white faces. They'll make you lick your lips to look at them, but their steak is simply too rich for the blood of the knockers of your stripe.

MORE RAIN THIS WEEK.

Continued Throughout Saturday Night.

During all the later part of last week the Weather Man cast a threatening glance over the Plains, and Saturday night about dark, began with a slow drizzle which was kept up all night—we know because we sat up with the sick—with an occasional down-pour that sure did wet things.

Farmers were almost through planting and this fine rain added to the splendid season we already enjoy, will put truck to moving with a double shuffle.

Every farmer that showed his head from between the plow handles this week wore a smile as broad as a door.

Now we are going after sidewalks again. Anybody with the eye of a mud-fence can see the need of them and we are going to have them if we have to build them ourselves.

Died.

Stillman J. Jackson was born in the State of Maine in June 1854 and died of paralysis Tuesday night, May 16th 1911 at the Hill Hotel, Brownfield, Texas, lacking only about one month being 57 years of age.

He came to Texas some 25 or 30 years ago, and about 20 years ago, formed the acquaintance of Jim Smith and has lived with or near him ever since. We learn from Mr. Smith that Mr. Jackson was a true friend, often doing his friend a favor to the detriment of himself.

He lived a sober, frugal life, and at his death owned a reasonable amount of property in this and Lubbock county. He was a carpenter by trade, and a good one. He did not belong to any church or lodge, and little about his past life is known. He sometimes spoke to friends of a sister in Maine though he had not heard from her in some fifteen years.

Rev. V. H. Trammell, pastor of the Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. J. W. Thomas; Missionary of this Baptist Association, conducted services at the grave.

This is one of the early land marks removed from Terry county, but his removal will long be remembered.

Decoration Day.

The citizens of Terry county especially those interested, are hereby requested to meet at the Brownfield Cemetary on Decoration day, May 30th at 10 o'clock, a. m., for the purpose of decorating the graves, cleaning the cemetary and identifying and marking certain graves without head stones.

This is a matter in which every good citizen should take a part, and those whose relatives or friends are buried there are especially urged to be present, as there are several graves whose identify is in doubt, and it is desired to properly mark them all. Arrangements will likely also be made for the plotting of the cemetary.

Lesson IX.—Second Quarter, For
May 28, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mic. iv, 1-8—Memory Verses, 2, 3—Golden Text, Mic.
iv, 3—Commentary Prepared by Rev.
D. M. Stearns.

Our golden text and its context, which tells of a time when nations shall learn war no more, is found also in Isa. ii, 1-4. The same glorious assurance is found in Ps. xlii, 9. "He maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth." It is written in a different form in Isa. xxxii, 1-17. "A king shall reign in righteousness, * * * and the work of righteousness shall be peace." In Ps. lxxii, 11, we read that "all kings shall fall down before Him; all nations shall serve Him." In Rev. xi, 15, we are told of the time when "the kingdoms of this world shall have become the kingdom of our Lord and of His Christ." It would be well if teachers and scholars would search out the many passages which tell of this kingdom of peace on earth when the Lord shall come in His glory and occupy the throne of David at Jerusalem, ruling in the midst of Israel, and also as King of kings and Lord of lords—King over all the earth. I will suggest a few passages which will lead to many more if any one is willing to search: Isa. ix, 6, 7; Luke i, 31, 32; Zeph. iii, 14, 15; Zech. xiv, 9; Jer. iii, 17; Dan. vii, 27; Ezek. xliii, 7.

Not by the armies of the nations, nor by peace conferences, nor by the church, nor by missions, shall this be brought about; nor in this present age of the world's history, but only by Him concerning whom it is written, "I will overturn, overturn, overturn it * * * until He come whose right it is, and I will give it Him" (Ezek. xxi, 27).

Not by any nation now existing as such on the face of the earth will He bring peace on earth, but by Israel, soon to be restored and recognized as a nation and to be converted as a nation when they shall see Him coming in glory and shall receive Him as their Messiah. Isaiah's message had special reference to Judah and Jerusalem, Micah's to Samaria and Jerusalem (Isa. i, 1; Mic. i, 1).

The words Israel, Zion, Jerusalem, must always be taken in their plain literal sense unless there is some qualifying phrase or adjective indicating differently. The Zion and Jerusalem of Mic. iii, 12, are the same as the Zion of Mic. iv, 7. It has been overthrown many times; it shall as truly and literally become the throne of the Lord, which He shall build up when He comes in His glory (Ps. cii, 16).

In those days when the glory of the Lord shall be seen in Israel nations shall flow to her as literally as the queen of Sheba and the kings of the earth came to Solomon, or as the wise men from the east brought their treasures to the king of the Jews when He was but a babe in Bethlehem (II Chron. ix, 9, 22-24). According to Mic. v, 2, it was predicted that He would be born in Bethlehem, and He was. The same verse says that He would rule in Israel, and though He has never yet done so He will just as truly and literally as He was born in Bethlehem.

From Jerusalem His word has gone forth into all the world to gather out from all the nations a people for His name, His body, the church, to reign with Him when He shall come in His glory, but that was not revealed in Old Testament times nor until after He had come in humiliation proclaiming a kingdom at hand which never came because they killed the King, and thus postponed the kingdom till He shall come again, for the heavens have received Him until the times of restoration of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all His holy prophets since the world began (Acts iii, 20, 21). Then shall (Mic. vii, 20) be fulfilled, "Thou wilt perform the truth to Jacob, and the mercy to Abraham, which Thou hast sworn unto our fathers from the days of old."

Some nations are against Israel to this day, but they know not the thoughts of the Lord, neither understand they His counsel, and do not know that a time is coming when their gain and their substance shall be consecrated unto the Lord of the whole earth, who will then be ruler in Israel. See verses 11 to 13 of our lesson chapter and all of Isa. lx: When this great peace shall have come on earth none shall make Israel afraid any more (verse 4); they shall not see evil any more (Zeph. iii, 15).

As we consider the thousands still being driven from their homes in Russia let us pray more earnestly for the fulfillment of Isa. lxii, 1-7. A great war must come before there can be this good time of war no more, for it is His determination to gather the nations to pour upon them His indignation because of their treatment of His people Israel.

He shall smite the earth with the rod of His mouth and with the breath of His lips shall He slay the wicked (Isa. xl, 4). At His coming in glory with all His saints shall this be, and then shall the last verses of our lesson be fulfilled. "The Lord shall reign over them in Mount Zion from henceforth, even forever. * * * the kingdom shall come to the daughter of Zion." This is more fully described in Rev. xix, 11-16, and it is utterly useless to expect peace on earth, a lasting peace, until "this man shall be the peace" and be great unto the ends of the earth, ruling in Israel as the earthly center of His worldwide kingdom.

WHAT TWO STUDENTS DID.

As showing that the instruction that is given at the agricultural colleges is of a practical and valuable kind may be cited the case of two Minnesota young men. One after finishing his course at the state school took up the raising of potatoes on a scientific scale. On 200 acres, which was a virgin prairie a half dozen years ago, he raised last season (1909) an average of 187 bushels to the acre, from which he realized net $10,000. This year he expected to increase his yield to 200 bushels and to get just as large a net revenue. To do what this young fellow did took brains and bustle. The other graduate of the same institution started five years ago with $500. He went into debt $11,500 for a 240 acre farm. He also had hustle and brains. Now he has property valued at $12,500. In the interval mentioned he has paid $1,000 a year in interest, spent $1,000 on buildings, has pure bred horses, cattle and swine worth $5,000, and he holds that his farm has increased $10 an acre in value, which it must be admitted is a conservative estimate. The book farming he learned at the agricultural college he put to good account, his wheat averaging ten bushels more per acre than his neighbor's, whose soil was just as good. These instances may be termed by some exceptional, yet they show nicely what a fellow can do if he is equipped for his work and takes hold of it with determination.

ONE CAUSE OF HIGH PRICED MEATS.

While the prevailing high prices for all commodities have doubtless been in a large measure due to a price inflation which has been worldwide, there is little question that a very important factor in causing high prices of meats has been due to the rapid cutting up of considerable range areas of the western plain and mountain sites through settlement by homesteaders. This settlement, which is going on more rapidly today than ever, means that the day of the vigorous range sheep and cattle, which were eagerly bought and shipped to points farther east for feeding, is fast passing and that ere long the territory which heretofore has been raising the feed with which to fatten these cattle will also have to breed and rear its own fattening animals. Taking into account that this will have to be done on high priced land, it means that higher prices are bound to prevail for cattle and sheep, whatever fluctuations from month to month may be, due to stockyard receipts. Corn belt should keep this situation in mind and be ready for it.

DO MOLES EAT GRAIN?

There has been considerable discussion over the question whether the mole is entirely an insectivorous animal or whether its bill of fare includes besides insects some grain. To settle this question one of the instructors in the Michigan agricultural college put a mole in a box of fresh earth in which some twenty kernels of corn were placed in four or five places. At the end of thirty-six hours it was found that all of the corn had been searched out and devoured, and there was no getting around the fact that the mole was responsible. This experiment tends to prove the claim of some that when a mole follows a row of corn he is not only after insects which may have been attracted by the presence of the seed, but the seed itself. It is a matter of common observation that when the mole can get all the big, white, juicy grubs he wants he does not seem to care for or molest anything else, but it is more than likely when these are not to be had he goes after other insects and grain if he can locate it.

WATER IN THE HOUSE.

In response to 600 queries sent out by the country life commission a couple of years ago, asking what one thing would be of most interest to farm life from the standpoint of the housewife, some 350 replies mentioned first "water in the house." Considering the distance some farm women have to go for water and the amount of it they have to carry in twenty-four hours, we guess these good housewives hit the nail on the head. The lack is one that ought to be remedied by digging a well nearer the house or moving the house nearer the well. Better than either of these is the installation of a tank and pipe system which will make it possible to have water on tap in the kitchen all the time, while the installation of a galvanized tank connected with a water front in the kitchen stove will mean that hot water will be under faucet all the time, thus doing away with much of the teakettle nuisance. Properly arranged, the same system may be used to furnish water to the stock in the barn.

Dairy Doings.

Most trouble in raising calves comes from use of dirty pails and troughs. Give the calf clean water and clean food that doesn't vary in quality from day to day.

Fertility can be built up faster upon the dairy farm than upon any other kind of a farm.

Dried brewers' grains are valuable to feed with silage to milk cows or young growing stock, but cannot be recommended for fattening purposes. They should not be fed alone, but should be mixed with heavier and more concentrated feeds, like gluten and cottonseed meal.

You never can tell what cow is doing best until you begin to weigh and test.

A good cow never dies in debt to her owner.

There are now and then occasions when the circumstances seem to justify one in going to law, but they are few and far between. Especially is this true in equity cases, where property or money is involved and where a settlement could by all odds be best effected by arbitration and compromise. The folly of "lawing" it out willy nilly lies in the fact that before a settlement is effected in the court the chances are that the lawyers will have the bulk of the money or property that the litigants are scrapping over. Folks who persist in "lawing" in this way are easy "pickin's" for the legal fraternity and those who contribute most largely toward buying their flour and bacon and footing their coal and electric light bills.

Some experiments which have been conducted the past four years by the Ohio Agriculture college to determine what sized and shaped ears will on the average produce the most corn per acre, while not entirely conclusive, present some interesting facts. First it was found that long ears produced 3.97 bushels per acre more than shorter and deeperkerneled ears; that seed from ears with bare tips produced more corn per acre the first year than from ears that were well filled, but that in succeeding years the seed from well filled ears yielded from 1.5 to 2 bushels per acre more. It was also found during a period of five years that crease dented corn produced 2.84 bushels more per acre than rough dented seed and that seed from a well measured plot produced 2.4 bushels less per acre than seed from an adjoining plot that was not measured at all.

Burning Stumps.

In the early part of the winter bore a two inch auger hole to a depth of about three inches in the top of each stump to be removed, fill the hole with refined nitrate of potash and drive a pin tight on it. Let it remain until the spring, when the potash will be absorbed. Pour a little oil on the top of the stump and set afire. The entire stump and in a great many instances all the roots will be consumed by a slow burning.—Rural New Yorker.

No One to Do It.

"You say you have three small children. Can't you find work?" The man with the three days' beard and the ragged trousers wiped away a tear. "Alas, mum," he said, "it wouldn't be any good. They ain't old enough to work yet."

Raving.

"John, the cook has been drinking again." "Is she very drunk?" "Oh, very. She says she'll never leave us."—Washington Star.

From the Yoakum County News.

Arthur Tubbs, of Tubbs Bros, auto line, came over yesterday, bringing with him bank inspector McPhaul, J. R. Hill and Will Alf Bell of Brownfield.

J. R. Hill, proprietor of the Hill Hotel at Brownfield, was over yesterday shaking hands and "jollyng" with the Plains boys. Mr. Hill is one of the most popular landlords in west Texas and keeps one of the best houses, in every respect on the Plains.

Will Alf Bell, cashier of the First State Bank of Brownfield was over among his Plains friends yesterday and while here paid his respects to the News and left $1 for a years subscription. Mr. Bell is a fine bank officer as the reputation of his bank attest.

M. V. Brownfield and Judge Geo. W. Neill, of Brownfield, came over last Sunday afternoon and remained until Monday morning. While here they were guests of J. T. Gainer. While here Judge Neil authorized his professional card printed in the News and the paper sent to his address.

M. V. Brownfield came in from Fort Worth where he went on business.

Neil H. Bigger, editor of the Yoakum County News, was a visitor to Brownfield Monday. He came over after his son. He informed us that he was well pleased with Plains and had one of the best equipped little newspaper plant in all West Texas.

Dr. H. T. Day, of the Groves Chappel country, was in town this week after supplies. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Maud, and Misses Minnie and Katie Bryant, who were shopping. They paid the Herald a pleasant call.

Judge W. R. Spencer received a nice walking cane from his old friend, S. P. Bradish, of New York, a few weeks ago in recognition of services rendered. It is pure ebony with large hand carved gold head, and experts who have examined it, say it must have cost $100 at least. The carving on the head says: "To a friend in Need" To W. R. Spencer, from S. P. Bradish, New York. The Judge is very proud of the cane.

Henry and E. B. Johnson, two wealthy cattlemen of Norman, Okla., were in the city for a few minutes one day this week and called on their old friend J. T. May. In conversation with these gentlemen we learned that they had purchased quite a lot of cattle from ranches in Terry and Gaines counties. They secured each a herd from Tom Ivey, of the T4; J. W. Byrd of Seminole; and a nice herd from the famous "C" herd of black mulies. They will carry these cattle to their ranch in Gray county.

BIDS WANTED.

Bids will be received June 5th 1911, for work on the road south from Brownfield two miles as follows: Plowed and grubbed 16 feet wide, 3 inches deep and the dirt scraped out. County to furnish road grader, the uses to keep in repair. Work to be done per mile, within 60 days from acceptance of bid. Bidder gives bond to do the job. Money paid on completion. Bids must be filed with the County Clerk by 1 o'clock of that date.

Also, on road east to Tahoka; scraped out 3 inches deep, 16 feet wide, about 7 miles. In both roads the sandy places worked only, and to be designated by the Commissioners Court. Bids may be separately for each road.

Cotton

Cotton has given the world its most gigantic industry. Millions of people cultivate the plant and as many more weave at its looms and its fibre clothes the human race. It is the most powerful agency in our civilization, running both plow and factory, and it is the leading merchandise of mankind. Its field has aroused the inventive genius of the country and it is an important factor in medicine and arts. The seed is food for man and beast and cotton products appear in numerous forms on all markets of the world.

It is the most youthful of staple products, having had less than a century of commercial recognition, but it has rapidly acquired power until today it is the King of Products. The fleecy staple is as good as legal tender on any market and based on factory values is the richest of all industries.

For the past century it has engaged the brightest intellects of the world in science and commerce and many of its problems are only half solved. The inventive minds of the universe have pored over its fibre; merchant princes have studied its markets and the ablest financiers have sought to fix its value.

Cotton is limited in its area of production to Texas and a few other Southern states but its consumption is worldwide and it is one of the leading necessities of life which insures forever a profitable return to the producer. It has been maligned by its beneficiaries and railed at by writers, but Texas cotton stands today the most reliable and profitable staple product of any crop of all agricultural states in the Union. The state average of production per acre 1910 was 349 pounds; the lint selling for $20.86 and the seed at $3.77, making a total average production per acre of $24.63. Comparing this with the leading agricultural products of other states we find corn in Illinois producing $14.85 per acre; wheat in Kansas $11.93 per acre and oats in Iowa $10.20 per acre; these states leading in the products mentioned.

Cotton is by far the most valuable of our farm products. In 1910 we harvested 10,530,000 acres of cotton, making 3,140,000 bales, valued at $219,656,000. The increase in yield in 1910 over 1909 was 24 pounds per acre. The crop of the United States in 1910 was 11,426,000 bales.

Texas is the home of this remarkable plant, the soil and climate being peculiarly adapted by nature to its propagation and to the proper maturing of its fibre.

Quanah Acme & Pacific Extension.

While nothing definite can be learned, it is strickly on the cards that the work of extending the Quanah, Acme & Pacific railroad at least into Motley county will be underway before long. And it is likely that the extension will be continued as fast as possible to finance it, to Roswell, New Mexico.

It comes from a fairly reliable source that the Matador ranch owners are willing to pay in the way of a bonus, the sum of one hundred thousand dollars when the road is built and in operation to a certain location in Motley county which has been selected for a townsite, and to which the town of Matador will be moved,
