THRESHER AT WORK

Mr. Redd Arrived Wednesday. Means Much To Citizens.

Our citizens have been waiting long and patiently for that thresher, but one arrived Wednesday and got to work good and stout by Thursday afternoon, turning out about eight wagon loads of maize without a halt. Two or three thresher men had promised to come, but like last year, they were a long time about it. It seems that most of the farmers wanted a man to come who could move from place to place, and Mr. Redd telegraphed for an engine at Dallas, but as they had to ship from the factory, he countermanded the order, and made arrangements with the mill and feed people to use their engine. Whether he will move their engine about, we have not learned. Mr. Redd's engine at Lou, that he uses to run his gin and mill, is entirely too large to transport over the country.

Even this thresher which may remain stationary will mean much to our people for they have ton after ton of maize they are willing and anxious to sell, but cannot ship in the head. One farmer, Mr. V. E. Hargett has contracted his entire surplus crop to the Wichita Mill & Elevator Co., but they want it threshed, as he has to deliver it f. o. b. Tohoka.

Hereafter, we believe there will be no difficulty in securing a thresher, and our farmers can plant big crops with the assurance that they can have it put up in a marketable condition.

That there will always be a good market for maize seems to be an assured fact, for mills are making a fine grade of flour out of the cereal for both domestic and export purposes, which they claim is even more nutritious than wheat flour. Maize culture on the Plains is to be a big industry some day, as it is a hearty plant and a good feeder.

I. T. Pryor.

Pryor's Report Shows Decrease In Cattle.

San Antonio, Texas, November.—The report of Col. Ike T. Pryor of the Texas Welfare Commission on the Raising and Marketing of Livestock which has just been made public shows an alarming decrease in the production of cattle per annum in Texas. Coming just at this time when the price of meat is soaring higher and higher, the report is interesting and is being studied carefully by stockmen throughout the State. During the past decade, our supply of cattle in Texas has decreased 2,047,499 head while our population has increased 847,832. In Continental United States our population has increased 15,978,691, while our cattle have decreased 2,332,000. "The situation becomes all the more alarming when we consider that Texas supplied the decrease in number of cattle for the entire United States," says the report, "and we contributed heavily toward the loss in sheep and scarcely broke even on hogs. The figures show that the livestock industry, which has been our leading occupation, is rapidly waning in Texas."

The report urges the farmer to raise more livestock, to improve the grade to the highest possible standard; recommends the building of silos and the feeding and finishing of our livestock for market and also sounds a note of warning against the wholesale marketing of calves.

Germans Coming to America.

Berlin, Germany.—There were 66,471 Germans immigrated to America last year. Many of that number became farmers, a large percent of them finding their way to the South and located their new homes in Texas where they are welcomed as they make good citizens, and are usually prosperous, peace loving people. The German comes to this country for the purpose of finding a permanent home and a comparatively small percentage return to their native land.

Open Letter to Our Subscribers.

Brownfield, Texas, 11-22, 1912

Dear Friends:

This is the time of year that most people have some surplus cash, and it is a good time to pay off old scores. The Herald has probably 200 subscribers who are in arrears, and we dislike very, very much to erase their names. It would be like cutting the cords of affection binding one to their dearest friends, and the Herald and readers are just a big family. So please do not let us cut you off.

The Herald has stayed here through thick and thin, adversity and prosperity, preaching the pure gospel of the advantages of the GREAT SOUTH PLAINS. we don't say it boastingly but we believe the Herald is directly responsible in no small way, for the enhancement in the value of your land. Have you done your part? Don't you think the Herald has benefited you a dollar's worth? We don't want your dollar as a donation, but propose to give you your money's worth in 52 bristling, newsy issues of the Herald concerning Terry County. While you are enjoying your Thanksgiving, don't forget to make the Herald thankful to you for a small remittance.

Respectfully,

A. J. Stricklin, Editor

Any leisure in getting to Terry, will have to be supplemented with a hurry later, because you are coming bye and bye.

The Bermudians, under the Union Jack, gave Pres. elect Wilson an ovation that doubtless likened in miniature the Madison Square entertainment under the Stars and Stripes.

That there is money in raising maize can no longer be denied. A large amount to the acre can be raised here every year with a minimum of labor and expense, besides people are just beginning to learn its value, not only as a feed for stock, but as a food for man. Plant a good crop of maize next year and watch your bank account grow.

Gov. Colquit has set his foot down on the group that would take Lincoln's picture from our school histories. He is very right, for this great man was a true friend to our southland and had he lived the bloody pages of corpebaggery and reconstruction would have read different. What we of the Plains need more, is a geograpy that will show our great and growing agriculture region to be something more than a desert.

Unlike the wheat and oat harvest regions of Central and North Texas, our thrashing season does not open till fall and winter. While they thresh oats and wheat, we thresh kafir, maize and sorghum. Their hard work begins in the very hottest months, while ours begins in the coolest. They get from 15 to 18 bushels of wheat per acre on $100 land, and we get from 20 to 30 bushels of maize per acre off $10 land. Their wheat brings them on an average of 16.50 per acre, while we get an average of 15 00 per acre. Which looks the best.

There is good money in broom corn in this county, but most people who have planted it seem to be somewhat disgusted with it on account, as they claim, of it being hard to harvest, thresh and get in shape for market; also being very disagreeable to handle, as it contains a vast amount of dust. But after all when put on the market, it brings a handsome price. Many prefer raising maize or corn, or even cotton at less per acre, arguing that while the world's sweepers only, demand broom corn, the world's sweepers supplemented by all live stock and hungry people demand the maize.

Frank Trumbull.

Trumbull Opposes Repeal Of Stock And Bond Law.

Dallas, Texas, Nov.—Frank Trumbull, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the M. K. & T. Railway Company, agrees with Senator Culberson that the stock and bond law should not be repealed. Friends of Mr. Trumbull have directed attention to his statement before the Texas Welfare Commission in session at Houston on April 30th, in which he said in part:

"My own conviction about this stock and bond law is that it would be a great mistake to repeal it. I think the good in it ought to be preserved. I think it ought to be supplemented with permissive clauses; first, so that there would be no difficulty whatever about getting securities for improvements. If we should announce, for instance, that we wanted to spend $5,000,000 on the M. K. & T. lines in Texas, I think that your laws should be such that we can get a mortgage lien for that five million dollars regardless of what the previous capitalization of the railroad was."

Mr. Trumbull also suggested that any company which had obligations outstanding prior to this law, should be permitted to issue new obligations to take their place as they matured, and a third amendment suggested by Mr. Trumbull was that new lines be permitted to issue bonds prior to completion of construction. Mr. Trumbull commended many of the good features of the law.

The horse is the only animal which every farmer must have.

When you go into town, invest in a good thermometer for the dairy.

Keep the ensilage covered. Frozen ensilage is no advantage to stock.

A good horseman never trots a draft horse, even when he has no load.

Sometimes size in sheep is secured at the expense of activity and vitality.

It is a mistake to feed the pigs sour milk when they are learning to eat.

When at all indisposed, a turkey should be separated from the rest of the flock.

A lamb that is large and strong will stand weaning better, and also winter better.

Hogs are great lovers of warmth and must have it for their most economical growth.

Size, vigor and activity of both cockerels and pullets are essential to good breeding of fowls.

The most beautiful horse is not worth much unless he has good, sound limbs and feet.

Sunshine is life to all animals and all farm buildings should be so planned as to afford it.

Wheat middlings can nearly always be used to advantage in connection with corn in fattening hogs.

Rubbing the inside of the churn with dry salt after washing and wiping it helps in keeping it sweet.

When from any cause a horse is left stand idle in the stable his rations should be cut down to one-half.

We should let the heifers have what mixed hay they will consume and some of the cornstalks to pick over.

The individuality of each horse should be studied, and the feeds supplied to meet individual requirements.

The churn should be thoroughly scalded and cooled with clean, cold water before the cream is put into it.

While growing colts should be allowed to run out as long as the weather will permit them to be exposed to the storm.

If dusty hay is fed, sprinkle with water, and it will save the horse much annoyance, but better not feed it at all.

Do not feed the cows corn meal if you are feeding corn silage for there is as much corn in the silage as the cows should have.

Be sure there are no narrow doors for the ewes to crowd through. One jam may cause the lose of a lamb, or both ewe and lamb.

If the milker and cow are co-workers in the milking business the milker will have a larger pail full of good milk when he has finished.

An orchard that is poorly planted and carelessly managed the first year is often an irregular, unprofitable orchard for its entire existence.

The cow that has a liberal appetite and at the same time turns a large share of her feed into dairy products is the cow that brings the greatest profit.

Kindness is one of the cheapest and best rations you can feed to your stock. They relish it more than the most succulent thing you can put before them.

The old saying that "the eye of the shepherd fatens the flock" is as true now as ever. The good feeder loves to watch the animal's eat after they get their feed.

The soil that is drained can be worked earlier not only because the farmer can get on the soil earlier, but because it is warmer than that which is soaked.

The ewe and lamb should be kept in a small pen by themselves until they both understand their relations without friction to themselves or the balance of the flock.

Where the bodies of fruit trees are covered with a whitewash composed of lime and soft soap with a little crude carbolic acid added, there is less danger of injury from rabbits, sunscald and insect pests that may attack the bark.

Brownfield Wants Them.

From what our Gomez correspondent says, Mr. Kelley is contemplating moving his Gomez telephone exchange to Plains. If he does we certainly hope these good people will see fit to tie on the Brownfield exchange, as it is nearer to them, handier to get supplies, and they naturally have more business over here. At present it is an expense and inconvenience for Brownfield folks to pay their dime to talk to Gomez, and Gomez folks a dime to talk to Brownfield folks, and vice-versa.

If it could be so arranged that one could call up everybody in the county who owns a phone without a thought of extra pay. Yes Brownfield people would certainly welcome heartily, a closer connection by phone with these people. Hitch on with us brothers if Mr. Kelley does leave.

Thanks.

I have come to Brownfield on the Kings business hoping for development on lines for which I come.

I am here first to help build up christianity and strengthen the kingdom movement on this particular field. In this effort I crave the co-operation of all Christian people.

Second I represent the great Baptist host of Texas—My aim and effort will be to look especially after the interest of the church of which I am pastor.

We were cordially greeted by some sixty people who visited us the second night of our stay in Brownfield. We take this plan of expressing our appreciation to those who kindly visited us and replenished our larder with the necessities of the body. May Gods blessings be upon each donor.

Use Found For Prairie Dogs.

A representative of a glove factory at Grovesville, N. Y. has found a practical use for prairie dogs. The hides from half a dozen were shipped to the factory, where they were made up. The result was a glove, soft and pliable as kid, waterproof and never cracking or roughing up.

The company has obtained 100 prairie dogs which it has liberated in a nearby rocky field, with a woven wire fence around, and it figures that it can raise enough dogs in time to supply skins for the factory.

It is believed that the dogs can be raised to maturity for five cents. Four skins will do for a pair of gloves, which will sell for $1.50 at retail.—Hereford Brand.

ADVANTAGES OF GOOD ROADS

Special Agent Raine Enumerates Benefits to Be Derived From Putting Thoroughfares in Shape.

Mr. C. O. Raine, special agent of the national department of good roads, says:

- "The possibility of securing quick medical assistance in the event of sickness in the family.
- "The ability of children to attend school regularly, although possibly living a considerable distance from the schoolhouse.
- "The possibility of the family attending church and enjoying social intercourse with their neighbors and friends, both in the country and in town.

"The possibility of utilizing time during bad weather by attending to business and social duties away from home both day and night.

"The enlarged rental value of the farm.

"The ability to market produce when it is scarce because those living on bad roads cannot get to market.

"The increase in the tonnage in the hauling of produce to market and the return haul of family necessities.

"The increase in the value of the farms by many dollars per acre and the possibility of selling with a readiness not known to those holding lands not adjacent to good roads.

"The importance given to the country by reason of its being inhabited by people who build and maintain good roads with pleasure and profit to themselves."

Stick one end of the U-shaped pipe in the bell end of the tile and take hold of the outside part with the hand. A tile can be carried and placed in line with this handle very quickly.

Cold Storage Eggs.

The Georgia pure food law requires those who sell cold storage eggs to label them as such. Other states should consider the advisability of passing a similar law.

The safest bull the dairyman can use is generally a cross bull. At first this may seem a strange assertion. The reason, however, is simple. The bull that is known to be cross will always be watched. On the other hand, it is easy to put too much confidence in a tame bull that may suddenly become cross.

WAY OF BURNING CHARCOAL

Excellent Method Is to Keep Center Solid, Making A-Shape Flue of Shakes.

The old way of burning charcoal was to build a chimney in the center. A correspondent of the Blacksmith and Wheelwright tells what he considers the best method. He says: My way is to keep the center solid. I make an A-shape flue of shakes or boards, and place small wood in the center, setting the wood as solidly together as possible, and covering all with straw, leaves or brush. Then spread over about three inches of dirt and insert fire, attached to a pole, to the center of the flues. Keep the pit stamped down as solid as possible, and burn about eight days for a large pit. When burnt, take off the covering, open the top, pour in a bucket of salt brine and cover up. The steam then puts out the fire. In about twenty-four hours draw it out. Do not fear to use water as it does not hurt the coke, especially if soft wood is used.

RID LAND OF PINE STUMPS

Circumstances Must Govern Farmer, as One Method Might Not Be Economical to All.

Circumstances should govern a farmer in adopting a method of removing stumps. The most economical method for one farmer would be the most expensive for other farmers. If the timber will readily rot, and the land is adapted to pasture, it is advisable to cut away the timber and pasture the land until the roots and stumps decay. If this method is adopted, the timber should be cut close to the ground and all cut timber burned during the dry time. The sprouts and brush must be kept down with an axe.

A steel stump puller can be used to good advantage where there are a considerable number of stumps per acre. A heavy wooden stump puller built to stand over stumps is so heavy that a crew of men with a team will spend most of their time moving the machine from stump to stump and adjusting it in position to pull. A steel machine that winds the rope low down so that the team can cross under any conditions with perfect safety, and that can be easily anchored to a stump or tree, and that will clear as much land at one setting as the chord will reach over is the machine to buy.

Pine stumps can be burned out very easily by removing the dirt from around them for twelve or fifteen inches deep and by applying chunks or logs to keep the fire burning day and night. Where there is considerable timber standing on the land, the burning process is, no doubt, the most economical, and by far the most preferable for men inexperienced in the use of explosives. The dirt may be removed from around the stumps at any time and the timber cut and sawed into blocks, say, five feet long. Two or three of these blocks may be placed against each stump.

I advise the use of blasting powder when the farmer prefers to lift

Big Money Needed.

Consumption might be wiped out if enough millions or billions are donated for the experts to use in accordance with their ideas. Perhaps some of the great cities of the world are rich enough to care for and try to cure the consumptives from every smaller city, town or hamlet accessible by railroad or steamboat. What is most needed costs money, and that "what" is plenty of good food and warm clothing, and maybe it is worth while to see that the sufferers have "what" they need to help most to bring about cure.

Rape is popular with hogs.

Very fat fowls are poor layers.

The dual purpose cow that produces about three gallons of milk a day and a long-legged, fast-moving cow that takes three years to reach maturity are just baseable. The two

GOOD ROADS

GOOD ROADS ARE THE PARENTS OF CIVILIZATION.

Good roads are the links that form the chain that binds the human race together and they are the parents of modern civilization.

There is no better investment than money put into public highways and every dollar invested in road improvement adds three times its value to adjoining property and every argument that applies to the improvement of private property will apply with multiplied force to the improvement of public property and especially to public highways, as every farmer must use the public roads. No one is opposed to good roads, but objection is sometimes made to paying for them.

GOMEZ DOTS

Nov. 19th

J. M. Currier, a former Gomez citizen, but now of Rochester, in Hall county, was here last week accompanied by a couple of prospectors. One of them purchased land in east Yoakum county, and the other said when he left that he was going to buy out here immediately. Mr. Currier informed us that he will move his family back here as soon as he gathers his crop where he now lives.

We noticed a load of fat chickens on the streets last Saturday. No use for anyone to complain of hard living when a fat hen can be bought at 25 cents.

Mrs. Rogers, nee Miss Fannie Thompson, a sister of Mesdames Dave Broughton, are now visiting her sisters here. She is accompanied by her husband. They live in Eastland county.

Mr. Farris, the man who bought Oral Adams' and J. McPhauls' cattle, spent last Friday night at the Hotel here.

Mr. Dawson, of N. M., spent Friday night here in town on his way to Tahoka with a load of hogs.

A man from La Mesa, was here last Saturday with a load of Arkansas apples. They were fine and he had no trouble in selling his load.

Mr. Kelly is going to move to Plains and take out his phone system here—well what next? Will we put up a local system of our own or put in phones from Brownfield? Don't know but it looks like we have got to have phones.

D. J. Broughton will move to Brownfield this week. We sure regret to lose this family. Miss Gay being one of our teachers will stay here. We sincerely hope they may be happy in their new home.

Mrs. Turner, mother of Mrs. Oral Adams, has been visiting the later here for quite a while, but she returned to her home at Brownwood this week.

There was nine bales of cotton ginned here last week most all of it came from the west side viz, the Winn, Shepherd, Carter and Lemly neighborhood. The gin is running this week or so we think, as we have seen wagons coming from the gin loaded with cotton seed also cotton bales.

Bro. Jameson preached here on last Sunday at 3 p. m. Well among the many things we have to be thankful for, the presence among us and services as a minister of man of Bro. Jameson's talent and genuine Christianity, is one of our best blessings.

Miss Clemmie Adams was here Sunday visiting and attending church.

Tom Taylor is just in from southwest Terry, where he has been helping Mr. Leach gather his crop. He said they gathered 150 bushels of corn and stacked 8000 bundles of feed last week, also that crops are good in that part of the county.

Six bales of cotton ginned here on Monday.

Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Rhodes are back from a visit to Mrs. Rhodes' sister who was very sick. They came in from the railroad last week.

TEXAS NEEDS GREAT MEN

XL. WISDOM

SOCRATES taught the Athenians philosophy and Solon gave Greece her laws and under their inspiring influence civilization bore its noblest fruits. The Greeks owed their advancement to strong leaders who were able to grapple with fundamental thoughts and to a citizenship that drank deeply at the fountain of truth and wisdom. Every age has been indebted for progress to its geniuses who could open the store-house of knowledge and history tells us that nations pine away and die in the arms of ignorance.

SOCRATES TEACHING WISDOM.

Let that nation that would reach the towering height of civilization rock the cradle of thought in the billows of progress. nurture genius on the milk of inspiration, chasten ambition with the rod of experience that civilization may bloom and bear its golden fruits of power, happiness and prosperity. Texas Needs Great Men.
