ing the fair weather months of this year has increased at an almost unbelievable stride and it is certain that winter will find unabated activity. Fear of road difficulties has deterred many from making the Transcontinental trip over the Borderland Route and it needs but the proper making of roads on the Borderland Route as promised by local officials to remove this final obstacle.

Until this year Winter Transcontinental Touring has been impracticable because the Northern and Central Routes are impassable at this period of the year. However, the tide of transcontinental touring will not recede this winter because it will be diverged by the efforts of the Transcontinental Touring Club of America along the beautiful sunny Borderland Route.

It devolves upon local enthusiasts and public spirited citizens to put the roads of this community in the best possible condition for this expected travel, if for no other reason than the good impression it will make for the locality on these tourists of means and influence, while they owe it to the community and the touring club to co-operate with that organization in any way they can.

Unprecedented co-operation of this nature, as well as extraordinary activity in all parts of the country has awakened a wider interest in Transcontinental touring than ever before and promises to turn millions of dollars as well as many desirable settlers and investment seekers into the southwest who have hitherto made Europe their haunt. Much splendid literature has been recently circulated in the East and the organization of at least two more national touring and road building bodies has caused marked advancement in long touring interest as well as bringing that point nearer when a beneficial national legislation may be expected.

Advanced pages of the Route Book issued by the Transcontinental Touring Club have been locally received and show that it will be handsomely bound with a clever cover design in colors and will contain not only the route detail and maps, but descriptions of the route and points of interest as well as local views.

Bids Wanted.

The Commissioners Court of Gaines county will at its regular quarterly meeting on the 10th day of Feb. 1913, receive bids to scrape out to the clay, about 12 miles of road, 24 ft in width, work to commence by March 1st 1913, and to be completed by or before Dec. 1st 1913. The right to reject any or all bids is reserved. For further particulars see

W. R. Slaton
County Judge, Gaines Co.
Seminole, Texas.

Jno. C. Scudday has been on the sick list for about ten days, but is improving.

The Borderland Route

Great local automobile and road interest has been aroused by the announcement of the Transcontinental Touring Club of America that their Route Book covering the Borderland Route, routed by that body, is in the hands of the printer and will shortly be in the hands of members and for sale throughout the country. This announcement coming at the opening of the winter touring season the busy season on the beautiful Borderland Route gives promise of unprecedented travel and activity through this territory this winter and will undoubtedly arouse considerable local enthusiasm.

The various vice-presidents along the route are in receipt of letters from the club headquarters in Chicago asking for detailed road reports for the information of tourists and they in turn are prodding the local officials and enthusiasts to the upbuilding of the community as well as the enthusiastic support of the organization, that the tourists may not only be drawn this way but induce many others to follow them.

Mail Order Problems

One of the best business men in this town asks that the Leader get in the fight against the mail order house. We told him, and will tell anybody else—the best way to fight mail order houses is to fight them with their own weapons, and that is printers' ink. That's absolutely all the mail order house uses, except when it gets some news paper man to fight it, though editorials and local notices, and that is where it gets its ads free, as all that is written against it is a boost. Put ads in the paper. They will take your prices to the right along with the mail order house catalogues, and you will get the business, simply because you can not only sell as cheap, but your goods are better, a fact that every experienced man knows.—Sentinel Leader.

Bids For County Depository

The Commissioners Court will receive proposals and bids from banking institutions desiring to be selected as Depositories for the County's funds, at their Regular meeting the Second week in February 1913. Such bids as may be received, will be opened at 10 o'clock A. M. on Monday Feb'y 10th, 1913.

Geo. W. Neill
County Judge, Terry County Texas.

Dr. J. W. Ellis has sold out will leave Brownfield in a week or two. His successor is Dr. T. L. Treadaway, late of Miles, Texas, who has already moved to Brownfield preparatory to taking up the practice which Dr. Ellis has relinquished. Dr. Ellis has been located in Brownfield for the past six years and has established a reputation as being one of the best physicians on the south Plains and he will be greatly missed by the people of Terry and adjoining counties. Not only is he popular as a physician, but he has a large circle of personal friends who will regret his departure from among them; when a man is known and understood his character and personality are estimated at their worth. May success attend him wherever he may cast his lot.—Yoakum County New.

From what we can gather, unusually good schools are reported all over the county this year. Let the good work proceed.

HEALTHY QUARTERS FOR PIGS

Animals Affected With Rheumatism Generally Become Unthrifty—Keep Houses Thoroughly Dry.

Rheumatism is commonly caused by allowing hogs to sleep in damp, filthy and improperly ventilated quarters. The system of ventilation should be such that there will be no direct currents of air striking the animals. The sun should have free access to the houses at all times. This will keep the sleeping quarters in a dry, sanitary condition.

When affected with rheumatism, the animals generally becomes unthrifty, and fail to make proper use of their feed, the appetite becomes dull which gives rise to the rough, scraggy coat. Prevention should be the first aim of the owner, and to accomplish this, the yards, pastures and houses should be made dry and clean. Damp bedding and cold floors should be avoided. If the hog house has a cement floor, false wooden floors should be provided, especially in the sleeping apartment of the building.

Other treatment is of little avail if comfortable sanitary quarters are not provided.

Wheat Shorts for Young Pigs.

I hardly think there is any feed superior to wheat shorts for young pigs, says a writer in an exchange. A mixture of wheat shorts and finely ground corn chops, half and half, soaked in water for 12 hours and fed in a thick slop makes a fine ration. The pigs at the same time should have access to pasturage, if this is available.

GROW ALFALFA ON DRY LAND

Excellent Plan to Select Strain That Grows Coarse, Strong Stalk—Drill Seed Carefully.

In adapting alfalfa to dry farming a very good plan is to select a strain that grows a coarse, strong stalk, use the same strain of seed year after year and thus adapt the plant to local conditions. We would prefer to pay a dollar a pound for seed grown several years under such conditions than to use seed at market prices that has not been acclimated. The alfalfa seed from Turkestan which the agricultural department foisted on us several years ago is not suited to high table lands and does better in fields under irrigation which is just contrary to the dope that was handed out to us by the alleged scientists, says the Denver Field and Farm. We should say that a sufficient quantity to sow on dry land is to drill in eight pounds of seed the acre, using any of the up-to-date styles of corn planters that carry an onion seed plate with holes thirteen sixty-fourths of an inch in diameter. Drill the seed carefully to the depth of an inch. The soil should be in perfect condition to assure germination of a full and even stand. Having drilled the seed with a two-row corn planter, the drills are just right to be cultivated with a common two-row riding plow. The shovels should be run to a depth of three inches and thus compel the alfalfa roots to keep below the three-inch soil mulch. It will probably be necessary to cultivate five times during the season and also to break the soil crust after each rain so as to lessen the loss of moisture. Early in the season until the growth is six inches in height harrow across the rows with a slant-tooth drag.

Well dressed fowls are more attractive to the hungry than well dressed people. If you don't believe it leave it to the hired man or the growing boy.

To overcome the habit of cows holding up their milk it is necessary to refrain from exciting the natural obstinacy of the animal by any disturbing influence.

Nut-bearing trees, owing to their peculiar system of roots, are much more difficult to transplant than are fruit-bearing trees, or even those known as seed-bearing.

The experienced cattle feeder will say that there is no ironclad rule for feeding. He watches his animals and feeds them according to what they seem to be able to stand.

The trouble with the dairy business today, beyond a question of doubt, is that it is being carried on by farmers, not dairymen, who know little or nothing about the profit or loss of the animals they are keeping.

L. B. WRIGHT FOR EMERSON Buggies

You have probably heard about these celebrated buggies before, but we want you to remember the excellent qualities of these vehicles. These buggies are built from the ground up. They are the most perfectly constructed buggy, built from a standpoint of durability, comfort and appearance; these three features you do not find so completely combined in other makes of buggies as you do in the EMERSON.

C. S. Cardwell helped us out a dollars worth this week.

Jake Leedy an old time cook at the Hill Hotel has returned, and will make chuck for a while.

WHEN in Lubbock, stop at the Seitz Barn on Broadway, opposite the Court House.

We had a card from Bro. V. H. Trammell last week seeking the cause of his Herald not coming. Guess he found out ere this, by reading it. Reports that he is well situated and pleased.

Among the other live stock deals that have gone through lately is that of the transfer of 52 head of cattle from T. J. Price to Will Mathis. Consideration $38 around. Yes cattle are some high.

NOTICE:—No hunting with dogs or guns in the Brownfield ranch allowed.

Ray Brownfield.

C. S. Cardwell has been keeping the local market supplied with great big turnips lately. Roy gave one to the editor this week that went two and three quarter pounds easy.

And W. D. Winn was in Saturday after supplies and turned over a dollar check from Mr. Carter, of West Terry, to have the Herald keep going to J. T. Carter, of McCaulley.

THE Lubbock Hide House pays highest prices for hides, furs and junk. Located at Seitz's barn, south of the Court House.

V. E. Hargett left Sunday with his son Verge, who is crippled with rheumatism, for Sweetwater, where he will put him under electrical treatment. We hope Verge will get abundant benefit.

Hugh Snodgrass came in this week from Floydada, where he has been visiting his sister since New Year. He spent Tuesday night in town, the guest of his brother, Will and family.

NOTICE:—No hauling of wood chips, or any other fuel allowed in the Brownfield ranch.

M. V. Brownfield

Uncle Geo. Wilkins was in town this week and placed an ad in the Herald, telling parties where the famous Galvanic rings might be found.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Claud Criswell, Tuesday morning, a fine boy. Claud acts like he owned the earth; he's plum despisable, all on account of the above arrival.

T. C. Ivey, the prominent owner of the "Running M" ranch in Yoakum county, gave us a nice order for stationery this week.

J. N. Lewis came in Saturday and subscribed for the Herald and Dallas News, the best local paper in Terry county and the best general paper in Texas.

M. K. Lindsay, of the Meadow county, was down Saturday on business and put a $'s worth of props under us. Mr. Lindsey says Miss Kathryn Powell is certainly teaching them, a good school. We are always glad to hear of the success of former Brownfield pupils.

Bros. S. H. Key of Gomez and E. T. Stapp of 5 miles west Gomez both came in Friday to mill and each overwhelmed the Herald about the same time with a dollar each. By gingoes they aim to make this editor rich we guess. Call again.

Prof T. F. Hunter was in last week and reported that he and wife had an excellent trip and a good time Xmas to his father's who resides at Clairmont, with exception of meeting the big snow on the road.

Miss Pearl Evans of Lakeview, is visiting Mrs. A. D. Jameson this week. These two ladies visited Mrs. Ed. Moore and Mrs. Guy Taylor Wednesday. Miss Pearl will be here and at Gomez for some time.

The editor misplaaed the Primrose letter some way this week for which he is very sorry, but cant be helped. However, they certainly did not go to the waste basket Cricket, but the high wind likely did the mischief. Come again.

The young people enjoyed a party at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Adams, Miss Clemmie hostess. Refreshments consisting of stuffed oranges and perfetos were served. All reports a nice time. This occurred last Friday night.

Geo. Smith, of Groves Chapel was in this week and informed the Herald man that his brother who lives at Pecos, had purchased the home place of J. W. Black, eight miles east of town, and will likely move on it this spring. We have not leaned what Mr. Black will do.

H. L. Ware, of the westside, passed through Tuesday on his way to Tahoka. He informed us that Mrs. Ware had received her commission as postmistress of Tokio, the new postoffice to be established on the line of Terry and Yoakum. This makes five postoffices in Terry county. They also want a general store over there.

Rodge Barnett was in Saturday and informed us that Barnett Bros had recently killed three pigs about twelve months old that netted 1295 lbs and from which they obtained 63 gallons of lard. My goodness! it ought to be against the law to waste little pigs in that fashion. Come to Terry.

Several farmers and stockmen from Yoakum county were over into Egypt this week after corn and maize. They found plenty of both articles at E. L. Duke's, just 1-2 mile south the Brownfield public square, loaded their big wagons and went on their ways rejoicing.

Henry Pulliam's father from Beuna Vista, Miss., came in this week and will make Terry his future home.

TEXAS DRAWS HEAVY GREEK IMMIGRATION.

Sons of Greece Prosper in Lone Star State—Race May Again Climb Pinnacle of Power.

The report of our Federal Immigration department shows that 37,000 Greeks came to the United States last year to find homes and Texas is the state most favored by Greek immigration. The per cent of Greeks departing from the United States is less than that of any other nationality. Their occupations show that they do the chores of industry rather than manage its affairs or rule in the professions, yet notable exceptions encourage the hope that this fallen race may again climb to the pinnacle of power.

They are the descendants of men who spoke with the tongues of angels; whose nation lifted civilization to its most towering heights and whose citizenship gave the world the most polished and powerful products of the human race. Cut loose from the source of their inspiration, they have lost their way in civilization and while we study with profound reverence the masterful works of their forefathers, the present generation blacks our shoes, sells us popcorn and runs our errands.

There is no better location on the globe for these people to regain their lost prestige than in Texas; we are fast being recognized as the nursery of art, science, literature and industry, and society is laden with healing balms that will revive stunted races and invigorate subdued mankind.

The history of the Greek race affords a most fertile field for the study of government, society and man. As a nation their statesmen struck the solid rock of wisdom and a stream of inspiration gushed forth filling the world with power, ambition and beauty. Watered by the fountains of government, society yielded its golden fruit and fired by an ambition to serve mankind its people made civilization quiver with poems, tremble with eloquence, charmed with art and mastered with philosophy.

This gem of nations when touched by the blight of dissension in government and folly in leadership withered and faded away. There is no greater force in human life than government and to wield its powers intelligently is the highest function of man.

Lubbock, Texas, 1-15-1913
Mr. A. J. Stricklin
Editor Brownfield Herald

Dear Sir:
There has been considerable talk among our merchants and customers about the necessity of a better road leading from your town to Lubbock, and this will authorize you to start the subscription list in your town with our name down for $5.00, provided your citizens will raise at least $50.00 to be applied on this work.

We are making this same offer to Plains, and will double this for the list in Lubbock, as we believe in doing things and hope this will start the good work and give us the desired road.

An Unintentional Compliment

Sometimes one is complimented when the one who proffered the bouquet really intended it for a brick bat. It is also a fact that, with few exceptions, every knock is a boost. So it happened that recently a certain person in Loraine paid the News a neat compliment and did not so intend it.

When asked by a stranger within our gates whether or not the town had a newspaper, this "loyal" citizen replied in words to the effect, that there was a newspaper, but it was only an excuse for a newspaper here; that the editor was always boosting the town, and intimating that he should not do so; that the town did not need that brand of invigoration, and turned loose a shower of gutter blows on the paper and people in general. It is significant that this person, in our "worth" fellow citizen thus unbesomed himself was a man who did not believe in such slander, and so was a reformer, and added to the comfort of our "valued" citizen by expressing a desire to meet the editor and get acquainted.

Now that it takes all kinds of people to make up this world, but it is to be regretted that such people as this are considered necessary, and it is a question in our minds if they are really necessary. Our harvest is a rich one but the laborers seem to be few at best, and we wish to drop this little thought right here: If our community was composed mainly of this class of citizenship, our population would be upward of 50 instead of upward of 1000. This human parasite, it is needless to say, does not take the paper; he does nothing for anything that would benefit the town. He reads the paper all right, never misses an issue. His kind hearted neighbor pays for his newspaper just like he does for many other little things which he constantly borrows from him. The most fitting epitaph for the tombstone of such as he would be: "Here lies nothing. He came from nowhere, did nothing while he was here and has gone where he came from. Don't add the usual R. I.

P., for he will never rest in peace anywhere.

Mrs. Alvin Duke and baby, are spending the week visiting her father.

Mrs. Bert Shepherd and children, went out to the farm Friday evening and did not return until Sunday evening.

Dr. Chapin, the dentist, of Lubbock, spent three days here last week. He was busy every bit of the time he was here and has quite a lot of work to do on his return.

Many thanks for the premium, The Ladies Home Journal. We didn't miss a single issue last year and will try to do as well this.

Gone But Not Fotgotton

Poor Long Perp is no more. He come into this world, just a small but very long little bench legged fist, to bless the home, chase chickens, chaw up small pigs, run the calves, june cotton-tails and jack, and do other odd jobs for Uncle Joe Hamilton, but Long Perp met his fatal doom last Wednesday afternoon on the road between Brownfield and Tahoka, when he made a shela-lah out in front of a freight wagon with six thouaond pounds thereon—but he didn't get by—two wheels of the front wagon and one of the trail wagon passed over his head, crushing out his precious eyes, and making his head look like an ash cake. little fellow; he never did speak, or leave any word about the disposition of his property, consisting of a good bed at the sorghum rick, and alot of good chuck that was daily heaved out at Mrs. Hamilton's back door. We did not earn just what disposition would be made of deceased body, but have heard a metal casket suggested and a fitting monument erected.

Herald joins the many friends of the family in sincere grief for their untold lose (?).

Promising Oil Areas In Texas.

The features of greatest interest in the petroleum industry in Texas in 1911, according to the United States Geological Survey, was the discovey and development of the Electra pool, in Wichita County, on the Northern edge of the State. The oil in this field proves to be of an exceptionally fine quality, being almost identical with Pennsylvania oil. There is considerable prospects of extending this pool to the southeast and the southwest, and good indications of oil are found as far east as halfway to the next producing region, in Clay county. The later district has not been as profitable as the Electra field but has yielded sufficient gas to supply Wichita Falls, Dallas and Fort Worth. Much prospecting is going on in the western half of Texas in many different localities, where seepages and other indications show the probability of fine oil supplies.

PLANS TO RE-Forest EAST TEXAS.

Timber Supply Decreasing.
Houston, Texas: Mr. Jno. H. Kirby in his report to the Texas Welfare Commission estimates that the forests of Texas will be exhausted in a period of fifteen years and recommends that plans be considered for re-foresting East Texas. The report is quoted below in part: "There were 31,934 mills in operation in the United States in 1910 producing 40,018,202,000 feet of lumber and of this quantity 14,143,471,000 feet was yellow pine.

"There are 466 mills in Texas, 20 mills operate exclusively upon hardwood timber and 70 mills operate on both pine and hardwood, while the remaining 376 operate exclusively upon pine. The average annual production of these mills is in round figures two billion feet. The consumption of lumber in Texas is about equal to the production of Texas mills. The Texas sawmills produced in 1910 an aggregate of 1,884,134,000 feet board measure which was 4.7 per cent of the total amount of lumber produced in the United States.

"It is estimated that there is about 30,000,000,000 feet of yellow pine timber still standing in Texas. I think this estimate ultra-conservative. Taking this estimate, however, as a basis, it will be seen at a glance that at the present rate of consumption, the volume of raw material will be exhausted in a period of fifteen years. I do not believe that the forests will be entirely denuded in that period. On the contrary, I think the manufacture of yellow pine will be carried on in this state for half a century at least, though it goes without saying that there will be an annual reduction in the volume of the product as well as a steady increase in the volume of consumption.

"It is unfortunate that no practical plans for re-foresting the lands of east Texas are being considered. These are the only lands in Texas to which yellow pine is indigenous or upon which forests may be cultivated at a minimum expense. It is true that the present generation of home builders enjoys a condition of cheap material which will be denied to succeeding ones. These same benefits might be preserved to our posterity if the public which is interested, would provide the means therefor by appropriating funds from the public treasury for the promotion of practical forestry plans."

Happy New Year.
