Frank Tiernan Killed

Heavy Chuck Wagon Passes Over His Head. Gloom Cast Over Entire Country

A phone message came in late Friday afternoon to the effect that Frank Tiernan, the twelve year old son of Sheriff and Mrs. Geo. E. Tiernan was hurt, but was not thought to be serious, but the wound was more serious than was then thought, and his spirit passed to the great beyond at about 9 p. m., Friday May 30th., while his father had gone to the phone to get another doctor. It is said that he was conscious practically all the time, so that he could relate how the accident occurred to his father, and wanted to go home to mamma.

The Tiernan-Scudday cattle outfit were returning from Midland with a herd they had recently purchased, and were somewhere near Cedar Lake in Gaires county. At about two or three o'clock in the afternoon, Frank was driving, and in getting out on the feed box to whip up the front team, his foot slipped and he fell in front of the front wheel which passed over his arm, the rear wheel over his head. Chas. Copeland and one of the little Scudday boys were with him at the time.

His body was brought in Saturday morning, and the whole country was stricken with sadness when the news of his death spread over the land.

In the absence of deceased's pastor, Rev. A. D. Jameson, Rev. B. F. Dixon, the Baptist pastor, conducted funeral services at Methodist church, at 2 p. m., Saturday afternoon. Bro. Dixon preached an excellent and a practical sermon, in which he advised all to be prepared.

The longest funeral procession ever seen in Brownfield followed his earthly remains to the Odd Fellows Cemetery, where the last hymn was sung and the last prayer said.

Frank was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Tiernan, and was a boy of unusual intelligence for his age. He was almost a constant companion of his father when out of school, in seeing after the cattle, and were like two boy chums as well as father and son. He was converted during the Abe Mulkey meeting two years ago, and united with the Methodist church. He numbered his friends by the wedth and breadth of of his acquaintance; manly in conduct, a perfect little gentleman. A natural leader and a general favorite among his school and play mates, who mournfully followed his remains to the cemetery.

Words of condolence to the broken hearted parents are but a sounding brass or tinkling symbol, and the Herald can devise no way, no effort, no thought or word that would heal the rent in the hearts of these loved ones

Frank left behind, but with their many friends throughout the land will just point them to the only Comforter who said:

"Suffer little children to come unto me, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

Our Merry Widows

Uncle Sam has just put our widows on the adding machine and finds we have in Texas 116,712 "sod" and "9,283 grass widows, a total of 125,995 of all ages. We have a total of 64,140 widowers and 57,862 are sod and 6,278 are grass.

We have 717,000 people who tread the narrow boardwalk of matrimony each year and 5,000 make their exit from wedded life through the divorce courts. A pessimist has said, "eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow you may be married." Our divorce records would fare better if, like the English sparrow, people would make themselves at home whether wanted or not. In the garden of love there seems to be weeds as well as flowers and what cupid needs most is a good pair of goggles so there would be fewer weeds plucked.

NOTICE I hereby warn all parties not to bring herds through or camp in any of my pastures. Anyone caught so trespassing will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

W. B. Snodgrass.

Love Letters

We get all kinds of letters, Comes to us by mail, And others have things for sale. Some from folks who want to pay, And others have things for sale. But of all the letters we get, That comes from either sex, The ones we most appreciate Are those enclosing checks.

We get letters from our friends; Friends of long ago; Some others saying 'please remit' From fellows that we owe. Some of them are reminders, And cause us to reflect: But the most pleasant letters Are ones that bring the check.

Some letters are short and simple Saying enclosed please find— Some are delightful declarations, With joy they fill our mind. We adore the hand that wrote it; Could hug 'um 'round the neck, For the letter that comes Bringing us the check.

J. T. M.

Sunday School Picnic

Under the auspices of the different Brownfield Sunday school such a picnic will be pulled off on the Fourth of July. It has been talked for some time, and we are glad to be able at this time, to formerly announce the affair on the above date.

Come one and all and bring a woll filled basket, and lets all enjoy ourselves together. Every one is invited.

Good Rains.

Come Down Slowly Almost All Night Tuesday.

After the showers Sunday afternoon, and it was still cloudy Monday, most everyone predicted rain again that day, but failed and all were afraid to prophesy for Tuesday, although low black thunder-heads gathered all afternoon with a stiff gale from the east. Rain fell in sight nearly half the afternoon but scarcely any fell in town till near bedtime. When it did set in though, it kept going slowly all night.

From estimates taken from tubs, cans, etc., in the yard, we believe an inch rainfall to be a conservative estimate. It covered all of Terry we are able to hear from, but a phone message from Tahoka said they just had a sprinkle over there, but from the looks of clouds, we believe the whole Plains country will be drenched before it is over.

Just keep on boosting Old Terry; she deserves more than you'll ever say.

Come to think of it, have you joined the five progressives in an order for a silo?

Space is precious in a little country weekly, and if you permit it to be filled by the pro and anti amendment people at Austin, you are doing yourself an injustice. The people have read the amendments, or at least those who take their county paper, and have sense enough to vote like they want to.

Did you notice that census report last week that reports us buying thousands of dollars worth of feed in Terry county? Why is this? There is no easier country in the world to raise feed than Terry. Dont depend on any county for your hog and hominy. Probably 85 percent of this feed was for cake and meal, but anyway lets have a better report next time the census enumerators come around.

The debate between the Old and Missionary Baptist to be pulled off this summer in Tahoka, reminds us that we used to be inclined to believe that there was some virtue in debating between the different demominations of Christians, but upon more broad and mature thought, have come to the conclusion that it only causes strife and discord among professed Christians and makes the unbelieving world even more skeptical. Probably, if statistics were available, it would be found that for each one that has been converted to your particular belief at a series of debates, there are hundreds more distantly estranged from any demomination. Preach the gospel of peace and fellowship as you see it, and let creeds and confusions alone. A semi-religious debate is the last act we ever want to see staged in our little city. We have disentions enough.

A. R. McGonagill, of the Edith community, sat down beside The News man on the street Thursday and after trying, to borrow a dollar from several passers by, and while the cold chills ran up and down our spine, began an apparently hopeless search in his pockets, and just when we had it figured out that he had more empty pockets than any man we ever saw, he found the last and right one, fished out the dollar and told us to "run her up a year." Then he told us he had "worked 49 years for that dollar," for said he, "I'm 49 years old and it is the only one I have, but take it, The News is more than worth it."—Lynn Co. News

Crie, you ought to be ashamed to hold out for the very last plunk a poor man has. A lot of little babies may be crying for biscuits out at A. R.'s, this minute. You ought to know that money don't come as easy, and common people don't live as easy as editors. You ought to size things up and make it easy with the poor people. Be generous.

All Important Industry.

C. S. News Service

The Texas mule is gaining in prominence every day in the year, and the raising of these animals is becoming an important industry in Terry County. It is estimated that twenty per cent of the mules that are being used in the building of the Panama Canal were bred in Texas, and in selecting material for his cavalry Uncle Sam favors the Texas mule.

There are 716 mules on the farms and ranges of Terry County according to a recent census bulletin and their total value is $65,087. Of this number 537 are mature mules, 159 are yearling colts and 20 spring colts.

The total number of mules on the farms and ranges of Texas is 675,558 which have a total value of $73,979,145.

More About the Amendment

In making up his mind as to how he will vote on the amendment to sections 49 and 52 of Article 3 of the Constitution, the voter must consider the following questions:

1. Is he willing to authorize the state officials to create debts against the state to the amount of a half million dollars, which may be repeated as often as the debt is paid, and which the tax payer must pay?

2. Does he favor the issuing of bonds to build another Agricultural and Mechanical College at Austin in connection with the University?

3. Does he favor giving the Legislature unlimited power to issue any amount of bonds it may see fit for buildings for "other institutions?"

4. Does he believe it good public policy to issue three million dollars worth of bonds for the penitentiary system which in two years has lost two million dollars?

5. Is he willing, as a taxpayer, to pay his share of the seven million dollars worth of bonds which will be immediately demanded of the Legislature should this amendment be adopted?

6. Does he believe it good public policy for the voter to be forced to vote for seven different propositions, or against all of them, or not vote at all?

A. M. Kennedy,
Kerrville, Texas.

A Rich Man's School.

Once upon a time some prominent man remarked that he thought the University of Texas was "a rich man's school." Since that day the University has had to combat this notion. A very few rich men's sons attend the University every year, and they are welcome; but the large majority come from the homes of people of moderate means, and some of the students are very poor. For example, 307 widows sent sons and daughters to the University during the present session; 406 farmers are patrons of the school; 63 teachers have saved enough from their scanty salaries to put their children in the University; 51 ministers have done the same; likewise bookkeepers, 13 carpenters, 11 mechanics, 8 blacksmiths, and 4 barbers. Occupations represented by the parents of other students are, butchers, laundrymen, tailors, shoe-makers, printers, hay dealers, wagon yard owners, plasterers, paper hangers, watchmen, well-diggers, confectioners. Of course, other occupations are represented by the parents of others students, but the occupations quoted are not those usually followed by rich men; at the same time they represent a majority of the students in the University. As it always has done in the past, the University of Texas should continue to draw boys and girls from all classes of people. It is thus that the institution may continue to be democratic.

The University of Texas will celebrate the thirtieth year of its life June 8, 9, and 10. Invitations have been issued to the eighteen thousand students that have attended the institution since the opening of its doors in 1883 to two hundred students, in charge of a faculty of eight persons. More than two thousand three hundred have enrolled during the regular session this year. In addition to this number about one thousand are taking work by correspondence and another thousand will enter the Summer School. Furthermore, the University annually reaches thousands of people through its exhibits at the State fairs, through lecturers, and through thousands of bulletins on many subjects that it distributes free to all applicants.

One Way to Get Railroads

Press dispatches announce the completion of the Paris & Mt. Pleasant Railroad, a distance of 50.9 miles. This road was built by home capital and has been paying a good dividend on the investment ever since the first section was opened for operation.

WHAT SAVED HER LIFE

Mrs. Martin Tells About a Painful Experience that Might Have Ended Seriously.

Rivesville, W. Va.—Mrs. Dora Martin, in a letter from Rivesville, writes: "For three years, I suffered with womanly troubles, and had pains in my back and side. I was nervous and could not sleep at night.

The doctor could not help me. He said I would have to be operated on before I could get better. I thought I would try using Cardui.

Now, I am entirely well. I am sure Cardui saved my life. I will never be without Cardui in my home. I recommend it to my friends."

For fifty years, Cardui has been relieving pain and distress caused by womanly trouble. It will surely help you. It goes to the spot—reaches the trouble—relieves the symptoms, and drives away the cause.

If you suffer from any symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. Your druggist sells and recommends it. Get a bottle from him today.

MOUSE TRAP IS EASILY MADE

Piece of Writing Paper Tied Over Mouth of Earthen Jar With Slit in Center Is Excellent.

If you have no cat and find the mice in your house becoming altogether too bold for comfort, tie a piece of writing paper over an earthen jar, binding it tightly with a string or elastic band, as shown in the illustration, says the Homestead. In the center of the paper cut a cross, and set the jar in the closet and suspend by a string a piece of toasted cheese over the center of the jar. If there are any mice in the closet the bait will attract them, and just as soon as the first mouse reaches the center of the paper he will drop into the jar and the paper will fly back to place again, ready for the next comer. A trap arranged in the same manner can be used for the capture of field and harvest mice, which make odd and amusing pets. A barrel covered with stiff brown paper can be used for rats, but they will gnaw out unless the barrel is partly filled with water.

Do you burn or throw out egg shells? It pays to save them and crush them up fine for the hens. This furnishes them material for the making of other shells.

In feeding the cows should not have access to weeds or other foods which flavor the milk and they should have a supply of clean, fresh water, with access to salt.

TO PREVENT HOOF TROUBLES

Little Hook Shown in Illustration Should Be Included Among Equipment of Stable.

A tool that is one of the handiest things you can have about the stables is shown in the illustration. It is a hoof hook and should be included among the equipment of every well regulated stable, says the Prairie Farmer. A practical horseman says that the feet of the horse should be cleaned every morning before he leaves the stable. The hoof hook will remove all litter, pebbles or anything that may have become lodged in the foot. This precaution may prevent injury to the sole or sensitive structures of the foot. If the feet become very dry, pack them daily for a week with some form of clay. Then apply lard to the wall, to which may be added pine tar and rosin. This ointment holds the moisture in the feet and prevents further evaporation.

This treatment would seldom have to be resorted to except in the case of driving horses that are kept in the stable continually and not given much work.

HANDY HCG-LOADING CHUTE

Convenient Farm Implement That Can Be Built on Pair of Old Cultivator Wheels.

A convenient chute for loading hogs or sheep into a wagon box is made by taking two pieces of 2 by 4 lumber eight feet long for the sills and nailing down a floor of any kind of pieces three feet long with cleats for foot-holds; then construct sides of slats high enough to keep the animals from jumping over, says the Homestead. The sills should project a few inches beyond the floor on one end so that they will catch on the wagon box floor when the end gate is removed. A pair of cultivator or similar wheels and some kind of axle are used to make a truck placed about the center of the chute so that it may be easily moved from place to place. These wheels are of such a height or so placed that they take a proportionate part of the weight when the chute is in place. Being of this width it barely fits into the wagon box when the endgate is out, leaving no place for hogs to get out by the side of it. Instead of letting the sills project far enough to engage the wagon box, two iron straps may be used having the ends bent and sharpened so as to catch in the wood of the box and prevent slipping.

Bokhara Sheep.

The department of agriculture is seriously considering the introduction into this country of Bokhara sheep, from which comes the fur called "Persian lamb." All Astrakhan fur is now raised on territory tributary to the Caspian sea. The best fur is taken from the lamb when it is only four or five days old. The Bokhara sheep also make good mutton.

Milk is made up of a variety of elements, and therefore a variety of feeds is necessary for its production.

Items of Interest in Yoakum County.

The News.

Wayne Carlisle left yesterday with a herd of 200 steers for Slaton, from which point they will be shipped to parties in Colorado. Claud Ray and Corwin Carlisle are assisting in moving the cattle.

Mr. J. W. Swiler, of Burlington, Iowa, has been spending a portion of the week in Plains. Mr. Swiler is a heavy stock holder in the 104 Cattle Co. which has large land holdings in this county and he was here looking after that interest.

The people of Midway and several other points over the New Mexico line are making an effort to get mail line established to Bronco, to connect with the Lubbock and Plains line there. This would be a great convenience to those wanting the service; as it now is, they are several days getting their mail from the railroad and from this part of the country.

A herd of 1500 steers passed through the country north of Plains Tuesday. They belonged to Higginbotham Bros., and were being driven to their ranch on the west line of Cochran county.

The Commissioners sat as a board of equalization Monday and Tuesday, and made some reductions in the assessment of live stock. They reduced the valuation of stock cattle from $15 to $10; they put a valuation of $25 per head on two year old steers, and lowered the valuation on horses from $25 to $10.

Will Belcher started to Slaton yesterday with the 1000 two year old steers which he contracted to Mr. Lumsden last December. These cattle have been sold to Colorado parties and will be shipped to a pasture there. Clyde Hudson, Guy Cash, Ed Turner, Fred Pyeatt, Porter Earnest and Dick Long assisted Mr. Belcher in moving the herd to Slaton.

Loud Telephone

San Antonio:—When at a recent meeting of the State Press Association in session in this city, Gov. O. B. Colquitt while seated at his desk in the executive mansion at Austin, addressed the editors over the "loud speaking" telephone, scientist declared that the incident marked a new epoch, the first in a series of wonderful events by which all people in America may ultimately be brought into one vast audience to hear the messages intended for all that care to listen.

This is said to be the second time the invention has been in actual service, and the possibilities seem now to have no limit. During the conversation a terrific electrical storm was raging throughout the eighty-one miles, the distance between the speaker and the audience. At the height of the address the storm here was of such magnitude that the electric light plant was partially put out of business, and telephone poles were blown down in many parts of the city, and along the line. In spite of this the voice of the Governor was plainly audible throughout the vast auditorium. No one could doubt the tones of the voice, and there was no interruption. The practicability of the "loud speaking" telephone is now demonstrated. What may now be expected?

Judge Lindsey Visits Hungary.

Rome, Italy, May 23. After spending nine days in making an examination of the methods employed by progressive agricultural communities, in production and marketing, and in the financing of both these operations in various parts of Italy, the American Commission on Agricultural Co-operation left this country on May 19th to visit Hungary.

The Commission was tendered a reception by King Victor Emanuel and Queen Helene on May 10, on its arrival in Rome. King Victor is the greatest patron of the International Institute of Agriculture, founded by David Lubin, of America. The Institute is now composed of 50 nations, under treaty, and represents 95 percent of the world's area and 98 percent of the world's population. The American Commission was present at the time of the fourth General Assembly of the Institute.

Notable among the delegates from the various States was the large number representing Texas, the largest State in the United States. Among these were Judge S. A. Lindsey, of Tyler, Texas, Chairman of the Texas Farm Life Commission, which is studying rural problems in the Lone Star State, and Clarence Ousley, of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas and editor of the Fort Worth Record.

Judge Lindsey will write a series of articles for the Texas press on the result of his investigation abroad.

BEATS OLD SCOOP SHOVEL

Portable Grain Elevator Renders One of Hardest Tasks on Farm a Comparatively Easy One.

One of the hardest jobs on the farm is shoveling ear corn from a wagon into a high crib or shed. So strenuous is this exertion that many farm workmen decline to work on a farm where large corn crops are handled.

The invention of the portable grain elevator has rendered this task a light and easy one. It takes a pretty good shoveler to empty a big load of corn from a wagon into a high crib in 36 minutes and when the job is finished the shoveler needs a 30 minutes' rest before he can proceed with other work.

The elevator will do the job in five minutes. The picture illustrates how the elevator is used. The front wheels of the wagon are elevated so that the corn will run into the hopper of the elevator, which is operated by horse power. The work of changing the team is a matter of a very few moments.

The use of these elevators is becoming general throughout the corn belt. The farm workmen are, in many cases, refusing to work on a farm which does not have one of these elevators.

Golden Bantam Sweet Corn.

About half the market gardeners in the vicinity of Johnstown, Pa., grow Golden Bantam sweet corn. The market first objected to this variety because of the cream color of the corn, but its high quality has gained a host of friends, so that it is now a favorite on all markets. The ears are small, but the stalks are very productive. The variety is now universally planted for the home table.

The grape is one of the surest bearers, as it fruits on new wood. If some are killed it puts out fresh wood and bears grapes.

Thousands of hens are killed every year by feeding too much wet foods and mashes. The greater portion of the feed should be dry.

If your supply of clover hay is not sufficient for the whole flock of sheep, save at least a supply for the breeding ewes at lambing time.

Mr. Whitla has worked as house-painter for years and does good work. A painted house not only looks better, but last much longer, so we feel assured there will be a lot of new paint applied in and near Gomez this summer.

Mesdames. W. B. and Robert Snodgrass, were trading in both Brownfield and Gomez last Saturday.

Mrs. A. P. Moore is visiting at Mrs. Alvin Duke's in Brownfield.

Mr. John B Slaughter came in Thursday evening with his ranch hands. They are preparidg to dip their cattle. The inspector came in Monday and went to Mr Hammond's place and will inspect his cattle, so they can be moved to Mexico where Mr. H. expects to make his home, then he will inspect the U. S. cattle. Mr. Slaughter had the misfortune to get several saddle horses cut on the wire Sunday night. They had about 50 in a two section pasture, and it is thought some staked ponies broke loose and got the rest started to running and they ran into the fence. Ten are reported badly hurt.

Tuesday morning Hiliard Ware was leading a horse with the rope looped over his saddle horn. The

TRAP NEST IS ADVANTAGEOUS

Enables Poultryman to Find Out Just What Hens Are Profitable—Drones Should Be Weeded Out.

For a number of years I have been in favor of trap nests in order to find out what hens are the profitable ones to keep, says a writer in Green's Fruit Grower. On every farm where one hundred hens are kept the probabilities are that fifty of them will not average more than thirty eggs each year. Some of the fifty will lay more, but there are a few that will not lay at all, so I have made this general average on such a basis.

The average cost of feeding a hen for one year is $1. This means that the drone should be weeded out. The trap nest will do it. Here is a trap nest that any farmer or farmer's wife can make out of a cracker box or any other box of suitable size. It should be 12 by 14 inches square by 20 or 24 inches long. The slat should be nailed to a cross piece about one-quarter from the top and a couple of nails driven through the box and into the cross piece, to swing on. Half-way back of the inside a narrow piece of board is nailed, back of which the nest is made. To set the trap simply raise the slats inward from the bottom 8 or 9 inches high and place a small stick under one of the slats. As the hen enters the door is raised off the stick, which falls to the floor. I am a poor draftsman, but there should be about five for a box, 12 or 14 inches in width.

I use this kind of a trap most of the time except when I want to separate the layer from the drones, then I use one with the double doors. The back door opens as the front one closes, allowing the hen to go out that way after laying. This saves setting and requires no watching.

No crop will bring in better returns in the northern states for the time it occupies in the ground than buckwheat.

Every buttermaker should have two aims; one to make the best butter and the other to help his patrons produce the best cream.

A brood sow should be well nourished, but it is a great mistake to allow her to become very fat, as a fat sow will lose litters or farrow weaklings.
