Good Time Trades Day.

No Crowd Much Till Afternoon.
Merchants Enjoy Good Sales.

A very good, and of course an orderly crowd came Saturday at the instance of our 2nd Trades day, though no doubt the big rain of Tuesday night and the threatening weather on that day cut a big slice out of our crowd.

The mercantile establishments had a good run of customers all day which kept their regular and extra clerks on the jump, but the cold drink men, while doing a good business, did not do their usual good business on account of the cool nature of the weather. As stated above, the good season prevented many coming, as they wanted to take advantage of it to stir the soil and to replant. With other it was in the middle of the breeding season and they could not come.

The following is a list of those who won prizes.

Mrs. H. T. Brooks won first prize on light bread of Belle Wichita Flour; dress pattern by May & Wright.

A. P. Seitz won the pair shoes offered by May & Wright for best stallion.

No jack being present, the pair pants offered by Merc. was not claimed.

Mrs. A. M. McBurnett won first on friers and received 50 cents each for them from M. V.

Brownfield. A. J. Stricklin paid W. R. Slaughter 30 cents each for six second best.

J. L. Bartlett received $2.00 for six best broilers, offered by Will Alf Bell. M. V. Brownfield paid Mrs. D. M. Ward 30 cents each for 2nd best.

Mrs. D. M. Ward received 50c from H. T. Brooks for best pair barred Plymouth Rock chickens.

A. M. McBurnett received 20c per pound for best 10 lb. pail country lard, though he was closely followed by J. L. Bartlett and W. B. Carson.

But the livelies show of the entire performance was at the baby show, which was holly contested by some eight or ten of the coming men and women of Terry county. Right here we want to say that regardless of the way the judges decided every lady went home still firm in the belief that she has the prettiest baby in Terry county, and the Herald agreed with every one of them. Mrs. Jim Burnett's baby won the dollar and Mrs. Carrie Bell Proctor's baby won the fifty cents offered by the Herald as prizes. Judges were hard to find for this department, but C. S. Cardwell, Chas. Copeland and G. J. Rose finally agreed to face the lionesses in their dens. Funny the way some people have it down that women are so fierce, aint it?

Mesdanes Redge and John Burnett and Frank Procter were the poultry and lard judges.

In the live stock department,

Geo. E. Tiernan, Claud Criswell and Will Mathis were the judges, with following results.

C. S. Cardwell's brood mare won blue ribbon and W. H. Gist won red.

In the year old colt contest, W. B. Carsons won blue ribbon and $1.50 offered by Criswell & Walker and Jno. S. Powell's red ribbon.

In spring colt contest, W. H. Gist's colt won blue ribbon and $1.50 offered by J. L. Randal, and C. S. Cardwell's won red ribbon.

There were no mule colts nor yearlings on hand.

Except for a shower of rain in the afternoon, the day was real pleasant, and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves.

Commissioners Court

This body met Monday as a Board of Equalizers and raised the taxes on almost all lands, and put all high priced school lands on a par with other lands. There was also a few instances where live stock were raised and a few lowered.

Business is Business.

But to continue in business, it is very necessary that we collect the money we sell the goods for. Therefore customers owing these past due accounts must come in and make settlement. All please note this fact and make prompt settlement. Very Respt.

About School Land.

Austin, May 29, 1913.

The recent session of the Legislature enacted a statute which provides that the owners of school land purchased from the State on condition of settlement between January 1, 1907, and January 1, 1913, should have a right to repurchase the land should it be forfeited for non-payment of interest. The price will be fixed by a Board of Appraisers composed of the Commissioner of the General Land Office and two others to be appointed by the Governor. Such of these sales as may be wholly or partly delinquent for interest due to November 1, 1912 will be forfeited on July 2nd. After that date the forfeiting owner must write to the Land Office and give the sections he has permitted to forfeit and state that he desires to repurchase the land.

Letters received by me from the school land territory say that one or more persons is canvassing that country soliciting employment to represent the owners before the Board of Appraisers. This necessarily implies their efforts will be directed towards securing the lowest possible valuation. The solicitation and employment is evidently based upon the assumption that the solicitor is of such commanding personality, that he will be able to exercise much influence over a majority of the Board or that the beneficiaries are led to believe such employment is necessary for the protection of their interest.

As the Board has not been appointed there is no one to speak for it, but as for myself it may be said the right of those affected to employ whomsoever they may choose is recognized, yet so far as I am concerned such employment is wholly unnecessary. The Board should go upon the ground, inspect each tract, deal directly with the owner and use its best judgment in every case. My experience in such matters has led me to the conclusion that this method of dealing is more satisfactory than that of depending upon second hand information coming through such agents as may be employed after personal solicitation, since their prospective fees may tend to obscure the real facts and lessen their enthusiasm for the school fund.

J. A. Robison,

Commissioner General Land Office.

P. S. The foregoing was read to the Governor and he requested me to say for him that one condition he would require of those appointed by him would be that they should deal directly with the interested party and not through hired agents.

On account of the arrival of a new editor, the Herald will be a little late this week, but will try to get back in line next week.

You had just as well get ready to enlarge your feed storage capacity, for you are going to need it this fall. By the way, a silo will take care of a lot of that surplus feed for you.

In the meantime, we have heard of no rain or sunshine trust to be investigated by the Senate, as we always have plenty of the later out here and E. Plub., Limited, has not neglected old Terry on his rounds this year. The horn of plenty has the big end down.

Dont forget while you are making your late plantings that the Terry County Fair Association has requested every farmer in the county to plant a variety of products. We aim to do our very best to capture the county prize at the Dallas Fair this year, and we can do it if we want to.

We want to call your attention especially to Land Com. Robison's article in this issue. He makes quite clear that you need not pay an agent to represent you before the appraisers, and makes it still more clear that there will be an absence of graft, or he and Governor Colquitt will know why.

While the rain have been slim this week, the sun has hardly been seen, up to Thursday morning, and with a good season in the ground, truck of all kinds have been unlimbering and are now sprinting at a gate to cause admiration at a Marathon meet.

A customer said to us one day this week, "Don't do like a certain editor, get discouraged and commit suicide." Not on your life; a discouraged editor could not hold his job long enough to finish one short local. When an editor sees devil discouragement coming, he says, "get the behind me satan," thinks of the prettiest girl he knows and writes a boosting article about Merchant Skinflint that brings him (the merchant) $50 in extra trade the next week, and brings the editor a dun from Skinflint.—Tahoka News

It looks as if the editor would never learn how to deal with old Skinflint. If the country editor knocked on old Skinng's business like he does on the plague-gamed editor's, there would be a suit for damages in every term of court.

A New Editor.

Yes, a new editor on the Herald force, and the boss of his daddy's household; do you get that? Why yes, the only real baby in the whole world, according to the unanimous verdict of Mrs. Editor and ourself, came in Monday, June 9th, and forthwith announced his authority in no uncertain voice, which is pitched to key of G with an occasional p. p. (pound plentifully). But if nothing happens we are going to try to live with the young gentleman for the next twenty one years if he don't get too bossy. However, for the next few years at least, we will still manage the financial end of the Herald, and will kindly ask that you pay your subscription while you think about it, as we see he aims to dress to kill. He already shows a decided partiality for the ladies. Now's the time; pay up.

Endorse Farmers' Union Plans.

Fort Worth, Texas, June—The Texas Grain Dealers' Association at their Fifteenth Annual Convention, recently held in this City, passed a resolution to the effect that "It is the sense of the Texas Grain Dealers' Association that we approve the Farmers' Union, and do not oppose its work." This endorsement followed an address by Peter Radford, President of the Farmers' Co-operative and Educational Union of Texas on the middleman and the distribution of farm products. In his address, Mr. Radford stated that he did not believe the middleman is needed under a correct system of distribution of farm products. He said it now costs the farmer fiftysix cents on the dollar to market his products, and this, he considered, entirely too much. He declared that with the formation of a Central Selling Agency better conditions would prevail.

"I do not expect to see perfection ever exist" declared Mr. Radford, "So long as these great problems are left for human minds to solve, but as we learn more of each other, we will better understand each other's needs and requirements, and then will be in better condition to co-operate for the common good of all."

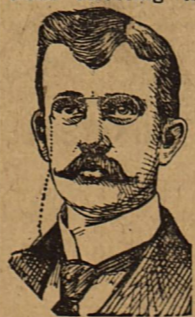

We have been requested to announce that there will be no children's day Sunday.

Constipation, if Neglected, Causes Serious Illness

Constipation, if neglected, leads to almost innumerable complications affecting the general health.

Many cases of typhoid fever, appendicitis and other severe diseases are traceable to prolonged clogging of the bowels. Regarding the effects of constipation, C. E. Ayers, 6 Sabin St., Montpelier, Vt., says: "I was afflicted with constipation and biliousness for years, and at times became so bad I would become unconscious. I have been found in that condition many times. Physicians did not seem to be able to do me any good. I would become weak and for days at a time could do no work. Not long ago I got a box of Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, and after using them found I had never tried anything that acted in such a mild and effective manner. I believe I have at last found the remedy that suits my case."

Thousands of people are sufferers from habitual constipation and while possibly realizing something of the danger of this condition, yet neglect too long to employ proper curative measures until serious illness often results. The advice of all physicians is, "keep your bowels clean," and it's good advice.

Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 25 cents a box containing 25 doses. If not found satisfactory, your money is returned.

Larger Families and Happier Families.

C. S. News Service.

The average size of a Texas family is 4.9 compared with 5.4 ten years ago. The average family in Terry County contains 47. persons and we have 315 families residing in this county according to a census report which has just been issued. The families in Terry County are smaller than the state's average size and it is up to us to keep up our end. Let us have larger families and happier families.

The Texas stork has lost its reputation. Uncle Sam has given it the blue ribbon for the past quarter of a century and now places it third on list of states. We have lost on an average of one person to two families during the past decade.

PREPARE FOR DROUTH

Farmer Must Pay Particular Attention to Soil and Crop.

Perhaps Most Important Consideration in Connection With Moisture Conservation is Plowing—
Use Disk and Harrow.

(By H. F. PATTERSON, Montana Experiment Station.)

It is not possible for anyone to foretell the season and it is not the purpose of this article to try to predict the amount of rainfall during the coming spring and summer months. The season of 1910 was very dry in nearly all parts of the United States; previous to 1910 we had a number of very wet years. A good many authorities are of the opinion that the wet and the dry seasons alternate. It is not the purpose of this article to leave this impression, for the writer has not access to the precipitation tables over a long enough period. He does not know whether the coming season will be dry or wet, but, in the event that it is dry, it is well to be prepared for it. Then, if it should turn off wet, the extra labor would still bring one in good returns.

To protect himself against a dry season the farmer must pay particular attention to the method of handling the soil and to the crops that are planted. It has been stated that the equivalent of about seven inches of rainfall can be stored in the soil by proper methods of cultivation. If this amount of water is saved and if then there is any rainfall during the growing season, one is quite sure to have good yields. If, however, the soil is not properly prepared and moisture has not been saved, and if then it turns off dry, there is nothing to do but to fail.

Perhaps the most important consideration in connection with moisture preservation is the plowing. The land should be plowed as early in the spring as possible. It should be plowed to a good depth and the plow should be followed immediately with the disk and the harrow. The disk will pack down the land, fill up the air spaces, aid in decaying the organic matter, and the harrow will place a dust mulch over the surface. This dust mulch will act as a cover and prevent the evaporation of moisture.

Whether or not it will pay to seed a crop upon this newly plowed land is difficult to say. In some instances a quick-growing crop would give a yield and in many instances it would not. In order to be on the safe side it is suggested that the land should be summer fallowed the first season and seeded the next fall or the next spring. By summer fallowing is meant that the land should be cultivated or harrowed after each rain throughout the summer. A good way to tell whether the land needs to be harrowed or not is to study the physical condition of the surface soil. If a crust has been formed do not delay the harrowing. If a large number of weeds have germinated and are growing, the quicker the land is harrowed the better. The object of this summer fallowing is to prevent the evaporation of moisture.

The second consideration that means success or failure in a dry region is the crop that is grown. Crops that are especially well adapted to the dry land areas should be used. The quick-growing varieties seem to give the best results. There are both winter and spring varieties of quickly maturing grains. The Turkey Red wheat seems to be very desirable for fall seeding. The seed should be sown quite early in the fall. This will give opportunity for a good root development. Then again, the fall sowing permits the grain to start very early the next spring. Because of these characteristics Turkey Red wheat will mature before the dry weather of July and August. If one is to sow a spring-grown crop he should also secure a variety that will mature in as short a time as possible and one that has a hardy root growth. These characteristics will tide the plant over a dry spell and no doubt will mature a crop.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the method of handling the land and in choosing the varieties of grain that are used.

Humus in Orchard Soil.

The humus loosens the soil particles which in turn increases its water capacity. The humus is essential for the growth of the beneficial bacteria in the soil. One of the most important parts that a cover crop plays is its ability to change chemically the compounds of the soil and put them in an available form for the trees. The clover crop gathers, digests and turns over to the trees the plant food which it has stored.

Close housing and bad ventilation in the cow stable are favorable conditions for starting tuberculosis in a herd.

I suffered misery after eating, and had terrible heartburn.

I thought I had to suffer this way as long as I lived, but when I began to take Thedford's Black-Draught, in small doses, every night, the heartburn was all gone in a few days, and I could eat without distress.

I took two small packages in all, and although that was some time ago, the dyspepsia has not returned.

I speak a good word for Thedford's Black-Draught whenever I have the opportunity.”

If eating causes distress, we urge you to try Thedford's Black-Draught. It cleanses the system, helps the stomach to digest its food, regulates the bowels, and stimulates the liver.

It acts gently and is without bad after-effects. Try it. Price 25c.

DIFFICULT HABIT TO REMEDY

Only Way to Stop Calves of Sucking Each Other's Ears Is to Keep Them Separated.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE.)

One of the most difficult habits to overcome in a bunch of young calves is that of ear sucking. When we feed calves milk from a pail they eat so rapidly that they fail to relieve the mouth of the saliva which naturally mixes with its mother's milk while it is sucking.

In order to relieve their mouths of this secretion which their organs of digestion demand they will seek something to suck which will relieve their mouths of the saliva which has been retained to a large extent and their favorite object is the ear of the calf next to them.

Unless this is prevented the calf is likely to grow up with the habit of sucking itself when it comes to be a milk-producer or sucking the other cows in the herd.

The only way to prevent this vicious habit is to tie each calf by itself until digestive organs have developed sufficiently to enable it to digest grain food, such as ground oats and wheat bran.

Then they will eat dry bran and ground oats and in that way relieve their mouths of this saliva. After this they may be turned together and there is little danger of their acquiring the habit.

Worms in Hogs.

If there are signs of worms in your hogs, feed concentrated lye, one-half teaspoonful to each animal well mixed in slop or soft feed.

In the fattening pen give the pigs all they will readily clean up, but no more.

Bran and meat meal help to supply the young sows with muscle and bone.

From eight to ten hens to one tom is good mating with turkeys, and should produce 150 poults.

A good cow ought to produce on an average 25 pounds of four per cent. milk daily for 300 days in the year.

Mercantile Building

Plans and specifications have about been agreed upon jointly by the Merc. Co. and Masons, of a new building to be erected on the old Mercantile site, and work will begin just as soon as the plans are finally approved and the contract let.

The plans call for a 48x60, two stories and basement, with solid glass front. Half the upper floor 24x60 will be owned and controlled by the Masons and the other half will be converted into an upper deck of the Merc.

The reason the Merc. will just build 48 feet wide instead of 50, is that in case a railroad should come, they could build a brick wall around without moving their stock of goods. A flat roof will be built, the first in Brownfield. Herald hopes to be able to announce definite plans next week.

Oh Lord, please deliver us from the knocker, it looks like we have stood it just about as long as we can, and if it is thy will please come down and get him, he is a great nuisance down here. He knocks the town and he knocks the churches and the school, the fact of the business is he is against everything that is progressive. Oh Lord lay thy hand heavily upon his stubborn neck, put fly ointment in his bread, sand in his sugar, and tacks in his shoes. Oh Lord chastise him with the scorpion's lash and convert him into a booster if you can, and if you cannot, please lead him down to the furnace that is seven times hotter than red hot, and give a good hot scent of brimstone and then if he just won't give him a good dose of burn. Oh Lord we know that you did not have anything to do with his making, but all the same he is here, and a great pestilence in the land. He tried to pull down the water dam, he wanted to do away with the city corporation, and then he wanted to turn his old muley cow out on the commons to break down our yard gates, swipe our Sunday breeches from the clothes line and eat up the grindstone. He wears the green goggles of envy, his heart is as cold as kraut and as hard as stone, his head is full of rusty wheels and his old tongue is lined with filth and slim, please come get him right quick, ere he turns this earthly eden into a hell on earth or steals the keys to the Pearly Gates and blights the Paradise of God. Where he walks the grasses die and the flowers refuse to bloom, the birds don't sing and there is no fragrance and the trail that he travels leads down to the valley of despair, yes it is strown with blighted lives and business failures, and now oh Lord if he has done enough develment down here in your wise judgment let him go the way of his fathers.—Aspermont Star.

Jackass Statistics.

C. S. News Service.
In the Spring of 1910 the enumerators of the Federal Census Department visited every farm house in Terry County and made inquiries pertaining to the various phases of our agriculture. The result of the canvasses have just been published and reveal some unique, as well as interesting, information. According to the reports there are 42 jackasses on the farms and ranges of this county and their total valuation is given at $11,247.
The jackass population of Texas is 20,408 which have a total value of $1,720,074. Only two farms out of one hundred reported jackasses at the last census and the total number of Texas farms reporting was 8151. The average value per head is $84.28 or $12.47 more than that of the Texas horse.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Pregnant ewes must have abundant feed.
Feeds rich in protein are necessary for the brood cow.
Charcoal or soft coal ashes should be kept in the hog pen.
A dip in warm water is the best thing for a chilled pig.
One of the best muscle producing feeds upon the farm is oats.
It is always easier to sell a good pure-bred animal than a scrub.
A pailful of warm slop for the sows after the pigs have come is the thing.
Rye hay, properly cured, makes an excellent summer hay for horses, mules and cows.
The ewes should all be bred near the same date to insure uniformity of the lamb crop.
Sheep do not suffer greatly from dry cold, but should be sheltered from winds and rains.
Many a disappointed sheep man's profits has gone to raise immense crops of ticks and lice.
It is nearly always best to save some of the best sows, especially to farrow the early spring litters.
Whatever material is used for bedding, it should be changed sufficiently often to insure cleanliness.
Spotted udders often result from lambs not cleaning the udder or from caking after the lamb is weaned.
The fairs give a good opportunity to compare breeds, and farmers should use this opportunity intelligently.
Silage is valuable, not because of the nourishment it affords, but because of its influence as an appetizer.
Once the pigs are weaned it is a mistake to let them stop in their growth until they are ready for market.
Nitrate of Soda for Vegetables.
Lay in a supply of nitrate of soda for use on the early vegetables to stimulate them. Its use is indicated for beans, pease, radishes, onions and lettuce. Give it in solution, one ounce to two gallons of water, applied half a pint to a plant—if large—or a foot of row, if small, applied in a drill made along the rows, and covered with dry soil for a mulch.
Cultivating the Soil.
Keep the surface of the soil as loose and fine as possible and the soil will not lose moisture by evaporation. A good hoeing is often beneficial as a good rain in dry weather.
Besides dry nesting quarters, the pigs should have a good-sized lot in which they may get plenty of exercise.

GOMEZ DOTS

A fine rain at Plains and all over East Yoakum and West Terry on Sunday afternoon and night, and a cloudy day here at Gomez, and most of the day a light rain and some on Sunday night. There is a fine season in the ground, and the prospects for fine crops and gardens is sure flattering, another rain on Monday night and Tuesday morning the clouds were thick.

Messrs. Copeland, Wilkins, and A. V. Taylor from west Terry were in Monday.

The Fort Worth Records reports that heat was so oppressive at Greenville June 3rd that trains were delayed on account of wrapped or "sun kinked" rails, and at Denison on the same day the thermometer was standing at 102 and hot winds going for their truck patches. June 3rd was a cloudy cool day here and that night we had a fine rain; next morning ye scribe set out 500 potato slips, and its been so cool ever since that not one has wilted. Well the sand does blow here sometimes but the winds that move it are always cool winds, there is some people in Terry who are dissatisfied want to go to a good place. The above clipping's are from a fine country where fruits and crops are fine if the excessive rains, or boll weevil, or army worms, or drought, or hot winds dont destroy them. We sometimes have a dry season but that is the only one of the above evils we have to contend with.

Mr. W. K. Dickinson's cattle passed through here Tuesday enroute to Lubbock for delivery they came from Gray Bros. ranch southwest of here.

Well, Mr. Editor, we want to say amen, right out loud to your editorial on church debates. The foundation of Truth is too deep to be undermined, and it reaches such lofty heights that it can never be overcome. Every word of that editorial is truth.

There was a time not long ago, when the Herald reached the people about Monday or Tuesday, in this part of the country, but we get it now on Friday, the same day it comes from the press.

It has been raining so much for the past seven days that all kind of work has been suspended, but the farmers and their teams are going to be rested up and ready to make hay when the sun shines. It is still raining this (Wednesday) morning.

Mr. Slaughter has leased the Russing place one mile east of Tokio, and there will be a new windmill erected over the well Mr. Russing had drilled a year ago.

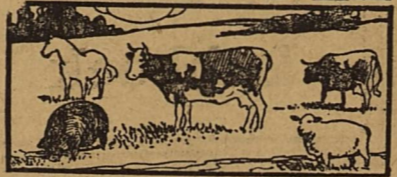

Mr. Spear and family moved to their farm near the J Cross school house, Tuesday, where he will put in a crop. Mrs. Spear said they were only going to stay long enough to plant the crop.

TREATING FOR SIDE BONES

Cartilage Which May in Certain Cases Become Hardened and Thus Lead to Lameness.

(By DR. M'INTOSH, III. Experiment Station.)

On either side of the coffin bone in the horse there is a cartilage which may in certain cases become hardened by deposits of mineral matters and thus lead to lameness. They are situated on one or both sides of the leg and bulge above the upper portion of the hoof. They may be the result of inflamed conditions, bruises or troubles like corns or hoof cracks. Slipping on the stony pavement is a frequent cause, as well as the great weight of the bodies in heavy horses. If the wagon tongue falls on the foot at this point, the cartilage may be injured and induce the disease. The swelling is first noticed just above the hoof or near the heel. Lameness soon follows.

The treatment usually recommended for side bones consists in the free use of cold foot baths or cold water bandages for a week or more. Tincture of iodine applied to the swollen parts is very good. A blister applied after the water applications have been made for a week or so, is used by many veterinarians. The blister is made of two teaspoonfuls of cantharides mixed with four tablespoonfuls of lard. It is rubbed in well with the fingers and allowed to remain for 24 hours, when it is washed off and applied a second time the following week. These applications are continued until the lameness disappears. If this does not bring permanent relief, then firing of the injured parts and several months' rest will be necessary.

Having an Ideal Means Much. "Your circumstances may be uncongenial, but they shall not long remain so if you but perceive an ideal and strive to reach it. You cannot travel within and stand still without."—James Allen.

Never buy a horse, if you can avoid it, with a narrow or shallow chest, or whose forelegs are close together. Such an animal lacks room adequate for the lung capacity to be long-winded.
