The Living Jack Rabbit

(With apologies to Sweet William and Casey Jones.)

Come all ye rabbits if you want to hear,
A different tale, than Old Long-ear
Told last week, when he passed away,
Gather 'round and listen what I have to say.

I went to Brownfield, that busy little town
Saw them people, a hustling around
Farmers there from, away far off
With loaded wagon, marketing stuff

They're building Silos, to the cloud
Reapers and binders are singing loud.
Fields of silver kaffir and maize of gold
Are yielding their harvest an hundred fold

They're building a road from pond to pond
For the world wide tourist to travel on
In every direction grading the roads
For thrifty farmers to haul double loads

Rustling and hustling, working with a shout
"Everybody's Doing It" doing about
Of all the gossip, talk and noise
I was least mentioned by the boys

Thrift and progress, push, boost and boom,
When these come we'll have to give room
For all our kind, being nature's child
T'is our, fate, we're born for the wild.

T'is true we were happy in Long-ears day
But times are changing and passing away
For when good roads are built for miles
We'll hunt elsewhere for domiciles,

Besides, don't go near these graded roads
People are passing in every mode
They'll take your scalp that very day
Go on to Lubbock and draw their pay

A caravan from Mexico coming thru
Scared me so bad I almost flew
Had a string of scalps as big as a ghost
Said they'd unload 'em when they got to Post

Believe me brethren, in these few words
When you get to knocking at graded roads
Better do like Mr. "Lone eared Rabbit"
Just lay 'em down and scabbit! scabbit!! scabbit!!

A Roadster.

Westgard Comes Thru.

H. O. L. Westgard, the official logger and pathfinder, for the American Automobile Association, with his party, stayed at the Hill Hotel Tuesday night, on his way over the route of the Southern National highway. He was brought to the state line, at Bronco, by Dr. G. T. Veal and Mayor Atkinson of Roswell, and met there by a large delegation from Plains, and Geo. W. Neill of this place, who piloted him to Brownfield; Messrs. M. V. Brownfield, J. W. Gordon, W. A. Bell and others, met the party out on the road some distance.

Mr. Westgard expressed himself as well pleased with the road from Roswell this far, but stated that all crooks and offsets should be made straight, saying it saves distance and speed, and is better for the local people as we as tourist to have straight roads and suggested that it be widened out. Dr. Veal says their road from the cap rock on the west to Stateline, is as straight as a transit could make it, some 50 miles.

The party was piloted to Tahoka by Messrs. Crie and Parker of that place, where they will be met by R. J. Anderson mayor of Snyder.

This means the location and designation of this route to be the official route of the above named Association, and a plot and description of the road, will publish in form of a guide, and all tourist desiring to cross continent thru the South, will come over this route, and Brownfield is division point to stop over night, being midway between Sweetwater and Roswell. It is estimated that fifty thousand cars will pass through by 1915. It is best for our country to get busy with our roads and put them straight and in clean shape.

To Have Day At Dallas Fair.

Dallas, Texas,— The Commercial Secretaries of Texas and members of the Texas Press will have a day at the Dallas Fair this year.

The management of the Fair Association has designation October 20th for the event, and preparations will be made to entertain the joint meeting of the evangelists of prosperity.

It is expected that over three hundred members of the Texas Commercial Executive Association and a like number from the Texas Press Association will be in attendance.

Don't wait for a headache to go away. Use Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills and save suffering. [Advertisement.]

TEXAS

We heard two citizens, good ones too, kindly knock good roads the other day, but they found them selves in such a hot bed of good roads advocates that they closed up like clams.

If Terry county is licking it on to the rest of Texas, Okla. and Kansas, then we see no kick coming. Of course Terry is supposed to be a better place than any thing above mentioned, but they are some alright.

There are few instances in which we admire prolong epidemics of fever, but we are rather encouraging the pint fever. Do any thing fair and just to keep the patient down until he comes across with shining premises.

Of course we need a rain badly; no one is so foolish as to deny the fact but it isn't going to keep matters to lay down. You have got your broteda back east skinned about two city blocks. Wake up and look lively. Eat a big juicy mellion and go to work.

If you want a good school and get your money's worth out of teachers, turn out en mass on opening day. If you want a sorry school, a drag of both teacher and pupil, stay at home and look surley. Teachers, just like yourself are pretty near human.

Col. Potter Coming.

It was learned this week on good authority that Col. Dell M. Potter, president of the Southern National Highway Association, with a corp of engineers, would be over the route in a few weeks making surveys, taking topography etc, to submit to Congress for an appropriation to build the great highway from ocean to ocean, the purpose of the Association.

Many people do not understand what this move means, and get it confused with the auto route. It is a double header proposition.

The Southern National Highway Association is working for a Meadamized highway, with Federal aid from a connection with the Atlantic coast to intersect present Highway at San Diego, Cal, coming through this county via Roswell.

The American Automobile Association is another organization, a strong one too, that has already adopted this same route as their Southern tourist route.

These are considered by many to be better than a railroad, at least they bring money into the country and take none out.

Let us keep everlastingly at it. Other towns are lining up to swing the line south of us, but having the better natural route we have only to back it up.

Mr. A. J. Stricklin
Editor and Publisher
Terry County Herald:—
Very Dear Sir.

Just one year ago I visited your great country of boundless prairies of cattle upon a thousand and hills—of long stage drives—of prairie dogs and owls and eagles—and of hospitable people, all of which I'm remembering most happily.

I read the Herald every week and thus keep in touch with the things you are doing in the far-away—Am especially pleased with the prospects of the "Southern National Highway" which seems to be coming your way.

What Terry and the other adjacent counties need is the opening up of thoroughfares, which will be kept in good condition furnishing easy access from the land to the port of trade, and to schools and churches. Then people will come thither to find and make their homes in a land which invites and awaits the coming millions.

Within please find check for $2.00, one for renewal of Herald subscription, and one for the National Highway fund.

Great success to you and the good people of Terry county.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework.

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

GOOD ROADS

By Homer D. Wade, Secretary Texas Good Roads Association.

How to keep the boys on the farm — build good roads.

A soft answer turneth away wrath, but a soft road turneth up worth.

Conservation of energy concerns all. It is clearly and fully involved in the question of improved highway.

The fable of the hare and the tortoise would be a literal truth, if the hare was traveling on some of the Texas highways, and the tortoise upon one of the improved roads.

Bad roads are taxes upon all and they place an appalling limitation upon the business and social life of the people of the rural districts.

Good farms, efficient schools, well filled churches and correct social conditions are never found along a poor highway.

There are three ways to build good roads viz: private subscription, taxation and by the issuance of bonds. The first is inadequate and would have to be local; the second is too expensive and is therefore temporary, the third is permanent and enduring.

Constipation, if Neglected, Causes Serious Illness

Constipation, if neglected, leads to almost innumerable complications affecting the general health.

Many cases of typhoid fever, appendicitis and other severe diseases are traceable to prolonged clogging of the bowels. Regarding the effects of constipation, C. E. Ayers, 6 Sabin St., Montpelier, Vt., says:

"I was afflicted with constipation and biliousness for years, and at times became so bad I would become unconscious. I have been found in that condition many times. Physicians did not seem to be able to do me any good. I would become weak and for days at a time could do no work. Not long ago I got a box of Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, and after using them found I had never tried anything that acted in such a mild and effective manner. I believe I have at last found the remedy that suits my case."

Thousands of people are sufferers from habitual constipation, and while possibly realizing something of the danger of this condition, yet neglect too long to employ proper curative measures until serious illness often results. The advice of all physicians is, "keep your bowels clean," and it's good advice.

Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 25 cents a box containing 25 doses. If not found satisfactory, your money is returned.

Educational Systems.
"Look here," said the father, "every page of your book is covered with finger prints." "It's an accident," replied the young student. "Well, it is some relief to hear that. There have been so many changes in handwriting that I was afraid they had decided to make a clean sweep and substitute the Bertillon system."

Great Writer's Idea.
"There is an idea abroad among moral people that they should make their neighbors good. One person I have to make good: myself. But my duty to my neighbor is much more nearly expressed by saying that I have to make him happy if I may."—Robert Louis Stevenson.

The cling clang of the school bell, make glad the heart of the merry school children. Oh for the pleasure of joyous school days. Make haste while the sun shines for you never realize how much good you can accomplish until the fortieth mile post has been passed, the days in y some time seem long and the lessons hard, but there will come a time when you will never regret your hard struggle for an education. There are many privileges to enjoy the good schools and colleges that the present day student has. Well do I remember when five months was called a long term. The scholars will all have the pleasure of new books this term as the text book board has changed most all the books. Will not some teacher give a list of the late adopted books for the benefit of the rural schools. While speaking of books, a little later I will give a list of good books for the school library. Dear boys and girls, read all the good books you can for there is a wonderful store of knowledge to be gained thereby.

Timid Doe Finds There Is Some Good After All in the White Bipeds of the City.

The heart of a deer, a poor, timid, pretty little doe, must have been near to bursting with gratitude a few days ago. Somewhere up among the pines in the moonlight she must surely have found a way, dumb brute though she is, to tell her companions of the antlered tribe how good after all are the white bipeds of the city when the hunting season is over.

Out of the maelstrom of queer sights and scenes of snorting, puffing monsters that ran on wheels and uttered terrifying metallic sounds in which she found herself she was transported back to her native environment—in a motor car.

Poor, little trembling creature. She shook and cowered and looked as though she were gazing upon the end from her great liquid eyes. They took her back to the mountains, loosened their hold upon the soft neck and said to her: "Go, little girl."

She hesitated a minute, then, realizing what to her was doubtless something beyond all belief, she sprang from the tonneau of the motor car and in three bounds was out of sight. Whatever caused the animal to stray

PROFESSOR WAS THE LIMIT

Which Goes to Show That Wives Should Be Careful About Overburdening Husband's Mind.

The people didn't merely look at Professor Branefog—they stared. He knew he was absent minded at times, and he wondered whether he had rubbed his face with boot polish instead of cold cream after he had shaved, or whether he had forgotten to change his dressing gown for his frock coat.

But a kind policeman put things right.

"Are you aware, sir, that you are carrying a joint of beef in your arms?" he asked.

"Goodness, me!" said the professor. "I knew something was wrong. My wife told me to put her Sunday hat on the bed, to place this joint in the oven, and to take the baby and the dog out for a walk."

"You've not put the baby in the oven, surely," said the law's guardian. "I put something in it," said Branefog; "but I don't know whether it was the baby or the dog."

With bated breath they hurried to the professor's house. Here, on the bed lay the baby and the dog, but it was just as bad for Branefog. It was his wife's Sunday hat that was in the oven!

On last Thursday evening Wesley Day, was thrown by a buro and his arm broken. Value of Advertising

By W. Holt Harris, Chairman of Mercantile Committee Commercial Sec. Assn.

It cost money to do business. The average is between 18 and 30 per cent of the gross receipts, except in the rural district, where the cost is materially decreased. The expense must be taken care of before the merchant can declare dividends. There are two ways to do it; By charging high prices for merchandise or by selling at smaller and disposing of the goods more rapidly. The latter method is the more successful as the increased sales are sufficient to cover the cost of doing business and affords legitimate profit. Merchandise that is susceptible to advertising will yield more turn-overs for the reason that the customers have read about them and naturally take them by preference. This class of merchandise needs less persuasion to sell and the customers usually buys in larger quantities.
