TERTY COUNTY SCHOOLS

The following is a list of the schools in Terry County and the available State and County funds for their maintenance. These totals do not include any special tax money, but Judge Neill informed us that it would be about like last year. Some of these being county line districts, of course receive an equal or greater amount from adjoining county or counties.

From Uncle Peter

Ft. Worth, Tex. Aug.—Answering the attack made on him in the Senate last week, Peter Radford gave out the following statement:

I notice in the press that my name is being handled freely by the Senate, just as though I were an applicant before that body for the purpose of speaking to them. Therefore, I make the following statement:

I have not visited Austin during the present session of the Legislature and have not asked to be heard before the Senate or any committee, although I am in full accord with Governor Colquitt and all others in any effort to get relief legislation in the interest of the farmers to prevent sacrificing the present cotton crop of Texas and the South.

The radical prohibitionists in the Senate are at their old game of blocking agricultural legislation by playing cheap politics, and I point the farmers and business men of Texas who may not have fully realized the importance of eliminating prohibition issues from legislative consideration, to this exhibition of political claptrap as a further demonstration of the wisdom of the course the farmers of this State pursued in demanding a cessation of liquor agitation by the incoming Legislature.

There are many good prohibitionists in the Legislature who are true friends of the farmers, but the legislative calendar during the past ten years bears out the assertion that their leaders invariably drop a bale of cotton to chase a bottle of booze, desert the flour barrel for the little brown jug and melt with pity for a drunken bum, but look with indifference upon the toiling masses. No country can prosper under such leadership. All candidates were invited to endorse the Farmers' Union platform and the names of all candidates for the Senate who approved it were published. If their attitude toward the Union resulted in their defeat, they have only themselves to blame. The Senate discussion is the first intimation I had had that I was considered in any way responsible for the defeat of either Senator Collins or Senator Taylor. While I appreciate the compliment, I consider that the glory belongs to the voters of their respective districts.

Peter Radford.

Does Prohibition Fulfill Its Promises?

Thinking people of every religious creed and political belief should give earnest heed to the expressions of opinion from eminent divines, educators, editors, governors, judges, legislators, and others prominent in every walk of life, who have publicly voiced their sentiments concerning prohibition in words similar to these:

"Prohibition drives underground the mischief which it seeks to cure, making it more difficult to deal with the evil and impossible to regulate the trade." Bishop Hall, Vermont.

"Prohibition has been disastrous to the cause of temperance." Bishop Clark, Rhode Island.

These men are sincere and conscientious. They deplore drunkenness and cry against it as a great evil. Who, indeed, does not? Yet they know from observation and experience, that prohibition does not put a check upon intemperance but that, on the contrary, it gives rise to evils even greater than intemperance itself.

Mrs Woodrow Wilson.

The country's heart, individually and collectively, is still throbbing with profound sympathy for President Wilson and his family in their bereavement, but it must be a high consolation to them that no death like that of Mrs. Wilson is without a glory for humanity. Hers may well be described as a beautiful death. While her husband was pressed and preoccupied with the cares of his own Nation and the tragic misfortune of all Europe, during the very days when he was seeking to urge and establish peace in the present unprecedented cataclysm of war, she, his helpmate and beloved companion of thirty years, lay dying, and smiling lest she should too much distract him from his high duties. Her very condition was brought upon her largely by the service to her neighbors and her people. And that is both the price and the privilege of the exalted places in life—sacrifice and service, unremitting service. A clean and wholesome Washington will doubtless be Mrs. Wilson's peculiar monument, but not her only monument. In the heart of every American will remain glowing the memory of a beautiful womanly life.—Colliers.

It is no longer a question of what will the harvest be, but where are the reapers?

The apple crop in old Terry was never finer, and with the increasing age of the orchards, will get better in quality and quantity.

There was never a better time to locate in old Terry than right now. There is going to be a good season all the fall and winter to turn sod, and then there is an abundant feed crop at reasonable prices for all comers.

There are lots of binders and silo machinery coming into Terry this fall, which is a good indication of prosperity. When you see people trying to patch up the old machine or hire some one to do his cutting, it is a pretty good indication that both crop and finances are short.

We copied a good article from the Seminole Sentinel this week on snake bites and snake remedies, which you will do well to copy. We thought when we started out to read the article, that it would be the old reliable anti-prohibition remedy, but then we remembered that the Sentinel was a Baptist preacher, and had to form another conclusion, which was reached when we got down to spirits of ammonia instead of spirits of barley-corn.

In the last four years this paper has had occasion to record several accounts of people in Games county being bitten by rattlesnakes. It has been fortunate that out of this number only one case has resulted fatally. However, the point we desire to bring out is that every family in the county should be prepared to deal instantly, with this dangerous enemy to mankind, the snake. Every ranchman should consult a doctor, find out some good remedy for snakebites and keep this remedy at all times. Spirits of ammonia is considered one of the best medicines for this purpose and it would be very little trouble to get a supply and keep it handy. This medicine is to be used externally and internally, and if used in time will absolutely cure a snake bite. —Seminole Sentinel.

CROWNING A KING

The Leaders of All Ruling Families in the Animal Kingdom Will Witness the Coronation at Ft. Worth, Nov. 22-23.

The lovers of achievement will find the conquests demonstrated by the livestock on exhibition at the Ft. Worth Stock Show, November 22-23 the most thrilling event on the year's calendar. The contests will be of the highest order of entertainment and the greatest educational value to all thinking people.

Texas steers with enough royal blood in their veins to crown a king will make their annual pilgrimage to the Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show, where they will be registered, entered, weighed and exhibited, and the best of their number will be crowned king of the plains. Royal personages of the Houses of Aberdeen, Hereford, Shorthorn, Jersey, Angus and all other approved breeds will be present and contest for the crown.

In the swine department the leading members of the ruling families will be on exhibition and demonstrate their marvelous powers as revenue producers. In the sheep pens will be found registered Axfords Downs and Rambouillets and all the substantial breeds.

Horses, decorated by trophies won in contests of merit at home and abroad, and whose names are household words on two continents, will parade around the arena.

In the poultry department there will be hens that have broken world records for egg laying, and roosters that can boast of royal lineage. It will be one of the most complete exhibits on the ground.

There will be 250 premiums, approximating $25,000 in cash prizes, awarded during the meeting and solid silver cups, large enough for a churn will supplement the regular premium list. Each prize will recognize a point of merit attained by the contestants, which, in many instances, will have twenty generations of careful breeding behind it; the achievements the premiums emphasize will represent years of scientific study and tireless experiments and months of diligent feeding.

No member of the animal kingdom can hope to attain a higher honor in life than to carry off a blue ribbon at the Fat Stock Show. It gives them class and standing in livestock society throughout the world; a heritage to their families, and an uplift to animal kind.

I keep Black-Draught on hand all the time now, and when my children feel a little bad, they ask me for a dose, and it does them more good than any medicine they ever tried.

We never have a long spell of sickness in our family, since we commenced using Black-Draught."

Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, and has been found to regulate weak stomachs, aid digestion, relieve indigestion, colic, wind, nausea, headache, sick stomach, and similar symptoms.

Harris

By Sand Bur

Jno. W. Cone had been down from Lubbock several days looking after his interests here and spent last Wednesday night with Brit Clare on his way back to Lubbock.

Miss Pearl Cotten and brother W. B. spent last Thursday night at W. H. Harris'.

Roy Harris is cutting feed for J. W. Spears at present.

Leslie Green was down from the Mallet Ranch last Saturday. He and Marlin Ellington took dinner at Brit Clare's.

Mrs. J. M. McMillan called on Mrs. L. H. Hooker last Friday.

J. C. Dooley and family from near Gomez, accompanied by Mrs. Dooley's brother, Mr. Ricols and wife who are visiting the Dooleys, came out to W. J. Satterwhite's last Saturday and spent the day.

Sunday School was right well attended last Sunday afternoon.

W. J. Satterwhite and family visited Brit Clare and family last Sunday.

The Harris School will open Sept. 14th with Mrs. Zeffa Bell of Lockney for our teacher. We know Mrs. Bell to be a splendid young lady and we predict for Harris a successful school term this year.

A New Prohibition

Issue

The head lines of one of the leading dailies "Urges Prohibition of Slaughter of Young Calves". That is the sort of a prohibition issue we can all unite on and the most radical anti ought to be willing to statutory prohibition on that subject. We protect birds and wild animals, in a measure, from slaughter, and why not have a closed season for domestic animals? Pleasure is not near so destructive an agency as profit.

The rush to market of calves is almost threatening the extinction of the bovine specie. We show a decrease of three and one-half million head of cattle in Texas during the past ten years, and a decrease of 5,000,000 head in the United States for the same period.

The Brownfield Hardware Co., has put up a number of binders for their customers this week.

We were reliably informed this week that Miss Katherine Powell has been selected to teach in the Plainview public school. We hope her much success.

G. F. Banowsky and daughter, Miss Emma, are visiting the former's son, R. H. Banowsky. We hope they will decide to locate with us.

Mrs. Lee Allmon visited her daughter, Mrs. Walter Gracey, north of town, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Benton and son and daughter, Claud and Maud, of Ralls, visited their daughter Mrs. R. H. Banowsky, from Saturday to Monday.

Misses Kathrine May and Lucile Treadaway left Sunday for Plainview, where they will attend Seth Ward Seminary the following term.

Misses Bertie and Edith Walters were in town Saturday.

The editor has received his set of Memoirs of Napoleon, and we want to say we were agreeably surprised and well pleased with them. They are well bound, and would easily bring 75c each, in any book store. We will take pleasure in showing them to you. Remember besides them, you get the Herald and Colliers

Weekly, one year each.

Will Alf Bell and Dee Brownfield left this week for the mountains of New Mexico for an outing.

Walter Scudday was in from the Brownfield Ranch Monday night telling the Dixons good-by.

Lee Allmon left Monday for the Ivey Ranch to run the engine for them to heat the dipping vats.

Will Mathis and a crowd of boys left last week for the west to move a herd of cattle.

If the paper is a little off this week, remember the editor has been scabbing on the carpenters this week enlarging his barn and getting it ready for some of that fine old Terry county corn and sorghum.

A little child of Henry Simpson, who lives near Seminole, Texas, was bitten by a huge rattle snake last Friday week, and died the next day. This is the first death to occur from a snake bite that we have heard of in a good while, yet it is so dangerous that people should be very careful about little children going about in weeds.

Uncle Bill Howard was in town this week for the first time in a good while.

Dr. Treadaway reports the arrival of a fine girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Moore, near Gomez, the 2nd inst.

Mrs. Jake Adams was taken seriously sick last Thursday night, while here visiting Mrs. Horace Adams, and up to this time has been unconscious most of the time, and it is thought by attending physicians that a blood vessel had been ruptured in her head. Dr. Adams, a brother-in-law of Mexia, Texas, has been called in consultation with Dr. Treadaway. They pronounce her case serious.

HILL & SON, PROPRIETORS

We were pleased to have a card from our young friend, Virgil Hargett this week, that he was back home from his long stay at Corpus Christi, and was much better.

Frank Proctor was in Tuesday with a load of apples and reported that he had lost something like three tons of feed that he had cut and the big rains of last week fell on them.

This editor's wife and son returned Saturday from a two weeks visit to her sister, Mrs. Roberts, of Coahoma, and we want to say we are not sorry.

So for this week has been beautiful, giving the farmers a chance to begin their harvest. The first real norther of the season blew up Wednesday morning, thus greatly cooling the atmosphere, and sending mercury from up in the nineties to eighty.

Son Hughes has purchased a big freight wagon from Mr. Eicke, and is on the road to Lubbock or Tahoka all the time now.

Dr. S. C. Maddux, our old Confederate friend from Gomez, was over this week and paid the Herald a short but pleasant call.

The Herald owes Rev. J. C. Lewis its thanks for a big, juicy melon that he brought in this week. We notice that the editor of the Yoakum County News is offering a two years subscription for the biggest melon, and whenever he gets it, it will be no larger than the people of Terry eat every day—but he ought to see the ones we are saving for the fair.

Dr. Maddux informed us this week that Rev. A. D. Jameson, formerly pastor of the Brownfield and Gomez Methodist Churches, but now of Ovalo, Texas, got badly hurt while returning from church recently. It seems that a bad cloud was coming up, and in the hurry, some boys let their horses run away, and they run over Mr. Jameson, breaking two ribs, besides injuring him internally. He had regained conscience when last heard from.

While out last week demonstrating a row binder, near Tokio, one day last week, Will Adams happened to what like to have been a serious accident. It seems that the team was skitish, and when the machinery was started they ran, throwing him off and the bull wheel passed over his foot. The only thing that kept it from crushing his foot was that one of the flanges hit the heel of his shoe, turning his foot as the wheel rolled, and therefore only hit his foot a glancing blow. He is able to be about on crutches at the present writing.

DRY FARM SORGHUM

Two Types Do Unusually Well in Arid Regions.

Method of Preparing Seed Bed Does Not Differ Materially From That of Treating Corn—Plant Is Sensitive to Cold.

(By H. F. PATTERSON, Montana Experiment Station.)

There are two types of sorghum that do unusually well in regions of a light precipitation. The sweet or saccharine sorghum is perhaps grown more for its sugar content than for forage purposes. The non-saccharine is known primarily as a fodder sorghum. Under this group we have the milo maize and the kaffir corn. The plant is a very rank grower and furnishes considerable feed. It grows unusually well upon light soils and in hot climates. However, it will do better when grown upon the loam and when supplied with sufficient moisture.

The method of preparing the seed bed for sorghum does not differ materially from the method of preparing the seed bed for corn. If the land is to be plowed in the spring it must be turned over to a depth of about six or seven inches. The land should then be disked, harrowed once or twice, when the seed may be sown. The method of seeding and the amount of seed sown per acre will vary according to the purpose of the crop.

If it is desirable to secure a crop of seed, we usually drill the seed in at the rate of six to seven pounds per acre. The seed may be drilled either with the common grain drill or with the corn planter. Some farmers seem to have secured better results by drilling the sorghum in with the corn planter, placing the rows about three feet six inches apart and the seeds from four to eight inches apart in the row. A large amount of seed is used when the grain is broadcasted. It is customary to put in about fifteen pounds per acre. Of course, this amount will vary with the character of the soil and season. If there is any danger of any of the seeds rotting, we should make allowance for this and put on a larger amount per acre; also if some of the seeds do not germinate it will mean that more seeds must be used.

Sorghum is not sown until quite late in the season or until the soil has warmed up quite thoroughly. The plant is very tender and if the soil happens to be very wet and cold the seeds will not germinate, the young plant will not grow.

Best results have always been secured by the use of fresh seed. The seed loses its vitality very quickly and if old seed is used good results are not always obtained. The amount of seed will also vary according to the amount of moisture present in the soil. If the crop is to be grown upon irrigated land we usually add about four pounds per acre to the amount given above. Upon irrigated land the seed is also sown with a drill or with a broadcast seeder. If the sorghum is drilled in the subsequent care will be the same as that for corn, but if it is broadcasted it receives but little care until time for harvest. However, harrowing immediately after seeding and just as the grass comes through the soil has been known to give good results. This will keep down the weeds and will also aid in forming a mulch over the surface, which will preserve the moisture. Sorghum is a quick growing plant and as was mentioned before, furnishes a great deal of fodder.

If a forage crop is to be secured, the grain should be cut before the full blooming period is reached. But one crop is secured in a season. The binder or the mower may be used in removing the crop. The grass when cut with the mower should be allowed to cure and then should be placed in small cocks or piles. This will permit of its thorough drying and curing. The crop, if cut with the binder, is handled in much the same way as is the small grains. To secure a crop of seed we must not harvest until the grain is in the milk or early doughy stage. The plant is used almost exclusively to secure the crop of seed. The bundles are placed in shocks and allowed to dry, when they are threshed with the common threshing machine. It is not customary to allow the entire bundle to pass through the thresher, but to thrust the heads into the cylinder and then remove the other portions. This will not break up the stalks and as a result some good fodder may be obtained.

The yields from sorghum vary from ten to ninety bushels per acre, the average being about forty-five bushels. As high as 15 tons of fodder has also been secured from this crop in the arid regions.

You who have tried it know that we do not exaggerate when we say there is no better coal brought to the Plains than the above Lay in your supply now before prices advance, which on account of labor troubles is likely at any time. If the threatened railroad strikes is put into effect, it may be impossible to get coal when you need it. It is safest to buy now Better Babies.

(By Miss Rich, Home Welfare Division, University of Texas.)

It may be, the children say, that we die before our time." Everybody has a right to demand health and happiness, and the Better Babies contest is one way of giving them what they demand. If your baby is only a good baby this year, through hygienic living, intelligent feeding and care, it can be a better baby next year.

Texas has held many Better Baby contests, and leads the South in this respect. But for the first time, plans are being made by the Child and Home Welfare Division of the Department of Extension of the University of Texas to conduct such a contest at the Dallas State Fair. Registration of the babies will take place in September. Be sure and register your baby early as only a limited number can be entered. Examination will be confined to children between the ages of six months and three years. The lectures and exhibits will be open to every one, so that whether your baby is too young or too old for examination, you can profit by the information given out through lectures, folders and exhibits. Appropriate prizes and medals will be awarded. These will be announced more definitely later.

Any information in regard to the contest can be obtained by writing Miss Rich, Home Welfare Division, Department of Extension, University of Texas.

World, Nation and State Auto Statistics.

American automobile manufacturers shipped a car to foreign countries every fifteen minutes during 1913 and foreign autoists spent $40,000,000 in this country during that year for 30,000 automobiles, tires and parts, according to a report of the Department of Commerce and Labor. More than half the cars exported from this country last year were sold to Europe, although every country on the face of the earth bought autos from the United States.

There were approximately 380,000 automobiles built in the United States last year and they were valued at $90,000,000. The number of cars in use in this country at the present time is 1,130,000; the world's total is 1,920,000.

In Texas there are 55,000 automobiles and they are worth $62,000,000. Texas has one auto to every 73 people.

Memoirs of Napoleon

In Three Volumes

The personal reminiscences of Baron de Méneval, for thirteen years private secretary to Napoleon Bonaparte, bring out, as no history can, many enlightening and interesting side lights on the character of that greatest of leaders. De Méneval's descriptions have the piquancy and interest possible only because he was an actual eyewitness of the scenes and incidents of which he writes. Their reliability and historical interest can be judged by the fact that the very conservative French Academy publicly recommends them.

They were returning home from church here and met that very dark heavy cloud that showed in the west in the evening. It proved to be a heavy hail and their horse became unmanageable and cut up so they could not get all the straps loose to get him out of the shafts so they had to cut part of the straps to get the horse loose from the buggy.

Sunday here at church Miss Katie's arms showed blue bruises where the hail stones hit her.

MOORE-WATSON

Married on last Sunday morning at 8:30 o'clock, James E. Moore and Miss Ruth O. Watson, at the residence of A. P. Moore. Rev. Durham spoke the solemn words that united the lives of these two popular young people. Jim, as he is familiarly called, needs no introduction to Terry county people. He is the youngest son of A. P. Moore, our grocery merchant. He is a young man of perfect honor in every sense of the word and his friendly pleasant disposition has caused all who know him to be his friends. Miss Watson came here last spring after the close of school to spend her summer vacation with relatives. Her parents live at Silvertown, where she has been raised. She is a cultured and refined young lady, whose bright smile and sweet disposition has won a host of friends during her stay here. Both relatives and friends join in wishing this worthy young couple a long and happy life.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Duke of Brownfield came over to attend the Moore-Watson wedding and stayed over until Monday afternoon.

Arthur Moore came in last Friday after a months absence in N. M. He traveled over quite a large scope of country out there and bought a car load of horses which he shipped to Midland, then drove them here. He looks to be greatly improved in health by the trip.

There was singing out at Mr. Rambo's Sunday night and quite a crowd out of town went.

FIVE HUNDRED TEXAS FACTS

Material Resources of Texas Explained to Editors.

Texas Leads in Opportunities.

The members of the National Editorial Association—the men who furnish the intellectual food of the nation—met in Houston on April 23rd, 24th and 25th and for three days discussed first-hand, the problems which confront the men behind the pen. Practically every state in the Union was represented and the convention excelled in point of attendance and results accomplished, any meeting ever held by the association.

In appreciation of the compliment offered to Texas by the editorial writers, who have three times selected this state as their meeting place, the Texas Business Men's Association compiled all the salient facts of the State's greatness into a neat little volume which was presented to the editors on their arrival. In this book was told the story of the industrial opportunities which Texas has to offer to the homeseeker and the investor and of the fertile land that is awaiting the plow to make it blossom like a garden of roses.

The history of all writers, after all, is merely a chronicle of their thoughts and in directing their attention towards the greatness of Texas, the Association has sown seeds that will thrive in the minds of the writers and cause them to spread the gospel of Texas prosperity throughout the length and breadth of the land. This little book which was entitled "Texas Facts" will be given to the Texas press in weekly installments and will appear in practically all weekly papers of the state.
